G. Bowerman Wins Senior Golf Title

By GEO. H CARVER
(Sports Editor)

Playing brilliant golf, Gary Bowerman, the Bay of Quinte Country Club's promising young linksman, won his first senior club championship on Saturday.

Under ideal weather and course conditions Gary easily defeated the veteran Jack Acquafredde 8 and 7 over the 36-hole championship competition.

A few weeks ago the new senior champion set a record for the new eighteen-hole course, posting a five under par 66 in a foursome match competition.

Bowerman got away to a sensational start by firing two shots stopping four feet from the pin on the 285-yard hole.

He maintained the hot pace leading by six holes at the end of the first nine. He bridged the Sergeant par three seventh hole twice during the match.

Acquafredde settled down after the first nine closing the gap with two holes separating the pair for the next 20.

An interested gallery watched the match. Other golfers on the course cooperated fully allowing the championship contestants to go through without any unnecessary delays.

Lead Cut To Two-Half

Yanks Drop 2, Twins, Angels Lose

By JIM HENDRIE
Associated Press Sports Writer

If New York Yankees played the two games every day they might be holding up the American League instead of heading it.

The Yankees dropped a pair to Boston Red Sox Sunday, 9-3 and 5-4 in 16 innings, for their eighth doubleheader loss this season. They have split 10, and swept only three.

In other games Sunday, the second-place Minnesota Twins dropped a 10-9 battle to Detroit Tigers, and the third-place Los Angeles Angels fell 4-3 to Baltimore Orioles in 16 innings. The Twins inched up to within 2½ games and the Angels to four, but there is bad news for them. The Yankees are not scheduled to play any more double bills this season.

Chicago White Sox slipped into fourth place ahead of Detroit by trimming Washington Senators 6-3 and 3-2 in 13 innings. Cleveland Indians defeated Kansas City Athletics 12-7.

Saturday the Yankees walloped Boston 6-1. Minnesota downed Detroit 9-2. Los Angeles edged Baltimore 2-1, Chicago defeated Washington 6-3 and Cleveland won 3-2 over Kansas City.

SCORER TILLMAN

The Red Sox squeezed home the winning run in the top of the 16th inning in Sunday's nightcap after Bob Tillman doubled and went to third on a wild pitch. Pinch-hitter Billy Gardner, a former Yankee, laid down a perfect bunt single that scored Tillman.

Marshall Bridges had pitched eight scoreless innings in relief until the breakthrough. Dick Radatz, who has the league's second best earned run average, took over in the seventh, allowed the run that tied the game at 4-4 and then shut out the Yankees the rest of the way.

Home runs by Carl Yastrzemski, Ed Bressoud and Lu Clinton powered the opening-game victory and spoiled the pitching debut of Sainey Brown for the Yankees. Jack Lamabe pitched went all the way for Boston.

A two-run homer by Bob Allison in the fifth gave Minnesota a lead, but the Tigers stormed back. Don Mincher hit a three-run pinch homer in the sixth for another lead, but Detroit tied it in the same inningseventh. Bernie Allen hit a sloss the step to one run, but and broke out with four in thethree-run homer in the ninth to the Twins were hailed there.

Hunter Hits Three Homers

Kenmors Clobber Dundas

By GARRY ALEXANDER
Staff Sportswriter

DUNDAS — The Belleville Kenmors moved to within one victory of the Ontario Senior baseball championship here Saturday when they unleased another avalanche of base hits to bury the Dundas Merchants 23-4.

Kenmors lead the best-of-seven series three games to one with the fifth tilt slated for the Belleville fairgrounds next Sunday afternoon at three o'clock.

Saturday's game had the appearance of a batting practice session with the bat boys doing the pitching. The Kenmors hammered 24 hits off four Dundas chuckers and included in the slaughter were six home runs.

Moe Hunter led the power hitting with a three run shot parking three homers in the five times he left field. "Dutch" Fullwell, Jackie Elliott and Gary Goyer also clouted round-trippers with Fullwell's coming with the bases full.

Missing from the Kenmor lineup were Claude Carr, Pat Asselstine and Rick Locke. Asselstine was out with a sore hip while Carr and Locke were missed at the plate.

Belleville scored in every inning except the first. Batting up with five runs in each of the eighth and ninth frames. The Belleville total came in pairs, in the fourth and eighth innings, all unearned.

Larry Soden hurled his second four-hitter of the series on the winners' ledger with half of the hits of the scratch type. He struck out seven and walked two. Soden was relieved in the final two innings.

Norris Knox started and lost for Dundas. He was followed to the mound by Ken Watson in the fifth and Jack Anderson in the seventh and Frankie May in the eighth. They struck out seven and walked five batters by Watson.

Soule singled home Belleville's first two runs in the second and that started the slaughter. Hunter belled his first homer after Goyer's single in the third and Fullwell crashed his grand - slammer following walks and Moxon's hit in the fifth.

Soule tripled, Fullwell singled, Elliott walked and Goyer hit his three-run blast in the eighth. Hunter came right up behind him and belted another, the largest one of the day. Moxon singled again, Soule walked and Elliott teed off in the ninth. Goyer also hit safely and Hunter completed his one-man show with the final homer.

Hunter, Goyer, Soden and Moxon had four hits each with two apiece going to Fullwell, Elliott, Harvey and Soule.

Two hits, sandwiched around a pair of errors and a wild pitch, scored the losers' first two runs. Two walks, an error, wild pitch and fly ball got the others across.

All six Belleville homers were hit to short left field but at least three of them would have had the distance in Belleville as well. Two others were caught back in the long grass but were ruled ground-rule homers.

Beats Palmer, Player

Nicklaus Wins 'Series'

WARD WINS ANOTHER

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Jack Nicklaus coupled his booming drives with some fancy putting over the last nine holes Sunday to defeat Arnold Palmer and Gary Player, and win the inaugural world series of golf with its top prize of $50,000.

The U.S. Open champion from Columbus, Ohio, quickly wiped out Palmer's one-stroke first-round lead, going in front after three holes. Then he birdied the 10th and 11th holes to pull safely in front in the $75,000 exhibition. From then on he played steady golf, challenging his rivals to catch him.

Nicklaus, 22, fired a 37-32—69 and finished with a 36-hole total of 135 after an opening round 66. Player shot a 69-70—139 while Palmer shot a 74 Sunday. They finished in a second-place tie, earning $12,500 each.

PUTTER TURNS SOUR

Palmer, the Masters and British Open champion, simply couldn't get his putter working after shooting a 65 Saturday that tied the par 35-35—70 Firestone Country Club record. Where he needed only 25 putts Saturday, Palmer three-putted three times on the front nine where he took a fat 39 and found himself all but out of contention after Nicklaus scored the final nine with his two birdies on putts of 12 and 15 feet.

Nicklaus didn't exactly take command early in the round. He was in trouble on the first hole, hitting two traps, came out of the second weakly and two-putted from about 35 feet. Palmer, in position to widen his lead to two strokes, three-putted from 20 feet.

Nicklaus' booming shots got him to the green on the 550-yard No. 2 hole in two shots. Then he three - putted while Palmer also three-putted for a one-over par six, enabling Nicklaus to pull into a tie. Palmer, putting one of his shots in the water on the third hole, scrambled to a one-over-par five while Nicklaus took the lead with a par four.

Player, went one over par on the fourth and fifth and appeared to be out of contention until he birdied the sixth and ninth to pull even with Palmer and within one stroke of Nicklaus after 27 holes. Player then proceeded to match par over the final nine.

Dennis the Menace Getting Out of Outsized Play Suits

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — After three years, during which Dennis the Menace has defied time by remaining a six-year-old boy, CBS' young blonde star is starting to grow up—just a little.

Jay North, who in reality is 10, is going to get out of those outsized play suits and into garments better adapted to his calendar age. But even in long pants, Dennis will continue to harass his long-suffering next-door neighbor, Mr. Wilson, when the series begins its fourth season on CBS Sept. 30.

According to present plans, the dialogue given to Dennis will also be a bit more mature —those baby - type lines will hereafter go to Billy Booth, who will inherit Dennis' old costume and some of his more infantile characteristics.

IT'S A PROBLEM

Growing up, of course, is one of the problems of the writers and cameramen connected with any show in which children have prominent roles. Last season Beaver discovered girls and so did Johnny Crawford who plays the son of The Rifleman.

Jay, who is small for his age, has been able to get away with playing a younger boy, although his off-camera mien and interests are those of a normal 10-year-old.

The Sunday evening series has passed through one difficult phase. Joseph Kearns, who played the original Mr. Wilson, died suddenly several months ago, and Gale Gordon was hurriedly pulled into the cast to replace him.

Gordon, the moustached character actor, has specialized in playing choleric, sarcastic roles since the old days of Fibber McGee and Molly when the part of Mayor La Trivia was created for him. When Kearns died, the writers had Mr. Wilson suddenly mowing east, and his home taken over by his brother, played by Gordon. It seems to have worked out fine.

Parsons, Kingston Tie 2-2

Belleville Parsons Cleaners and Kingston Lanz Builders fought to a 2-2 draw in the first game of their home-and-home, goals-to-count Norman Howard Trophy series here Saturday.

No date has been set for the second game to be played in Kingston.

In other Norman Howard play, Kingston Dunkirk United downed the Trenton Ambers 3-2 in Kingston on Sunday.

Parsons scored first here Saturday with Greg Zorbas booting the goal. Martens tied the score for Kingston but Zorbas added his second goal for a 2-1 lead. Kingston completed the scoring just before the end of the first half with Warns making good on a penalty kick. Neither team could snap the deadlock in the hard-fought second half.

WINS PAN-AM BERTH

MONTREAL (CP) — Pierre Desjardins of the Royal St. Lawrence Yacht Club, Montreal, made the Pan-American Games Dragon class yachting trials Sunday. He won three of the six races held Monday, Saturday and Sunday for 3,295 points to qualify to represent Canada in the Pan-American Games next April in Brazil.

The Suns entertain the fourth-place Rochester Red Wings while second-place Toronto is host to Atlanta Crackers in the opener of the best-of-seven semi-final series.

The post-season scrambling, starting just 24 hours after the regular season ended, will be minus both the playoff champion and the pennant winner from a year ago, Columbus, which won the playoffs and then the Little World Series, wound up sixth.

Jacksonville ended its regular season with a flourish Sunday, drubbing Richmond 5-2 behind the eighth pitching of 41-year-old Julio Moreno, who used to toil for the Washington Senators. Dan Morejon cracked a home run, Mike de la Hoz had three hits, and Larry Brown smacked two doubles to lead the Suns' 12-hit attack against loser John Davolio.

In other games, Columbus edged Atlanta 5-4 and Syracuse beat Rochester 5-4. The Buffalo at Toronto game was cancelled because of rain.

WINS MANITOBA TITLE

WINNIPEG (CP) — Alvie Thompson of Toronto Northwood posted a four-over-par 75 Saturday to win the $4,000 Manitoba Open golf tournament with a 54-hole total of 27, one stroke less than the veteran Henry Martell of Edmonton Highlands.

Astrological Forecast

Tuesday, September 17
By SYDNEY OMARR

Aries (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) — Today you face responsibilities which involve friends, desires, habit patterns. If you attempt to push aside duties, you find this unpleasant time. But facing certain factors helps you to "grow".

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20) —You are especially qualified to cope with situations which arise today. Involved is ability to handle details. Maintain course leading directly to final goal.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) —Favorable lunar aspect today points up self-improvement, education, willingness to advance through added knowledge. Pay heed to advice offered by teacher or loved one.

Cancer (June 22 to July 21) —Money matters can be solved if you talk. Don't "suffer in silence". One close to you requires additional understanding of purposes, budget. Understanding comes through added communication.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) — Cycle is at point which flashes Caution sign. Means you can move ahead, but be sure you know where you are going. Otherwise, costly error could result. Be sure your message is getting across.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) —Older individual who requires aid should not be overlooked. The more considerate you are today, the more you eventually benefit. Don't promise more than you can produce. Be conservative.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)—Lunar message is one encouraging romance, entertainment, the excitement which comes from experimenting. Study the way you have been doing things. Then seek ways of improving techniques.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) —Stress on career ambitions. Best course is one which leads to added independence, originality. No time to just "follow the leader". Seek new avenues of expression. Say no to advocate of "easy way".

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Take special care in connection with travel, visits, calls, letter-writing. A little time could prove of tremendous benefit. Evening good for expressing appreciation.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Concentrate on expansion. You might hesitate because of costs. But actually this could be day when you obtain bargains. Move ahead. Refuse to stand still because of uncertainty.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — Lunar cycle at top. But Moon-Saturn conjunction indicates some pressure from family members. Be mature, diplomatic in statements, actions. Don't "fly off handle".

Pisces (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) — Agreement could be reached in connection with legal or partnership matter. What is required is a bit of ingenuity on your part. Act on knowledge gained from recent study, questions.

It today is your birthday — much relief from recent emotional pressures, promised next month. But you must take initiative by getting out, encouraging new acquaintances.

General Tendencies Somber warning due to near international tragedy. Appears to be result of one who "miscalculated".

PROTECTED HEAD

The Roman emperor Tiberius is said to have clapped a laurel wreath on his head in thunderstorms to protect himself from lightning.

Americans Win Junior Tennis

MONTREAL (CP) — The United States completed a 4-1 victory over Canada Sunday in a junior tennis tie patterned after Davis Cup play.

Mike Belkin, 17, of Miami, Montreal-born and the Canadian open junior champion, downed Andre Telemann, 18, the Canadian closed tiflet, 8-7, 6-3, 6-4, 7-5.

Gerry Cromwell, 18, of Los Angeles whipped Dennis Conley, 20, 6-4, 9-7 in a match cut to a best-of-three affair because the U.S. had already won the tie with Belkin's win.

In Saturday's doubles play, Belkin and Cromwell scored a 6-4, 14-12, 8-7, 4-6, 7-5 win over Keith Carpenter, 19, and Claude Savaria, 19, in a three-hour battle.

Carpenter posted Canada's only winning impetting Belkin in the opener Friday night. But Cromwell came back to beat Telemann.

Germans Sweep Rowing

LUCERNE, Switzerland (CP) — German oarsmen captured five gold medals at the world rowing championships which wound up Sunday while the Soviet Union and France collected one each.

The strong German contingent won gold medals in the coxed and coxless pairs, the coxed four and in the big eights which are usually represented by the University of British Columbia, finish sixth this last.

The Germans also took a bronze medal in the double sculls. The Soviet Union won the single sculls when Olympic gold medallist Vyacheslav Ivanov set a Rotsee Lake record in 7:07.09, bettering the previous mark of 7:11.7 made by Switzerland earlier this year.

The French crew of Rene Dubbeau and Gerard Monnier won the double sculls, with the Soviet Union second and the Germans third.

USSC oarsmen were entered in five events but failed to win a single—the big eights, the coxless fours and the coxless pairs. Germans took all three finals in the big eights only.

The German crew won the eights final in 5:50.80, followed by the Soviet Union in 5:53.56, Switzerland in 5:56.36, Italy in 5:57.10, Australia in 5:58.85 and Canada in 6:00.61.

ROW FOR CANADA

Rowing in the eights for Canada were Trevor Wilson, Peter Hewlett, Robert Bromley, Harold Dewar, Richard Bordewick, Max Wyman, Peter Hewlett and Darryl Sturdy and coxswain Allen Lucky.

The United States finished fifth in the coxed pairs and fourth in the coxed sculls.

The Soviet Union got three silver medals and two bronze medals in addition to the gold medal while France also got two silver medals and a bronze medal.

Stampeders Defeat Eskimos

By BOB TRIMBEE

EDMONTON (CP) — A year ago Tommy-Joe Coffey drove football for a business career and Norman Wyre seriously contemplated retirement despite his all-star safety ranking.

But both decided to give football another whirl prior to the 1962 Western Conference season and each come up with a dazzling performance Saturday night as the Calgary Stampeders defeated Edmonton Eskimos 17-15 before 15,000 fans.

Three times in the last half Wylie returned punts from his Stampeder 40-yard line on what looked like sure Edmonton single-wing touchdowns. Each time he finished by deflecting the ball away from Edmonton's Coffey at the Calgary goal line on the one-foot mark.

Coffey, who has scored 68 Edmonton's 123 points this season, missed the ball five times for 21 yards and caught seven others for 89 yards in losing causes. He scored a touchdown on an eight-yard pass from quarterback Don Getty, converted it and added an 11-yard field goal.

The victory ruined Calgary Dan Edwards' chances of finishing second place in the WFC, three points behind Saskatchewan Blue Bombers, one point ahead of Edmonton and B.C. Lions and two ahead of Saskatchewan Roughriders.

The Tracks

TORONTO (CP)—Utilizing his early speed, Viscount Hardinge's Chopavine, with leading rider Jim Fitzsimmons in the saddle, led from start to finish to win the $11,800 Seagram Cup Stakes at Woodbine before 15,332 patrons.

Chopavine, six-year-old son of Chop Chop and winner of this stake in 1960, held on to win by a nose from fast-closing Wilbur Ship, winner of this event last year for the Stafford Farms. Half a length farther back came the Western challenger, Gallood, owned by J. B. Azzara of Calgary.

Chopavine completed the mile and sixteenth in 1:47 and a little more than a second slower than the track record. Hidden Treasure, Canada's 1961 horse-of-the-year, ran disappointingly and finished last.

CATANIA, Sicily (AP)—Vol. Etna on Sicily put on another fiery show Sunday night, watched by thousands of foreign tourists who throng the summer resorts of the east coast of Sicily. Violent explosions were heard from a subterranean vent ripped high on the northeast cone of the volcano by an eruption a month ago.

Pastrano Wins Over Diaz

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)— Willie Pastrano of Miami dodged Rudolfo Diaz of Argentina for 10 rounds and landed enough punches to gain a split decision Saturday night.

Pastrano improved his record of never having been knocked down in 74 fights, although he became tired in the late rounds and stumbled badly in the ninth.

However, he bounced around the ring, while keeping his left in the face of Argentina's face. Diaz, whose face was puffed badly in the final rounds, kept flailing after Pastrano and landed some hard hooks to the body. Several times the referee warned him about hitting low.

Referee Jim ny Perkins scored the televised bout 97-95 for Pastrano and Judge Bunny Cavell concurred. Judge Nicholas Gus Jackson's card showed 97-94 for Diaz.

United States Tennis

Laver Meets Emerson

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)— Rod Laver reaches the end of a tennis rainbow today. It could be lined with gold.

The 128 - pound Australian meets Roy Emerson of Australia for the United States crown, the second year in a row the two Davis Cup teammates have tangled in the final. Emerson won in straight sets last year.

This time a barrel of money is riding on the outcome of the backdrop for the grand slam of amateur tennis. Australian, French, Wimbledon and United States championships. Don Budge, who accomplished the feat in 1938, is the only other player in history to win all four. Laver is three-for-three so far this year.

Laver made the final Sunday by crushing Rafael Osuna of Mexico 6-4, 6-3, 6-4, after Emerson had downed the local U.S. hope, Chuck McKinley of St. Paul, Mo., 4-6, 6-4, 6-4, 6-1. It marked the seventh straight year the U.S. has been shut out of the finals.

In the women's division, Darlene Hard of Long Beach, Calif., carries the U.S. banner into the final. Miss Hard, the defending champion, put it there by beating Lesley Turner Smith of Australia for the title.

Shadow Cabinet Of Liberals Being Formed

By KEN KELLY

OTTAWA (CP)—The Liberal Opposition is burnishing its armor and cleaning its guns because the government survives votes of non-confidence in the early days of the parliamentary session opening Sept. 27.

The 100 Liberal MPs elected at the June 18 general election have been canvassed by the party's parliamentary strategists for suggestions on points of attack.

As it shapes up now, the Liberals will have a sort of double shadow cabinet—an inner core of men with experience and special abilities in particular fields, and a wider grouping from which to keep up the fire on particularly important questions which come before the House.

FORM A NUCLEUS

Apart from Liberal Leader Pearson, such veteran MPs and former cabinet ministers as Paul Martin, J. W. Pickersgill, Lionel Chevrier and Paul Hellyer form a nucleus for the shadow cabinet.

Mr. Martin can be expected to lead the attack on health and welfare, his portfolio in the former Liberal government, and on foreign affairs. Mr. Chevrier will put to use his experience as former transport minister.

Mr. Pickersgill will keep an eye on citizenship and immigration, his former portfolio, and also on federal-provincial relations, a subject on which he has specialized.

Mr. Hellyer, former associate defence minister, likely will share defence defence critic with Charles M. (Bud) Drury, former deputy defence minister elected in Montreal St. Antoine-Westmount.

Walter Gordon, Toronto Davenport, head of a royal commission on Canada's economic prospects will team with William Benedickson of Kenora - Rainy River, Liberal financial critic since 1957, on financial affairs although Mr. Benidickson may give more emphasis to the revenue department.

HAVE FARM TEAM

On Agriculture, the Liberals will field a team which includes Hazen Argue of Assiniboia, their only Prairie farmer; Eugene Whelan of Essex South, a director of the Ontario wheat marketing board and a market gardener; Jack Roxburgh of Norfolk, a fruit farmer; and Bruce S. Beer of Peel, a farmer.

E. J. Benson (Kingston), a chartered accountant specializing in taxation—will cover that field.

There are a number of other subjects to be assigned among the members—housing and public works to John R. Garland (Nipissing) and justice to John R. Matheson, (Leeds).

The divisions are not yet complete and likely will be hammered out prior to the opening.

Shannonville World's Fair Attracts Splendid Crowd With Most Varied Program

The Shannonville "World's Fair" was held this past Friday and Saturday with an unusually small crowd during the forenoon on Saturday, but by mid afternoon the crowd began to gather as sunny skies prevailed.

No midway was offered for the kiddies this year, which was to be provided by Happyland Shows from Don Mills. However, pony rides were offered in its place. The board was notified that some trucks carrying the midway had broken down and it was unable to be in appearance.

There was a fine display of exhibits despite the fact there were only 50 exhibitors.

The grandstand show offered its usual excitement, with a nail driving and buck sawing contest for the ladies.

For the men, contests were held, such as log sawing, jigging and fiddling. The usual search for the largest family present and for the oldest person attending was held.

On the race track spectators viewed some very fine horse racing along with the bicycle races. Because of no pigs being exhibited at the fairy this year, there was no greasy pig race held.

In the "Palace" exhibit building, there were some very fine an dinteresting displays, exhibited by the ladies as well as exhibit entered by local manufacturers.

The Belleville Army, Navy and Air Force Klittle Band provided some lively tunes while a group of local majorettes provided a few demonstrations. Local Boy Scouts were also on hand.

Secretary - treasurer Thomas Hinchey said the number of exhibitors was down a bit from last year and that the attendance this year was not quite as good as last.

Reds Warn U.S. Not To Attack Cuba

Russia Declares Cuban Invasion Road To War

Appeal Made to U.S. To Use Common Sense

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government warned the United States today that an attack on Cuba would be the beginning of a war that might turn into a world nuclear war.

In a statement read to a special foreign office press conference, the Soviet government accused the United States of staging provocations "which might plunge the world into the disaster of a universal world war with the use of thermonuclear weapons."

"One cannot now attack Cuba and expect that the aggressor will be free from punishment for this attack," the statement continued. "If such an attack is made, this will be the beginning of unleashing war."

The statement appealed to the United States "to display common sense, not to lose the self-control and soberly to assess what its actions might lead to if it unleashed a war."

It said the Soviets would not follow the path of the United States in "calling up" 150,000 reservists.

WILL KEEP WATCH

But the Soviet government, it continued, "considers it to be its duty to remain watchful in this situation and order the defence ministry as well as the command of the Soviet Army to take all measures to put our fighting forces into the highest degree of fighting readiness.

"This is exclusively a precautionary measure. On our side we shall do everything not to violate peace."

The statement added an appeal to all nations to raise their voices against the alleged aggressive plans of the United States and to prevent the "American aggressors" from starting a war.

The statement declared that the Soviet Union is sending military supplies and military technicians to Cuba but is not establishing a base there.

"We state and we repeat," the statement said, "that if war is unleashed, if an aggressor attacks one or another state, and this state turns to us for help, then the Soviet Union has the possibility of giving aid from its own territory, to any peace loving state, and not only to Cuba.

"And let no one doubt that the Soviet Union will give such aid."

In the statement, the Soviet government also declared it wants a settlement of the Berlin question and a liquidation of the occupation regime in the divided city.

"The occupation regime must be liquidated, and it shall be liquidated," the statement said.

The Russian s said many statements by American politicians might have been considered the normal development of an election year. But in view of President Kennedy's request for authority to call up reservists, "the Soviet Government must receive in a different light" the flight of an American U-2 which it claimed recently crossed over the Russian-held island of Sakhalin, off the east coast of Soviet Siberia.

The statement ridiculed the claim of United States that developments in Cuba might justify a callup.

It said no similar callup was going to be made by the Soviet Union in response, but that it was responding by ordering all forces to be at the ready.

THE WEATHER

Synopsis: Light rain or drizzle is forecast for all but lower lake regions today. Gradual clearing is expected during the afternoon followed by mainly sunny weather Wednesday.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Thomas J. Dodd (Dem., Conn.) says he has reason to believe that Communist Cuba's military buildup "is even greater than has been indicated to the American public."

He told the Senate it cannot be dismissed as a defensive measure.

Dodd said "it can be stated as a matter of fact" that the recent delivery of Communist bloc men and munitions to the Castro government of Cuba was not the first.

He said the Soviet arms delivered to Havana are being transshipped through clandestine routes to other Latin American countries for use by their leftist extremists.

He pictured a Communist overthrow of the government of Panama, "thus placing the Panama Canal under the direct control of Moscow," as one objective of the shipments.

DISCLOSURE PROGRAM

Dodd advocated a six - point program that called for:

Intensified propaganda to encourage the people of Cuba to liberate themselves from Castro.

If necessary, a subsequent and tighter "total blockade on all supplies to Cuba" other than food and consumer goods.

Open assistance to Cuban freedom fighters including guerrilla movements.

Havana Reports Pirates Shell Two Vessels

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Havana radio said today two cargo vessels have been attacked by what it called a pirate ship off the northern coast of Cuba.

One of the ships which was fired on was a Cuban freighter carrying a load of molasses, the radio said. The other was a Spanish ship.

Fed as a British vessel with a Spanish name, the "Flying Land." The British ship was carrying sugar to Socialist countries, the broadcast reported.

The broadcast was monitored in Key West.

The Cuban boat, identified as the San Pascual, was hit 18 times by rocket and machine gunning through the crew's cabin, the broadcast said. The British freighter was hit 13 times.

Nothing was said about casualties on either vessel.

44 ARE KILLED, AS AIR TANKER HITS MOUNTAIN

'Worst I've Seen' Says Patrolman

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP)—All 44 persons aboard a Strategic Air Command jet tanker plane apparently were killed when the KC-135 plowed into a fog shrouded ravine on 5,221-foot Mount Kit Carson about 80 miles northeast of here Monday.

Thirty-three bodies had been recovered when nightfall halted the search of the 500-yard deep ravine.

Aboard the plane were 30 air force men, all members of the 28th Bomb Wing at Ellsworth Air Force Base, S.D.; one civilian and four crew members.

The tanker, based at Ellsworth, was carrying the airmen to Fairchild Air Force Base near here, where they were to stay while Ellsworth runways were repaired. The jet was only 10 minutes from its destination when it crashed.

TRIED TO PULL UP

Col. Floyd R. Cressman of Fairchild, one of the first to view the wreckage, said the pilot apparently tried to pull up the tanker at the last minute.

The plane mowed down a 25-by 200-yard strip of evergreens, slammed into the mountainside and burned. Cause of the crash hasn't been determined but visibility was near zero at the time.

"The wreckage was scattered all over the side of the ravine. It was burned to a crisp. Outside of the tires, the remaining pieces were small enough to put in your pocket," said a reporter.

Fairchild set radio and radar contact with the $3,500,000 Boeing jet at 11:10 a.m. as a late summer fog swirled around the mountains. Rain was falling as the plane neared Spokane.

REMNANTS—A few pieces of steel framework, a seat, safety belts and his boot were among a few recognizable bits of wreckage on the Bonneville Salt Flats of Western Utah after 25-year-old Gleniff Chandler of San Mateo, Calif., apparently attempted to exceed 400 miles per hour in jet auto "Infinity." Leather was killed and the car disintegrated in flames. Some observers estimated he was going 475 m.p.h.(AP Wirephoto)

'Near Banks' May Some Day Be Controlled by Govt.

OTTAWA (CP) — The day when the so - called "near banks" will have their savings and loan businesses controlled in the same way as commercial banks was envisaged Monday by the Lord Cobbold, ex-governor of the Bank of England.

But he indicated that day is far off. He said that in Britain it is an "extremely difficult" problem facing the central bank which must control credit and so influence the level of economic activity.

Canada has the same problem. It is one of the most contentious issues facing the royal commission on banking and finance, before which Lord Cobbold appeared. And Canada has an added problem—the constitutional issue.

The term "near banks" generally is applied to non-bank institutions that do something pretty close to what is usually regarded as banking.

In Canada the phrase usually is taken to mean trust and finance companies and credit unions because they accept deposits from the public and make loans. Chartered bankers have claimed this is unfair competition because near banks are not under the same laws.

The Bank of Canada has direct control over credit granted by the chartered banks because they must keep their statutory reserves of cash in the central bank. By varying these cash reserves directly or indirectly, the Bank of Canada can alter the ability of a bank to grant credit. But near banks do not have to keep their reserves there.

Lord Cobbold said British commercial banks have found it irritating that while they must heed Bank of England persuasion or force in expanding

MEMBERS GIVEN VERBAL BACKPAT BY MINING CO.

Govt. Thanked For Spur Line

By DENNIS ANDERSON*

KIRKLAND LAKE, Ont. (CP) — An 11-day tour of northeastern Ontario by members of the provincial legislature moved into the second week Monday.

Government members constituting the bulk of the group were given a verbal backpat from an American mining company spokesman who expressed thanks for a 45-mile spur line being built by the Ontario Northland Railway to bring ore concentrate out of a nearby mine site.

Roland E. Durocher, superintendent of the Northern Ontario ore division of Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation, told a luncheon audience that his company appreciated the cooperation of provincial and municipal officials in developing the Boston Township Iron Mine.

The company expects to ship 2,000,000 gross tons a season from concentrate from the open pit project annually with reserves estimated to last 30 years.

In addition to a tour of the $30,000,000 iron project members were shown the site of the new Northern Ontario Institute of Technology, which enrolled its first class of students Monday for studies in temporary quarters, and a local plywood plant.

Mackey Coolidge, premier in 1956 by a group of local business people, employs about 300 persons and ships $1,500,000 worth of product a year to markets in the United States and Canada.

WASHINGTON (CP)—President Kennedy's long search for a new ambassador to Canada is first U.S. envoy to the assignment in 1929. Three years later he was in Ottawa as third secretary in the U.S. embassy at a time when the Commonwealth was building up its preferential tariff system.

From Ottawa, Butterworth went to London, Lisbon, Madrid, Algiers, Chungking and a number of other posts.

During the Second World War, Butterworth was in a plane that crash-landed in the Tagus River near Lisbon. He and other passengers including singer Jeanette Macdonald were rescued in part of the plane that was sinking. As the cabin began

Officials Concerned About Arms Shipments to Cuba

Though Canada publicly has remained silent on the recent Communist arms buildup in the Caribbean island, diplomatic sources privately admit they are deeply concerned.

Reports reaching the Canadian government have tended to confirm U.S. estimates that the latest big flow of Soviet weapons to Cuba has been essentially defensive.

They also support the belief that Soviet military personnel in Cuba are technicians, not combat troops.

So far, it has not caused any visible deterioration in Canadian-Cuban relations. Canada is one of the few countries in the Western Hemisphere that still has diplomatic ties with the Fidel Castro revolutionary government.

Canada also maintains trade relations with Cuba, though of late trade has fallen off drastically.

Part of the anxiety felt here stems from the pressure which developments in Cuba have generated in Washington for bold action by the United States lo

Wife Owns Place So Husband Puts Up With Inconveniences

GRANDFORKS, B.C. (CP)—Bill Podovenniloff says straw goes a long way into his house for boiling water, to use the telephone, to sleep—things like that.

All this clomping around Bill's house began early. After all, the house is only 24 feet wide and 24 feet long.

Then there's the outside. More than 700 are clomping around out there and sleeping in his barns, erecting tents in his fields, digging footholes, outlets, singing hymns, making his roads all muddy.

But the wife says it's okay—and she owns the place.

By day Podovenniloff's choosing, Bill is host for an indefinite time to 750 Sons of Freedom Doukhobors who are marching to Agassiz in the Fraser Valley to be near many of their members imprisoned there.

Because Mrs. Podovenniloff has the title to the house and land and chose to open her door to the Sons, Bill has to comply, or leave.

"At first we argued about it, but now we get along," Bill said.

"I know that I must take it or walk out. I'll take it."

The Freedomites moved onto Bill's land Sunday when their bid to stay at John Verigin's home 10 miles away was rejected. Verigin is leader of the Christian Community of Universal Doukhobors, which rect Podovenniloff is also a member.

Eight children and six adults sleep and eat in the Podovenniloff house. The others rest beside their tents in farm buildings.

Bill's son, Harry, who also lives on the farm, has troubles too.

He and his new wife have eight Freedomites in their place.

Should Confer After Market Terms Definite

Macmillan Sees Link Aiding Commonwealth

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker proposed today that the Commonwealth prime ministers meet again after Britain concludes its Common Market negotiations.

Diefenbaker, in putting Canada's case for preserving the economic and political benefits of the Commonwealth relationship, said that Britain's negotiations with the six-country trade group at Brussels was successful.

He emphasized that Canada was not interfering with Britain's sovereign right to make a final decision on whether or not to join the Common Market.

What the Commonwealth ministers were gathered for were free and frank consultations, he said.

Diefenbaker said after all the Commonwealth leaders have spoken they would be in a better position to see the overall reaction to Britain's joining the Common Market. Then he suggested another Commonwealth "summit" after Britain's current negotiations with the "six" were concluded.

Opening the second day of the conference of prime ministers at Marlborough House, Diefenbaker spoke of the importance Canada attaches to the "unity exposed to Britain — worth just under $1,000,000,000 — and appealed again the need for "strengthening" the multi - nation association.

Diefenbaker was the first among the premiers to reply to Prime Minister Macmillan, who Monday emphasized the historical background impelling Britain to look towards Europe.

The Canadian leader's speech was believed to have been received even times before delivery.

Diefenbaker spoke under a huge crystal chandelier as intermittent rain flecked the leaded panes of the red drawing room in the Royal Palace of Marlborough House, scene also as the Commonwealth conference room for the first time.

He sat at the same oval conference table between Menzies and Premier Holyoake of New Zealand, with Macmillan directly opposite. Thus enabled the Canadian to read plain approved to engrasize the idea of a Canada-New Zealand-Australia "bloc" directed against Britain.

BLOC

The three prime ministers have emphatically denied there is any such bloc.

Diefenbaker has been besieged by groups lobbying against the Common Market. Since coming to London, informants said, he has received some 30 letters a day from average Britons who oppose Britain's move into Europe.

The opening session Monday of this 19-day conference, wid-

DR. R. SOBLEN, FUGITIVE SPY, DIES IN LONDON

Took Overdose Of Barbiturates

CP from AP-Reuters

LONDON — Fugitive spy Dr. Robert Soblen died here today, still unconscious five days after he took an overdose of drugs to avoid a life imprisonment in the United States.

But doctors attributed his death to exhaustion "following convulsions which were due to brain damage presumably due to hemorrhage."

Dr. Cyril Barnes, in charge of Soblen's case, said his death was not the to the result of the barbiturates, which were quickly acting and eliminated from the body chemically 24 hours before he died.

His wife, Dr. Dina Soble, was at his hospital bedside when he died at 10:40 a.m. (5:40 a.m. EDT) "after a series of increasingly severe convulsions."

Hospital authorities said the body would be taken to nearby Kingston Lane mortuary and a post-mortem would be held.

The death of the 61-year-old New York psychiatrist ended a 10-week battle to escape deportation to the United States, where he faced a life sentence on a wartime spy for the Soviet Union.

TOOK OVERDOSE

Soblen took an overdose of barbiturates apparently just before he was put in an ambulance here Thursday to be taken to a plane for the United States.

His route to London Airport he lapsed into unconsciousness in the ambulance. At the airport he was transferred to another ambulance and taken to the Middlesex Hospital.

He never regained consciousness. Sunday he developed convulsions which persisted. His doctors said this was evidence of brain damage. They explained the overdose of barbiturates reduced the supply of oxygen to the brain and probably caused a brain hemorrhage.

He was granted American who emigrated from Lithuania, Sobolevitch, was convicted by a New York federal district court July 18, 1961, of passing U.S. secret data to Soviet agents over a span of 20-years, in-

Council Approves Pact With County on Ownership And Operation of Hospital

Following the action taken last week by Hastings county council, Belleville city council yesterday gave approval to the agreement calling for a partnership by the city and the county in the operation of the Belleville General Hospital.

Under the agreement which still has to be finalized by a private bill in the Ontario Legislature, the partnership would see the city pay 65 per cent and the county 35 per cent of all future capital and operational costs of the hospital.

Introducing the recommendation calling for council approval of the hospital agreement, Mayor A. M. Haig spoke glowing at being unable to acquaint council earlier of the agreement details.

He said the joint city-county committee investigating hospital expansion problems had agreed that there be no publicity given until the agreement had been placed before county council at its September session.

WISE TO INVITE COUNTY

Reviewing the matter, Mayor Haig said that it was a long time it was felt it would be wise to invite the county to become a partner with the city in ownership of the hospital.

Vastly increased need for hospital services meant that the city could no longer pay for increases on its own, he said he noted that from 38 to 60 per cent of total hospital patients come from Hastings county and if it were not for county patients hospital expansion might not be required at this time.

"I am happy to say that the county has now approved the partnership", the Mayor said.

The question of whether to expand on the present site, or to build a new hospital on a new site, has still not been decided on however.

Mayor Haig said he was one of those who felt expansion should be at the present site and said it was generally accepted that this would be the recommendation which would be followed.

COULD PROCEED SOONER

If the decision was to build on the present site, Mayor Haig felt hospital would be in position to proceed sooner than if a new site was chosen.

He said the proposed expenditure of $4,000,000 would provide for an additional 100 to 200 beds.

Alderman Rose Bailey, chairman of the city council finance committee and member of the hospital joint city-county committee, expressed his appreciation to Mayor Haig for his leadership as chairman of the committee.

He said the agreement making the county a partner in hospital ownership was a "great step forward".

Alderman George Wishart said Mayor Haig was unselfish in his contribution, stating that the general feeling was the hospital expansion should be on the present site but stated all information was not yet known.

He said he favored a new site on the present site would mean for the present time a serious loss of many of the present facilities. He mentioned the pathological laboratory, the kitchen and the laundry.

WAS COMPROMISE

"If we build on the present site I venture to say that in ten years time we will again be up for the need for hospital expansion might not be required at this time.

Alderman Les Digby wanted to know why the partnership basis had been set at 35 per cent for the city and 35 per cent for the county when 60 percent of the patients were from the county.

"I tried for 40 percent from the county," returned Mayor Haig. "The 65-35 percent was a compromise.

Mayor Haig went on to say how grateful he was in getting working with the county on the hospital question.

He said the agreement on the hospital ownership "was a symbol of what municipalities can do if they really want to co-operate".

Representing the city on the committee were Mayor Haig with Aldermen Stocks, Wishart and Bailey. County representatives were county clerk Carl Bateman, Reeve Harold Varty and councillors William Shannon, Harlen Hamilton, Earl Sager, Thomas Burnside and J. N. Brown.

Aldermen Jack Whalen expressed his appreciation to the committee members for their work on the hospital question, while Alderman Stuart Robb asked what was going to decide whether hospital expansion would be on the present site or whether a new site would be chosen.

Mayor Haig replied by quoting the old axiom of "He who pays the price calls the tune."

The final say on hospital board had to come to the councils for financing, he would give councils complete control in the matter, he said.

W.L. Pickering of Toronto Is Hired by School Board As Building Superintendent

TRENTON — At the first full meeting of the Trenton Board of Education, last night, board members voted to hire W. L. Pickering of Toronto as buildings superintendent, to replace John Connis who resigned a few weeks ago. Board members were agreed that Mr. Pickering's qualifications topped those of a great number of applicants for the position, which entails a considerable amount of responsibility.

Present at the meeting were board chairman G. Phinney; members Mrs. Gabrielle Griffiths, Gordon Cook, Ronald Reid, E. D. Topping, and Lou Knack; supervising principal of schools, V. F. Carswell, high school principal John Garrett and board secretary Miss Eva Baker.

RCAF appointee to the board 5/3, Lt. Ronald Thompson, introduced to the board members by Mr. Phinney.

Dr. Ross Thomson, Dr. T. McNally and Gerald Farrar were absent.

Suggestions, contained in a letter, from fire inspector Robert Hamilton, to the fire hazard areas where teachers and visitors to the town's schools (at social functions, etc.) should exercise a considerable amount of caution, as it was generally felt that punctuation in the letter was at fault when it appeared that the instructions were cut off from smoking in the buildings. General permission to smoke in the washrooms at the schools as suggested in the report, was also felt to be a mistake, as no doubt the number approved of this practice.

Rev Ronald Reid said that all in the schools during social functions, he said that such a practice contributed to the school for the students on the day following. Search parties and that after all, the board was responsible for the students' safety.

LIVELY TILT

..."That's rather a bigoted outlook for a clergyman," observed Mrs. Griffiths.

"Smoking doesn't enhance the appearance in our schools", reiterated Mr. Reid.

Inspector's suggestions will be generally adopted, but washrooms will definitely be prohibited as no-smoking areas, where smoking is permitted at all times.

Nobody seems to be interested in running the cafeteria at the Sidney Street Junior schools; George Greer and Lou Knack, both members of schools' where automatic meal vending machines are installed by S/L Vending and Mrs. Griffiths were assured that such service would include a sampling of the hot meals, they agreed to accompany Mr. Greer and Mr. Knack.

To forestall any further indecision, Gordon Cook suggested into the town's public schools from hotels owned by separate school supporters. Mr. Carswell suggested that some adjustment, whereby the parents would pay for the meals served. Next year, separate school supporters will be required to turn over their taxes to public school support for a two year period if they wish their children to attend public school kindergarten.

Mr. Carswell said that separate school supporters from such places as Consecon and Roseland Acres had offered to pay for their children to attend town kindergarten classes, but he said, in view of existing crowding in such classes, he doubted the wisdom of permitting their entry. Mr. Carswell reported that to date, 2074 public school students had registered and added that one more teacher be hired to teach a kindergarten class at North Trenton school. This will be arranged.

RE-LOCATE STUDENTS

Mr. Carswell asked for, and received permission, to relocate from 12 to 15 students living in the downtown area, and attending Grade Eight at Prince Charles School on Dufferin Ave., in Memorial Sr. Senior Public School, across the river.

High school principal John Garrett reported a greater by 100 school attendance at his school (1074) than was previously reckoned on. He said that it had been necessary to create an additional Grade Ten and hire an additional teacher. There are ten Grade Nines; eight Grade Tens; six Grade 11s; five Grade 12s and two Grade 13s.

At the senior educational institution, the offices, library and cafeteria in the new addition are nearly yet ready for use and the school offices are at present, located in the school basement.

Mr. Garrett said that many of the pupils were coming directly into the school had remarked on the good "attitude towards learning" on the part of the students. Also, that the results of this year's Grade 13 examinations showed an improvement in the percentage of passes over the past three years. The school got boost of two Ontario students with an average of more than 80 per cent in at least eight papers. Four students have won Dominion - Provincial Bursaries and one student has received a University Scholarship.

COMMENDED FOR GOOD

Mr. Carswell read a report of less-than-perfect conditions in the new four-covered addition to the Queen Elizabeth school. Ceiling tiles do not appear to be installed in the best way, and actually were found falling down, while the ceiling sea, said Mr. Carswell. There are no dismissal bells would be rung for the classrooms which ordinarily house 30-35 students, and no hooks for coats, etc. have been provided. There are no loud speakers in the hall of the addition and the rooms are not soundproof, you can hear the teacher in the next room constructing her class.

Mr. Carswell reported that the heating systems in the various schools had been gone over in order to remedy the fault that at the high school, a workman had accidentally put into a large oil tank to clear a drill and that the man had rubbed a pair of his rubber boots and a shirt. The board agreed to pay for these.

Gerald Farrar and Dr. McNally who were absent, were commended by the board's book of Rules and Regulations.

The board's insurance adjustors had been asked to look into the possibility of making good the cost of damage and of vandalism in the new additions to the school, which cost amounting to around $300 .

The meeting adjourned shortly after nine thirty.

Trenton Police Recapture Two Convicts

TRENTON — Gary Ibbotson, 20, a former Trenton resident, and Alexander Peters, 19, of Kingston, who escaped from Collins Bay penitentiary around 9.15 p.m. last Sunday were apprehended on Bay Street in Trenton by Constables Vickers and Vickers around 4.30 p.m., yesterday.

Chief of Police F. J. Taylor said he had delegated Constable Vickers to make a search for the men yesterday morning, working along the theory that Ibbotson might contact some of his former acquaintances. Chief Taylor said that the constable had "tricked" two or three places and had had the impression in one case at least, that the men might have been there. A little later, cruising on Bay Street, Constable Vickers noticed Ibbotson and Peters. The men ran up the street but the constable speeded up, cut them off, and took them into custody. Upon their arrest by the Trenton police station, Peters was found to be suffering a gash on his head which he said he had sustained while running across the railway line given first aid at the police station.

When apprehended, the men were wearing prison trousers and had acquired lighter jackets. Both were soaking wet.

Chief Taylor of Collins Bay was immediately notified of the capture of the two men and they were placed in cells at Trenton until they could be picked up by penitentiary officials.

clicking wartime information from the New York headquarters of the Office of Strategic Services. He was sentenced to life in prison, though the penalty might have been death.

Sobolen was denied a new trial and the U.S. Supreme Court refused to review his case.

FLED TO RUSSIA

That was the background of Sobolen's flight last June 25 to Russia, where he is now, he vainly claimed the right to a haven under the Israeli Law of Return. Israel arrested him on suspicion of entering with a false Canadian passport bearing to his deceased brother.

Sobolen was born Nov. 7, 1900, into the numerous and wealthy Sobelvicious family of Lithuania. He left Baltic state that he had left for the United States. He has but 22 years of freedom between world wars.

Sobolen and his younger brother, Jack, joined the Communist party in 1930 while at school in Germany. The trial said Sobolen told that Sobolen was so intense a party member that he went to Moscow in 1935 and studied at Communist party.

When the Soviet Union took over Lithuania at the beginning of the Second World War the Sobelvicious family lost all its properties. Soon afterward Sobolen permitted the family to emigrate to America.

Some of the family members, including Jack and Robert, settled in the United States by Oct. 20, 1941. They spread to New York, Boston and Montreal.

CHANGED NAME

Robert assumed the name Sobolen, the family said. His brother, Berns, continued using the family name until his death in Canada.

In 1944 Sobolen opened a psychiatric clinic in New York City. He later became the supervising psychiatrist at the Rockland State Hospital in Orangeburg, N.Y.

His wife, Dina, also is a psychiatrist.

Ten years later, Jack ran into trouble with the law.

He was arrested as the head of a Soviet spy ring, quickly pleaded guilty and was sentenced to seven years in a federal prison.

With a history of mental illness that included swallowing of nails and razor blades in an attempt, Jack was a star witness for the U.S. government in the four-week trial of his brother in 1957.

The family was permitted to leave Russia in exchange for arrangement with Lavrenti Beria, then chief of the Soviet secret police, that Jack and his brother would engage in espionage activities in the U.S.

START SPY RINGS

The others of the family, non-Communists, were held as hostages as cover-ups. The two brothers Lithuania reserve air rings in 1941. Jack's group was intimately connected with Soviet embassies in the U.S. and Canada.

Robert's group was to start the spy rings in the first month.

The men ran up the street but the constable speeded up, cut them off, and took them into custody. Upon their arrest by the Trenton police station, Peters was found to be suffering a gash on his head which he said he had sustained while running across the railway line given first aid at the police station.

When apprehended, the men were wearing prison trousers and had acquired lighter jackets. Both were soaking wet.

Chief of Police Collins Bay was immediately notified of the capture of the two men and they were placed in cells at Trenton until they could be picked up by penitentiary officials.

Ameliasburg Twp. Residents Meet to Protest 'Invasion' By Toronto Area Hunters

Ameliasburg township farmers are up in arms today over a situation which has caused very great concern throughout the township, during the past few weeks.

Carloads of hunters from the Toronto area, have been converging on the Ameliasburg township area, roaming over private property without permission and in some cases have caused great loss to the farmers concerned.

A special meeting was called Monday night by the Ameliasburg Township Council in an attempt to find a way to stop these men. Representatives were present from all parts of the township and a few from the adjoining townships. It was decided to seek more frequent police patrols.

There were no complaints made at Monday night's meeting against local hunters. The main reason for the meeting was to find a w, y to keep outside hunters off private property.

FEAR ACCIDENTS

In several cases, where farmers asked these gunners to move off their property, threats were made. People fear accidents to children when these men are roaming through their woods. In most cases, farm chiuren go back to the pasture fields to bring the cows to the barn.

One woman remarked that she was a bit afraid to go back near the woods herself after the cows, because these men were there, let alone send her children back.

A Consecon Lake resident reported to police a group of these men entered her farm and were shooting pheasant. A man at Hilliier was threatened when he ordered a group of hunters off his property.

Another man reported seeing a spot on his property where a deer had been shot and cleaned. Another reported seeing the hunters carrying a deer from the busnes.

Cases have been reported where farmers' livestock has been shot. One man reported a cow and calf on his property had been shot and another reported of having one of his colts shot.

Many of these farmers have been threatened with guns by these hunters.

Members of the council were told that it was sometimes very difficult to contact the Picton Ontario Provincial Police, as they were quite often out patrolling. Those present at the meeting were informed that if they contacted the Ontario Provincial Police in Belleville, they would be able to reach the Picton O.P.P. for them.

EXPECT MORE PATROLS

It is expected extra cruisers will be put on over the weekend, as that is when the problem seems to be the worst.

A similar case of hunters roaming private property was reported in the Frankford area last year. Some of the residents in Ameliasburg township feel that this problem they now have is because of an article published in a hunting magazine about the excellent hunting in their area.

Residents of Ameliasburg township are very deeply concerned, not only because of the losses they are suffering, but because these hunters have no apparent respect for other people's property.

Approximately 125 men and women attended the meeting Monday night. The meeting was called as the result of a Carrying Place man, Harvey Brown, being charged with shooting with intent. Mr. Brown was charged after shooting one of these men for trespassing on his property without his permission.

Official Plan Almost Ready For Approval

At least it's almost ready for the public hearing stage before the final draft is made and it comes to city hall in by-law form.

Alderman Les Digby yesterday advised council that public hearings by the Ontario Municipal Board should be held as soon as possible so that any suggested changes could be made before the plan gets to the by-law stage.

He noted that the official plan had been going through the mill for several years but had been delayed by the planning consultant not getting on with the work as rapidly as was hoped.

The Hillcrest area was listed for re-development study and Alderman Digby said the planning board had an "open mind" on this matter.

Road and Fuel Contracts Let By City Council

The tender of the H. J. McFarland Construction Company for construction of ashalt roads and curbs on Dufferin Crescent, Southwood Crescent, Elizabeth Crescent, Southwood Ave., and Linton Park Road, was accepted yesterday by council.

The amount of the tender was $62,470.19.

The Lynch Coal Company was given the contract for the supply of fuel requirements for the city. The tender price for stoker coal, and for Pocahontas coal was $17.30 per ton; for No. 2 fuel oil $13.95 per hundred gallons, and for stove oil $15.95 per hundred gallons.

The tender of the Quinte Roofing Company for $5,330 was accepted for re-roofing of the Belleville Memorial Arena.

Discussion On Moving Tracks Going Slowly

Discussion between the city and the C.N.R. and C.P.R. regarding the removal of the railway tracks from Pinnacle Street is proceeding slowly, but Mayor A. M. Haig still has hopes of an agreement.

"Progress in talks has been slow, the mayor admitted yesterday to council.

He said the C.P.R. had not agreed with a C.N.R. proposal but further meetings were to be held and there was every reason to hope that eventually there would be an agreement under which the tracks would be taken up.

Council Ponders If Crosswalk Signs Are Legal

The question of whether the crosswalk signs erected at many locations in the city are legal in Belleville is being pondered by city council.

Alderman Ross Bailey asked the question at yesterday's meeting of council whether the city should have them if they were not legal.

He said that some motorists obey them and some do not.

The matter has been discussed in committee and Ald. Stuart Robb said the intention was to have a crosswalk by-law brought in to council.

'NEAR BANKS'

or restricting credit, the near banks need not. Thus the banks are losing business to near banks.

There would have to be legislation covering the near banks, bringing them under the "umbrella" of the central bank's monetary control.

Chief Justice Dana Porter of Ontario, commission chairman, suggested such a step may be easier in the United Kingdom than in Canada. Here, the constitution delegated banking powers to the federal government. But where was the limit on those powers?

Chief Justice Porter suggested the near banks are affected by monetary actions because they are dependent on commercial banks for loans. True, said Lord Cobbold—but this was only an "indirect sanction" on near-bank operations.

The commission Monday opened a three - week public hearing, latest in a series that began last March. It has been asked to study the entire Canadian capital market and report to the government in time for Parliament's 1964 decennial revision of Canadian banking legislation.

Kin and Kinette New Officers Are Installed

The Belleville Kinsmen Club met last night at the Shrine Club for its first dinner meeting of the '62-'63 season. The agenda included the joint installation of officers for both the Kinsmen and Kinette Clubs. Present to officiate at the ceremonies was Deputy-Governor Ken Thompson of Tweed, accompanied by his wife and by Zone Secretary, Laverne Monaghan and his wife.

The Deputy-Governor congratulated past-president Bob Wood on the measure of success the Club enjoyed during his term of office. He presented the club with the District No. 6 Efficiency Trophy for 1961-62.

He also commented on the well planned itinerary for 1962-63 as outlined by Rolly Belanger, new president of the Belleville club, and made several favorable comments regarding the local Kinsmen's 2 main annual projects, their new clinic and the operation of the Community Swimming Pool. He said this proved the members to be a sincere and hard working group and a real credit to their community.

President Belanger stated that the present membership of 38 would be increased to at least 45 by the end of this year of office. The president also asked the members to be ready for the annual light bulb campaign slated for this month. The Kinettes promised their support for this project.

Besides Belanger, the new club officers, the deputy-governor presented 100 percent attendance pins to 3 past-presidents of the club. Outstanding records were those of Frank Lang and Don Thomas. Mr. Lang has 20 years perfect attendance and Mr. Thomas has 14.

The 1962-63 executive for the Belleville Kinsmen Club consists of president Rolly Belanger; past president Bob Wood; vice-president Gordon Schatz, secretary Zdenek Kvarda; registrar Charlie Gray; treasurer Jim Wilde and directors Bud Drury, Frank Wallace and Bill Foster.

The new executive for the Kinette Club consists of president Rosemary Belanger, past president Norma Bacon; vice-president Grace Cartwright; secretary Marleen Parks; treasurer Marilyn McDonald and director Elaine Gray.

Demand for School Guards Caused by School Expansion In Northeast Part of City

School expansion in the northeast section of the city, is creating a stepped-up demand for school guards in the Victoria, Hershleur and Farley Avenue area, members of city council were told yesterday.

Alderman Jack Ireland, chairman of the traffic and light committee, said he had visited the area when schools were being let out and had never seen so many children in one place before.

As result there was a big demand for additional school guards.

Unfortunately, however, the committee budget was "not in good shape" and switching of funds might be necessary.

He noted that when the traffic lights are installed at Bridge and Hershimer the school guard there could be shifted to where the need was greater, while one other guard might also be changed.

Continuing on traffic matters Ald. Ireland said council would have to make its decision soon on which crossing over the Chff double track between North Front and Bridge and Moira River, it was going to close.

He also noted that the proposed four-way stop at the intersection of Victoria and Humewood would be illegal.

According to highway regulations four-way stops can be set up only where there is an intersection of two through streets.

Fall Assizes Of Supreme Court Open

The Fall assizes of the Supreme Court of Ontario commenced in this city Monday afternoon at the county court house on Pinnacle Street, where the Honorable Mr. Justice G. A. Gale is presiding.

Mr. Gale announced yesterday that the court would be adjourned on Tuesday morning at the time of Mr. Robert Pringle's funeral service. He said he was very sorry to read of Mr. Pringle's passing in the paper, 'He will be greatly missed by his many friends and associates of the bar", he said.

In his opening remarks, Mr. Gale said what he had not seen of the new court building, was superb. He went on to say that a new record has been set by the county. It was the first time in 10 years there had been no criminal cases before the court.

Due to the death last Wednesday, of Mr. Donald Leslie Dalrymple, who was to have appeared before Mr. Gale, charged with criminal negligence, there was no criminal case to present. The court was told a "True Bill" had been found and the case traversed to this court.

Greetings were extended to Mr. Gale by Thomas Lynch on behalf of the members of the bar. Court resumed this afternoon at 2.00 p.m.

Municipal Band Apparently Now Disbanded

At least it no longer has a home and is behind in its rent. And instruments formerly used by the band are being given into the custody of the Belleville Recreation Committee and the Quinte Secondary School.

Yesterday at city council there was a recommendation from the city finance committee calling for payment of $297.50 in back rent and $44.80 insurance from the city administration contingency fund.

Alderman Ross Bailey noted that while the Belleville band had not operated for several years it still had rented quarters above the Metropolitan Stores.

Strange Reasoning

Liberal Leader Lester Pearson spoke last week at a Chamber of Commerce banquet at Elliot Lake, in his own riding of Algoma East. He is reported to have said he considers it his duty to move a motion of non-confidence in the Federal Government when Parliament meets on September 27. This was something less than startling news. If Mr. Pearson did not lack confidence in a Progressive Conservative Government, there would be something strangely amiss. What was unusual, though, was the reason which he chose to stress for moving such a motion of non-confidence. This was the fact that the people, by electing on June 18 more members in opposition than supporters of the government, had demonstrated that they lacked confidence in the Progressive Conservative regime.

But if this be a reason for moving a vote of non-confidence, then by the same reasoning an election favoring the government would require Mr. Pearson to refrain from such a motion. We always considered that a motion of non-confidence reflected the attitude of the mover, and not of the general public, and that members cast their votes for or against it in accordance with their own convictions.

Mr. Pearson has every right to move a vote of non-confidence, with no necessity to defend this action as reflecting the desires of the majority of Canadians. Can it be that, while lacking confidence in the Diefenbaker Government, Mr. Pearson also lacks confidence in the ability of his own, or any other party, to provide a better alternate and thus approaches his nonconfidence motion as an unpleasant duty, rather than a pleasurable opportunity?

Welfare Statistics

Belleville stood fifteenth amongst Ontario municipalities in general welfare assistance expenditures in June. This is shown in statistics issued by the Ontario Department of Public Welfare for the forty largest general welfare assistance accounts.

Here in June approximately 27 persons out of every thousand were receiving assistance. Cornwall has the unenviable distinction of topping the list, with 74 out of every thousand residents requiring help, while Kitchener has less than three persons in every thousand getting welfare money.

The number on welfare here declined 3.8 per cent from a year ago, indicating the figure here is fairly stable, but there are some surprising changes for some other municipalities. The number on welfare at Fort William, for instance, jumped 63.6 per cent, while Oshawa reported a 44 per cent decline. The figures which intrigue us, however, are those for Sandwich East and Sandwich West, the former reporting a 44.3 per cent decline and the latter a drop of only 4 per cent.

The overall decrease in numbers from last year was 7.3 per cent, but expenditures dropped only .3 per cent. Belleville did not come up to the average in the decline in the number receiving welfare payments, but did much better than the average in respect to expenditures, the 3.3 per cent decline in costs almost matching our 3.8 per cent decrease in the number receiving aid.

Buried Treasure Put to Use

Every era seems to have its economic idiocies in the U.S.

In the dirty thirties, the predominant example of the irrational nature of the U.S. economic system was the burning of surplus food while thousands of people were hungry.

During the forties and the fifties, attention shifted to the storing of gold, which made Fort Knox, Kentucky, a byword. Comedians had a field day with this, amongst the less barbed comments being references to the gold mining industry as an infantile activity which consisted of digging gold out of the ground in one place in order to bury it in another.

Now, at long last, this hoarding has been given some economic sense. For the first time in 17 years a large amount of gold has been removed from storage at Fort Knox to meet foreign demands for bullion.

The U.S. economy, though, still exhibits signs of insanity. Today it is payments for not-farming. They say that if one is a really shrewd not-farmer one can make enough profit not-growing corn to buy additional acres on which to not-grow wheat, which, of course, can augment one's income and acreage so that one can eventually integrate one's not-farming activities to take advantage of all not-farming bonuses.

Analysis of Last Vote Leads to New Tactics

By RICHARD JACKSON
From The Ontario Intelligencer's Ottawa Bureau

Ottawa — . . . notes off the reportorial cuff . . .
Who votes for whom?

The Blackroom Boys of both major political parties have finished their statistical post-mortems, and the broad general lines, know pretty well who likes Mike and who follows John.

The analysis of the indecisive vote of last June has disclosed an odd split in the national balloting along racial and even age lines.

It was among the English Protestants in the rural areas, the towns and smaller cities and with the older voters that the Conservatives found their greatest support.

They were weakest among Catholics, French-Canadians and the various large and growing ethnic groups in the larger cities and particularly in the big "Metro" areas of Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg and Vancouver.

And where, of course, the Conservatives were weakest, the Liberals, except for strongly politically-offbeat backwoods Quebec, were strong.

The ethnic groups gave the Conservatives barely one quarter of their votes, swinging a shade short of 40 percent of their colossal majority to the Liberals.

Other major population groups in which the Conservatives lacked strength were among the middle-income groups and younger graduates, the baby unions and the first-time voters.

The just-21 and under 30 voters were, proportionately for the Liberals — the 30 to 40-year voters divided almost evenly between the two parties, and the 40 to 50-year ballots went three to two for the Tories. Above that the Conservatives had almost a monopoly of the over-50 vote.

That older vote, the ballot of the over-50 group, is a solid one.

It seldom swings, and the political party that has the loyalty of this older vote can safely count on the continuing support of a group that has come to carry its ballot automatically. By 50, political loyalty among voters has become almost an ingrained habit.

Having pin-pointing their racial, religious and age group strengths and weaknesses, the Blackroom Boys are at work now on strategies for the next election, made to order for the existing situation.

The campaigners, drawing almost an individual bead on the group - voter, will be operating in with special tailored-to-their-appeals.

THE LITTLE TOUCH

Canadian National Railways President Donald Gordon, who unusually has his trivals and tribulations with Senators of Commons committees, has come up with the story of the season.

Freight and passenger service salesmanship extraordinaire that he is, he was giving a big Ontario group of conventioneering travellers an after-luncheon talk on rail transport and communication.

"As a railroad man," he grinned, "I am naturally altogether approve of the fact that, over the years, more and more travellers and travelling salesmen have concocted and even fabricated almost as many anecdotes about the railroad and its service as they have about the farmer's daughter.

"Nevertheless, the pleasure of your company and the study of your patronage far outweigh any small inroads on our reputation for comfortable and efficient service."

Came the first wicker.

If Donald Gordon can keep a few such sallies in the life of the Commons Railway Committee he may have a rollicking good and laughter filled with the Parliamentarians this Session.

Usually, a Gordon appearance before a Commons Committee is less a laugh than an occasion, with the big, plain-talking railroad man and his not-so-large group of personal assistants among the Parliamentarians trading smart rather than laughs.

Ways We Can Acknowledge Art Graciously

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

We were avoidably late for a concert at Ravinia (Illinois) a few weeks ago, and as we were standing in back waiting for the pause between movements to take our seats, I thought of the time that Leopold Stokowski taught Philadelphia concertgoers a severe but badly needed lesson.

Many years ago, when he was first conducting the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra, he became increasingly annoyed at the rudeness of the audiences throughout the season — and especially the season's latecomers. So, at the last concert of the season, Stokowski decided to pay them back in their own coin.

Those who arrived at the auditorium early were surprised to see that seven and eight-story arrangements had been made. Most of the ushers were absent, the stage was dark and bare, and some of the audience began to wonder if they had come on the right evening.

At the usual time, the scheduled time to begin, a janitor strolled across the stage and tossed the tuning fork around, loudly and casually. A few musicians seated themselves on the stage and began to play the first few bars of the opening piece.

The rest of the orchestra clumped in by twos and threes, and joined the ragged performance, with much coughing, shuffling of feet, and rattling of instruments. It was a half-hour before the entire orchestra was playing together, with style and verve.

The concert continued in the conventional manner, until the concluding number. Then the musicians revered the procedure, and put away their instruments by twos and threes, banging their way off the stage until Stokowski was left alone with the invisible audience.

Needless to say, he took no bows that night. But despite a panning for these high-handed tactics, his dramatic objectlesson paid off.

At the first concert of the new season, there were no vacant seats, everyone was prompt in arriving, silent during the performance, and stayed until the final note had died into oblivion.

Sometimes there seems to be no other way to deal with bad-mannered audiences, who feel they are doing the performer a favor by attending at all. They need reminding that to be a patron of the arts it is not necessary to be patronizing.

Great performers and composers used to be let in at the kitchen door; or the cobbler who supported them, and were forced to eat with the servants; but while they were playing they were listened to with respect and reverence. We can treat them with acclaim in their personal lives, but regard their professional appearances as simply social occasions for our own diversion — which is worse for them, for us, and for the arts.

Irish Beach Splits Sexes

St. Thomas Times-Journal

There is a seaside resort at Sherries, 20 miles north of Dublin, which does a big, firm, sandy beach. It is the only sandy beach for miles. But the County Council has erected a large sign announcing that women and girls may go in swimming there one hour in the forenoon, one hour in the afternoon and one in the evening. Men and boys are barred during the rest of the day. Moreover another handicap to the women is that while the Council erected a changing place for men they did not erect one for women. They have to change in the open air and in full view of passers-by, men included.

Writes a local clergyman: "The arrangements are quite reasonable. Men do not like women around when they are in swimming."

This is a throwback to the attitude toward mixed bathing that prevailed during the latter years of the Victorian era. Many municipalities argued over that issue for years. Skirmishes used to be a lone exception nowadays in prohibiting family bathing.

If the County Councillors of Sherries were to come to Canada they would find swimmingly wearing more when they are in the water than when walking along the main streets.

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

September 11th, 1942.

The annual Kiwanis Fall Carnival which opened in Bellville's downtown section, was off to a rousing start from the very first. Belleville citizens, who have always accorded loyal support to Kiwanis projects, were present in hundreds and their co-operation and contributions were most gratifying to the sponsors. Starting off the evening's program was the introduction of the Tiny Tot Bathing Beauty Revue under the direction of Mr. George Forbas. The diminutive beauties in bathing suits or sunsuits, blonde, brunettes and red heads, their curls topped with ribbons, paraded on a specially arranged platform.

It won't be long now. School bells will ring out the city public school students on September 8th and the students who have been engaged in farm work during the present period, will be allowed to remain at their occupation until October 31st.

Nearly 300,000 gallons of water will flow into the Moira River tomorrow when the Belleville Public Utilities standpipe will be emptied preparatory to painting, cleaning and repairing. Water is carried by a special release pipe to the Moira River after manhole covers in the pipe — bottom have been removed.

An eel which measured a little over four feet in length and inches around the middle, was caught by a man from Toronto while fishing recently in Roblin's Lake, Prince Edward County. It took considerable time to land the eel and the angler had no idea what was on the end of his line until the eel had been landed. It is said to be a record.

Trade Dept. Does Its Best

Ottawa Journal

The Trade Department tries. It tries selling Canada in 110 trade commissioners and closeting them in conferences with businessmen who are new markets.

It tries provincial trade and industrial conferences in the 10 provinces where ways of getting more Canadian goods sold.

It tries trade missions, another large expense in Canadian products at fairs, opens new trade commissioner offices, designs to increase export credit facilities and brings the assistance available from the Industrial Development Bank, National Design Council, National Productivity Council and similar organizations to the attention of the manufacturer by surveys from time to time of them.

Next month leading businessmen are to attend a conference in Ottawa to consider increased Canadian participation for home and export markets.

People involved in Trade Department conferences receive from Mr. Hees a hearty welcome. They want to hire him as a sales manager. Mr. Hees, like his department, tries.

Conferences sell no goods, but businessmen expects but the department sets a good example by prodding its own staff and lighting businessmen to get on with the job.

If a conference does not follow up an export lead offered by a trade commissioner, the Trade Department asks questions. There' spushing as well as trying.

Wh-t does it mean in dollars and cents? Canadian exports and imports both reached record levels in May, a cheerful aspect being that exports were up 33.4 per cent compared with a year ago while imports were up only 17.5. We're moving in the right direction.

Customers Overlooked

Halifax Chronicle-Herald

Why is it, when customers find it convenient to drop or go to the bank, that the staffs of these institutions are reduced so much at the waiting lines in front of cashiers are so long as they are at the busiest times of the week?

Take the noon hour, for example. During this period, many people wish to undertake personal errands. It has happened that the clerks, say, are out to lunch, which means that the remainder must struggle valiantly with the demands of an increasing number of customers.

We are not against people in the retail and service trades having something to eat. But, on occasion, it might be a good idea to remember that the rock-faced customer at the wicket is the very person who makes possible, for them, their pleasant and necessary activity.

Measuring Your Years

Hamilton Spectator

"Let us always remember that one is as young as his faith, as old as his doubts, as young as his self-confidence, as old as his fears, as young as his hope, as old as his despair."

We don't know the source of the above words, but we do know that every time we hear them, our worries fade away and we look forward to what lies ahead with renewed confidence. Undoubtedly many others feel the same way, because it is a much-used quotation. We pass it along, just in case you're not familiar with it.

Excessive Weight Is Not Good During Pregnancy

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: What about counting calories during pregnancy? I'm in my seventh month. Should a carefully controlled diet accomplish as much now as normally

Do some foods "burn off" more readily than others, or is a calorie a calorie?

For several weeks I have been on a diet that would ordinarily take off half a pound a week, but so far it hasn't seemed to help much.

My diet is sensible — high protein but few of those delectable desserts I love. — Mrs. B.R.

Yes, a calorie is a calorie. But there are important things women should know about diet in pregnancy. And about diet before it, too.

Some women have moderate nutritional deficiencies that don't make themselves felt, and perhaps don't amount to much. But when pregnancy begins, the additional demands of the baby turn a small deficiency into a large one. So normal starts a pregnancy with such deficiencies. You can't expect to make them all up. So — pay reasonable attention to diet all the time.

There's also some point to keeping your weight down before pregnancy. A baby's weight at birth is frequently proportional to the mother's weight at time of conception. Oh, there are exceptions as every rule proves, but in general heavy mothers have heavy babies, exceptionally thin women have small babies, and average women have average babies.

Having a very heavy baby is nothing to boast about, and it doesn't mean that the baby will be extra healthy. Average weight is best. Overly large babies are more difficult to deliver. Having large babies start with being overweight is a frequent habit that doctors may develop later in the month.

Getting back to pregnancy, don't let yourself put on too much weight. About 18 to 20 pounds is maximum for best health of both mother and baby.

Get plenty of protein, plenty of calcium (from milk, as the best source) and Vitamin C, citrus fruits and juices being the source.

There was a day when protein was "supposed" to cause toxemia. Now this is known that it don't know, but it was a dangerous mistake. And actually protein deficiency makes a woman more prone to toxemia, besides helping to create varying degrees of anemia.

Baby, of course, gets what he needs of what is available, and mother suffers. The old saying of "a tooth for every baby" originated in the days when women didn't get enough calcium, and babies robbed them of it.

Lack of Vitamin C has been shown to be one cause of prematurity.

More tomorrow on diet and pregnancy.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am in my early 40s. What might be the effect of having one ovary removed? Would it cause emotional upset, fatigue or trouble during menopause? — Mrs. D.J.

No, none of these. If an ovary is defective or diseased and the other normal, there is no ill effect at all from having the faulty one removed.

• • •

Dear Dr. Molner: When either my husband or I eat either fresh or canned asparagus, there is a strong odor to the urine. Is this an indication that it does not agree with us? — Mrs. L.F.

No. It's the natural action of certain chemicals in asparagus.

Today in History

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Sept. 11, 1962 . . .

Gen. George Washington was defeated in the Battle of Brandywine by a British force under Sir William Howe 185 years ago today — in 1777. Although losses in the engagement, named after the Brandywine River in Pennsylvania, were heavy, where the battle was joined, were about 1,000 killed, wounded and prisoners compared with about 600 for the British. Howe's victory was a big victory and 18 days later entered Philadelphia.

1916—The centre span of the Quebec Bridge dropped into the St. Lawrence River near Quebec City while being set in place, killing 13 workmen.

1958—Robert W. Service, poet of Canada's Yukon, died in France.

THE PACKSAK

By GREGORY CLARK

The psychologists and psychiatrists of recent years have made a big thing out of anxiety. But anxiet', as anyone who looks at the natural world knows, is a perfectly normal condition of life itself. Every living creature lives in almost constant anxiety. You do not have to be very observant of birds to realize that the way they make is an expression of latent fear. Every response is reflexes within them, reflexes developed, and conditioned against the dangers of the past in order that the species might survive. Dear, for mouse, every creature great and small, may be said to survive by grace of anxiety. The lordly lion paces in anxiety, the prissy porcupine, surely with little cause for anxiety, whimpers with it. cly regarded as something of a climacteric in Commonwealth affairs, provoked a wide variety of interpretations among officials and commentators.

Some saw Macmillan's speech as another indication that Britain is determined, beyond all hope of persuasion, to enter the Common Market if anything approaching reasonable terms can be obtained. Others felt that the British leader's calm, reasoned outline, avoiding dramatics, was little to sway the visiting premiers, most of whom view Britain's cross-channel flirtation with distrust or alarm.

Macmillan is believed to regard the short-term economic implications of going into Europe as secondary to the long-term political effects.

He stressed, as he did in his radio broadcast last week, that the Commonwealth had become involved with Europe in two world wars and that "we cannot insulate, ourselves" from Europe. Britain would do more for the Commonwealth inside Europe than by holding aloof.

PATTERNS CHANGED

Economic patterns had shifted since the Ottawa agreements in 1932. The trend now was to groups of continental dimensions. The Commonwealth needed a strong Britain, and the prospects of strengthening Britain appeared to depend on her playing a full part in Europe.

Council Again Turns Down Claims of Hockey Players

For the second time this year, Belleville city council yesterday turned down a recommendation to pay outstanding salary claims of the 1959 Belleville McFarlands hockey players.

The amount of claims from 12 players, supported by personal affidavits, totals $7,906.02.

Earlier this year council vetoed against paying the salary claims, but at a special meeting during the summer recess decided to reconsider the matter.

Yesterday, after considerable discussion, the recommendation was automatically lost on a recorded 7-7 vote.

Alderman William E. Jarvah said that all the facts had been brought out at the time the matter was last presented.

He said that of the original claims by hockey players, only $2,900 was for back salaries, the balance being made up of honoraria, allowance for equipment following the hockey season and other items including $200 hospital expenses for one of the player's wives.

"In all sincerity I think we should throw all the claims out," he said.

The opposite view was taken, however, by Alderman Ben Corke who said the hockey players were just as legal as tradesmen and other items which went to make up the overexpenditure which led to the royal commission enquiry into the city's finances two years ago.

Alderman Walter Elliott said until bonafide salary arrears only should be paid.

DISLIKES PACKAGE DEAL

Alderman Les. Digby didn't like what he termed the "package deal" which council was being asked to accept.

He agreed that if bonafide salary claims were established they should be paid but said he was not prepared to take anyone's word regarding promised verbal bonuses or other payments. He said he would oppose the package deal.

It was then brought out that the city already had affidavits from players for an amount in excess of the $7,000 claim being presented to council.

Alderman Jack Ireland moved that the claims be paid but his recommendation was lost on the tie vote.

Approving the recommendation were Mayor A. M. Hall and councillors Corke, Ireland, Lowry, Robb, Temple and Wishart. Opposing were Aldermen Bailey, Digby, Elliott, Ellis, Harrison, Jarvah and Raycroft.

Alderman Don Whalen was not present at the council meeting when the hockey question was voted and when he did arrive the question was asked whether he should still be asked to vote.

Mayor Haig said as far as he was concerned if a councillor was present when a vote was taken he could not be asked to vote later.

The matter was referred to the city solicitor for legal opinion.

Central Bridge Making Repairs To Bay Bridge

Repairs on the Bay Bridge which have resulted in one-way traffic for the past week, are now almost completed, it was learned today.

Central Bridge Company of Trenton have completed their work and the remaining phase of repairs is being done by the Ontario Department of Highways.

It seems the north end of the bridge upon the lift spring bridge section is located had been gradually settling and Central Bridge jacked the span up level. The new concrete support to the bridge will now be poured.

Also included in the repair job was the installation of expansion rollers, this work also being carried out by Central Bridge.

Rotarians Urged To Be Active

Local Rotarians were urged to recognize Rotary International as an active force, not as a sanctuary for friendships, by district governor Ed Storie of Oshawa on the occasion of his official visit to the local Rotary Club yesterday.

The district governor advised Belleville Rotarians to get local service projects organized quickly, then turn them over to others to carry on with and then get into new projects in order to keep the club active and the members interested. He complimented the club on its lengthy record of fine work for the crippled children and noted that the club's hat project had been a most successful and widely talked of project.

The true value of Rotary comes from within the individual Rotarian, governor Storie said and suggested that Rotarians could effectively put "service before self" by broadening their base of understanding via the many opportunities offered by Rotary especially by attendance at the special meetings of their club and their district more so than the regular club meetings.

If service groups had eliminated many of the normal local projects which might be undertaken in a community a Rotary Club could always engage in special international projects for which Rotary International is famous, the speaker advised. He described internationalism as being the greatest strength of Rotary and asked, for the Belleville club to show some small endorsation or approval of the district's projects in this field.

"Science has made the world a neighborhood, it is up to people to make it a brotherhood," Mr. Storie said in describing the value of active support for the international projects of Rotary International.

He described the scope and value of Rotary's international scholarships which allowed students from some 78 different countries to study abroad and gain a better understanding of how other people lived. In the local district the individual club goal for support of this plan was a figure of 200 percent support, which amounted to 16 cents per member per meeting for the current year. He expressed his hope that the Belleville-Rotarians would be able to upgrade their present standing of 114.

Governor Storie was introduced by past president Virgil James and thanked by club vice president Ronald Cass. During the course of the meeting, which was conducted by president Dr. Harry Burns, the Rotarians observed the birthdays of members Dr. Jack Marshall and Fred Adsett.

Terry Demczyna, 4, of R.R. 1, Belleville, got a negative reading on Heaf Multiple Puncture test, for TB, at the Plainfield clinic. Miss Eve Kiernan, the clinic nurse, read tests in Plainfield last week.

TB Disrupts Many Homes; Spreads Easily

Tuberculosis disrupts more families for a longer period of time than any other disease, says Dr. G. G. Brearley, Hastings County M.H. medical director.

Last year 2,500 Ontario people entered TB sanatoria, each for an average of nine months treatment.

"To spend nearly a year in hospital is no picnic," he said. "It means tremendous disruption in the home. Even though treatment is free, there is heavy loss of income when the victim is the breadwinner. Many families are without the homemaker when the victim is the wife and mother. The hardships and heartbreaks in Ontario homes cannot be adequately measured."

In spite of intense case-finding effort we are not making as much headway against the disease as we would like. It seems we no sooner treat one case than another develops.

"On the other hand, treatment has improved. Here remarkable strides have produced a shortened period of treatment with a dramatic reduction in deaths.

"The fact that tuberculosis in its early stages reveals no symptoms is the most important single factor in maintaining the continuing problem of the — and grandparents in particular — are infecting their children without knowing it because the disease may become infected immediately symptomless. It is for this reason, he said, "that is why the medical examination for insurance includes the query, "Has anyone in your family suffered from tuberculosis". Mothers and daddies — are infecting their children — are transferring the disease to them. It is spread in the home," he said. "That

How To Make That Pen Pal Write

DORIS CLARK

DEAR DORIS—I am a notoriously poor letter writer. My sister knows this so when she really has to know whether I would come to the family reunion, she sent me the following form:

DEAR FAT STUFF ET AL,
I will ——— be able to come.
(will not)
I will arrive by plane ——— train bus ——— on foot ——— at ——— a.m.
(———p.m.)
I will ——— bring my camera, film, flash bulbs, etc.
(will not)

I think the plan stinks and suggest as an alternative two tickets to the circus.
Have a good time on your trip ———
Get lost ——— Love ———
Signature ———
FAT STUFF.

DEAR FAT STUFF—Nice try! Did it work? Did she enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope?

Readers who are longing for a long-delayed letter from a friend, take note.

* * *

DEAR DORIS—I have been asked to a pantry shower and as they are an old couple I have been told that showers are not given for elderly people who get married. Can you let me know if this is true or not.—GRANNY.

DEAR GRANNY—Don't their friends wish them well? A shower is a well-wish with some gifts included to prove it. Marriages of older couples don't call for the same amount of fuss and ceremony—but they still rate a "bon voyage."

* * *

DEAR DORIS—A few nights ago my friends and I threw a surprise party for a girl friend. When my parents left, the boys wanted to neck. I flatly refused to allow them to do so. The boys grew angry and considered the party to be a flop. They didn't leave, but stayed outside and after much persuasion I finally got them to dance.

Doris, I am fourteen. So were the kids at the party. I don't mind being thought of as a drip because I think if they neck now, it won't mean much when they get older. Am I right?

Also, I would like to know what games 14-year-olds could play at parties. Maybe these games would keep some minds from thinking of necking.—TOO YOUNG TO NECK.

DEAR TOO YOUNG—Take a bow. I'm proud of you. Stay with it and the right kind of boy will come to your parties. Am I right, boys?

For the name of a good book on party games, write again enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

(Ask Doris for an idea. She knows Canadian resources and will be glad to answer your letter. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

River Valley W.I. Holds Meet Based on Agriculture

STIRLING — The September meeting of River Valley Women's Institute was held recently at the school - kitchen with Mrs. Philip Conley as hostess. The room was decorated with bouquets of summer blooms. There were 20 members, two visitors and seven pre-school children in attendance.

Mrs. Kenneth Myers opened the meeting in the usual manner. Mrs. Ross Bush read a timely article on the theme, "Soil — Your Wealth". This stressed that time should be set aside for rest and relaxation. Mrs. E. C. Hay-Ellis read, "A New Industry, the Processing of Rabbits". Mrs. Roy Tucker read "Fashions for Stout People". Mrs. Ernest Carr gave a citizenship message and Mrs. Philip Conley read an article on "Standards Mild".

The Pembley for Friendship were gathered and Mrs. Roy Tucker reported $2.40 for August. She read an article from the special conference issue of the Countrywoman Magazine, and displayed various pages of interest. She also read two articles from the July issue entitled, "The last lap" with final preparations for the tenth Triennial Conference and an article re Mrs. Ray Cooper of Washington, U.S.A., and her interest in women's choir.

FINANCIAL REPORT

Mrs. Sheldon McIntosh a member of the building committee gave a full report of the recent money venture with the new shelves and cupboard doors were completed in the school kitchen, at a cost of $100. This bill was authorized to be paid at the last meeting. It was decided to have wallboard placed on the hallway leading to the kitchen and to canvass each member for a one dollar donation to help cost of this piece of work. The members are asked to bring their finished pot-holders on October 4th. Ten members handed in 34 holders at this meeting. The patterns are maple leaves or Hiawatha. However any pot-holders either made or purchased will be accepted, and sent in the Friendship Link Christmas parcel to Abbot's Leigh Women's Institute in England.

Mrs. Percy MacMullen, public relations officer said that articles of handicraft were chosen from Fall Fairs to be displayed in Australia. One was a patchwork tea cosy. She also said that last recently Judge Emily Murphy, better known as Janey Canuck, of Edmonton, Alberta was honored with a plaque in her memory. She was born in Crookston in March, 1868 and died in Edmonton in October, 1933. She was the first president of the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada. It is to her credit that Canadian women were at last recognized as persons with legal rights, even to hold office in the senate of Canada.

Mrs. Morley was the first woman in the British Empire to be appointed as police magistrate. In 1916 she pioneered in this office in the Province of Alberta.

Mrs. MacMullen also displayed a leaflet from the National Federation of Women's Institutes in England, stressing the work done by this organization.

The secretary, Mrs. George Heasman read various letters which included a message from Miss Elizabeth Spouse, the new home economist; a thank-you note for funeral flowers, and a letter from F.W.I.O. president, Mrs. L. G. Lymburner of Port Colborne. This letter outlined plans for a farm radio forum broadcast on February 4th, 1963 — 10 a.m. stated that F.W.I.O. had the golden opportunity to assist Pearl Inasctions of Ceylon to have a year's intensive study at MacDonald Institute, Guelph. The study is in food and nutrition and the course will cost $1,000. It is hoped that all the branches will contribute to the International Scholarship Fund. This fund to August was over $14,000.

The treasurer gave a full financial report to date. The roll call was based on things you see in the country that do not enhance rural living and there were many interesting replies.

FINE PROGRAM

Mrs. Roy Bush presided over the program which was on agriculture. She first introduced Mrs. Ernest Knight of Consquipe, Penn. U.S.A. who with her husband is holidaying at the Tiers River. Mrs. Rogers displayed two magazines and gave a complete account of how this display advertisement on the centre page was arranged by her husband in the steel industry. The models in the pictures were all professionals and that under the pencils realize the amount of time and effort put in to produce a colored display advertisement in a magazine. The group enjoyed Mrs. Rogers most interesting narrative.

Mrs. Jack Bush read a humorous selection entitled "All the other kids have one". The next item was one of the theme "Is there a place for rural living in our modern Canadian living?" Mrs. Roy Bush quoted the poem "Barefoot Boy" written by Whittier as a prelude to her topic. She stated "Years ago folks lived hand in hand with nature and ate the cream of the crop themselves, and sold the crumbs. The last is being sold off in lots to city dwellers who are looking for a place in the country." Then came many of our great leaders have come from rural areas. Even today with so much unrest there are many rural minded people who believe that the family farm is the real backbone of agriculture. A farmer who can produce for various changes, farmers we must respect them and honor our way of living".

At this point Mrs. Bush displayed several farm products that were filled with material of interest to farm families. Farm people need food, shelter, work, happiness, time for leisure, health, so workable, to build, to progress and improve. Rural life should need suitable for their jobs and no one needs to be ashamed of helping with work around the farm. Even Junior Farmers are doing a wonderful job in emphasizing the value of the farm communities. The cheapest farm implement today with practically no depreciation is a good loyal pencil. A farmer must keep books in order to check his progress. A boy on a farm is much better equipped for his life work if he has learned the value of doing chores and having special work that he is responsible for doing.

Mrs. Bush closed her most informative topic with a poem by J. G. Holland, "God give us men whom the spoils of office cannot buy".

Mrs. Fred McDonell gave a splendid demonstration of equipment needed in the caring of sheep and said that perhaps the public knows that there is no substitute for wool. "Nature not man makes Wool". Man never succeeded in making a textile fibre to equal the one found on the back of a sheep. The story of wool dates back to man's earliest history. The sheep was one of the first animals to be domesticated and it has provided man with two of the basic necessities of life, food and clothing. The Babylonians used wool fabric in 3,000 B.C. and later all the Asiatic tribes were raisers and tenders of sheep.

When the Romans landed in Britain in 55 B.C. they found that the Britons possessed flocks of sheep and had developed a wool industry. Sheep were brought to the New World by Christopher Columbus on his exploration in 1540. Mrs. McDonell showed samples of unwashed wool and talked on the value of lanolin which is used

Tempters

by Mary Moore

When my sister returned from the West she handed me a yellow envelope with a note on the outside "To Mary from one of the Tenants. Kindness of Doris". Inside printed neatly on a card was a recipe for Pecan Tarts. I knew that Janet Tennant sent it from Lethbridge via Doris to me it was extra special.

Last month at Lake Muskoka I had time to try it out.

You are in for a rare treat if you yield to a strong push from me and try these.

TUESDAY

TEMPTERS:

These are glorified butter tarts — the filling is similar to Southern Pecan Pie. You can make 12 standard 2½ tarts or 24 tiny ones.

PASTRY:

One 3-oz. package cream cheese (room temperature), ½ cup butter (room temperature), 1 cup flour. Blend cheese and butter well. Add flour and mix. Shape into 1½" balls and press into 2½" standard tart tins to line them uniformly. Or into 1" balls and press into 1½" tart tins uniformly.

PECAN FILLING:

One egg, ¾ cup brown sugar, 1 tablespoon soft butter, 1 teaspoon rum flavoring (or vanilla), ¼ teaspoon salt, 2-3 cup chopped pecans or walnuts. Beat egg, sugar, butter, flavoring and salt until smooth. Divide half or nuts to sprinkle in pastry-lined tart tins. Carefully add egg mixture and top with remaining nuts. If desired leave half of the nuts whole to top filling. Bake at 325 deg. Fahr. for 25 minutes or until filling is set. Cool before removing from pans.

I also had time to make the Sour Cream Coffee Cake which I mentioned. This is in the Prairie Pantry cookbook. I told you about last month that the Brandon Council of Women have compiled.

½ cup soft butter (or margarine, 1 cup sugar, 2 eggs, 1 cup sour cream, 2 teaspoons baking soda, 1½ cups sifted cake flour, 1½ teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 cup mixing bowl measure sour cream and baking soda. Set aside. Cream butter or margarine, sugar and eggs and beat well. Sift together over the contents of bowl, flour, baking powder and salt and blend in. Do not overstir.

Now make the Topping by mixing together 1-3 cup sugar, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, and 1 cup chopped nuts.

Spread half the batter into greased and floured 8½ x 8½" pan. Sprinkle half of the topping over batter. Repeat. Bake at 325 deg. Fahr. for 40 to 50 minutes. Best served warm.

Keller Clan Holds Reunion

The first Keller reunion was held at Tweed Memorial Park on September 2, with over 75 present. At noon everyone sat down to a bounteous dinner, after which H. Keller of Coe Hill, called the gathering to order and welcomed all to the reunion. Everyone was in favor of having this reunion a yearly event.

Officers were elected as follows:

MAIL CALL

Question: Since I desire to do the right thing, I'd appreciate your informing me about obtaining the bridal party on the day of the wedding. Is the bride's parents or the groom's parents, Mrs. N.R., North Haven, Conn.

Answer: The bride's parents usually host the bridal dinner the evening before the wedding. However, if the groom's mother wants to give the dinner the party she may correctly suggest this to the bride's mother, who often is very agreeable to such a considerate offer.

Question: With what type clothing and on what occasions is it correct to wear spectator-sports pumps with high heels? Mrs. G.J.G., St. Petersburg, Fla.

Answer: This type of shoe may be worn with a tailored suit, a shirtdress or any other casual daytime attire. Of course often, they're worn in the country or suburban areas for luncheons, sports shows, tea or club meetings when informal dress is considered correct. Generally, they're not worn in the city, or to an office, and they're never appropriate for evenings unless worn to a baseball game or some other strictly sports event.

Canadian Labor College, Dream of Trade Unions, Is Moving Toward Reality

By KEN SMITH

MONTREAL (CP)—A Canadian labor college, long a dream of the country's trade union movement, is moving steadily closer to reality.

At present the proposed college, like every other institute of higher learning in the country, is worrying about money and buildings, but it is slowly gathering up all the other symbols of collegiate life—except, perhaps, a football team.

The college now has sponsors, a board of governors, a fund-raising campaign, professors, a curriculum, a budget, students, a temporary headquarters and a dream for the future.

It hopes to open its doors next summer with at least 45 students — more if the limited budget will stand it.

The college has been nursed through its formative stages by Canada's two main labor bodies—the Canadian Labor Congress and the Confederation of National Trade Unions—in association with McGill University and the University of Montreal.

Its aim, says one of the governors, is to tap the potential of union leadership for the good of society.

PLAN BROAD COURSE

Prof. J. R. Mallory, director of McGill's department of economics and political science, says the college will not try to teach union men to negotiate better contracts, since the unions take care of that themselves, but rather will attempt to make the men aware of their responsibilities to other people and other groups.

Prof. Andre Raynauld, U of M's economics director and also a member of the board of governors of the proposed college, says all students will be regarded as future leaders.

"We want to help nourish this leadership, not on the narrow basis of bargaining, for instance, but on the broader level of advanced, general education."

Courses in economics, political science, history, sociology and trade unionism will be given in concentrated doses in both French and English.

The bilingual aspects of the courses will be emphasized, says Prof. Raynauld, to try to draw students from both of Canada's major cultures.

The two labor bodies are to spearhead a financial drive through the winter, hitting unions for the major share although governments and other agencies also will be canvassed.

NOMINATED BY UNIONS

Most of the students will be nominated by various unions, at least at first, although the professors also will have a say in trying to pick persons most likely to benefit from the courses.

One hope of the board of governors is that, if the college proves successful, persons from underdeveloped countries will join the classes.

The first classes probably will be held in McGill's Morris Hall. If enough students—and money—are found, two groups may be accepted next year.

During the early stages, students between the ages of 20 and 30 will be favored—"bright, up-and-coming people who may not have had too much formal education but who are capable of hard, intellectual work," says Prof. Mallory.

No degree will be given because of the proposed length of the courses. The board of governors, however, hopes that eventually work done in the labor college will be recognized by other universities and credits given as for other extension courses.

HOW WOULD YOU CHOOSE BETWEEN THEM ?

The CARAT WEIGHT of these two diamonds is the same. Neither has visible imperfections . . . yet the actual value differs widely in each gem.

The degree of CLARITY is one of the qualities which determines the worth of any diamond. There are more than a dozen categories of perfection which separate the flawless, "perfect" diamond from the stone with inclusions — even if these are invisible to the naked eye.

CUTTING — its accuracy and style — controls the brilliance of a stone and greatly affects its value. The traditional color of a diamond is called white, or colorless. Tinges of brown or yellow, which deviate from this standard, decrease the worth of a stone.

COMPARE BEFORE YOU BUY

Come in and let us explain the difference, the time will be well spent if you are considering the purchase of a diamond. Terms of course.

Avenue of Perpetual Peace In Peking One of Grandest Thoroughfares in World

Clare McDermott, leaving Peking after 25 months as Reuters correspondent there, reviews in the following story the changes he has seen during his assignment.

McDermott is a native of Edmonton.

By CLARE McDERMOTT

PEKING (Reuters) — Peking holders line up for their rice rations, are farther down the street and vegetables are sold from carts which stand on the corner morning and evening.

The street hums with life. Itinerant barbers and knife grinders, tinkers and cobblers announce their arrival with loud, wailing cries, or a miscellany of improvised cymbals and horns.

The most rewarding experience is to walk in the narrow lanes — called hutungs — between main streets.

PERFECT BOATING DAYS

Open gates afford glimpses into these homes. Under the lanes themselves are the playgrounds for thousands of children, who follow a hierarchy of any nationally calling out: "Russian friend. Russian friend."

The memories which will always recall Peking make an almost endless list. Standing out among them are:

Picnics in the shadow of the Ming tombs, or along the "great wall," illuminated discussions on the "pulp" of our house, with a full moon shining on the "forbidden city."

Those wonderful meals with Chinese friends at the Peking Duck restaurant, and spicy food from Szechwan province.

BOOSTS MUSIC APPRECIATION — Gilles Lefebvre of Montreal, helped found Les Jeunesses Musicales du Canada 12 years ago and it now has chapters in 85 communities across Canada. It encourages music appreciation. Another project of the group is a six-week summer musical group at Mount Orford provincial park east of Montreal. (CP Photo).

Canadian Musicians Enjoy Studying in the Outdoors Under High-Class Teachers

By JACQUES TREPANIER

MOUNT ORFORD, Que. (CP) — Montreal Gilles Lefebvre was in his 20s when he saw his opportunity to realize a childhood dream. His sister and encourage the appreciation of music among 64 Canadian people.

Now 40, he can scarcely keep pace with the growth of his handful of music lovers in St. Hyacinthe, Que., now has 106 chapters in 85 towns and cities across Canada.

One of the organization's achievements is its six-week musical camp, held in tiny Mount Orford Provincial Park 70 miles east of Montreal.

Here, for the last 11 summers, young Canadian musicians have studied in the outdoors under some of the best teachers of Europe and North America.

Mr. Lefebvre built the Canadian Jeunesses Musicales movement along the lines of the Jeunesses Musicales Francaises he knew as a violin student at the Paris Conservatory of Music.

The European movement was founded in Belgium in 1940 and soon spread to other countries.

DRAWS TOP PIANISTS

While in Paris, Mr. Lefebvre was chosen as the French group's delegate to a world congress of Jeunesses Musicales in Vienna. He is still a vice-president of the world federation.

On his return to Quebec, he started the first JMC "cell" with three friends — Mrs. Arthur Rousseau of Trois-Rivieres, Que., Rodrigue Boisvert of Megog. Que., and Rev. J. H. Lemieux of St. Hyacinthe.

In less than a year branches sprang up in Trois-Rivieres and Mont Laurier, Que., and the movement was launched.

The idea of a summer camp came naturally to Mr. Lefebvre, a former Boy Scout.

He knew the Quebec government owned buildings in Mount Orford park that had housed workers when the park was being laid out but were no longer needed.

He acquired the buildings in 1951 and organized his first musical camp with a handful of teachers and students the same year.

Among the piano teachers at this year's session were Fran Broeur of Brussels; Viado Perlemuetter and Jean-Paul Sevilla of Paris; Yvonne Gilbert of Montreal; and the duet team of Rose Dorriset and Victor Bouchard, Quebec City.

TEACH PAINTING

Calvin Sieb, first violinist with the Montreal Symphony Orchestra, and Paris cellist Guy Fallot taught strings and chamber music.

Choral music was handled by Marcel Laurencelle of Montreal. Norbert Dubourg of Paris and Andree Desautels of Montreal taught the history of music.

Others taught woodwinds, brass and musical theory.

In addition to music, Mr. Lefebvre has instituted a four-week camp offering instruction in dramatic art, ceramics, sculpture and painting.

The original camp has changed considerably in a decade. There are several buildings under construction now, including a large concert hall. Three-room cabins have been built to accommodate larger numbers of students and teachers.

Even natural obstacles have been taken care of. Mr. Lefebvre used a ravine cutting across the campsite as the foundation for an open-air swimming pool.

The value of buildings erected on the site has reached a total of more than $250,000, and Mr. Lefebvre's plans call for the expenditure of $500,000 more.

He wants 28 small studios for practising, 10 more teachers' dwellings and a large building for music lessons.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

Joan B. — If he doesn't care for his pets, we'll give them away.

Joan B. — We have a 9-year-old son who claims he's in love with the whole animal kingdom. But if love means "caring for" he can't really mean it. Because we believed him, we bought him a turtle, some white mice, and a cocker spaniel puppy.

I hate two other children and now that the puppy is on its feet, I thought I'd be able to resume my piano lessons and catch up with other postponed projects. All I waited for was to get my hands free of the diaper pail, so that I could get back manicures and stay presentable. But now, after three months, comp comes to clean, flea bomb my cellar, and bring muddy puppy to wipe up after!

Marc promised to take care of his pets himself. I never believe to help, but I have no desire to do the feeding, nor to point out their food of them. I'm ready to give them away if he doesn't take over.

Bella V. — I'm Marc's aunt, Joan's sister-in-law. My heart goes out to Marc because of his mother's death. I'm not a pet lover. He's only a child and, naturally, he forgets a feeding once in a while or he lets the dog in too soon. Joan should feel that the treatment is here, too, not just Marc's. And she shouldn't threaten that she'll give them away if he doesn't take 100 per cent charge of them. Marc and the other children adore the pets.

Why can daughter has an only child, and we tried to be sure she'd never be lonely. She has a dog, birds, gerbils, a rabbit, canaries, tropical fish and parakeets. Even though I care for them most of the time, our child helps, and I enjoy seeing her happy. Besides, our home is the gathering place of all the pet-lovers on the block and life is never dull. I'm begging Joan to give Marc the responsibility.

The Council: Whenever we deal with the subject of pets, we receive eloquent, even tearjerking, mail describing the joys of having a helpless "creature" around to love and shelter. If the problem involves lack of space, a letter will be signed, "Mother of six to five rooms and always a dog." If it's a question of parental distaste, we hear from

This car will go 100 miles for a dollar.

On the highway, at highway speeds, the Volkswagen 1200 delivers around forty miles to a gallon of gas. (The average for city and country is 28 mpg.)

But then there's the oil.

(A Volkswagen never needs oil between changes.)

And the cooling system.

(A Volkswagen is cooled with air instead of water. There's nothing to rust, leak, or replace. And no anti-freeze to buy.)

Operating a car means money for upkeep.

(A VW needs less maintenance and fewer repairs than any car in its class. Our factory employs 5,000 full-time inspectors who see to it that every Volkswagen is built to last.)

And money for things like dented fenders?

(The Volkswagen is a sensible car. You don't have to replace half the body for the sake of a new fender. A few bolts, a few minutes, and the job is done.)

Visit your VW dealer soon and see the Volkswagen. And don't be afraid to give it a good test run.

It only costs us a penny a mile.

Sport Slices...

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

The leaves are beginning to turn; baseball, softball, and other summer sports are reaching the fade-out stages; hunters' trigger fingers are getting itchy, and hockey buffs' thoughts are turning to the great winter sport.

For the first time in many years, hockey in the city this season is a great big question mark. "To be or not to be, that is the question."

There will be no senior brand, or at least senior "A" calibre here this winter, as far as is known at the present.

Had this been forthcoming it would have done no good for the Western Ontario senior "A" squads voted against entries of Belleville and Trenton clubs.

Things are strangely quiet on the junior "B" front. Even the rumor mongers have nothing to offer. One thing is certain. Some 10 or 11 of last year's junior "B" squad are "over the age hump."

However this should be settled at the Eastern Ontario Junior "B" meeting called for Thursday night at the recreation centre, where it is expected representatives of clubs from Belleville, Picton, Kingston, Peterborough, Napanee, Trenton, Cobourg, Gananoque and Lindsay will be in attendance.

So that is it, may. What about the hockey players intelligible for junior, senior, intermediate and others who want to play? I understand there are quite a number. What are they going to do about their favorite winter pastime?

There is a ray of hope for them even if a junior "B" club materializes. There are rumblings going the rounds about the formation of a City Hockey League based somewhat after the pattern of the City Commercial League, which has operated here for the past few years.

I talked with Commercial League Commissioner Ross Sexsmith about the matter. Ross believes, and I concur that a city league could be operated successfully here this winter if property organized, and administered by a strong executive.

"There are a lot of players in the city who want to play hockey," Ross said. "And I can see no reason why they should not if matters are properly handled."

There is enough hockey material in the city, including commercial leaguers, ex-seniors and over-age juniors to form a neat six-team or more league.

There would have to be an equalization of strength to remove the possibility of a packed team or teams. Potential City League teams could be built around a nucleus of one or more senior players. Top ex-juniors could be spread around the clubs.

Industry and business firms could perhaps be interested in sponsorships. The tab would not be too heavy because there would be no travelling expenses.

Reb Burrows, arena manager, said the commission would co-operate if such a league was formed. Another suggestion was that a gate admission of 50 cents adults, 25 cents children, be the official tab.

Commissioner Sexsmith said he would contact a lot of hockey men and officials who might be interested and call a general meeting for some night next week.

Last year's commercial team officials will be invited. So think it over. I think it is a fine idea.

League Playoffs

Leafs, Suns Win Openers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Toronto's Maple Leafs, who plowed through the International League in runaway style over the final two weeks of the season threaten to keep right on going after the Hi-Hats which opened Monday night.

The Leafs, who won 18 of their last 17 and almost caught the pennant - winning Jacksonville Suns in the regular season, ripped three Atlanta pitchers for 12 hits and a 6-4 opening game victory. Jacksonville had a much tougher time of it against fourth place Asheville. Tony Martinez' 11th inning homer broke up the other semifinal opener, 6-5 for the Suns.

Toronto jumped on Atlanta starter Ray Sadecki for three runs in the third and then coasted behind the six hit pitching of Don Pitche of Verdun, Que. Mack Jones led the assault with three hits and Ted Kazanski weighed in with a home run for the Leafs.

Rochester, trailing 5-1 going into the eighth inning, rallied for four runs with Sam Bowens' two-run homer the key blow. The Suns, who had tagged Herb Mosford for five runs over the first six innings, were unable to touch reliefer Alex Castro and the teams battled into extra innings.

Castro went out for a batter in the 11th and after striking out the first man he faced, Tom Baker yielded the hotter to Martinez to break it up. The 345-foot swat was Martinez' third hit of the game and made a winner of Ted Abernathy who tossed 2 2-3 innings of shutout relief.

Leafs Like Western Youngster

A big, burly youngster who tops six feet and weighs about 190, Pete has held his own with the National Hockey Leaguers. He surprised chief scout Bob Davidson with his improved skating and handles the puck as if it was glued to his stick.

Leafs general manager-coach George Imlach said: "I feel certain Stemkowski has a future with Leafs. He reminds me of Jean Beliveau when he was a year younger than Pete. I'm not saying he's a potential Beliveau, but he has the moves that catch your eye."

Dodgers Hold Neck Lead In Stretch

Wills Steals Three More

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

From among an exclusive circle of base stealers—Tommy Davis, Maury Wills, Willie Mays and Frank Robinson—likely will emerge the lockamith with a key to the National League throne room.

Each member of the quartet, making a strong bid for most valuable player honors, put on outstanding performances Monday as Los Angeles Dodgers, San Francisco Giants and Cincinnati Reds all won and remained tied in that tight league race.

Davis hit a grand-slam homer and wound up with five runs batted in as the first - place Dodgers walloped Chicago Cubs 8-1, remaining a half-game in front of the second-place Giants and 5½ ahead of the third-place Reds.

Wills continued his assault on Ty Cobb's stolen base record. The swift Dodger shortstop pilfered two, running his total to 80—seven short of the record established by Cobb in 1915 when he was with Detroit Tigers.

Mays, the major leagues' home run leader, hit No. 43 in the first game as the Giants got off to a quick start against Pittsburgh Pirates and held it all the way, winning Billy O'Dell's five - hit pitching for a 4-1 triumph.

ROBINSON PACES REDS

Robinson, voted the most valuable player in the league last year, paced the Reds' fourth inning champion. Reds with a 4-3 victory over the Cardinals by tagging his second homer of the game and 36th of the season in the 10th inning after raising his batting average to a league - leading .336.

Homer runs by Ed Mathews and Hank Aaron powered Milwaukee Braves to 5-2 victory over New York Mets. Houston Colts and Philadelphia Phillies were off scheduled for action.

Davis, who went 1-for-3 at the plate and dropped into second place in the batting race with .330, provided the Dodgers with the big blow—a grand-slam homer in the third inning off Cub starter Dick Ellsworth (5-18) that built their edge to 5-0. Don Drysdale (24-7) took it from there, allowing only three hits until manager Walt Alston decided to give him a rest after eight innings and sent in Jack Smith to finish up.

WILLS NEARS RECORD

Wills made it 13 stolen bases in the last five games with his three steals against the Cubs. He has 17 games in which to tie or surpass Cobb, who stole 96 in a 156-game schedule. The Dodgers have played 145 games.

Mays connected off Harvey Haddix (9-6) with Felipe Alou aboard in the first inning and that was all O'Dell (17-12) needed as he allowed only six-gles and went the route for the 18th time this season.

The Giants made it 3-0 in the fourth frame on a double by Orlando Cepeda and Jose Pagan's single before the Pirates finally broke through for a run in the seventh. Chuck Hiller got it back in the bottom half of the inning with a homer.

Alou has stroked nine consecutive hits, moving to within one of the league record. The mark is held by seven players and was last accomplished by Cincinnati's Woody Williams in 1946. The major league mark is 12.

KLIPPSTEIN WINS

Robinson drove in three of the Reds' four runs, starting his heroics with a second-inning homer then sending Vada Pinson home with a single in the fourth before providing the game-winner in the 11th with a homer off Cardinal starter Ernie Broglio (11-8).

The Cards had tied it in the eighth on Gene Oliver's homer off Joe Nuxhall. It remained that way until Robinson settled the issue and won it for Johnnie Klippstein (7-3).

Mathews broke a 2-2 tie with a one-a homer in the seventh inning and Aaron followed with his 39th of the campaign for the Braves. The two homers made it 185 that the Mets hit this season, tying the league record set by St. Louis in 1953. Jack Gladney (7-3) got the victory with a seven-hitter while R. L. Miller took the loss, his 12th in as many decisions.

Border Line Call Irks Fans

Bombers Hand Tigers First Loss

HAMILTON (CP) — Hamilton Tiger-Cat fans can scream all they want about officiating in Monday night's Canadian Football League game here, but the scoreboard spelled it out clearly: Winnipeg 16, Hamilton 10.

The men in white drew raucous calls from the roaring mob of 26,353 at Civic Stadium with a late-game judgment call against the Ticats. It didn't affect the score but it probably helped take any sting the Tiger Cats had left in a game dominated by rock-ribbed defensive lines.

The yardstick story confirmed what showed on the scoreboard. The Bombers limited the Ticats to 174 yards gained—43 on the ground and 129 in the air.

For the Ticats, it was their first loss of the season. They went into the game with three wins, one tie in the four starts and are one point behind Ottawa Rough Riders in the Eastern Conference.

LEADS WPC TEAMS

Winnipeg opened a five-point lead over the second-place Calgary Stampeders in the Western Conference.

"We thought we might be able to help them physically by wearing them down," Ticat coach Jim Trimble echoed for about the fourth time in the last five years. That has been his story since the Bombers went on to defeat the Ticats in 1958, 1959 and again last year.

Officials gave the Bombers their ball on the Hamilton 40 yard line in the fourth quarter after one of the Western club's backfield men couldn't kick-off. Ed Ochiena of the Ticats dived for the ball, it bounced out of bounds and the ball came to rest. He had deliberately knocked it out.

"This," Trimble said in the Ticat dressing room, "was a judgment penetrable and well go along with it. I still don't understand the call."

It didn't matter much anyway. The score was 15-10 and the Ticats still had time to mount an offensive after the Bombers were forced to kick. They gambled desperately on third-down situations but could not penetrate the alert Winnipeg defence.

LIMIT HAMILTON

Hamilton was limited to a converted touchdown and a 30-yard field goal, both scored in the second quarter after the Bombers had taken a 4-0 first-quarter lead.

End Hal Patterson, who limped off with a bruised knee late in the game, took a pass from quarterback Bernie Faloney for a 32-yard pass-and-run touchdown, converted by Don Sutherin. Sutherin also booted the field goal.

The Bombers, behind 10-8 after the first quarters, went ahead to stay on the first play of the fourth quarter when slippery Leo Lewis ran over the Hamilton line from the Ticat seven to cap a 68-yard march. Gerry James kicked the convert and picked up another seven points on field goals from the 33- and 31-yard lines and a single when his 32-yard field goal attempt was wide.

Jack Delaveaux, who set up the two field goals with pass interceptions, kicked a 47-yard single to open the scoring early in the first quarter. Don Thornton ended the scoring at 12:18 of the final quarter when his punt was conceded by Ron Howell.

The Bombers gained 144 yards along the ground and 127 in the air. They piled up 15 first downs against nine for Hamilton.

Joyces Meet Flyers Here Tonight

Softball takes over the sport spotlight at the Fairgrounds again tonight when RCAF Flyers and Joyce Real Estate renew their rivalry in Belleville and District league finals.

The clubs are tied at one game apiece in the best-of-seven series so tonight's third game will be a key one. Game time is eight o'clock.

Mike Ratushniak, the little southpaw who stopped the Joyce hitters nothing but trouble all season, will likely be the Ticats' starting hurler here. Pat Marsele will likely get the Joyce nod.

Both teams have been eliminated from OASA playdowns so they will be getting a chance to cop the district's top honors, and the Bill Ott Trophy.

A fourth game of the series will be played at Trenton Bay Shore Charlie Vanderlip Park with the fifth slated for the Belleville Fairgrounds Saturday.

HAS OPERATION

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Tony Gonzalez, Philadelphia Phillies outfielder, was operated on Monday for an arthritic condition of his left knee. Surgery was described as successful. An orthoiedic specialist who performed the operation, said the 24-year-old Cuban will remain in the hospital three weeks.

Hawks, Bruins Train

ST. CATHERINES, Ont. (CP) — Chicago Black Hawks, Stanley Cup finalists last spring against the champion Toronto Maple Leafs, opened their 1962 National Hockey League training camp Monday with 26 players reporting to general manager Tommy Ivan and coach Rudy Pilous.

The only two absentees from the 28 invited are Dollard St. Laurent, veteran defenceman who was sold to Quebec Aces of the American League last week and centre Bill (Red) Hay, recuperating in a Calgary hospital following the removal of a cyst from his back. Hy is expected here within 10 days.

Also missing from the first day's practice, although in camp, was right winger Eric Nesterenko. He is recuperating from a hernia operation and will skate for the first time Wednesday or Friday.

The Hawks will work out twice daily until Friday and will play their first pre-season exhibition against Toronto Maple Leafs here Saturday night.

Goalie Bruce Gamble was the only absentee. He was en route from his home in Vancouver.

New faces on the ice included defencemen Warren Godfrey, centre Irv Spencer and forward Guy Gendron. Godfrey, an ex-Bruin, came back to the club during the off-season from Detroit Red Wings. Spencer and Gendron, another ex - Bruin, came from New York Rangers.

The Bruins will meet Providence Reds of the American Hockey League here Oct. 3.

Laver Gets Grand Slam

By WILL GRIMSLEY

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—Rocket Rod Laver got his grand slam, a feat which may be worth $150,000 in immediate pro riders, and Darlene Hard's reign as women's queen ended in tears and acrimony Monday in the climax of the final U.S. national tennis championships.

The quick, jackhanded Laver crushed his fellow Australian and Davis Cup teammate, Roy Emerson, 6-3, 6-4, 6-4, 6-4, in the men's final. This reversed last year's finish when Emerson won.

The 23-year-old Brisbane wizard thus completed a sweep of major championships — Australian, French, Wimbledon and U.S. — which only one other player, Don Budge in 1938, had ever achieved.

Also it marked the seventh straight year, since Maureen Connolly Brinker of Cincinnati won for the United States in 1955, that an Australian had taken off with the top prize of American tennis and it was the sixth time in the same period that two Australians had battled for the crown.

For the first time in history, an Australian also captured the women's championship when Margaret Smith of Sydney beat defender Miss Hard of Long Beach, Calif., 9-7, 6-4.

SERVED BADLY

Miss Hard blew a set point in the first set. She served a total of 16 double-faults, five of them in one game.

In the 45th game of the second set, two line calls went against her and she walked back to the green canvas at the end of the centre court, put her head in her arms and cried convulsively.

Asked about the effect of the line calls, she said:

"You saw them—I won't say anything else."

The powerfully-built, 30-year-old Miss Smith, although the winner, was apparently tired and ragged after her brilliant victory over Brazil's Maria Bueno. Her service lacked zip and she lack her usual touch.

Wants Officials Changed

Brampton May Withdraw

By LARRY ROSE

VICTORIA (CP) — Coach Larry Kendall has threatened to withdraw Brampton Armstrongs from the Canadian Lacrosse Association if two of the three referees aren't changed for Wednesday's fifth game.

Kendall cornered a Canadian Lacrosse Association official and said if the referees Sid Greenwood and Dave Unwin are not replaced, he would not allow his team to take the floor Wednesday.

Brampton received 37 minutes in penalties — including three misconducts and a match misconduct Monday night.

"That was the worst refereeing I have ever seen," Kendall told CLA second vice-president Doug Fletcher as reporters stood by.

"I want a change in referees or else we don't play the next game," Kendall told Fletcher.

Fletcher, a long-time B.C. and CLA official, told Kendall one change in referees could be made but walked off without answering Kendall with the word he wanted two changes.

Kendall said later that he was satisfied with the work of Jack Northup, a retired Victoria senior player, but would not continue the series with Greenwood of Vancouver and Unwin of Victoria as the other two referees.

Northup and Greenwood handled the first two games while Unwin was added after second game as series officials attempted to clamp down on rough play.

Victoria took advantage of Brampton penalties to score eight of their early goals Monday before 2,100 fans.

'There'll Be Cuts' Says Nobby

Argonaut Axe Poised

TORONTO (CP) — The axe hasn't fallen on any of the Toronto Argonauts yet—but coach Nobby Wirkowski will swing it later this week.

"There'll be cuts," he said after putting his winless charges through a stiff two-hour workout Monday night. "But we won't know who they'll be until Wednesday or Thursday."

Wirkowski said after Sunday's 37-35 loss to British Columbia Lions that he would start housecleaning Monday.

But there has been an important development. Garry Schreiber, the talented Canadian corner linebacker, left the Lions Sunday to continue his law studies at Osgoode Hall here.

By Wednesday or Thursday, Wirkowski should know whether Schreiber is available. Also, it will give him a chance to look at six new imports in camp. They practised Monday night for the first time.

INCLUSIVE LOOK

"I want to see the new ones," said Nobby, "and the old ones in practice."

Wirkowski charged Sunday that Argos were fat and overpaid. To correct this, he decided to forget about tight training. Instead, subs and all said the team would return to wearing pads at practices.

Argos have now lost five times in five starts.

Wirkowski won't say how many cuts he expects to make only that he expects to make them.

Hardrock Takes up Soft Shoe

HAMILTON (CP) — Has Eddie Shore, the old hardrock, gone soft?

When he cavorted in the National Hockey League, Shore had a reputation for distressing noses. He was real mean.

Now, as owner of Springfield Indians of the American Hockey League, Shore is known to be just as tough in the board room.

But Monday, when the Indians opened their training camp here, Shore gave them a lesson in tap dancing. He led the squad through several dance routines instead of the usual painful training camp exercises.

"Tap dancing improves balance and balance is the foundation of an athlete's ability," he said.

"From balance he obtains manoeuvrability.

Shore had balance as a player, but folks would have been inclined to believe he acquired it through practising a war dance. He didn't appear to be the dancing type.

The lessons is flattering noses, Shore style, will likely come later.

'Break Back Getting Them'

Boom-Boom Target, 38

MONTREAL (CP) — Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion has set his personal target at 38 goals in the forthcoming National Hockey League season.

"I need 38 and I'm going to break my back getting them," said the voluable 31-year-old righteswinger with Montreal Canadiens.

Why 38?

Geoffrion pointed out in an interview that it would tie him with the retired Ted Lindsay as the third-top goal-getter in modern NHL history, excluding playoff scoring.

Geoffrion heads into the forthcoming season as Canadiens' open camp Wednesday in suburban Verdun — with a .327 total and lifetime goaltime left-wing star with Detroit Red Wings and Chicago Black Hawks, has 365.

"I feel better than ever before," Geoffrion said. "I've got all kinds of confidence. I'm going to be hockey, hockey hockey — to heck with everything else this year."

But in the last few months he put his time to another vocation — singing. He made seven television appearances including a number of national network performances.

Geoffrion's business interests also include a partnership in a steak motel on the south shore of the St. Lawrence Seaway post Montreal.

Two seasons ago Geoffrion posted a record-equalling 50 goals—a mark he shares with Richard and Bobby Hull of Chicago Black Hawks, who performed the trick last season.

"Why I really that bad," he said. "Why does everbody say I had such a bad season? I know a lot of players who would like to have 23 goals."

Angels Chance One-Hits Twins

Mick's Stick Collects Homer 400

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

More room at the top for New York Yankees' ether home run king Mickey Mantle, a key hit by dumping Hector Lopez, and a masterful performance by a young pitcher for a rival contender.

Mantle, back in action in the American League battle following a six-game layoff with an injured side, belted the 400th home run of his career and Lopez drove across the winning run with the first hit in his last 23 at-bats as New York beat Detroit Tigers 3-1 Monday night.

Meanwhile, an infield slight-of-hand Dean Chance from registering a no-hitter for the third place Los Angeles Angels over Minnesota's second-place Twins.

The 21-year-old righthander, who has emerged as the leader of the Angels' staff, turned the ninth after singles by Kaline and Rocky Colavito and retired pinch-hitter Bubba Morton to end the game.

Chance, who came close to tiring the season's sixth no-hitter, struck out nine but also permitted two walks in addition to the single by Versalles. He only Twin to get as far as second base. Minnesota had two more base runners on an error and a fielder's choice.

BACK UP CHANCE

Detroit Indians and Baltimore Orioles retired in first Yankees in order before Mantle connected for a mighty 440-foot blast that made him the seventh man in big-league history to reach the 400-home mark.

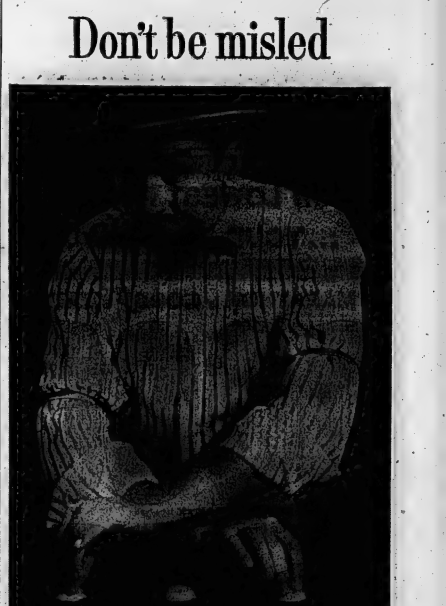
The second-inning homer was one by Al Kaline with the first base and the the lasted until Lopez crashed his sharp single to centre off Agnirre with one out in the ninth, scoring Bobby Richardson from second base. Ralph Terry got credit for the victory with brief help from Bob Daley, who came on with two out in the bottom of the ninth after singles by Kaline and Rocky Colavito and retired pinch-hitter Bubba Morton.

Terry (21-12) gave up six hits.

Chance, who came close to tiring the season's sixth no-hitter, struck out nine but also permitted two walks in addition to the single by Versalles. He only Twin to get as far as second base. Minnesota had two more base runners on an error and a fielder's choice.

BACK UP CHANCE

The Angels backed up Chance with some early scoring against Jim Stigman. Leon Wagner singled in a run in the first inning and Fregosi rapped his first homer in the makers in the second after a single by George Thomas. Thomas homered in the fourth and Fregosi brought in the game's final run with a ninth-inning bunt.



Williams' pinch single plated a tough loss on Boston's Earl Wilson, who gave the Orioles only five hits before being nailed in the 12th frame. Dave Nicholson led off the game-tying rally with a single, Hebie Landreth walked and Mickey Mitchell Gaye was safe on a fielder's choice, loading the bases and setting the stage for Williams' clincher.

Veteran hurler Robin Roberts battled Wilson on even terms, allowing five Red Sox hits in 10 innings. Wes Stock finished up for the victory.

Ray Herbert, veteran righthander turned in one of his finest season in the majors, won his 16th game of the year in Chicago's decision over the Athletics. Herbert was touched for six hits and had a rocky seventh inning, when the Athletics got all their runs.

Errors by Wayne Causey helped Chicago to two unearned runs. Minnesota City has RAN five straight games and nine of its last M.

Joseph Cotten With Wife To Stage Broadway Play

By DORIS KLEIN

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"It's a great name for a play, A Calculated Risk, because they all are."

The speaker was Joseph Cotten, who had just packed eight trunks and was heading for New York to star in the play with his wife, British actress Patricia Medina.

It opens Oct. 31.

"I thought we were pretty brave taking eight trunks instead of an overnight bag," Cotten said. "You never know what's going to happen to a play. I don't think anyone does."

This came from the actor who established himself with such Broadway hits as The Philadelphia Story, and Julius Caesar, and who had a successful run just three years ago with Arlene Francis in Once More, With Feeling. In between were years at Hollywood stardom.

"Sometimes, there's the least difference between a hit and a flop," Cotten added.

CHANGES MADE

"When we were trying Philadelphia Story out of town, it just didn't seem to work. Then John van Druten came up from New York and suggested we move this scene here and that one there. The audience roared. You know how well it did on Broadway.

"Cotten and his striking brunette wife starred together in another play earlier this year which never reached Broadway, RX Murder.

"It's lack of success had nothing to do with husband and wife working together, they both agree.

"We think it's good for a marriage, when you share interests," Pat said.

Cotten said the two will on the road, but just didn't seem to be strong enough to take to Broadway and meet the competition," Cotten explained.

Tries for Speed Record

Killed In Fiery Crash

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah (AP)—Young Glenn Leasher turned a scheduled test run into an apparent try for a new world land speed record Monday and was killed in the fiery crash of his jet-powered car.

His car, described as little more than an F86 Sabrejet engine mounted on four wheels, may have been traveling at least 475 miles an hour and one witness said "it left the ground like an airplane."

Leasher, 35, was smiling and confident after his first test run was clocked at 287 miles an hour on the Salt Flats course this morning.

He was supposed to turn around, make another test and then get ready for an assault on the record of 394 miles an hour set here 15 years ago in a piston car by the late Sir John Cobb of England.

"But things went so well on that first run, he just let her go on the way back and may have hit 475," said a member of his crew. The car left deep gouges in the salt 40 to 50 yards apart as it bounced down the course and broke up.

His car, which developed 9,200 pounds of thrust, was clocked through the measured mile Sunday at 330 miles an hour but timers a mile and a half may have reached 375. He was far from full power and was confident of breaking the record Monday on the 11-mile long course.

Shortly after he entered the measured mile, there was obvious trouble. The car veered afterburner went off and the car seemed to skip along the flats, then started pounding like in a ball of fire. It was all over, in seconds.

Television Year May Send Women Back to Libraries

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Signs and portents point to a television year which may well send the ladies in the evening audiences scurrying back to the leading libraries for entertainment.

It will be long on war stories and lusty masculine-type comedy but painfully short on shows most women enjoy — heart warming drama guaranteed to wring a tear or two, and glamorous, sophisticated tales.

One oasis in this desert promises to be The New Loretta Young Show, a CBS series in which Miss Young plays a widow with seven children.

"We've always had her whirling through a door wearing the latest fashions," explained John London, the producer who also served as overseer of the old Loretta Young show.

"This time she'll be wearing Jean Louis clothes most of the time. And in the show she'll be in upper middle-class surroundings. You just can't paint Loretta as a middle-class housewife."

By "upper middle class," London obviously means rich—and the only time you'll catch Miss Young in an apron bending over a hot stove will be on what obviously is the cook's day off.

The series was suggested by Beverly, Christine's Children, and Christine now has developed into that she's a successful writer — articles and mystery stories.

"But she's obviously been left very well off by her husband," London said.

The man in Miss Young's television life will be James Philbrook, who plays her publisher. Although some of the episodes will be built around one or another of her large brood, London will see how things work out. Rarely a starve that like emphasis soon may shift away from the children to concentrate on the adults.

A large number of children will appear in a budget problem in TV and motion pictures. They are permitted to work only a limited number of hours a day and must quit at 6 p.m. no matter what the emergency.

Seek New Ring Title

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)—The World Boxing Association Monday announced the first ratings for the newly-created junior middleweight (154 pounds) division and designated Denny Moyer and Joey Giambra to meet for the title.

The WBA, formerly the National Boxing Association, said the winner of the Moyer-Giambra bout will be obligated to meet the next ranked contender, Ralph Dupas, within 90 days.

The ratings:

1. Denny Moyer, Portland, Ore.; 2. Joey Giambra, San Francisco; 3. Ralph Dupas, New Orleans; 4. Jorge Fernandez, Argentina; 5. Teddy Wright, Detroit.

Rod Laver May Turn Pro Later

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—Rod Laver said Monday he will not join the professional tennis troupe at least until after the Davis Cup challenge round in December.

"That's definite," the 24-year-old southpaw from Australia said after winning the U.S. National tennis championship. "After the challenge round I'll sit down and do some thinking."

Laver won the title with a 6-2, 6-4, 7-5, 6-4 victory over his Davis Cup teammate, Roy Emerson, to complete the coveted grand-slam and become the hottest property in tennis.

Of all the great players of the past, only Don Budge won all four major championships—Australian, French, Wimbledon and United States—in one year before Laver came along. Budge did it in 1938.

Now the pressure is after Laver and the word is that his asking price is $150,000. Whether he'll get it remains to be seen.

East. Title Won by Brampton

BRAMPTON, Ont. (CP) — Brampton Beavers won the Eastern Canada senior lacrosse final Monday night with a 6-4 win over Brooklin Hillcrests to take the best-of-seven series by four games to one.

The Hillcrests now move into the Canadian final for the Mann Cup against the winners of the Victoria - Vancouver western final.

Wayne Thompson led Brampton with a pair of goals. Singles were added by Mike Finnegan, Barry Ashbee, Barry Findlay and Bill Castator.

The Tracks

The 2-5 favorite Blue Croon was defeated by a half-length and Raven Wing finished third, seven and a half lengths further back.

Wonderwine ran the mile and a sixteenth in 1.45 4-5 over a surface described as good after a morning rain.

Jerry (The Fly) Harrison, leading rider at the recent Fort Erie meeting, allowed Wonderwine to go into an eight-length lead by the time the field had reached the half-mile mark. From then on it was up to Blue Croon to come and catch him, which he could not do.

In the first race, Mrs. J. A. McDougald's Worth Avenue coasted to a length victory under leading-rider Jim Fitzsimmons. Coupled with Mrs. F. Tuske's Wings of Flight, winner of the second, in the daily double, they returned $47.

Canada continues to have serious doubts about the wisdom of military action against Cuba. It cited the danger of compounding the damage done to U.S. prestige by last year's abortive invasion at the Bay of Pigs.

Meanwhile, diplomatic sources here said Canada's aid and relief—in view of the heightened U.S.-Cuban tension—that Canadian exports to Cuba have continued to rise.

In June, they were valued at $1,261,000, compared with $2,000,000 in the same month last year. For the first six months of 1962 exports totalled $5,497,000—little more than one-third of last year's $15,400,000 for this period.

Canada has often been criticized in the U.S. for continuing to do business with Cuba although it forbids the export of arms and strategic materials.

Trade officials believe the big drop in Cuban purchases from Canada is due to the chronic shortage of dollars Cuba has experienced since its exports of beef tobacco and sugar to the American market early this year.

Gifts to Church At South Bay Are Dedicated

PICTON — An impressive service was held at South Bay United Church on Sunday when gifts to the church were dedicated in memory of Mrs. Jean Thompson who for many years before her death was an active worker in the various organizations. The gifts were made possible by donations from friends and include colored glass windows in the newly furbished edifice, and hymnaries. Also dedicated was a suitable plaque to be placed on the wall. The gifts were presented by Gordon Striker on behalf of the donors and dedicated by the minister, the Rev. E. V. Cook. The choir contributed an appropriate anthem.

Obituary
MRS. CLARE LEAVITT

PICTON — Following a short illness, Mrs. Clara Leavitt passed away in Toronto General Hospital on Sunday night, Sept. 9. She was in her 68th year.

Funeral service from the Gordon R. Whatham Funeral Home to Picton United Church for service at two o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Rev. V. E.-R. Zufelt will officiate. Interment Glenwood cemetery.

Mrs. Leavitt is survived by four children, Phyllis (Mrs. H. R. Mitchell of Orillia; Russell, Syracuse, N.Y.; Marion (Mrs. Lawrence Bond), Picton; Joan (Mrs. John Kasicki) of Bloomington, N.Y.

Mrs Leavitt was the former Clare Reed, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Russell Reed, and spent the greater part of her life in Prince Edward County. She was a member of the United Church and for many years was in Sir Thomas, Picton Chapter, IODE. Possessed of an unusual friendly and charming manner, she made a host of friends. For many years she had been hostess at several leading hotels, including the Overland Inn at Niagara Falls, and more recently had been with the Queen Elizabeth Hospital in Toronto.

Science Now Shrinks Piles Without Pain Or Discomfort

Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain And Itching As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain and itching. This discovery is unique because it has been relieved with this inexpensive substance right in the privacy of their own home without any discomfort or inconvenience.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' examinations.

Pain was promptly relieved. And while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results went so thorough that sufferers were able to make such statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And what's more these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoidal conditions, some of even 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—a discovery of a famous scientific institution. Already Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injury tissue on all parts of the body.

The new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H. Suppositories or Preparation H ointment with easy-to-use applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Income Tax Explained

Written and designed for the taxpayer who is not in a position to employ the service of a professional accountant or visit an income tax office.

By C. A. MILLER
Former Supervising Assessor
Income Tax Dept.

Many husbands who are taxed as single persons due to their wives income being over $1,250 have a mistaken idea that as they do not support their wives they can claim the equivalent to married status on another person. This is not permissible. Even though the taxpayer is taxed as a single person, he is still a married man.

This is covered in the income tax act, which states that as long as a man lives with his wife he is deemed to have supported her. This will prevent the husband from claiming the $1,000 on behalf of another person.

The only persons who are eligible to claim the equivalent to married status, $1,000 are those that are single, divorced, legally separated or widows (ers).

When the equivalent to married status is claimed, the full particulars regarding the person for whom the claim is made, must be given in the space provided.

When the husband and wife both earn a taxable income, either one may claim the children, or each may take any number of them as long as both do not claim for the same child. The claims for the children should be apportioned between them in such a manner as to derive the greatest advantage taxwise. This will equally apply to adult dependents, such as brothers, sisters, fathers and mothers, including in-laws.

The point to keep in mind is that the same dependent may not be claimed on the husband's and wife's return.

Question? I work at a regular job and my wife boards two children from the Children's Aid Society. Is this my income or hers?

Answer: It is considered to be your wife's income. If the profit after the deduction of expenses paid on behalf of the children's food and laundry, is $250 (over), it will reduce the exemption you may claim for your wife. Compute as per page 3 of the Short Form return.

Question 2 — I lived as man and wife for six months with a woman who had two children. I supported all of them during that period. What exemption may I claim?

Answer — It is doubtful if the tax department would allow you any exemption but that of a single person. The arrangement did not last for more than a year and would be considered as only a temporary nature.

Royal National Eisteddfod At Llanelly, Wales Most Colorful of All Rituals

By ALAN WALKER

LLANELLY, Wales (CP) — The Welsh heap more honors on a metaphysical poet each year than Canadians afford their favorite hockey star.

This year's Royal National Eisteddfod was the scene of one of the most colorful and nationally significant ceremonies in the world—the Chairing of the Bard, when thousands of Welsh people jammed the Eisteddfod pavilion to honor one man.

Several Welsh Canadians made a special trip back to their homeland for the annual weeklong culture festival.

As they reached the stage orange drapes parted to reveal members of the lower orders of the Gorsedd—blue-robed Bards and green-robed Ovates. Finally all were seated on the banked stage.

Then the trumpets of state brought the audience and the Gorsedd to their feet. After the past Archdruid had led the throng in the Gorsedd prayer, changed to harp music, chief adjudicator Sir Thomas Parry-Williams stepped forward.

He spoke in Welsh according to Eisteddfod regulation and finally announced the poet with the pen-name Idris had won the competition.

A murmur passed over the crowd and became a cheer as a middle-aged man wearing glasses stood up near the back of the pavilion. A few nearby recognized him but the rest had to wait until he was brought on to the stage.

Then, his name revealed as Caradog Prichard, a Fleet Street journalist, he stood shyly beside the Gorsedd throne as the audience acclaimed their news hero.

He sat in the chair. Following rituals dating back centuries Deputy Archdruid William Morris called for the six-foot-long Gorsedd sword. Holding it in its scabbard over the winning bard's head he shouted three times:

"A oes heddwch?" ("Is there peace?")

The audience replied each time:

"Heddwch!"

Tilali and Emrys ap Iwchid read the poetic tributes to Prichard that they had rapidly composed after his name was announced. The traditional chairing song was sung in the difficult "pellilion" style in which the harpist plays the melody, and the voice sings the accompaniment. Children performed the slow flower dance.

Finally a girl dressed in red and gold walked forward between the ranks of kneeling children and presented the chaired bard with a small sheaf corn and a bunch of flowers.

Prichard's poem, a group of seven sonnets, is written in a style peculiar to Wales based on strict observance of complex rules of metre and alliteration codified more than 1,000 years ago.

"I took a holiday and spent seven days writing it," Prichard said after the ceremony. "I wrote one sonnet a day."

The title Llef un yn Llefain ("The Voice of One Crying) was prescribed by the National Eisteddfod Court, the competition's governing body. Prichard's poem on the set theme describes the cautious and struggles of a dedicated but disillusioned country priest.

Bards have existed in Wales and other Celtic countries as far back as recorded history. It was inevitable that contests be set up in such a culture-conscious country as Wales where amateur art is encouraged over amateur sport. Local Eisteddfodau — the word is pronounced ice - teth - vod - ei and means "sessions" — are held throughout the year. The winners compete at the Royal National held alternately in North and South Wales.

The 3rd recorded Eisteddfod was held in 1100 A.D. Laws governing the choosing of the winning bard were codified under King Hwyl Dda in 940 A.D.

HARSH CRITICISM ROCKS MACMILLAN

Crime Probe Turns Attention To Social Clubs

Wintermeyer's Charges Denied by Minister

TORONTO (CP) — Liberal Leader John Wintermeyer's charge that there was "heavy trafficking" in lucrative Ontario social club licences in late 1961 has been denied by Provincial Secretary John Yaremko before the province's royal commission on crime.

The minister also sought Tuesday to reject Mr. Wintermeyer's allegation that criminals used the club charter system to "exploit" the law, but was persuaded by Commissioner Mr. Justice W. D. Roach that the allegation was relevant to the evidence of unlawful gambling activities carried on behind the facade of charters.

Mr. Yaremko, first witness called as the investigation disengaged temporarily from its running battle with gambler Jack Kent Cooke, into the social club system, undertook a point-by-point rebuttal of the Liberal leader's legislative speech of last Nov. 29, which touched off the inquiry.

He came before the commission with a prepared brief reinforced with 15 appendices, all adding up to 1,485 pages of departmental organization, history and defence of policies stretching back for years. He was about half-way through when the sitting adjourned until today.

SWITCH TO OTTAWA

Meanwhile, the commission's base moved to get at the slaying Peeley switched to Ottawa where the Supreme Court of Canada announced it would hold an unprecedented special sitting Sept. 18 to hear the province's bid to have the commission disqualified.

The province's main permission to appeal from a refusal of the Ontario Court of Appeal to rule on the charge that Mr. Justice Roach showed bias and disregard for the province's position in a private examination of a former associate who gave information to police about the future use at a public sitting.

The Supreme Court now is in recess until Oct. 2, and it never before has broken into its summer session for such a purpose. The commission through counsel Roland Ward, Q.C., Toronto, has been asked to consent to the speedup of the normal process.

Until the latest in Peeley's death and disappearance has been disposed of, the commission will not be free to resume its probe on a charge of conspiring to obtain police information illegally.

Wintermeyer's allegations have decided to concentrate on Mr. Wintermeyer's allegations of government maladministration in the handling of charters and licences, one of which he says has been shown to the commission as having "ghost" gambling gambling operations.

Mr. Yaremko's bulky reply ran into hours before the London Man Given Life Term For Slaying

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Herbert Leslie Worsfold, 27, was sentenced Tuesday to life imprisonment for the April 29 hammer slaying of Mrs. Pearl Elizabeth Blinkhorn, 58.

A Supreme Court jury deliberated 15 minutes after Worsfold pleaded guilty on a reduced non-capital charge of murder.

Worsfold was on trial for a capital charge of murder but Chief Justice James C. McRuer decided there was insufficient evidence to support a verdict on a capital charge.

Worsfold's lawyer W. R. Poole then entered a plea of guilty on the reduced charge.

Mrs. Blinkhorn's body was found at the foot of the cellar stairs in Worsfold's rooming house.

DEAD STATEMENT

Police read a statement quoting Worsfold as saying he drank about eight ounces of beer the night of the killing. The statement read, in part:

"I don't know if I pushed her or hit her. She went down in the cellar and I stood at the top of the stairs looking at her. I went back in the other room. There was blood all over the place.

"Pearl tried to come up stairs and fell back down. I don't know if I hit her with the hammer or not but I remember putting the hammer in that pink bucket."

Mr. Justice Robert Reid Crerar called to show that Worsfold caused death while attempting or committing rape or indecent assault.

EXPECT INCREASE

EXILE GROUP MADE ATTACK IN CUBA WATERS

Alpha 66 Pledged To Topple Castro

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Alpha 66, a secret organization pledged to overthrow Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro's regime, claims it carried out a machine-gun attack on three vessels in Cuban waters.

After the hit-and-run attack Monday, Alpha 66 said, its raiding party succeeded in turning back Castro helicopters following a 45-minute chase.

Members of Alpha 66, which has its headquarters in Puerto Rico, said the men used in the attack could be identified, but one in Miami said five men made the raid.

In a communique signed "Alpha 66, Puerto Rico," the group said Monday its men machine-gunned two Cuban ships, the San Jose and the San Blas, and a British freighter, the Newlane.

Miami sources, which claimed the marauder came from the Florida Keys, said the San Pascual and the Newlane were attacked, but did not mention the San Blas. No casualties were reported.

FROM VENEZUELA

Miami Cuban leaders in Miami said the raiding party sailed from Venezuela and a spokesman said the group had no return fire from Castro forces.

The Alpha 66 communique said the attack lasted 50 minutes and added:

"Helicopters of the Castro regime pursued the Cubans for 40 miles on the high seas, but could not engage them in combat battle in which the Communists quickly withdrew."

The raiders returned safely to a place in the Caribbean, which is the base of Alpha 66 operations, the group said.

DESCRIBE ATTACK

Here's the way the Newlane, a vessel flying the British flag which was loading sugar for the Communist country, was machine-gunned intensely. The San Pascual, converted into a pontoon, a concrete base many years ago, was boarded, gyrocompass and radio. The San Pascual is used as a depository for molasses at Puerto Padre.

Alpha 66 dispatch added that the San Blas was hit by 16 bullets and "is still burning as we struck 15 times.

"One Alpha source said, 'every gun fired by a Cuban port is our enemy.'

Members reported the goal of Alpha is to raise $66,666 and 666 men to carry out armed attacks against Castro's forces.

British Press Gives Banner Lines To 'Devastating' Market Criticism

LONDON (Reuters) — The British press gave banner headlines today to the assault made Tuesday by Commonwealth Secretary Duncan Sandys on Britain's bid to enter the European Common Market.

Prime Minister Macmillan and his cabinet were described as "shocked, angry and dismayed" at the severity of Sandys' attack on the Commonwealth conference.

The Daily Telegraph says that "they had been prepared," as a result of preliminary discussions, for frank speaking and criticism. But it adds:

"They were dismayed at the severity of the comments, sometimes expressed by appreciation of British's efforts so far, with which the prime ministers rejected the terms offered."

The newspaper says the criticism was "devastating" and that Australia, Canada, New Zealand, Ghana, Pakistan and India all were "vehemently opposed."

The Daily Express, which strongly opposes entry, carried the banner headline: "The Assault."

Macmillan was shown in a front-page cartoon grimly facing six big bowling fingers. Critical quotations from Tuesday's speeches were carried in heavy black type down the left-hand side of the page.

The Daily Mirror, Labor-oriented Commonwealth paper, said the people "they respect hold to the Commonwealth and Macmillan with which they look on those who would tamper with it."

The Times says Tuesday's speeches "showed that although there is much understanding in the Commonwealth for the reasons for which Britain is seeking to join, there are still many deep-seated anxieties on political and economic grounds."

"The speeches yesterday,

Norris Shipping Inquiry Looks Into US Labor Rule

TORONTO (CP)—The Norris shipping labor inquiry has heard about a short-lived revolt 10 years ago against the "dictatorial" power of C. Dana Gibson as Canadian director of the Seafarers International Union.

The story was told by James Todd, a former SIU patrolman and port agent who now is secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Maritime Union (CLC), head for of the SIU on the lakes.

Mr. Todd said he was one of those SIU men who petitioned the international SIU for the removal of Mr. Banks as head of the Seafarers Union in Canada in 1952.

His charges against Mr. Banks were heard in Montreal by what Mr. Todd said was a three-man "trial" by executive board up of Paul Hall, now president of the SIU of North America, another SIU vice-president and Mr. Banks himself.

The trial was a settlement job for Banks," said Mr. Todd. "The whole thing was ridiculous."

Mr. Todd dredged his memory to testify about the 1952 "trial" because he was recalled later by what SIU lawyer Bruce Thomas said was the transcript of the trial.

Maurice Wright, lawyer of the Canadian Labor Congress, and several affiliated unions, promptly asked for an early adjournment to study the surprise documents.

"This is a document we have been looking for for years" he said.

Mr. Justice T. G. Norris granted the adjournment and allowed Mr. Wright to consult with Mr. Todd overnight on the SIU's blue-book transcript.

The 1952 "trial" was held after Mr. Todd and two others sought the dismissal of Mr. Banks as boss of the SIU in Canada, alleging he was a Canadian director, free elections, a complete financial audit and immediate revision of the SIU's "do not ship" blacklist of some 1,000 seamen.

"We're not going to have a trial here like charges which you laid," said CLC counsel Wright.

"At the moment," interjected Mr. Justice Norris. "We may have to later."

Mr. Todd said Mr. Banks ran the SIU single-handedly, negotiating contracts, hiring, firing, ordering seamen put on the "don't ship" list, acting in "myth" of the constitution and lining up special deals with shipping companies.

He said he delivered copies

Contrary to Usual Trend, Jobless Decline in August

OTTAWA (CP) — A "considerable" drop in unemployment during August was reported today by the bureau of statistics and the federal labor department.

It was "in contrast to the rise that usually occurs at this time," the joint report said.

Unemployment fell in all areas, however, was in the 14-19 group —the flock of teen-agers who traditionally enter the labor market in June and July. Other age groups showed little change.

The unemployed in August represented 4.1 per cent of the labor force, lowest in more than two years. It was 4.5 per cent in July and 4.8 per cent in August, 1961.

Employment rose by 10,000 to 6,582,000 during the month with jobs in agriculture gaining 8,000 and those in the non-farm smaller-than-seasonal jump. A significant part of the increase was among young people who took jobs on family farms during school vacations.

The gain in employment was in line with expectations, the report said, but the drop in unemployment because the total labor force dipped 35,000 to 6,982,000 "may be explained by deaths, retirements and such."

	'Aug July Aug. 1962 1962 1961
Labor force	6,982 6,977 6,704
Employed	6,582 6,693 6,381
Unemployed	280 306 323

The report is based on a survey of 35,008 households across Canada during the week ended Aug. 18. Today's release did not include Ottawa's detailed industry-by-industry details for regions, which now comes out a few days later.

Of the total unemployed, 191,000 had been looking for work less than three months or less. An estimated 32,000 had been jobless three to six months and 58,000 had been in jobless ranks for upwards of six months.

Largest proportionate decrease in the year-to - year comparison was among men who had been unemployed for more than three months. The total unemployed included 229,000 men and 51,000 women.

The seasonal pattern picture for women continued to brighten, reflecting the upturn of recent months in service-producing industries. Half of the increase in employment in August was accounted for by women, compared with one-fifth in May, the report said.

Non-farm unemployment rates in August, with the July figure bracketed: Quebec 5.9 (6.1), Ontario 4.1 (3.9), Prairies 1.1, (2.1), Pacific 5 (5.3)

AP Reporter Finds Havana Is Ringed by Firepower

HAVANA (AP)—A veritable ring of fire now surrounds Havana following the current bolstering of Cuban defences by Russia, it was reported by a staff correspondent who visited the country.

Fearful of Havana, "across the entrance to the bay a rolling meadow separating the naval hospital from the Morro Castle bristles with anti-aircraft artillery. Similar batteries emplacements are reported to have been reinforced with redoubtable defences.

To the south, behind the residential Cubanacan district, anti-aircraft batteries are scattered around the clock, only minutes away from parking girls crammed with nearly a million Russian jeeps and trucks.

Far to the East, at the Barlovento yacht marina, long-barrelled cannon mounted on wheels guard eastward. Precision equipment is nearby. This battery is emplaced near homes housing young students.

Correspondents driving along Cuba's northwestern coast Sunday counted at least 50 unmarked, Soviet - made trucks driving in convoys. At the wheel of each vehicle sat a young Russian, in civilian clothing.

Two convoys coming from the harbor of Bahia Honda, were led by Cuban police on motor

MANY FACTORS CONTRIBUTE TO GRAIN GLUT

Lakehead Terminals Full of Wheat

OTTAWA (CP) — Grain congestion at Lakehead terminals is attributed here to various factors including delivery of 90,000,000 bushels of wheat more than Prairie farmers were believed to have.

Shipments to Europe via the St. Lawrence Seaway also slowed down compared with last year — when buying was stimulated by two main factors, the small Prairie crop and the prospect of rising prices. They also had in mind the impact of the European Common Market, with its system of levies on imported items.

Foreign buyers such as Britain and West Germany wait to see how the new crop fares and how crops have done in other grain-growing countries. The western crop this year is good but plagued by bad-harvesting weather.

Shipments of about 20,000,000 bushels a month are needed, starting in July also take some business from the Lakehead.

This year, the provinces have been more pronounced than usual.

TIME REMAINS

The only large recent order was for 12,000,000 bushels of wheat acquired by Italy, with an option of about 7,000,000 more.

There still is plenty of time for business to pick up before lake shipping closes for the winter, however, if the orders are forthcoming.

One domestic aspect is the annual problem of the Canadian Wheat Board, federal sales agency for Prairie - grown wheat, oats and barley, in laying down adequate stocks of feed grains for central and Maritime industries.

There have been chronic complaints in the past that late season congestion has impeded the flow of feed grains eastward by railway cars.

Conversely, eastern feeders have been accused of buying too long in getting their orders in.

Lakehead congestion in the supply pipeline may create feed shortages such as happened in 1960 when the wheat board gave priority to durum wheat movements to get foreign exchange of necessity curbed the flow of other grains.

To meet eastern feed circle complaints, Agriculture Minister Hamilton announced in the House Friday that a feed grain committee has been named to advise the board. It will be formed of six members representing the Maritimes, Quebec and Ontario.

VIENNA (Reuters)—Hungarian Communist party officials in Budapest have elected by secret ballot and can be dismissed if they show themselves "unworthy" by the elected majority vote of the forum which elected them, it was reported today. The changes in the party's statutes were published in the Red Star Nepszabadsag in its issue reaching Vienna.

But Some Think Britain Certain To Ignore Pleas

U.K. Hellbound to Join Market Says Jamaican

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Macmillan, harassed by Commonwealth critics of his European Common Market plan, today received a boost in support—from Sir Roy Welensky, prime minister of the Rhodesia-Nyasaland federation.

Welensky backed Britain's entry into the Common Market on both political and economic grounds at the final day of the Commonwealth prime ministers conference, saying economic strength was the greatest economy of communism.

He argued that a British stronger through Market membership would be of even greater help to the Commonwealth—particularly the underdeveloped areas.

But Jamaica's Prime Minister Sir Alexander Bustamante described the Market treaty which founded the Common Market as a knife separating and cutting Commonwealth members and said the terms so far negotiated by Britain were inconclusive and vague.

ARE NON-COMMITTAL

Two other comments at the brief, 90-minute session took a non-committal attitude on the terms.

Nigerian Prime Minister Sir Abubakar Tafawa Balewa said his country could not take objection to Britain entering the Market since Britain was a leading European power — but added Britain's entry would affect Nigeria's economy and alter pattern of trade.

While Macmillan had said an enlarged Common Market would be "outward looking" Balewa said he could not share this optimism — although he prayed it would prove correct.

He could not give his government's final attitude on the question of associate Market status for African countries.

Cyprus President Archbishop Makarios said if Britain entered Europe it might mean a weakening of the Commonwealth as it is at present.

The Commonwealth, he said, should be preserved for historic reasons and for the part it plays in bringing better understanding in the world.

Meanwhile, Macmillan was reported to be contemplating calling an urgent meeting of his cabinet today to discuss matters concerned with the Brussels negotiations on the entry of the Commonwealth conference at this crucial stage.

But there was a major effort would have to be made by Macmillan, dismayed at the massive onslaught on his Common Market policies so far, to swing the Commonwealth conference away from their hostile attitude.

Especially a new rift on whether the British government would be prepared to modify its pro-European policy in the face of the unexpectedly heavy Commonwealth resistance.

So far, there was little tangible evidence that any change of

Jodoin Quits Productivity Council Saying It Hampers Co-operation

OTTAWA (CP) — President Claude Jodoin of the Canadian Labor Congress announced today his resignation from the National Productivity Council, saying on grounds the government has declined to back the advisory economic council.

Mr. Jodoin said in a letter sent to Prime Minister Diefenbaker Tuesday that the productivity council's emphasis on productivity alone — without a broader study—is a barrier to co-operation between labor and management.

He stated that the CLC on formation of the 25 - member productivity council in 1960 had urged an economic council to be set up to co-ordinate the work of the productivity council with problems facing Canadian economy.

The leader of the CLC, which has more than 1,000,000 union members through its affiliates, said that despite initial research done by the productivity council the productivity council approach the CLC continued to participate while reiterating its views at various times.

"We have now reached the firm conclusion that not only has the national productivity council failed to meet . . . needs but its very existence in its present form is a serious handicap to the establishment of effective co-operation in regard to the solution of our economic problems."

Will Lecture On Ecumenical Council Meet

On Sunday, September 16, at 8.15 p.m. in St. Michael's Academy Auditorium here, a lecture on the "Ecumenical Council and Christian Unity" will be given by Father Gregory Baum, O.S.A. of Toronto.

Sponsored by the Belleville Catholic Leading Library, the lecture is expected to provide helpful understanding of the goals which will be pursued by the Council, which will open in Rome, October 11th.

Father Baum was born in Berlin, Germany in 1922. He received his M.A. in mathematics from Ohio State University and entered The Augustinian Order the following year, being ordained to the priesthood in Fribourg, Switzerland, in 1954. Father Baum holds a doctorate in theology from the University of Fribourg. He is now assistant professor of religious knowledge at St. Michael's College, University of Toronto, as well as director of the Centre of Ecumenical Studies there. He is consultant of the Secretariat for Christian Unity at Rome. Father Baum leaves later this month for Italy.

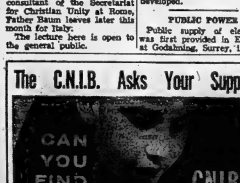
The city's proposed official plan was under scrutiny today by students of McMaster University holding a planning seminar in the Bay of Quinte district.

During their visit to city hall this morning, the students with their leader Professor A. Burghart, were welcomed by Mayor A. M. King and later had details of the city's proposed official plan outlined by Alderman Leo Digby, council representative on the Belleville and Suburban Planning Committee. Planning engineer Charles Mott also attended the session.

In explaining the city's proposed official plan, Ald. Digby noted that annexation three years ago had made an overall plan necessary. This plan will be organized growth in the city. The students were invited to comment and ask questions regarding the plan.

Professor Burghart expressed surprise at the size of area required for industrial use as compared with the area now under industrial use.



He was also struck with the fact that a railway line cut across the city only a block away from the main downtown area.

Another thought expressed was whether the CNR marshalling yards would present a barrier, making it difficult for potential workers to get to their jobs when industrial area in the south end was eventually developed.

Belleville Man Fined After Cobourg Brawl

COBOURG — Richard Clyde Brooks, 37, Belleville, was fined $200 by Magistrate R. B. Hunter Monday for assaulting Thomas Sandiland, Port Hope, on August 26, on King St., Cobourg.

Sandiland told the court that around midnight Saturday night he had come from a dance at the Legion with two friends and their wives, and was about to enter the Hoolee Garden Restaurant when the door of the adjacent Chateau Hotel burst open and a number of men came out speaking and laughing loudly.

There was a loud crash and the plate glass in Mr. Sandiland's right jangled. Following this a shower of glass fell into his face. Mr. Sandiland enquired who threw it. Brooks told him a stranger to him, said he did and invited Sandiland to fight.

Mr. Sandiland replied, "Not at this time."

PUSHED HUMAN

Brooks then pushed Mrs. Sandiland, he continued, and asking him for his opinion about it. Getting no response, Brooks pushed Sandiland who stumbled into his wife and both fell backwards into the Hoolee Garden Restaurant.

Jumping to his feet Mr. Sandiland noticed Brooks attacking a male friend, Ronald Williams, who was knocked to the ground in the middle of the street, being struck and kicked and trying to defend himself. Mr. Sandiland put one man right off and was seen flying across the street by one of the Brooks boys.

At this stage Brooks became involved in a scuffle punctuated by Mr. Kirkpatrick senior of Mr. Sandiland's friends. Mr. Sandiland took the aid of another man help Brooks and the police were called.

East Huntingdon Test Case On School Question Adjourned By Judge Until Saturday

The East Huntingdon residents' application for mandamus, to force Tweed High school to accept Larry Jones, as a student in the school, has been adjourned to 9.30 a.m. Saturday, September 15. The adjournment is to provide for the addition of the Centre Hastings High School Board as respondent.

Judge J. C. Anderson adjourned the hearing this morning, after a half hour's discussion in camera, with Robert Temple, of Belleville representing Larry Jones. Ben Burley, lawyer for the school board, attended as a non participant. H. E. Hamilton, principal of the Tweed High School and naming as respondent to the application, did not appear.

After announcing the adjournment of the hearing, Judge Anderson examined the applicant, Larry Jones, on the affidavit filed by Jones on Friday, Sept. 7. The affidavit stated that Larry Jones lived within four-and-a-half miles of the Tweed High School, and 12 miles from the Madoc High School, which he had been ordered to attend by the Centre Hastings High School Board. The main difference in the distance to the two schools is the basis for today's hearing, and will be on the basis of the returned essay, Saturday.

To reporters, Larry Jones added reasons for his hopes to attend school in Tweed. Eighteen years old, he attended classes at Tweed for the first three days of this school year, with typing as an option. Because he cannot take typing at the Madoc High School, and because he must be at least one option to make up for the French and Latin he dropped two years ago, Larry Jones says he cannot pass grade 11 at the Madoc School. He added that he has no friends in Madoc, and that he attended public school in Tweed.

Larry, and most of the 35 other East Huntingdon students who registered at Tweed High School this year in defiance of the Centre Hastings High School Board, are not attending classes pending the outcome of this test case. It is expected that if Larry can obtain the mandamus ordering Tweed High School to accept him, the other students will also be accepted.

Bullmoose Cup Won by Local Underwriters

The Bay of Quinte Life Underwriters' Association won the Bullmoose trophy presented at the annual meeting of the Eastern Ontario Sales Congress held last week in Ottawa. The trophy was received by Noble Mahood, president of the local association, who headed a delegation of eight local underwriters. The trophy, which is a wood carving of a bull moose by a famous Canadian carver, is on display in the window of O'Connor's Jewel Box.

Corn Crop Said Better Than Average

A "better than average" corn crop is being harvested in the Bay of Quinte area this year with the crop averaging approximately five tons per acre or roughly 25 per cent higher than normal.

In fact the canning corn crop has been so good that the Metcalfe Canning Company has been unable to handle all the corn for which it had contracted. About 85 acres "by-passed" by the Deseronto plant was grown in Prince Edward County north of Wellington.

Despite the heavier than normal crop Canadian Canners at Foxboro has been able to process all corn with the season now close to 80 per cent completed.

Although the average crop is about 25 per cent over normal, this year's crop was said to have been very uneven. In other words some fields have been producing double, while others are not quite up to normal.

"The corn crop hasn't been consistent at all," noted Foxboro plant manager E. H. Hills. "Some fields have produced double the average, while others have not been so good. We have been at a loss to understand why."

When the corn crop is bypassed by the canner such as has been the case with Metcalfe Canners at Deseronto, the grower is still paid for his corn on a settlement basis. By-passed corn can be used for ensilage to be fed to young cattle or beef cattle. If fed to dairy cows the residual spray used for corn borer may cause milk contamination.

Parks Board Committee Against Putting C of C Building on Public Park

TRENTON — At last night's meeting of the Trenton Board of Parks' Management, board secretary Miss Marion Baker and member Clyde Mason presented the results of their investigation into the possibility of the board permitting the Trenton Chamber of Commerce to erect a permanent chamber office in Victoria Park, on Division Street.

In the opinion of the committee of two: (1) The property in question is a public park, and should remain so. (2) Compliance with the chamber's request could establish a dangerous precedent. (3) The property in question is not large enough to provide adequate parking. (4) Refinancing: Any lease on the property (chamber heads had suggested that the parks board lease the land on a long-term basis) would have to provide for the removal of the building on default of loan (to the chamber from builder) and no lending institution would agree to financing under these terms. The lease would be void. (5) Any lease with a trustee rather than the chamber since the chamber is not incorporated under the laws of the province. (6) A lease would eliminate the complete control of the property by the Board of Parks' Management.

Said the committee members: "Feeling that no body or organization other than a duly elected or appointed board of the municipality should be allowed the privilege of constructing buildings on properties under the parks' board jurisdiction, the committee recommends that the Town of Trenton be approached with a view to providing an alternate site, (other than park property), for the construction of the Chamber of Commerce building under discussion.

USELESS AS PARK

Following the reading of the report by Mr. Mason, board members Norman Armstrong and Bill Ireland (John Saylor being absent), were invited to comment, by board chairman E. M. Parker.

Mr. Armstrong: Ireland: "The chamber building might improve the park, it's too small for a playground and too close to the highway." In fact, it's useless as a park."

"I refuse to go along with the thinking that this park is 'useless'," argued Mr. Mason. "It's a nice little green spot in a place where a green spot is needed."

"All right, I retract the word 'useless'," agreed Mr. Ireland, "but there might be some legal way to get around the case arrangement. I agree that we don't want to get stuck with a building."

"There must be other properties which would be just as satisfactory," said Miss Baker.

"I disagree with the report about the matter of inadequate parking," said Mr. Armstrong. "I don't think parking is any problem."

"The Chamber of Commerce is a town organization and I hate to turn down anything which might be construed as 'boosting the town'," observed the chairman. "I don't think we have to give them a plain, flat 'No'."

In the final analysis, it was agreed that Miss Baker and Mr. Mason will seek an early meeting with members of the chamber's building committee to see if the two bodies could meet on any common ground and to give the chamber executive a chance to answer questions and problems posed by the report.

OTHER BUSINESS

Other board business discussed at last night's meeting concerned Hanna Park, the mountain and the gravel pit park allowance in the Klemencic sub-division.

Mr. Parker suggested that a hydro fuse box be located in the new Swiss Alpine washroom in Hanna Park. Mr. Mason, who holds jurisdiction over this park as committee head, objected. He countered the suggestion with one that the fuse box, which has, in the past, been located on a pole, be placed higher up on the pole. Cause of concern is that "kids" are interfering with the fuse box. Adults too, got into the act when it was revealed that pennies had been placed behind fuses to re-activate them.

Trenton' gardener Bart Boers reported that two swings had been stolen from this park and Mr. Parker asked that an ancient sign, nailed to an ancient tree be re-located and the tree removed. This too, brought a protest from Mr. Mason who "hates to see trees destroyed". A suggestion by Mr. Mason that this park be provided with an "entrance" brought the comment from the chairman that the necessary time and money required to install an entrance would be better employed by clearing the front end of the park of brush and trees.

Mr. Mason asked for the services of a workman to do brush work on the mountain. Mr. Boers told the board that he had arranged for a demonstration of mowing on the board members commented mountain slopes today and the that if there were enough free demonstrations in the wind, the problem of mowing and clearing up the mountain would be solved.

NO ACTION TAKEN

Mr. Boers asked for board co-operation in carrying out what he termed his 'pet project.' He told the members that the gravel pit, accepted by the board as a five percent area park allowance, from the Stanley Heights subdivision had been partially sloped, to a 45 degree angle by Mr. Klemencic, and that they would like the board to buy 1,000 bales of straw, which could be pulverized and blown on the slopes as mulch. Then, said Mr. Boers, he could plant 4,000 little pine trees on the slopes next spring. Pine trees, said Mr. Boers, thrive on gravel.

No immediate action will be taken as the town has yet to turn the gravel pit area over to the board.

Students Making Survey of Area

TRENTON — This week, 32 second-year students from the University of Toronto and McMaster University in Hamilton, are making a survey of this area, as regards municipal government, industrial development, agriculture and other phases of district life.

On Monday, Nostrand Sprague, Trenton Chamber of Commerce secretary, attended a luncheon at the Glenbrook Motel where he welcomed the students to the Trenton area and presented them with brochures of the town.

Failed to Get Car Ownership Papers

TRENTON — In magistrate's court at Trenton yesterday, Leon Quinlan, 19, charged with failing to notify the Department of Transport of the purchase of a motor vehicle, and failure to notify the department of a change of address, pleaded guilty to the charges and was fined $10 on each and ordered to pay $7 in court costs.

Constable Sidney Vickers told the court that Quinlan had been warned to secure the ownership papers for his vehicle. The constable said that there had been a great deal of confusion about Quinlan's exact place of residence and that he had finally been located sleeping in the car.

Magistrate T. Y. Wills warned Quinlan that he was being given one last chance to get possession of the ownership papers to his car, and to notify the Department of his purchase and present address.

James Roland Crookes, 21, charged with a breach of recognizance was remanded until next week. Constable officer, Dennis Atkins was asked by the magistrate to "have a talk with the accused". The court was told that Crookes had been placed on a two-year suspended sentence by the Trenton magistrate in connection with the theft of a pair of shoes. He had been sent to the House of Concord, from which he took leave, without notice, and failed to make restitution for the shoes and had failed to check with the probation officer.

Crookes told the magistrate that he had been working for two months and had been making around $67 a week, which he banked.

"Get the money out of the bank to pay restitution," suggested the magistrate, "It's as simple as that."

Hospital Statistics

TRENTON — Seventy-one babies were born at Trenton Memorial Hospital last month. In all, 349 adults and children were admitted. Average daily population (adults and children) was 91.5; newborns, 10.7. Outpatients treated numbered 802, emergencies handled 632. There were 44 major and 56 minor operations performed.

Competition and Co-operation

Carl A. Pollock, president of the Canadian Manufacturers Association, says there is a "need for some official rethinking as to where the national interest lies."

Mr. Pollock, speaking at the industrial expansion conference in Ottawa sponsored by the Department of Trade and Commerce, had in mind the field of anti-combines legislation.

Present legislation, he says prevents "many of the industrial procedures and arrangements" which would unquestionably lower costs and improve industrial efficiency.

Mr. Pollock, we feel sure, is quite aware of the fact that this is directly contrary to the theory of the economic system in which he believes, capitalism or free enterprise. This system is based on the contention that it is competition, rather than co-operation, which keeps costs down, promotes efficiency and assures high quality.

Nevertheless, there will be many who will suspect that Mr. Pollock is right, or at least partly right. We have had many examples of the way in which enterprises relieved, or deprived, of the spur of competition tend to get fat and lazy, providing poor service, permitting costs to climb and doing shoddy work. But at the same time, every realist will be willing to admit competition is sometimes wasteful, necessitating costly duplication of effort.

The difficulty is to distinguish between different situations, to decide in which instances co-operation would pare costs and in which ones it would remove a needed incentive.

Even when that is done, though, there remains another essential task. That is to make certain that the benefits of lower costs and improved efficiency, which Mr. Pollock says arrangements between industries would make possible, are at least shared with consumers. The whole history of combines legislation is that, however may be their effects on the costs of production, they seldom promote lower prices to the consumers. If, in the interests of efficiency, co-operative agreements between industries are permitted, thus removing the price-regulating effects of competition, it is imperative that some other price control be imposed—either through government regulation or, as an alternative, by the removal of tariff barriers against imported goods.

No School at All?

A recent article in Weekend Magazine criticizes the Canadian school system, especially the elementary system, as being incompetent and providing too little real education and challenge for young minds.

The claim is made children are being coddled and are not being taught good study habits or even a good basic working knowledge of the English language.

The article cites many examples to uphold the author's point. One of these certainly must have surprised the readers. This was a modern school book. At the grade eight level the text concerned considered such words as "mop," "hop," "jug" and "hug" to be worthy of the wholehearted concentration of pupils who were to advance into secondary schools the following year.

Such a word as 'heir,' so this highly advanced modern text proclaimed, was used so little it was not to be considered as a spelling word! Extraordinary—and this was a word which was in the grade eight speller of not more than 17 years ago.

It is no wonder we see more and more examples of mental dullness amongst some of our youth when it comes to requiring them to express their thoughts either verbally or on paper. Their capacity to use their native tongue has obviously been crippled by inadequate and thing-rate texts.

We might wonder at what level the teachers' ability now rests. It might be expected that any teacher or board of education which allows the use of cheap texts must have fallen in proficiency elsewhere, also.

The use of our native tongue is but one example cited in this article. There are many others.

A major step, for a quick interim measure, would be merely to adopt the use of a few of those excellent texts which served our past generations so well that even a grade eight pupil of but average ability could spell "extraordinary" without difficulty.

Churchill on Worry

Montreal Gazette

Sir Winston Churchill once gave Lord Halifax a prescription against worrying. It was in the 1920's, while Churchill was Colonial Secretary and Halifax was serving as his Under-Secretary.

"When you feel vaguely oppressed by you don't know what," he said, "a good way to write down all the things that you can think of as possible annoyances and fears and then down on paper, you can deal with them."

"This one doesn't mature for six months; I know the answer to this. This is the only real difficulty that is crying for an answer. Then you can deal with it. For you make it all manageable the moment you break it up into precise and concrete issues. The only thing that the human mind can't stand up against is mystery."

On this prescription Lord Halifax commented: "Very sound and to be recommended!"

* * *

Sir Winston is not the only one who has sought relief from the mysteries of worry by demanding that problems be reduced to up-to-date and concrete issues, so that they may be sorted out and dealt with practically and rationally.

The physician, Sir William Osler, had much the same prescription. He says that when he was a medical student in Montreal in 1870 he was much troubled worried as to the future, partly about the final examinations, partly about what I should do afterwards." One day he happened to read a little volume of Carlyle, and read the sentence: "Our main business in life is not to see what lies dimly at a distance but to do what lies clearly at hand."

Reading that sentence in 1871 Osler thought was the conscious starting-point for a habit that enabled him to make full use like a little bee of the day, to mind the students of the Albany Medical College 30 years later: "If I have any measure of success at all it has been solely because of the habit of work that was before me just as faithfully and honestly and energetically as was in my power."

* * *

The principal ingredient in this prescription is the same as that in the prescription which got rid of the vague worries by fixing the mind upon immediate and practical issues. Both prescriptions call for the concentration of attention by taking short views of life, for finding out what ought to be done today and then doing it.

Useful and sound as such prescriptions are, it may be questioned whether they can meet all the needs, if, indeed, whether they are suitable for all people.

There are other prescriptions against worry. And these are compounded of ingredients utterly different. There are those who have recommended that the people who worry most should make the best of what he fears, and enjoy it. Only when he has widened his anxieties to immensity is he fit to deal with them.

The English writer, Thomas Hardy, found this prescription to be quite effective. Whenever he felt anxious over anything, he would write on the very worst thing that could happen. Generally the worst thing was far less than he had feared. This, he said, made life worth living. Perhaps. Only when he has widened his anxieties to immensity is he fit to deal with them.

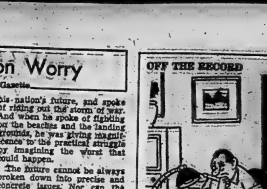
For instance, I was only normally indignant about careless drivers until my first child became old enough to play out in front and to cross streets; then I suddenly developed a hating hatred for all reckless motorists and would gladly have seized the heart of any driver who imperilled a child's life. Before I was a parent my strong feeling would have seemed absurdly excessive to me.

My only advice to all parental high schoolers is to grin (however wryly) and bear it. Give in on all those trivial issues that mean so much to parents — then you'll have more bargaining power when the big issues that mean so much to you come up. Your parents aren't unreasonable, they're just overanxious. See what it's like when your little girl starts playing postoffice with the boy next door.

List Lipstick As Necessity

Cleveland Plain Dealer

As of Oct. 1, the lipstick will become one of the 200 items used in determining living costs in France which, in turn, determine basic rates of wages.



Until now cosmetics didn't show in the basic cost of living expense charts but the government is expanding its views to include the "bachelor" girl as well as married people. With this expansion, the list of articles rose from 179 to 232, including lipstick.

Married woman, of course, at so use cosmetics but we concede that war paint is somewhat more vital to the unattached female. So apparently has the French government. Vive la lipstick.

Parents Are Over Anxious, Not Miserable

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Every now and then, I receive a flurry of letters from high-school boys and girls asking me to write a piece defending their right "to be treated like grown-ups" by their parents. Ah, the irony of it! I heard that refrain before!

It seems only a few short years ago that I was rebelling against wearing rubbers to school because I was ashamed, and darkly contemplating running away from home because Dad wouldn't let me borrow the family Essex for the Junior Prom.

But what interests me isn't really the that parents aren't their way only while the children are young — they remain that way no matter how old the children are.

To a mother, a child is a child whether he's five or 50. And to the dim valley of middle-age, and my own mother still treats me like a little boy when I don't know when to come in out of the rain. The only difference is that being a grown-up myself, I don't resent it any more, I just shrug and keep on getting wet.

My mother is still convinced that I don't eat enough "nourishing" food, that I don't get enough sleep, that I don't wear heavy enough clothes in winter, and that I work too hard — none of which is in the slightest way true.

She is continually giving me advice, obliging me to hear about of my ways, warning me not to drive too fast, and in general treating me with the same parental solicitude than I treat my own 16-year-old daughter.

Most mothers can't help acting protective any more than fathers can help being authoritative, or children rebellious. These patterns are as old as mankind.

Of course, some parents are more moderate in the degree they know a child has to be given some leeway, and they recognize that growing up is a painful process of emotional adjustment. But, on the whole, every parent unconsciously worries a thousand times a day about the welfare of his offspring.

For instance, I was only normally indignant about careless drivers until my first child became old enough to play out in front and to cross streets; then I suddenly developed a hating hatred for all reckless motorists and would gladly have seized the heart of any driver who imperilled a child's life. Before I was a parent my strong feeling would have seemed absurdly excessive to me.

Mr. K. Is Man U.S. Trusts

By Norman Cousins
In Saturday Review

The most feared man in the world is Nikita Khrushchev. Who trusts him? Americans, mostly.

For years the United States has been pursuing those policies that have had the collective effect of placing the safety and future of every citizen in the hands of the Soviet leader.

We are trusting him not to have a heart attack and to be a dictator-aggressor in history — but lighted up opportunity, minimizing the risks involved in reckless action. We are trusting him not to be misled by strange objects that he sees across his radar screens, precipitating a quick judgment that an attack on him has begun and causing him to press the button that will release a devastating attack on the United States.

We are trusting him to select his military personnel with the most painstaking care, for modern nuclear military capability requires that not any hundreds of men be in a position to start a war.

The United States has scrupulously kept safeguards against impulsive dictation by any of the many men who have come to power in underdeveloped countries. We are trusting him not to become necessary for us to react sharply, which could precipitate an unexpected counter or reaction beyond the point of control.

In short, it is not true that the United States does not trust Nikita Khrushchev or that Nikita Khrushchev does not trust the United States.

Each trusts the other to a greater extent than ever two peoples have trusted each other before.

Overweight Women Can Reduce During Pregnancy

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

In the average case a women can much look and know more calories, in the first two-thirds of a pregnancy.

She is after all, obliged to consume more of the vitally necessary food elements, notably protein, calcium, vitamins, of which Vitamin C may be a critical one.

She need not stuff herself despite the old wheeze about "eating for two." She is — but the second is a very small one.

In the last one-third of the pregnancy she is likely to eat about 10 per cent less than before. She must continue to be just as careful about eating the vital foods, but she does not need as many total calories. For one thing, she usually is less active and being "burning up" fewer calories by exercise.

There is no reason why a an overweight woman cannot, to her advantage, reduce while she is pregnant, or why she may not gets adequate amounts of the critical foods. In fact, she may even be from eating less sugar and fat. Caloric weight reduction may not be advisable because of the risk of skimping on the necessary foods.

Certainly the gain in weight should be limited in any case to from 18 to 22 pounds. Gains above that is not good for either mother or baby, and can cause difficult deliveries. Besides, the excess weight can be difficult to shed later.

For extremely heavy women (who should have thought about reducing sooner anyway) there might be good reason for reducing during pregnancy. That's only under the most careful supervision to see that nutrition does not suffer, and that the much fatigue does not result. And I strongly caution friends of any "reducing drugs" at that time.

The better rule is to control weight during pregnancy, or to maintain it if possible. The simple exercises to regain muscle tone after the baby is born can then be double duty: Regaining the figure, and burning up calories.

Here is a guide for the average pregnancy, in daily needs: 1 qt. milk, 4 to 6 eggs, 2 slices bread, 1 egg, 2 T fat, ½ cup cereal.

Fruit: 2 oranges or 1 grapefruit.

Midway through pregnancy or a bit later, as in the case of yesterday's letter from Mrs. B.B., if a woman doesn't "lose" on a reducing diet, it still reproducts progress: the baby is growing; she knows she is not about the same amount or hold.

Another A woman can't lose weight — essential weight, that is — during pregnancy, but she can maintain it. And that, safely, I suggest merely limiting weight in pregnancy, and doing the losing later. And as yet, do it before — but that's another matter. Commanding hindsight, isn't it?)

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 24, and every month have red, inflamed lumps on the edge of my toes and various parts of my body. They are very irritating. Can you explain what they are? — P.M.

I assume you mean this happens with the menstrual period. It sounds like a condition called erythema nodosum — scattered red, painful lumps. It could be what we know as an urticarial — "hive" — reaction which can occur with the period. I'd suggest having your doctor or a dermatologist take a look while the lumps are prominent.

Two-Culture Gap Is Cut

Montreal Gazette

Sir Charles Snow has become widely known for his writings and lectures upon the two cultures, the separation between science and art in contemporary society. It is certainly a pity that these as distinct worlds, unable to understand or communicate with each other. And he feels this to be detrimental if not dangerous to modern society.

In a recent talk on the BBC, the British Minister of Science, Lord Hailsham, declared that the legend of the two cultures". He did not deny that there was a good deal of truth in what Sir Charles has said. But he was more optimistic.

Lord Hailsham feels that science is making considerable progress in the last 40 years that those who were educated in the 1900's would find it hard to left behind. Their education is hopelessly out of date. Acknowledging the scientific climate of the present day. But he feels that this gap will be closed at the source. closed in the case of students who are at school today.

It is possible that a lack of understanding between the "two cultures" will not be so much a problem 10 or 20 years from now as it is today. At 1. ot, milk, 6 eggs, 2 the present time this gap between the "two cultures" is being diagnosed. Hopefully society may be taking the steps to narrow it, if not to remove it.

New remedy for tension

Winnipeg Tribune

It is with mixed feelings we read that in Bulgaria experimenters have discovered that garlic has a favorable effect on patients suffering from hypertension. This condition, said to afflict the majority of modern city dwellers, often leads to the development of all the illnesses variously labelled tranquilizers, not only sparking an entirely new branch of the chemical industry but also providing fees for a whole new crop of fashionable psychiatrists.

First application of the new discovery we suppose should be a large shipment of garlic to the 17-nation disarmament conference in Geneva. Delegates loaded with garlic, sitting in an atmosphere reeking of the all-pervasive vegetable, may then calmly discuss ways to control the arms world to mass destruction: They may in the end agreement in their anxiety to get some fresh air.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

A lady friend of mine who, like a great many women, finds the happy position of being able to listen to the soap operas on TV every afternoon five days a week, asked me what kind of people write these soap operas. What do they look like?

"They after day, month after month," she says, "these characters in the soap operas suffer nothing but anguish. They never seem to have a moment's peace. Just one thing after another happens to them. What kind of people write these soap operas? I don't know, but I can take a guess. I bet they are teams of men and women in their late job. They all wear glasses, I bet, and are rather bookish and nervous, and before they came to the big office were stuck in a big choir. They led prim, quiet lives. Nothing ever happened to them. They are frustrated, and are sort of narrow-chested. Nobody ever tried to pick them up."

So they sit in their studios and nicely furnished flats, and dream up the most wonderful, terrible, exciting, entertaining lives for imaginery people, and for the entertainment of a cloud of witnesses they describe all the utter falsity of their own lives.

Three Thefts Being Probed, 9 Pigs Taken

PICTON — Three thefts are being investigated by police. Constable Earl Graves, O.P.P., was called to the farm of Mc-Crae Danford, R. R. 3, Consecon, on Saturday, the theft of nine pigs weighing from 100 to 215 pounds being reported.

Picton police report two thefts. Ten dollars was taken from Harry Bowers' barber shop Monday afternoon while he was absent a few minutes.

The Bata Shoe Store the same afternoon reported someone had entered by a back door, taken papers from manager J. Bakker's coat and $6 and a key from Kathleen Craig's purse. The offices at the rear are divided by a partition from the main store — a rear door had been left open for ventilation.

Allan Marvin Wins Handicap Shoot, Trophy

PICTON — Emblematic of the trap shooting championship of Prince Edward Rod and Gun Club Picton's Constable Allan Marvin captured the Dr. R. H. Walton trophy in the club's annual handicap shoot Sunday afternoon. Smashing 44 flying targets out of 50 from 21 yards, a handicap of five yards, Allan was two targets up on his nearest competitor, Harry Leavitt. It was a case of handing the trophy down from father to son as County Constable Bill Marvin was the winner a year ago.

Nineteen members competed, each shooter firing at fifty targets from handicap posts. These are based on the individual scores of the weekly shoots for the season.

Robert Ward made a spectacular start in his first 25, smashing 24 straight from 21 yards to fall down on the 25th. In his next 25, however, he scored only 18.

Since the inception of the competition in 1954 the cup has been won twice by only one shooter, depicting the fairness of the handicapping system. Jim Wilmot won the cup in 1954, Ross Scott; '55, Richard Cole; '56, Laurence Burford; '57, Harry Leavitt; '58, Jim Cole; '59, Dale Cole; '60, Jim Cole; '61, Allan Marvin.

The handsome trophy will be formally presented at a club dinner at Cherry Valley, Wednesday, October 17th.

The large bore rifle shoot for the R. H. Walton trophy is set for September 30th.

Council Will Spend $1,000 on Architect's Fees

PICTON — Efforts of town council to consolidate town offices in one building resulted in a decision at Monday night's meeting to spend up to one thousand dollars to engage an architect to inspect various offices and buildings which have been discussed. One of the contributing factors to the need for a central municipal office is the fact that the treasurer has been occupying office in a building owned by Mayor H. J. McFarland and the latter has refused to accept rent for several months past due to the 'conflict of interests'.

As a temporary measure, council decided to negotiate with the IOOF for three offices which they have in their block for rent.

Chairman of the committee, councillor Robert Walmsley stated that engaging of an architect to report on possibilities would help clarify the matter. Buildings to be considered as possible future municipal centres are the Regent theatre, presently closed; the market building which has a vacant upstairs; the building owned by the Mayor which is being converted into a temporary bank and the possibility of an entirely new building in Bensen Park.

Councillor Andrew Jarvis stressed the need of a municipal building. He pointed out that the Town Hall building erected 100 years ago has proven a good investment.

Council met Leonard Tripp, assessor as building inspector at a salary of $600 per year. He succeeds Herb Gray, town foreman, who was dismissed. Mr. Gray was not mentioned at the meeting which was more harmonious than usual.

Andrew Jarvis was named to head the Centennial Committee filling the vacancy caused by the death of Reeve Ern Ward. Councillors C. B. Calnan was named to fill other committees which Mr. Ward had filled.

Tax collector Len Tripp reported collections are $10,340 below last year. $206,000 has been collected.

Town police were to be asked to check unnecessary noise in the early hours of the morning, following many complaints.

of the 1962 SIU contract to seamen aboard a ship owned by Reoch Steamships Line, but was told by the captain that Mr. Banks had made a "private deal" with the shipowner that the terms of the contract were not to be enforced and copies were not to be given to the seamen.

This, he added, could have "some bearing on why I got the backdoor."

He contended that he was given no opportunity to substantiate his charges against Mr. Banks at the "trial."

"It was strictly putting me on trial and whitewashing Banks," he said.

Mr. Todd said he was appointed secretary - treasurer of the CMU last Oct. 15—seven days after the Maritime Union was formally founded. He said he receives a monthly salary of $400 plus certain expenses while CMU President Michael Sheridan gets $900 a month.

Mr. Todd said counsel Thomas pressed Mr. Todd on whether he had tried under the SIU constitution to appeal the findings of the trial board in his charges against Mr. Banks.

"The constitution was a myth in the SIU after Mr. Banks came into Canada," he said.

Earlier at Tuesday's hearing, John Curry, president of a sailor's local of the Steelworkers union at Duluth, told of mysterious telephone calls about men shadowing himself, his wife and children. He said one caller told him not to bother preparing a speech "because I wouldn't be around to deliver it."

BUT SOME

the present course was in the offing. Informed quarters said British ministers regarded Commonwealth criticism as inevitable at the present stage—but by no means disastrous, or decisive.

An almost unrelenting barrage of criticism, mixed with fears and doubts, was levelled at British Prime Minister Macmillan Tuesday by Canada, Australia and New Zealand, old men members of the Commonwealth.

But the lament was no less strong, and in some cases stronger, from India, Pakistan, Ghana and Nigeria.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker, leading off the Commonwealth leaders' replies to the British case for Common Market membership, put some searching questions in the apparent hope that Britain will give the idea a long second thought.

THINKS INADEQUATE

Diefenbaker said the Canadian government considers inadequate the basic assurances obtained so far by Britain in the Brussels negotiations. He urged Britain to press for better terms and said that a further prime ministers conference is necessary before Britain makes her final decision.

Commonwealth finance leaders were scheduled to speak today were Malaya, Nigeria, Cyprus, Jamaica, Trinidad and Tobago and the Federatiza of Rhodesia and Nyasaland.

"Onslaught," "Devastating criticism" and "Sharp accusations" are some of the terms London newspapers used this morning to describe Tuesday's seven policy speeches.

The London Times says the Commonwealth leaders have shown "many unexpressed anxieties on political and economic grounds." The Manchester Guardian speaks of their "moral judgment," which, it says, carried the "most telling of all."

THREATENS EXISTENCE

New Zealand Prime Minister Keith Holyoake's statement that his country's existence "and I mean existence"—depended on Britain's choice is widely quoted.

Macmillan, in what many regarded as the most important speech of his career, argued for more than an hour Monday that Britain is a Commonwealth, and not just Britain, has only to gain by joining the European Economic Community, or Common Market.

He said the realities of economics dictated that Britain join the six-nation group, composed of France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg. This would make Britain stronger, he said, and hence better able to help members of the Commonwealth.

Tuesday's policy speeches in answer to Macmillan's argument took five hours. But conference sources said they must have no effect on Britain's determination to join the Common Market.

'HELL-BOUND TO JOIN'

Jamaica's prime minister, Sir Alexander Bustamante, may have reflected the view of other Commonwealth leaders when he emerged from the conference room at Marlborough House and said that Britain was "hell-bound to join, whatever anyone says."

M. CHARTAND, chief inspector of weights and measures in the Federal Building, in Belleville, checks out one and one-sixteenth ounces of weights, on a scale. Mr. Chartand and his staff inspect more than 6,000 scales a year.

6,181 Weighing Machines In District Are Inspected Once a Year by Department

There are 6,181 legal weighing machines in and about Belleville, and every one of them must be inspected once a year. Further, there are 4,500 volume measuring devices, including 3,000 gas pumps, which also must pass a yearly inspection. The inspections are carried out by M. Chartand, of the Weights and Measures Division, of the Department of Trade and Commerce; and by his team of four inspectors.

Based in Belleville, Mr. Chartand and his inspectors have sub offices in Peterborough and Kingston. They cover an area that stretches west to Oshawa, east to Brockville, and north to Algonquin Park. Their job is to inspect every weighing device used in trade, and every device used to measure the volume of liquids for trade, at least once a year. The scales they check include railway scales, big enough to weigh a railway car and its contents, and laboratory scales, which can weigh a feather accurately. In addition; they inspect prepacked goods sold through stores, to ensure, for example, that the pound of butter or cheese you buy actually does weigh a pound. They also make sure that goods packed in foreign countries show the weight or volume of the contents in Canadian standard measurements.

If the weights listed on the package are not accurate, they can prosecute under law.

TOLERANCES VARY

The standards required of weighing machines, volume measuring equipment, and prepacked goods are high. Tolerances vary, depending on the amount of goods involved, but in most cases they are closer than one-quarter of one percent. Most violations, in any of the five categories, are due to negligence.

Scales are checked by weights which are calibrated in Ottawa. If a scale is of an approved pattern and tests within these weights show that it is within the required accuracy range, a government seal is placed on the machine after it is inspected with the date of inspection, and the adjustments are sealed, so that the accuracy cannot be altered. There is a stiff fine provided for the person who allows this seal to be broken without first informing the department.

If the scale is not accurate, the owner will be told to fix it. If there is indication that the scale has not been fixed, an inspector might go to the owner and buy a specified weight of goods. He might then weigh the goods himself, on a portable scale of his own and instigate prosecution if the weight sold was not accurate. In practice, there are few prosecutions without ample warning.

Fees are charged for inspections of scales, and for other inspections. Ranging from $2 to $75, depending on the equipment being inspected, the fees do not cover the cost of inspection, but they are enough to allow the division to function at little cost to the taxpayer.

Gas pumps are the hardest items to inspect. The inspector must test to see that it delivers the indicated volume; and computes the correct price, at all delivery speeds. In testing gas pumps, standard one and five gallon measures are used to measure the gas delivered.

Mr. Chartand, chief inspector at the Belleville office, has been in the government service since 1947 and in the Weights and Measures Division since 1954. He was transferred from Ottawa to his present position about 14 months ago.

PLANNING APPLEGROVE DEVELOPMENT

This important area on Bridge Street opposite the Shopping Plaza was by-passed in the eastern development of the city some years ago so the famous apple orchard rested like an oasis in the centre of development and residential growth. In 1961 it was purchased by Charles W. Lambert Ltd. and DeMille Construction Ltd. and these builders in conjunction with W. J. McCormick Realty Ltd. developed the planning and sale of homes in that area, Applegrove Acres.

Progress has been made with Sanitary sewers, storm sewers, curbing and base roads now completed and asphalting will be further developed this fall. Some houses are up and completed and occupied. 60 lots will be ready when all services are completed in '63. In so far as possible trees in this area have been preserved by the Builders. (advt.)

The Experts Say

1 Bed-Room Apartments Need Different Approach

By PATRICIA RUSEK

TORONTO (CP) — The room-by-room approach used when decorating a house cannot be used when decorating a small one-bedroom apartment, says interior designer Mrs. Maria de Nagay.

One - bedroom apartments, usually having an L - shaped combined living and dining room area, were most often occupied by three people, and for this reason a different approach was needed.

If the dining area is decorated as a traditional self - contained dining room, and the bedroom is strictly a bedroom, three people will feel hemmed in and uncomfortable, Mrs. de Nagay says.

The living and dining area should be treated as one room with correlated furniture, and the bedroom can be given what Mrs. de Nagay calls "the living room look" for lounging.

Since these small apartments are seldom used for large-scale entertaining, she recommends that the dining area be minimized.

PERSATILE ROOM

This could be done by replacing a regular dining room set with a smaller table and four easy chairs, and replacing the customary buffet or server with smaller, daintier pieces such as tea carts, which usually have extendable sides, or wall-hanging cabinets which usually have storage drawers.

"In this way, the dining area becomes a reading, study, and conversation area as well."

If a large server or buffet was necessary for storage, it could be incorporated in the living room or entrance area, perhaps where a hi-fi set or record cabinet might normally be placed.

Mrs. de Nagay does not advise the use of room dividers such as screens, book or nick-nack shelves. "They only make the original space look smaller."

Setting up the bedroom as a second living room or den does not mean the occupants of the apartment must sleep on chesterfields, she says.

Sturdy bed covers and plenty of cushions would make the beds excellent for lounging, and desks could be used as vanities.

KEEP IT SMALL

"And large chesterfields and corner suites are out of the question." It was much better to divide the living room into smaller sitting areas with chairs and settees.

The use of only a few colors helped to make a one-bedroom apartment look spacious. For variety on the walls, panels of a different texture rather than different colors preserved the spacious appearance.

Mrs. de Nagay and her husband, couturier Tibor de Nagay, came to Canada about 10 years ago from Europe where, as a professional architectural sculptor, Mrs. de Nagay became an expert on interior design.

"In Europe, works of art usually determine decorating schemes, and so I was always consulted about interior designs." Several of her own art works decorate their Imaginatively designed apartment above Mr. de Nagay's salon in downtown Toronto.

The trend in furniture today is away from the stark, cold, Scandinavian designs and to the more feminine, ornate, period furniture, Mrs. de Nagay says. "Contemporary furniture at first was exciting, but people soon tired of it, whereas classic furniture lasts forever."

TORONTO (CP)—Members of Toronto's board of education, criticized last year for using their free cars to attend a trustees meeting in Hamilton, Monday night decided to pay their own transportation costs to a similar meeting in Sarnia this month. The unpaid school trustees have a fleet of chauffeur-driven cars at their disposal.

Glamor Pie For Fall Parties

by Mary Moore

Peach Melba represents glamor desserts to me for when I was very young it was the dessert I ordered the first time I ever ate in a hotel dining-room.

That may be why I made the pie I am going to describe to you today. Now this pie is a sort of nuisance to make — it took me 45 minutes but the combination of fruit flavors is delectable. It does not call for whipped cream which will please the reducers. Instead you simply whip skim milk powder with an equal amount of ice water.

It is a different pie that I think you will enjoy serving the next time you entertain. Rightly it should be made in the morning to allow time for it to set.

PEACH MELBA CHIFFON PIE:

2 tablespoons (2 envelopes) plain gelatine, ½ cup cold lemon juice, ½ cup orange juice, 1 cup boiling water, ½ cup sugar, ¾ cup fresh (or frozen) sliced peaches, grated rind 1 large lemon, ½ cup skim milk powder, ½ cup ice water, ½ package (3 oz.) frozen raspberries, thawed, ¾ tablespoon cornstarch, 9" single crust baked crumb or pastry shell.

Make the pie crust first. It shell is of Pastry cut ⅓ cup shortening into 1½ cups unsifted flour and ½ teaspoon salt until size of peas. Mix in with fork 2½ to 2½ tablespoons ice cold water. Pack into ball. Roll out on floured board to fit 9" pie plate. Line pie plate, fluting edges; making them high and neat. Prick evenly with fork. Bake at 450 deg. Fahr. about 8 minutes. Cool.

If shell is of Crumbs mix together well 12 graham wafers rolled very finely; 6 tablespoons each melted butter (or margarine) and sugar. Pat uniformly into deep 9" pie plate. Bake at 300 deg. Fahr. for 10 minutes. Cool.

Secondly combine raspberries with cornstarch and cook, stirring until thick, clear. Cool. Soak gelatine in cold lemon juice. Dissolve sugar in boiling water and add the soaked gelatine, stirring until dissolved. Add orange juice. Chill until syrupy (in large pan of ice water if you are in a hurry as I was). At this stage whip the skim milk powder with the ice water until it will form soft peaks (this took me 4 minutes with rotary beater. Electric beater could be used). Stir peaches and lemon rind into syrupy gelatine mixture. Fold in whipped milk powder mixture. Chill until mixture will mound on spoon. Pour half into prepared cooled pie shell and swirl with half the cooled raspberry mixture. Repeat. (This makes a very full pie.) Chill until set — 2 or 3 hours.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

Mr. B.K. — He is hero-worshipping the wrong heroes.

Nat K. — I want to be like Rocky—fast and tough.

Mr. B.K. — We have a 16-year-old son who has us worried. He has come under the spell of an 18-year-old fellow, a former high school classmate who quit his studies a year ago. This Rocky has Nat mesmerized. Rocky thinks it's 'square' to toe the line. He applauds Nat for playing hooky. The fact that Rocky has been in trouble with the law just makes him more glamorous to Nat, whereas it should repel him as it does us.

Nat has already been picked up for truancy and given a warning. Before he rubs his own life, and of course ours, we need help to open his eye to his mistake. Why doesn't he model himself after some real heroes — Jonas Salk, John Glenn, the Peace Corps members? Instead he picks these wise guys who won't study or work, and wind up in jail.

* * *

Nat K. — I want to be like Rocky, smart but tough. He's on probation now and he knows how to take care of himself. I'll learn more about getting along in everyday life from him and his crowd, than from books and my folks. I'm lucky he lets me hang around. He kicks other school kids away when he's handing out his ideas.

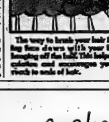
Rocky's no crook. He works. He doesn't take steady jobs, though. Now he's a porter down in the garment district. Soon he'll lay off until just before Christmas and then he'll take a delivery job. He and those other fellows are real men, not sissies who have to turn to their parents for every move. Rocky shows me a person can live by his wits and have an exciting life. He has a fast line and he's making his own way. That's what I'd like.

* * *

The Council: Lives of great men all remind us . . . that somewhere along the line, at a crucial crossroad, they had the right person to turn to for guidance. Malcolm Scott Carpenter credits his grandfather with right advice in the right direction. Others heeded a gentle teacher, sincere employer. But Nat's in a dark alley there with Rocky, the wrong alley, and he's lucky to have his dad calling him back for a fresh start at the crossroads. Rocky's giving him a bum steer.

Sure, Nat, it's impressive bluster you listen to. But that's all it is — hot talk. Think a moment. Which takes more strength and guts — so stick to a hard task or to quit it? Isn't Rocky really the weakling and the sissy for succumbing to the temptation of the easy buck? Wouldn't you be more the hero than to Rocky perhaps just now, but to yourself and your family? to buckle down to books for a few more years in order to have what Rocky will never have, what the law calls "visible means of support"?

Without it, Rocky must lead a banished life, usually under official surveillance. Law-enforcement officers will be curious as to how a fellow like Rocky keeps in funds! That sort of excitement all through life doesn't sound particularly tempting.



Rather than admire Rocky, Nat might deplore the waste and havoc that Rocky is getting with his "gifts" which might have been used wholesomely. Rocky might be seen as "the horrible example" of what happens when drive, imagination and daring become divorced from diligence and character. Because Rocky can't win. Last April a boy who had quit school and landed in prison completed his studies behind bars. Receiving his diploma he addressed fellow inmates. "Don't serve time," he said. "Let time serve you." And he exhorted teenagers to use time to acquire marketable skills. He should know. He's the unskilled, like Rocky, who are a glut on the market, and easy prey for beyond-the-pale employers.

We hope that Nat can see the feet of clay on his shallow idol. To assist Mr. K., there are school guidance officers to look into the "why" of Nat's dissatisfactions with school and with his pre-Rocky life. Some non-Rocky excitements and triumphs may be the best antidote.

Why Can't I Wear Lipstick?

DORIS CLARK

DEAR DORIS—I'm a fourteen-year-old girl whose father won't let me wear lipsticks, although he lets me wear high-heeled shoes, necklaces and earrings. I live in the country and am the only girl my age that doesn't wear lipstick and go out with boys.

I have never protested about not being able to go with boys, but don't you think he is being too strict about wearing lipstick?—BIG FOR MY AGE.

DEAR BIG—Your father sees his little girl growing up and resists the idea.

There are special, delicate lipsticks for beginners, which do little more than tainty tint the lips. When you are next at a cosmetic counter, ask to be shown these.

Apply with caution. Perhaps your Dad will see that it does not make you look like a painted woman, but like a teen-ager who is gradually growing into an attractive young lady.

* * *

DEAR DORIS—I am interested in becoming a practical nurse or nurse's aide. Circumstances prevent me from going away to a school and I believe you mentioned a course one could take at home. Please tell me more about it.—PAT.

DEAR PAT—I am sending you my leaflet about a Canadian school which gives a practical nursing course by correspondence.

Learning nursing by mail has limitations. After much correspondence is done, the student needs—and gets—some practice, before passing exrminations. This may mean spending a month or more at the school, which is in Toronto.

You graduate with a diploma, and this can take anywhere from 50 weeks to two years. Graduates find work in nursing homes, industrial and high school locations, and in private practical nursing. They do not qualify for hospitals. The cost of the course is $283.

DEAR DORIS—I am a divorcee.' Recently I had a baby out of wedlock.

Now I'm planning on being married next spring. Can you tell me what is the procedure involved to have the baby's name legalized to that of my future husband? Can a new birth certificate be issued in the new name? We would like if possible to erase all facts that might come up later in life about the baby being illegitimate.—A MOTHER.

DEAR MOTHER—When you marry, have your husband apply to adopt him.

The new name will be recorded on the birth certificate or a new one made out and the old one destroyed.

SPEAKING of MANNERS

PATRICIA LEWIS

ROMANTIC SYMBOLS HAVE INTERESTING HISTORY

All the world loves a lover, particularly when he gets married.

A forgotten poet "Ariel" of the dim past must have coined the phrase, "tying the knot," as he observed the old Spanish custom in which the bridegroom's sash was tied around the newlyweds during the marriage ceremony.

The knot in medieval times also symbolized union. The well-dressed maiden of those days, looking forward to matrimony, often tied the laces of her bodice in a knot over her heart.

Even the jewelers got into the act. One of the most frequently used romantic symbols on watch bracelets and other jewelry designs was, and still is, the philodendron leaf, which derived its name from "philo," the Greek word for love, and "dendron," meaning tree.

Those alluring bits of love lore and ancient marriage customs which developed into many of our modern rituals and phrases were dug up by Jean Bolen, consumer consultant for the Bulova Watch Company.

For example, according to Miss Bolen, the key to a woman's heart actually and originally was the key to her husband's grain bin, given to show that he bestowed upon her all his worldly goods.

In the same sense, "flour," a word which referred to the best part of the grain, later became simply "flower," meaning the best. Flowers thus became the favorite way for a man to impress his best girl. Wheat, from which flour comes, represented a bountiful harvest, and there was a time when the usual bridal bouquet was a sheaf of wheat.

The heart, frequently used in watch designs and, of course, the best known of all romantic signs, comes from the circle, which is the Egyptian symbol of eternity.

Two hearts or rings entwined meant love united, and a bride's ring went on her third finger, left hand, to establish contact with the "love vein" running directly to the heart.

St. Valentine's Day to ancient Rome was celebrated by the annual love lottery, in which young men drew the names of their sweethearts. However, the more ingenious of the romantic Romans discovered they could lessen the risk in picking prospective mates by sending messages — that is, valentines — to the right girl first.

Cupid was believed to represent the chaos of the emotions of a person in love. His arrows carried romantic messages, and probably still do. Birds were thought of as the messengers of love — hence the expression, "a little bird told me."

In earlier times, a lady's wink was considered a close cousin to the female firefly's blink, with which she attracts her mate. Nowadays, though, etiquette requires a proper introduction.

All in all, the 1,700,000 couples who will be married by the end of this year will be practicing many customs that started centuries ago.

She was assisted by Mrs. J. Barber, Mrs. C. Kingston, Mrs. E. Hall and Mrs. D. Hall, who each read an interesting article pertaining to this topic. Mrs. Fairman concluded her program by calling on Mrs. Frank Roblin for a humorous reading.

It's always high season for a good black silk crepe dress, the type that lends itself to smart accessorizing or is equally smart unadorned.

This one goes in for cap sleeves softly draped at the shoulders. The elasticized waist is placed fairly low and the bow-tied sash is separate.

Dinner was served at 1.30, after which the following were awarded prizes oldest member present — Mr. Wilbert Cross of Cannifton; youngest present — Robert Clarke of Corbyville; for having the most grandchildren — Mrs. John Cross; for having come the longest distance — Mr. and Mrs. Carl Boyle.

During the afternoon games were enjoyed and treats were provided for all the children.

Mr. and Mrs. James Doyle Happily Wed Fifty Years

Seventy eight years is not too old to continue working as a carpenter — just so long as you sort of take it easy.

At least that is the experience of James V. Doyle, 11 Reid St. Mr. and Mrs. Doyle on Sunday celebrated the 50th anniversary of their marriage.

"I still work a bit every day. I think it sort of helps to keep you young," says the groom of 50 years.

And Mrs. Doyle, the former Elizabeth Scrimshaw of Deseronto, agrees with her husband. She is 70 but both she and her husband seem younger than their years.

Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Doyle were honored guests at a family dinner held in the Prince Edward Room at the Hotel Quinte. Twenty-two attended the dinner.

Then on Sunday the couple was "at home" to friends and relatives with close to 100 persons calling to offer congratulations during the afternoon and evening.

MANY GIFTS

In addition a large number of anniversary gifts and cards were received, including the gift of a bridge set from the immediate family. A congratulatory scroll was received from Provincial Secretary John Yaremko.

Monday morning they attended a special anniversary mass at St. Michael's Church where they were married back in 1912 by Rev. Charles Killeen. Mr. Doyle was born in Tyendinaga Township and came to Belleville 55 years ago. The two met at a dance in Belleville.

Mr. Doyle is a member of the Holy Name Society while Mrs. Doyle is an active member of the Catholic Women's League.

MAINTAINS GARDEN

Working almost every day at his carpenter's trade doesn't quite fill Mr. Doyle's day. He has a three-acre vegetable garden in the back yard.

According to her daughter-in-law, during the course of the anniversary, Mrs. Doyle establishes something of a record as an untiring shopper". She can walk the feet off people half her age", assured Mrs. H. Doyle.

Mr. and Mrs. Doyle have five children living. They are Harold, Ottawa; Mrs. George (Agnes) Tutt, Ottawa, Charles, Belleville; Mrs. Gwendolyn Hames, Totonto and Douglas of this city. There are 22 grandchildren.

Other Presidents' Wives Targets of Criticism Just Like Jackie Kennedy

By FRANCES LEWINE

WASHINGTON (AP)—Jacqueline Kennedy may find some comfort in recalling that wives of presidents before her were targets of criticism, too.

From Martha Washington to the modern era there have been brickbats flying along with the accolades.

Down through the years, anything from Martha's hair to Mamie Eisenhower's bangs has been fair game.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, in the White House longer than any of the others, probably was criticized the most.

As the latest target, Mrs. Kennedy drew the ire of a Baptist minister in Colorado and a London newspaper during her vacation in Ravello, Italy.

The clergyman disapproved public, photographed appearances in bathing suits by Mrs. Kennedy and her husband, the president. He said they apparently had thrown decorum, dignity and decency overboard.

But alongside the storms that have raged about some of Mrs. Kennedy's predecessors, these latest barbs seem mild.

As the wife of the only four-times - elected president, Mrs. Roosevelt frequently was a highly controversial figure, but insisted she simply had to do what she thought was right.

Critics accused her of a wide range of faults, including stirring up racial hatred, meddling in politics, talking too much, being too informal, and espousing causes.

UCW Meetings

CANNIFTON U.C.W.

CANNIFTON — The Canniston U.C.W. met in the church rooms on September 5, following the summer recess.

Mrs. Douglas Brenton, president, opened the meeting with a warm greeting to all. The various reports by the secretaries were read and a number of cards, get-well and sympathy had been sent out during the summer. Various items on the business agenda were satisfactorily dealt with.

The worship service, in charge of Mrs. J. Brenton had "Labor" as its theme. The Scripture reading was 1st Corinthians, 1-16. Mrs. Pound gave a most interesting meditation entitled "Laborers Together With God."

Mr. Dawson conducted the Bible study and concluded the talks on the early church and how the present day church teachings compare with the teaching of the Apostles. They believed in the Lordship of Jesus Christ and their message to the world was to repent and believe. They had great faith in Jesus and were able ambassadors for Him.

Following the study Mr. Dawson enlarged on the theme "Labor" by showing a film strip entitled "Beyond the Call," which depicted the Christian labor done by United Church missionaries, ministers and people. The work of love they accomplish in the lives of people less fortunate than themselves and the joy they bring to people who are sick in mind or body, or who have never heard of the Gospel of Christ."

Mr. Dawson was thanked by Mrs. Brenton for his part in the meeting during the summer months. The ladies had enjoyed the Bible study as presented by him.

SHANNONVILLE U.C.W.

On September 6th the Shannonville United Church Women met for their regular monthly meeting at the church hall.

After welcoming the members and visitors the president, Mrs. A. Cook, led in prayer. Mrs. M. Little conducted the worship service and chose as her theme "The Church and This Day" and also led in prayer.

Mrs. Dorston gave the meditation, saying "So often we feel that the time in which we live are so perilous, so full of anxiety and fear that there have never been times like these before. We have such a sense of helplessness. And yet the whole Bible speaks of times like these." She spoke of Abraham, Moses, the little nation of Israel, Jonah and Jesus Christ living life to the fullest in the shadow of a cross. The great record of faith grew out of times of tension and danger, and seeming defeat.

Mrs. Breadman read the Scripture lesson taken from Romans 8:14-39, and Mrs. Dorston closed the devotional with prayer followed by the Lord's Prayer.

Mrs. Cook took charge of the business period. The canvassers were appointed for the canvass for the blind, to be held in September. It was decided to have a fowl supper in October. The executive is to meet on Thursday at the home of Mrs. Steven for the final plans.

Mrs. Elliott expressed her appreciation to the ladies for their many kindnesses shown to them at the time of their golden wedding.

Mrs. Vivian read acknowledgments of appreciation from those who had been remembered with cards and flowers. Many ladies at the meeting added their personal thanks for cards they had received.

At the close of the meeting a social half hour over a cup of tea, was enjoyed.

Communist China's Foreign Trade Likely Determined By Commercial Motives

Clare. McDermott, leaving Peking after 28 months there as Reuters Correspondent, reviews China's trade policies in the following story. McDermott is a native of Edmonton.

By CLARE McDERMOTT

Peking (Reuters) — Foreign observers in Peking believe that Communist China's foreign trade is likely to be determined by commercial motives than by politics in the near future.

The last two years, while I have been Reuters correspondent in Peking, have brought marked changes in Communist China's trade patterns, which experts here expect to continue.

The previous reliance on the Soviet Union and other East European Communist countries as major trading partners has decreased during that time, with corresponding moves towards more trade with non-Communist countries.

Examples are Communist Chinese purchases of grain from Canada, Australia and other countries, Vickers Viscount aircraft from British, and increasing trade with Japan, in spite of the failure to reconcile political differences.

NO FAST CHANGE

But foreign trade experts do not expect a sudden emergence of Communist China in international markets. Present agricultural and economic difficulties dominate her actions and are likely to do so for some time.

Not until Communist China has cleared up these basic problems and embarks again on a policy of expanding heavy industry and transport, and developing water, mineral and other natural resources, are commercial considerations rather than political ideology likely to predominate in trade.

But these experts say that even then an exception must be made in the case of the United States. The gulf between the two powers is so great that trade will have to wait for the easing of political tension.

Foreign observers here see little or no chance of Communist China seeking even to buy grain from the United States.

The Communist authorities themselves are reluctant to discuss trade and they have issued almost no statistics during the last two years.

However, figures from other nations, including Communist states, permit a fairly accurate picture to be drawn, showing a decrease in total foreign trade since 1959, with the Communist countries' percentage of the total also declining.

Agricultural difficulties made it essential for Communist China to buy grain. The Soviet Union and her East European partners were apparently unable to supply it in the quantities needed. So China bought where she could — in Canada, Australia, France, South America and elsewhere.

The need for grain purchases is likely to continue for some time, according to diplomatic observers in Peking, and Communist China's trade will have to remain keyed to finding hard currency to pay for them.

This means much exporting will have to be done to Japan, Western Europe, Britain, Canada, Hong Kong and Southeast Asia, instead of to East Europe or, with political motives foremost, to poorer Asian and African states.

Trade representatives at embassies in Peking and foreign businessmen visiting Communist China have been another trend in the last two years to indicate China's new trading ideas.

They have found more and more Communist Chinese trade representatives abroad and key posts in official government trading corporations filled by former capitalist businessmen with long experience in foreign trade.

These men, largely from Shanghai and Canton, are replacing Communist party theoreticians, who were formerly in charge of foreign trade.

With the kind of business acumen which long ago won great respect for Chinese merchants abroad, they have quietly appeared as commercial secretaries in Communist Chinese embassies in Europe and Asia, and in the Chinese trade delegations travelling abroad.

U.S. Probably as Deeply Involved as Formosa

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The United States probably is deeply involved as Formosa in the dispatch of a U-2 spy plane over Communist China at a time when there is increasing curiosity in Washington whether the Chinese are earnestly endeavoring to produce an atomic arsenal.

While Chiang Kai-shek's government has quickly accepted full responsibility for the latest U-2, which the Reds said they brought down by some "unconventional" means, the high-flying plane capable of cruising at levels of more than 70,000 feet is an American product requiring U.S. government approval before it can be exported.

BOUGHT TWO

Formosan and U.S. administrations say Formosa purchased two of the U-2 planes from the U.S. manufacturer in July, 1960, the last two months after Francis Gary Powers' plane was discovered and knocked down over Russia, causing an international furore that shattered a summit conference.

At that time the U.S. pledged not to send any more planes over Russia, a pledge that was repeated when President Kennedy took office in January, 1961.

But what could be more convenient than to "sell" the aircraft to some friendly power, over which the U.S. could exercise a great deal of control and have this friendly power consider doing what the U.S. says it no longer is doing?

The U-2 plane, with its powerful camera and electronic and accurate spying instrument, it gave the U.S. a great deal of information about missile launchings and troop movements in Russia. Undoubtedly similar information about Communist China has been transmitted to the U.S. through Formosa.

CAPITOL CONFUSED

Recently there has been some confusion in Washington as to whether China is actually building an atomic bomb and how soon it may be able to test and explode it. There have been a variety of official guesses, including a startling one by a high authority that was hurriedly scrubbed.

The speed with which associates of this authority attempted to wash away the "guess" that the Chinese may be able to explode such a bomb "in a few months" has opened the question of whether this authority was speaking from a private hunch or from highly secret reconnaissance information.

In any case, the Communists are likely to make the most of the new U-2 information when the United Nations reassembles next week. On Sept. 4 after a U-2 appeared over Sakhalin Island north of Japan, Soviet Defence Minister Malinovsky charged that if such penetrations are repeated, Russia would be compelled to take "appropriate retaliatory measures."

REGRETS NUCLEAR TESTS

WELLINGTON, N.Z. (Reuters) — Acting Prime Minister Ralph Hanan today said the American decision to resume atmospheric nuclear testing in the South Pacific is surprising and regrettable.

MY BLIND SERVANT

Isaiah 42:18-20

All students of the Scriptures know that God formed of the descendants of the twelve sons of Jacob the nation known as Israel, and of them He states, "You only have I known (or recognized) of all the families of the earth" (Amos 3:2). "But thou, Israel, art my servant, Jacob whom I have chosen, the seed of Abraham my friend" (Isa. 41:8). "I am the Lord, your Holy One, the Creator of Israel, your King" (Isa. 43:15). With that nation He made a covenant, saying, "Now therefore, if ye will obey my voice in deed, and keep my covenant, then ye shall be a peculiar treasure unto me above all people: for all the earth is mine . . . And all the people answered together, and said, All that the Lord hath spoken we will do" (Ex. 19:5, 8).

In the course of time the nation became divided into two nations—Judah, which comprised the two tribes of Judah and Benjamin: and Israel, or Ephraim, which comprised the other ten tribes, and God declared the division was of Him (1st Kings 11:31-35; 12:24).

Israel, the ten tribes, became faithless and began worshipping the false gods of the nations roundabout. As a consequence she was cast off from her favored place (divorced) and taken captive into Assyria, and has never returned to the land of Palestine. In due course these ten tribes became scattered, as tribes, among the nations, even to the point of losing their identity and being counted as Gentiles, and are often referred to as the "ten lost tribes." But God has not lost sight of them and states, "Is Ephraim my dear son? is he a pleasant child? for since I spake against him, I do earnestly remember him still: therefore my bowels are troubled for him; I will surely have mercy upon him, saith the Lord" (Jer. 31:20). Judah, too, was faithless to her covenant and was sent captive into Babylon for seventy years, but in God's providence, returned to Palestine and has at ceased to acknowledge Him as her God, the Creator of the heavens and of the earth. She was never divorced by God and has never lost her identity, her people being known everywhere as "Jews."

Despite the fact that in her blindness, her apostasy, Israel lost her identity, the time must come according to prophecy when she would awaken to it, recognize who she is and receive God's mercy. If we are to identify her we must do so by the light of prophecy. In Genesis, chapter 48, it is stated that Jacob placed his name Israel upon the sons of Joseph and declared that the older son, Manasseh, would "become a people, and he also shall be great," and the younger son, Ephraim, would become "a multitude of nations." If prophecy is to be understood it must be interpreted in the light of the physical facts, and thus it becomes "a land unto my feet, and a light unto my path" (Psa. 119:105). Prophecy, the apostle Peter declares, is of no private interpretation (2 Peter 1:20). God gives the interpretation Himself by the events foretold coming to pass. The physical facts, past and present, make plain the true interpretation for all to see. Can it be said that history has fulfilled and is fulfilling the above prophecies? There can be no gainsaying the fact that we find in the British Empire "a multitude of nations", and in the United States of America "a great people." Thus we have one identification mark—Israel—by which we are able to identify in these nations the bulk of the people of Israel, the ten lost tribes.

These two mighty empires have been developed by Israel while she has been in apostasy and they have become her idols and in them also has gloried. But God's favor has been with her in that following Judah's rejection of the Messiah at His first advent the salvation of God through Jesus Christ has been sent to the ten tribes scattered among the nations (Acts 13:46; 28:23-28). The call in this present age has not been a national one but a call to individuals to follow Christ. Nevertheless, to the extent that individuals in Israel have been governed by the Word of God, and the governments of the nations formed by her have been influenced thereby, these nations have prospered and have had a much higher conception of justice and righteousness than other nations. To the degree evil men and seducers have gained control these Israelitish nations have been robbed of these blessings. Today we see this evil influence almost in complete control nationally and the people so wholly absorbed in materialism that apart from His mercy our God is not in all their thoughts. As a consequence we are experiencing the political, moral and economic disintegration of the British Empire as a whole, and of the United States of America, being brought about by the "waster that destroys," the "man of sin," the "mystery of iniquity," or, in current terminology, the "hidden, or secret, government," whose purpose is to force upon mankind a new tyranny. The time is imminent, however, when Israel will awaken to her identity and God will again deal with her as a nation, purged and purified as by fire. "Seek me and you shall live . . . seek the Lord and you shall live lest He set Joseph's house ablaze with fire that none can quench in Israel (Amos 5:4-6 Moffatt). That fire has surely begun. We are living in the transition period between the Times of the Gentiles, which Scripturally ended in 1914, and the establishment of Christ's Kingdom on this earth. God's time clock has struck and nothing can prolong the lease of power He gave to the Gentiles for a specific time only (Dan. 2:37, 38, 44).

As Samson of old, when blind, saw that he could destroy the enemies of his people by bringing their house down upon them, so the people of the British and American empires when they realize they have been betrayed by their leaders—financial, political and ecclesiastical — into surrendering their sovereignty, will, while still blind to their identity, lay hold of the twin main pillars of the hidden government—international finance and organized religion—and bring the whole structure down like a millstone cast into the sea (Revelation, chapters 17 and 18), completely destroying the present world order, and these two chapters of Revelation declare, God will put it into the hearts of the ten kings—"my people"—to give unto the "beast" (Europe), their power (sovereignty), for one hour. "This we now are taking form. He then instructs His people to throw off the old woman that has been and is riding, manipulating and controlling the rulers, and to "eat her flesh, and burn her with fire"—destroy her assets and utterly destroy her Babylonian system of international finance and organized religion. Soon thereafter the kingly phase of God's Kingdom in power and great glory will be established on this earth by which and through which He will bring about the blessing of all the families of the earth.

The people of the British and American empires, and other nations of the ten, awakening to their identity, will rise again, not as they are at present constituted but as Israel, the land of Promise, Ephraim and not envy Judah, and Judah shall not vex Ephraim" (Isa. 11:13) but "they shall come together out of the land of the north to the land (Palestine) that I have given for an inheritance unto your fathers" (Jer. 3:18). "For the Lord shall go forth of Zion (the centre of the Kingdom), and the word of the Lord from Jerusalem" (Micah 4:2-4) until "the earth shall be filled with the knowledge of the glory of the Lord, as the waters cover the sea" (Hab. 2:14), resulting in ALL (not only the living and the dead, being reconciled to God "Every knee should bow . . . and that every tongue should confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father" (Phil. 2:9-11).

And so God's promise to Israel (the twelve tribes, of which the Anglo-Saxon-Celtic people are the larger part) shall be fulfilled: "And I will cause the captivity of Judah and the captivity of Israel to return, and will build them, as at the first. "And I will cleanse them from all their iniquity, whereby they have sinned against me; and I will pardon all their iniquities, whereby they have sinned, and whereby they have transgressed against me. And it shall be to me a name of joy, a praise and an honor before all the nations of the earth, which shall hear all the good that I do unto them: and they shall fear and tremble for all the goodness and for all the prosperity that I procure unto it" (Jer. 33:7-9), and say, "Come, and let us go to the mountain of the Lord, and to the house of the God of Jacob; and he will teach us of His ways, and we will walk in his paths" (Micah 4:2-4).

Israel! "Arise, shine; for thy light is come." Awaken to your identity, put on your garments of glory and beauty, be clothed with the word of God! And "the Lord shall arise upon thee, and his glory shall be seen upon thee. And the Gentiles shall come to thy light, and kings to the brightness of thy rising" (Isa. 60:1-3).

Father, Son Honored at Presentation

TWEED — A father and son both veteran employees of the Nichols Chemical Company, at Solphilco, were honoured at a presentation dinner at Hotel Tweedmuir recently.

Dave Cassibo began his employment with the company 35 years ago, while his son, Kenneth, has been on the staff for the past 20 years and received his 15-year service pin from F. E. Mayers. His father was presented with a walnut curio during the evening by H. G. Knapp.

Mr. Cassibo Sr., still in good health, plans to postpone his retirement until the end of this year. At present there are four members of his family associated with Nichols, including sons Kenneth, Gordon and Garnet.

The testimonial dinner was attended by company supervisors and the wives of the honored guests.

The Nichols Company has had the privilege of honoring nearly a dozen of its older staff members within the past three years, many of whom have had from 40 to 50 years' service.

CRIME PROBE

started to testify, from New Democratic Party counsel Andrew Brewin, who suggested the minister was being "inexplicably uncooperative in not giving opposition party lawyers a chance to read his 'formi-dable' submission in advance.

But Mr. Justice Roach refused to grant an adjournment for Mr. Brewin and Liberal party counsel B. J. MacKinnon when they sought time to digest the forty volumes.

The commissioner said enough time already had been wasted—a reference to the last two weeks lost through Feeley's court moves.

Much of Mr. Yaremko's presentation now is history. It is dated March 30 "the day the commission started operations, and it deals heavily with the allegations of Mr. Winstermeyer, some of which were not too fresh, last November and many of which have been touched on in previous evidence.

The Liberal leader had stated that "beyond any reasonable doubt there has been and is a heavy trafficking in the charters of so-called clubs."

The secretary said Mr. Winstermeyer had presented no evidence to substantiate this. But he himself declared that early in 1960, after reports of such trafficking, the law had been tightened and five licences cancelled as a result.

The department felt this effectively stopped the practice and it was incorrect that it was going on in November, 1961.

JUDGE INTERRUPTS

When the minister said Mr. Winstermyer had submitted no evidence to justify his claim of "exploitation" by criminals through the club charter system, Mr. Justice Roach stepped in to state that there had been evidence that "certain persons" carried on unlawful activities, "hidden behind club charters."

In response to the commissioner's question as to whether he would deal with this evidence the provincial secretary, whose department has tight power over issuance of charters, said he had not had the opportunity of reading this evidence but would be pleased to comment if the commission lawyers would draw it to his attention.

"There are volumes of evidence," Mr. Justice Roach said. Much of it had dealt with gaming activities carried on at the Rexdale Club in Windsor, the Centre Road Club at Cooksville and the Frontier Club at Niagara Falls (all largely controlled by Feeley and partner Joseph McDermott.)

However, the commissioner added he was not saying this reflected adversely on the provincial secretary's department.

Mr. Yaremko said he could not understand Mr. Winstermeyer's use of the word "exploit," and he hoped the Liberal leader would explain.

"We'll see," the commissioner replied.

TAKES ISSUE

Mr. Winstermeyer had stated that in mid-1961 there were 36 clubs in Metropolitan Toronto suspected by the police of illegal gambling. If the inference was that the department had not dealt with 36 clubs about which it had complaints, it was completely incorrect.

Going through a list of the clubs supplied by Mr. Winstermeyer in his speech, Mr. Yaremko said that at mid-1961 cancellation proceedings were under way against nine of them. Later, the total was brought to 14. No complaints were received about eight.

Mr. Yaremko rejected Mr. Winstermeyer's suggestion that lists of chartered club members-ships should be scrutinized for what he described as "a pattern of interlocking memberships, directorships and associations a chartered clubs by professional gamblers."

The minister said it would involve an "intolerable requirement" on clubs and citizens, an unwarranted expenditure of public money and a "wholly questionable" departmental procedure. Present procedures had proven effective since out of 1,033 club incorporations since mid-1960, there had been reason to cancel only six.

when coupled with further inquiries among the delegations, make it clear that early impressions of the general acclaim after Mr. Macmillan and Mr. (Edward) Heath had put the British case on Monday, were overdrawn."

The Manchester Guardian says the prime ministers and presidents "hurled their verbal thunderbolts, but they did it with courtesy, precision and a marked lack of emotion or 'phoney' histrionics."

"What they had to say was the more telling, because of this."

Judge Orders 34 Mine-Mill Stewards Reinstated, Also Deferment of An Election

TORONTO (CP) — About 34 stewards suspended or demoted by the pro-tem executive of Local 598 of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.) were ordered reinstated Tuesday by Mr. Justice Neil Fraser of the Ontario Supreme Court.

Mr. Justice Fraser ruled this after he had deferred the local's executive elections, scheduled to start today. He ordered the men be re-instated as from July 25.

Former president Don Gillis and member Gerry Walton, who sought the election stay, had claimed the men were suspended or demoted by the then Taylor executive for "political reasons."

Gillis and Taylor are contesting the presidency.

Mr. Justice Fraser also ordered that a committee comprising Taylor and two of his supporters, Ben Hines and William Stewart, dentist from further investigations into an alleged payroll of the local's treasury under the Gillis regime until after the local's elections.

He ruled the elections not be held before Oct. 8 and that a date be set by the Ontario Labor Relations Board.

He said Gillis had his seat, which is contesting all 17 seats on the local, had not been given sufficient time to answer allegations concerning misappropriation of local funds while it was in power nor to declare its platform in the local's official organ.

Taylor and Walton claimed that this allegation and other actions by the Taylor executive created an atmosphere preventing a fair election.

Taylor, after hearing the decision, said in Sudbury that Gillis "must accept the court to circumvent the will of the membership."

He said all local business in the two months he has held office has been carried out with the consent of all parties and under the scrutiny of three monitors, as ordered in a July 23 court order.

Thirty-five trusts which were to have been used as ballot boxes by the local's 17,000 membership were pulled down soon after the decision was announced in Sudbury.

Mine-Mill officials said they had moved into Sudbury for the elections.

This is being fought before the Ontario Labor Relations Board. The board decides whether a recent certification vote won by Gillis was valid.

A ruling in favor of Steel means it would automatically get bargaining rights from the Mine-Mill for some 15,000 members of the local.

Billy Graham Critical of Sterilization

WASHINGTON (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham has joined the Roman Catholic Archbishop of Washington in condemning the voluntary sterilization program in Fauquier County, Va.

"We are in serious danger when we take on ourselves to sterilize women with their permission," Graham told a press conference Monday.

He said the program could establish a precedent that might be exploited by "another ideology."

Archbishop Patrick A. O'Boyle said Sunday the sterilization program is "grossly immoral."

Sterilization of medically indigent women in a three-county Va., clinic is generally limited to married women who have four or more children. But on some occasions unmarried mothers of several children have been sterilized.

The human Betterment Association, which promotes voluntary sterilization when other methods of birth control fail, said in New York that sterilization is necessary to Christian and Judaic doctrine generally.

The clinic, set up at Fauquier Hospital 50 miles west of here, offers free medical care to needy mothers, provides instruction in family planning and is a contraceptive methods of birth control.

RCAF Personnel Aboard Russian Planes to Cuba

OTTAWA (CP)—Russian aircraft flying to and from Cuba over Canadian territory are being supplied with RCAF personnel to expedite procedure and regulations, an RCAF spokesman said Thursday night.

The spokesman said this is a normal courtesy supplied to countries who do not have any air agreements with Canada under the International Civil Aviation Organization. Russia is one of these countries.

In cases where Russian aircraft fly via Britain, and Newfoundland to Cuba, the Russian-speaking RCAF personnel board the aircraft at Prestwick, Scotland. This is the final stop before the planes hit Canadian territory. The Canadians go all the way with the aircraft and return to Prestwick.

The spokesman said RCAF crews made one trip with a Russian plane in August and two in July. He said it was not known here what the aircraft carried.

Soblen's Brother Released From Prison Aug. 31

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Justice department disclosed Tuesday that Jack Soblen —whose testimony helped convict his brother, Dr. Robert A. Soblen, as a Red spy — was released from prison Aug. 31, four months and seven days before Soblen's death in London following an overdose of barbiturates.

Ordered expelled by the British government, Soblen took the drug shortly before he was to board a plane for the United States, where a life prison term awaited him.

Jack Soblen, who spells his name differently than his brother, was sentenced in '57 to seven years in prison after pleading guilty to conspiracy to obtain national defence secrets.

Nikita Seems Reluctant To Force Berlin Showdown

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although Soviet Premier Khrushchev refused to formally set a date Sept. 1 West tensions at a high level, he gave seems to be reluctant to force an early showdown on the future of West Berlin.

This point stands out sharply in the Kremlin Sunday warning to the United States "that any attack on Cuba is tantamount to unleashing a nuclear war.

Sandwiched in among the propaganda-packed paragraphs asserting strong Soviet support for the Castro regime was a reference to the Berlin situation that state officials here say underscores Khrushchev probably significant.

In this lengthy section the Soviet government said once again that the United States, Britain and France must sign a German occupation position in West Berlin.

This position will be spelled out, Russia declared emphatically.

Russia's statement then noted that U.S. congressional elections will be held in November and that U.S.-Soviet talks on Berlin recently came to a pause. With such elections coming up, the statement said, it is difficult for the United States "to conduct negotiations on a peace as a treaty" and the Soviet government "is forced to take this into consideration."

Thus, Khrushchev seemed to be backing and filling a shown down, using the argument that negotiations are difficult for the United States in an unsettled pre-election atmosphere.

However, Khrushchev left no connection between the cancellation of Soviet disarmament talks on Berlin. For one thing, no one expects the Kennedy administration's attitude to be any different after the elections from what it is now.

Moreover, preliminary discussions with Moscow ground to a halt when the Russians refused all efforts by State Secretary Dean Rusk to turn the talks to specific issues.

Long-Sought Woman Held on Doodler's Tip

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The long-sought Mrs. Iva Maria Kroeger, arrested on a doodler's tip to the FBI, declared Thursday she was innocent of murdering an elderly couple and burying them under a concrete slab in the basement of her San Francisco home.

"I'll tell you that I didn't do it," she told reporters in her county jail cell.

The 44-year-old grandmother was arrested Monday night in an east San Diego apartment where she had been living since Saturday under an assumed name.

Her husband, Ralph, 61, jointly charged with murdering Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Bonbon, then notified the FBI and the arrest followed.

The Arneson couple's bodies were found under her San Francisco home.

PONDER PARK PROJECT — Above may be seen a number of service club representatives as they give close examination to the detailed plans presented by the Parks Board at a meeting held recently in Zwicker's Island as a community park. The plans were viewed on the site where those present were able to see the results of much work which has gone into beautifying the location over the past summer.

Prime Minister Cuts Ribbon To Open Bureau

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker Tuesday night snipped the ceremonial ribbon across a mural relief map of Canada to declare the Canadian government's London Travel Bureau officially open.

Diefenbaker said the bureau, situated opposite Canada House near Trafalgar Square, was to an area of London he remembered well from his first visit in 1916—"days when this city was a fortress of freedom."

"May this place in the years to come be an office where many in the United Kingdom can find and learn there is a welcome for them in Canada," he said.

GREETS PM

Earlier the prime minister and Mrs. Diefenbaker were piped into the new bureau by the pipe and drums section of the Canadian Black Watch band. They were greeted by Walter Dinsdale, minister for northern affairs.

Introducing Diefenbaker, George's director in Canada's high commissioner in London, said only one out of every 714 visitors to Canada are Britons. He hoped the new bureau would improve this state of affairs.

The bureau has been operating since June 8. During the summer it has handled 2,500 travel inquiries and distributed 30 tons of travel literature.

Little Manitou Lake Near Watrous, Sask., Becomes Mecca for Shrimp Fishing

WATROUS, Sask. (CP) — A shrimp-boat fleet of two boats has been bobbing across the salty waters of Little Manitou Lake here this summer harvesting the material for a new Prairie industry.

Hundreds of miles inland, the 13-mile-long lake and this east central Saskatchewan town are the scene of brine shrimp fishing and packaging operations.

The 44-year-old grandmother was arrested Monday night in an east San Diego apartment where she had been living since Saturday under an assumed name.

Her husband, Ralph, 61, jointly charged with murdering Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Bonbon, then notified the FBI and the arrest followed.

The Arneson couple's bodies were found under her San Francisco home.

Parks Board Requests Help From City's Service Clubs In Zwick's Is. Development

The weekly meeting of the Kiwanis Club yesterday afternoon at the Kiwanis Centre was attended by many representatives of the top service clubs of the community. The occasion was a special one on which the local Parks Board introduced its Zwick's Island Park development program to the organizations present and requested their assistance in realizing its goals.

Following a substantial repast the representatives of the Lions Club, the Kinsmen's Club, the Shrine Club, the Rotary Club, the Y's Men's Club and the Sales and Ad Club, together with the Kiwanians present, were transported to Zwick's Island by bus.

Once on the site, the salient features of the program's first stage, which is expected to cost $35,000 were explained and the prospective sites of such appurtenances as a canteen, washrooms, bathhouses, beach, barbecue pits, boat ramps and docking facilities were pointed out.

Parks Board chairman William Hurst explained that the board hoped each club would take some part of the program as a club project. Also, the board co-ordinating such activities and supplying services such as water and hydro.

Detailed plans of the various building and conveniences were displayed and a discussion period was held during which Mr. Hurst answered any questions which the various service club people asked.

WILL SAIL SOON

It is the intention of the Parks Board to create a first class park on Zwicker's Island in order to provide the citizens of Belleville with a proper and pleasant place for relaxation, he advised. Eventually the roadway which allows vehicle traffic to travel around the park's periphery will be closed and parking facilities for close to 1,000 cars will be provided at the entrance. The park will then be open only to pedestrian traffic.

The installation of a sand beach is not expected to provide summer long bathing conditions due to the natural conditions which affect the Bay of Quinte, Mr. Hurst advised. After July 15th, however, (the date on which ideal swimming conditions can be expected to terminate) the beach facilities would still be used as a playarea until such time as the current sewage disposal plants on the Bay of Quinte are in operation and the water begins to clear up, he said.

Witness Says Accused Had An Argument

BRANTFORD (CP) — The Crown called nine witnesses Tuesday in the second day of the trial of Paul Hendrick Maracle, 23, of Buffalo, N.Y., charged with non-capital murder in connection with the Jan. 25-killing of his cousin, Floyd Roger Hill, 22, also of Buffalo.

The killing took place at the nearby Six Nations Indian reservation after Maracle, Hill and another cousin, Sherman Thomas, 27, of Buffalo, had spent the evening together in the area.

Maracle pleaded not guilty.

Defence Counsel Lawrence T. Pennell, stating the case before Mr. Justice D. C. Wells, attempted to show that the victim was argumentative and a fighter when under the influence of alcohol.

Thomas, one of the nine witnesses called, was the driver of a car which took the three from the reserve Jan. 20. Also in the car were Thomas's father, Edward, and his girl friend Ruby Hill.

PURCHASED BEER

Thomas said the stabbing occurred after the trio had consumed several glasses of beer in Brantford and Hagersville, Ont., hotels and had purchased more from a bootlegger on the way back to the reserve. He said Hill and Maracle had an argument outside the parked car over what should be done with the unconsumed beer that was in the automobile.

Thomas said he dragged Maracle from the car and a fight followed.

Police arrested Maracle about half a mile from the scene, where they found a knife with a six-inch blade imbedded in a nearby fence post.

The case continues.

Camera Sales Company Fined For False Prices

TORONTO (CP)—A Toronto camera sales company was fined $350 Tuesday under the Consumer Protection Act for false list price quotations in a newspaper advertisement last December.

Ultra Opti Kon Limited pleaded guilty to charges that it advertised that a home movie camera selling for $106.77 had a regular list price of $1087, and a second camera selling for $87.75 had a regular list of $130.

Distributors testified before Magistrate T. S. Elmore that the cameras were first offered for two cameras were $148.65 and $127.75 respectively.

Howard Garfield, counsel for the defence, said despite the misquotation the public still got a good bargain and suggested that it was just a business technique.

Two charges involving Canadian Tire Corporation Limited, which sponsored the advertisement, were withdrawn at the request of the Crown.

Ultra Opti-Kon leases space in Canadian Tire stores.

INDONESIA GETS ROCKETS

United Church Men, Women Meet to Elect Moderator, Make Study of Divorce

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — The men and women who legislate for the United Church of Canada assembled here today to tackle a 700-page program of plans and proposals ranging from election of a leader to a study of divorce.

The 20th general council of the church gathers 200 commissioners—half clergy, half lay members—from the 11 regional conferences across Canada and in Bermuda as well as from the missions in Angola, Northern Rhodesia, India, Hong Kong, Korea, Japan and Trinidad.

Theme messages, guest speakers and many of the reports and resolutions will stress the keynote of the conference—"renewal of the church."

The idea of rejuvenation in Canada's largest Protestant church—3,664,008 adherents at the 1961 Dominion census—threads through a heavy schedule of reports to be presented during the 10-day assembly. The reports amount to a re-examination of the church's mission.

STUDY SOCIAL TRENDS

Special commissions will offer the results of research into disruptive trends in society, precisely, including a 60,000-word report on marriage and divorce and a study of problems faced by when married women go out to work. Basic decisions will be reviewed by another committee.

Reorganization proposals include an idea to establish a pool of fund-raising campaigns to spare the church present costs for co-ordination of work by laymen—a step already taken by the women's groups. The Woman's Association and the Woman's Missionary Society merged at the beginning of the year as the United Church Women.

Reports call for fresh approaches to growing problems, such as secularization in the cities and economic and social troubles in rural areas.

In some fields, committee and board members stress that renewal can mean the revival of fashions pushed aside in the shuffle of swift change in the world.

STRESS EVANGELISM

One of more than 60 recommendations from the grass roots of the church calls for renewed emphasis on evangelism in the style of Charles Wesley, rather than a programme of preaching to people who are already evangelized. Another report calls for a farm to Christian observance of the Lord's Day.

A churchman seen by many members as the personification of this theme of renewal—talking to the world in its own language without compromising established values—is the leading candidate for the post of moderatorm.

Dr. James R. Mutchmore, pleasing opponent of bigotry vice during 20 years as secretary of the board of evangelism and social service, has the backing of five of the 11 conferences to replace Rt. Rev. Hugh A. McLeod as leader of the church.

Council will choose tonight from among the five candidates, who include Dr. Ernest M. Howse of Toronto, C. P. MacLeod of Calgary, Dr. Norman A. Mackinnon of Hamilton and Dr. George W. Goth, minister of the host Metropolitan Church here.

Commonwealth Putting Up Resistance to British Entry

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Britain is poised at midfield on her drive into Europe, but the Commonwealth family's right defensive formation forebodes a desperate goalline stand.

Pointed speeches by Canada, Pakistan, New Zealand, Australia and India, followed in rapid succession on the second day of the conference of prime ministers, suggest that British Premier Macmillan's task will be as ever to see her cross the channel.

All are speaking circumspectly. The tone is milder but the case remains substantially the same.

In reminding the United Kingdom of lukewarm statements about the European connection made three years ago by British ministers, Prime Minister Diefenbaker of Canada has used a technique as enthusiastic as any of the overright criticisms expressed by Canadian spokesmen at the Commonwealth trade talks being in Ghana a year ago.

KEEPS PLANS SECRET

Whitehall is unlikely to display much enthusiasm over Diefenbaker's vague reference about "alternatives" to British membership in the European Economic Community. It understood the prime minister plans to keep these alternatives in a pigeonhole unless his Commonwealth colleagues insist that he produce them.

He keeps waving these alternative plans in the background, but he hasn't unfolded one yet, he's had plenty of time."

At meetings with reporters, Diefenbaker has declined to give the slightest clue to any concrete proposals he has in mind. He understood he may hold them in reserve for discussion at the Canadian Parliament after his return.

Before the Marlborough House talks opened, there was speculation in some sophisticated circles in London that conference off as a sham fight. But Commonwealth observers say will make any difference.

GETTING OWN MEDICINE

Much of the opposition to British entry has come from Canada, Australia and New Zealand. But while these dominions whose fully independent status within the Commonwealth was given legal recognition by the Statute of Westminster in 1931.

Some observers comment tartly on the irony of a situation in which countries that endorsed in 1931 the liberty of action now appear to be deeply upset when Britain, the founder of their freedom, seeks a little independence for herself.

"You could say the Statute of Westminster is coming back to clobber us," said one Commonwealth source.

Machine Ready To Run Election After October 1

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's electoral machinery will be ready after Oct. 1 to run off another federal election in the minimum possible time, Chief Electoral Officer Nelson Castonguay will start work with to ship some 150 tons of supplies and equipment to every part of the country in the last stage of the office's preparedness program. These supplies are necessary to launch an election, and the material for enumeration of voters.

Oct. 1 has been set as the target date for completion of the shipment.

The first phase of election preparation was the revision by returning officers of the polling division arrangements for the 263 federal constituencies, which will be virtually completed by the end of January. A general order for this revision went out in early July, less than a month after the June 18 general election.

These are normal preparations by the chief electoral officer, who needs a minimum of eight months' notice of general election.

They are particularly important this year in view of the present political situation. Parliament is expected to face an early election could result from defeat of the minority administrative government by the combined opposition forces on a confidence motion, if the opposition were so disposed.

IT WAS EASY

LONDON (Reuters) — Soviet cosmonaut Pavel Popovich photographed himself in space by using a mirror to avoid weightlessness, the Soviet news agency Tass reported today. Posing a film camera at himself, he switched it on and gently pushed it from the mirror of his spaceship. The camera floated away, taking the photograph which clearly showed Popovich's face and a pen floating in air.

Welsh Steel Mill Clerk Sees World Aboard Scooter

MONTREAL (CP)—About 3½ years ago a young Welsh steel mill clerk decided he needed a change. He climbed aboard his motor scooter and put-putted 30 per cent of the way around the world.

Clive Lewis of Barry, Wales, started out with $180 in cash and a passenger on the rear seat and made it as far as Paris where the partner decided to end his part of the tour.

The journey now was solo for Lewis and took him through such exotic spots as Afghanistan and Pakistan which he thought had nothing to compare with Wales.

His travels also took him from New York to Seattle and from Vancouver to Montreal, but these too, he said, were nothing like Barry, Wales.

Most of his trek eastward from British Columbia was via the Trans-Canada Highway which impressed him.

From Montreal, his plans were to see Quebec, then Boston, and then take a steamer heading in the general direction of Wales.

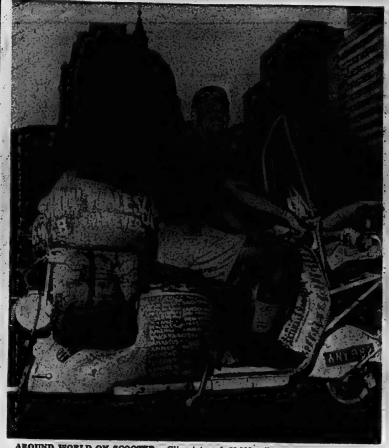
STILL HAS MONEY

"Well," he told reporters in Montreal, "I did see how the other half lives but I want to grasp the real meaning of life.

"I hope to bring the past 2½ years together and sort it all out."

He supplemented his original $180 by working whenever possible and expects to arrive back in Wales with some change.

He estimates that his scooter averages 85 miles to the gallon and he has replaced only two tires over the 60,000-mile trip.



Life on the road meant sleeping in a tent or "anything else available that has a roof on it," and weather permitting, it was a case of a sleeping bag under the stars.

Lewis cooked his own meals until he discovered the North American institution of the super-market which he described as "wonderful."

Turned away on his heavily-laden scooter is a letter from the Welsh travel authorities bringing greetings from that country.

"Cyfarchion o Gymru a chob bendith arnoch," he read.

That means 'Greetings from Wales and every blessing be upon you.'"

Hawks Look Good Says Rudy

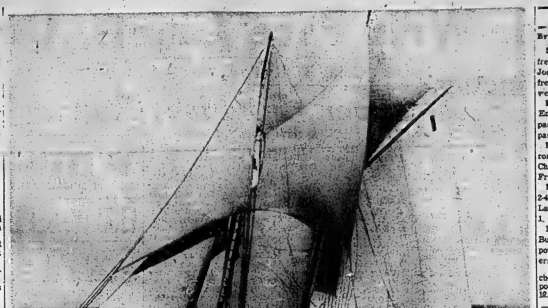
ST. CATHARINES (CP)—All-star centre Stan Mikita took up Tuesday where he left off last season, scoring three goals in the first training camp scrimmage by Chicago Black Hawks of the National Hockey League.

Mikita's hat trick led the Blacks to a 7-4 decision over the Reds.

Obviously satisfied with the scrimmage, Hawks coach Rudy Pilous described it as "a good workout." He said he was particularly impressed with the rookies in camp.

"Everything I ask, they do," said Pilous.

Boomer Signs For $20,000



MONTREAL (CP) — Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion signed his 1962-63 National Hockey League contract with Montreal Canadiens Tuesday and the terms were believed to call for the same salary, reported $20,000.

Last season, his goal-production fell to 23 from a record-equaling 50 in 1960-61.

"I am very very satisfied," Geoffrion said after leaving the office of Montreal's managing director Frank Selke, Sr.

BECOMES PRESIDENT

Second Bluenose Will Be Built and Brewery Firm Will Pick up the Cost

By ED WALTERS

HALIFAX (CP) — The blueprints have been unrolled from a dusty drawer, the carpenters in the old seafaring town of Lunenburg, N.S., are ready to work, and Capt. Angus Walters is about to see a dream come true.

A Halifax brewery plans to finance construction of a replica of the racing-fishing schooner Bluenose which sailed to four North Atlantic fishermen's championships in the 1920s.

Launched from Smith and Rhuland's Lunenburg shipyard in March, 1921, the 142 - foot Bluenose was commanded by Capt. Walters until she was sold to the West Indies Trading Company in 1942. Her topmasts were taken down and she, stone installed. She carried cargo around the Caribbean until she struck a coral reef off Haiti one dark night in 1946 and went to the bottom.

ENCOURAGED BY BOUNTY

Capt. Walters, now 81, has carried on a relentless campaign either to have the old Bluenose salvaged or another built from the same plans.

Since 1960 he has been head of a committee dedicated—to building Bluenose II.

When Metro - Goldwyn - Mayer in 1959 commissioned Smith and Rhuland to reproduce HMS Bounty of mutiny fame for its film, Capt. Walters and the men who later formed the committee felt a surge of hope.

Bounty was a full-rigged ship, both her square rig and hull designed along more ancient and difficult lines than the Bluenose. If the Bounty could be reproduced, why ..not the Bluenose?

It wasn't the technicalities of building or rigging that blocked plans for a new Bluenose, however. It was lack of money.

Then a few weeks ago the brewing firm of Oland and Son solved this by offering to foot the bill, with the provision that it would be used to promote the company's products.

President Victor Oland said the new Bluenose will not be raced but will be exhibited throughout the Maritimes to promote the area's seafaring heritage.

READY BY SPRING

Her keel will be laid this fall and she is expected to be ready for launching next spring. Smith and Rhuland will build her and the man who designed the first Bluenose will supply the original plans.

W. J. Roue, 83, of neighboring Dartmouth, a naval architect who taught himself the exacting craft of ship designing, is still actively engaged in the business. He estimates the new Bluenose could be built for as little as $50,000 but will probably cost a lot more.

If the shipwrights follow his plans exactly, he says, they can reproduce the Bluenose down to the last detail.

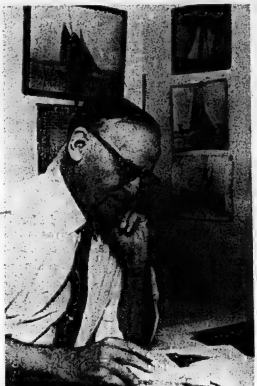
Mr. Roue told how the original 154-ton Bluenose came to be built. The schooners out of Lunenburg and Gloucester, Mass., held races every year after the summer fishing season on the Grand Banks. Every year the Americans won.

A group of Lunenburg men, including Capt. Walters, decided to build a vessel that would beat the Americans. They asked Mr. Roue to draw the plans.

WANTED PERFECT BOW

Mr. Roue worked by the primary theory in ship designing that if the bow is perfectly formed the displaced water coming from underneath will push the ship ahead endlessly.

Although he admits the impossibility of building a ship powered by her underwater shape alone, this theory is responsible for whether a ship sails well.



When the Bluenose was ready for launching the general feeling around Lunenburg was that she wouldn't be particularly fast. Grand Banks skippers said she didn't have the right shape.

Bluenose proved them wrong. She was beaten in only two races, one because of a technicality.

The Bluenose, commemorated on the back of the Canadian dime, carried eight sails with an area of about 9,000 square feet when fully rigged. The greatest pulling power was in the mainsail and foresail. Rigged to her two topmasts were the fore and main gaff topsails and the main topmast staysail. She carried three headsails, the bore-staysail, or jumbo, jib and flying jib.

PRESIDENT ARRIVES

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—President Kennedy arrived Tuesday night for his first visit to the United States new training base for astronauts. He is on a tour of space facilities.

BLUENOSE DESIGNER—W. J. Roue, 83 of Dartmouth, N.S., the man who drew the plans for the original racing-fishing schooner Bluenose, has agreed to supply the same plans for a replica of the 142-foot vessel to be built this winter. Mr. Roue, studying a book on ship design, is still actively engaged in his work. (CP Photo).

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

Australia's trim "Gretel" and the American "Weatherly," two of the sleekest yacht queens in the world, will start racing for the famous America's Cup off Newport, R.I., on September 15th.

The race began back in 1851 when the United States won it "over 'ome" and since that time the Americans have clung to the trophy. It has seen 18 competitions.

Canada challenged for the ancient pewterware on two occasions. Back in 1876 the Royal Canadian Yacht Club of Toronto sent its "Countess of Dufferin" to battle the Yanks. She was badly beaten.

That was back in 1881. Flying the burgee of the Bay of Quinte Yacht Club and the Union Jack was a gaff-rigged sloop called the "Atlanta."

Unlike the "Gretel" and the "Weatherly" the Canadian sloop carried no aluminum masts, mahogany planking, cedar decks, fiberglass finishes nor glued laminations.

She was made of sturdy Hastings county timber. She was 70 feet long and her construction not completed when she sailed for New York for the big adventure.

The "Atlanta", crewed by Belleville yachtsmen, met and was defeated by the American defender "Mischief," a 87-foot sloop. Later the "Atlanta" sailed to Chicago where she won the North American "fresh water" yachting championship.

"She was loaded with sail," Maurice Callaghan, veteran sailor and erudite yachtsmen of the Belleville waterfront told me. "She carried a staysail, topsail, flying jib and a spinnaker. She was sturdy and well-built."

In her "innards" was a ballast of iron ore. She sailed from here to New York via the Erie Canal. She had to shift ballast and was tipped heavily to one side in order to get her through the locks.

She was built by Alexander Cuthbert, well known boatbuilder of the Bay of Quinte district at that time. She was crewed by William Haslett, Henry Covert, Joe Lambert, Edward Catton and William Rogers.

The "Atlanta" was "Hastings County-built from stem to gudgeon." Her timbers were floated down the Moira.

While "Atlanta" did not win the America's Cup she was instrumental in the changing of an important rule. After her defeat the Americans apparently wanted no more part of upstart fresh-water craft sailing in from everywhere to challenge with little chance of success.

The old-timers say that only a club having an ocean water regatta course could challenge with a vessel that must arrive under sail on her own bottom.

Defeated, but not disgraced, the "Atlanta" looked westerly for nautical honors. She sailed for Chicago in 1883, taking three weeks to make the trip.

She entered the race for the Fiber Cup and $500 and the freshwater championship of North America. Other contestants were "Ileen" of Toronto, "Cora" of Chicago, and the "Wasp" of Chicago.

She ran into misfortune. While in the lead her spinnaker boom broke and "Cora" won the race. "Atlanta's" skipper challenged "Cora" to a match race and beat her by sixteen minutes over the same course.

She returned to Belleville with the cup and the championship and some time later lost her trophy and title to the "Nora" of Belleville... The boats battled again and "Atlanta" retrieved her honors.

Sanford, Wills Pace Giants, Dodgers

Maury Pinches Another Bag

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Lithe Maury Wills of Los Angeles and Tommy Jack Sanford of San Francisco, two guys who rely on speed, have kept the first-place Dodgers and runner-up Giants only a half-game apart in the National League pennant chase while pursuing half-century-old records.

Wills, the fleet Dodger shortstop, stole his 90th base, scored one run and drove in another with his 15th hit in 20 at-bats while Stan Williams and Ron Perranoski combined for a three-hitter in a 3-1 victory over Chicago Cubs Tuesday night.

Sanford, the fastballing Giant pitcher, fired San Francisco to its seventh straight triumph, scattering eight hits in a 2-0 decision over Pittsburgh Pirates for his 22nd victory of the season—and his 10th in succession since he lost on June 13.

Trying to eclipse Ty Cobb's record of 96 stolen bases for Detroit Tigers in 1915, Wills pilfered No. 90 in the first inning against the Cubs and became only the second player in major league history to pass the 90-mark. He now has 16 games in which he surpasses Cobb's feat.

ON HITTING STREAK

Wills, who has hit safely in his last 18 games while pulling his batting average up to an even .300, has stolen 14 bases in the last six games and 30 in the last 25. Cobb set his record on a 156-game program. The Dodgers have played 146.

Sanford, meanwhile, is chasing the record of 19 straight victories set exactly 50 years ago by Rube Marquard of New York Giants. With 17 games left, Sanford figures to get four more starts.

The third-place Cincinnati Reds remained 5½ games behind with 23 games to play by beating St. Louis Cardinals 6-2. Other teams were not scheduled.

The Dodgers got off to a 3-0 lead in the first inning against Bob Buhl (10-13) when Wills opened with a single, stole second and eventually scored on an error. Tommy Davis' sacrifice fly drove in the second run of the inning. Wills made it 3-0 in the fourth with a run-scoring single. Williams (13-11) went into the ninth with a three-hit shutout, but a pair of throwing errors by Wills brought on relief specialist Ron Perranoski. George Altman's sacrifice fly got the Chicago run across.

200th HIT FOR DAVIS

Davis, who went 2-for-3, became the first in the majors to reach the 200-hit mark and moved back into the league batting lead with a .341 average —two points more than Cincinnati's Frank Robinson.

While Sanford extended his streak, Felipe Alou turned up as the batting star for the Giants but failed in a bid to tie the NL record of 10 consecutive hits. Alou was stopped at nine, although he singled and scored in the third inning before hitting his 5th homer in the sixth. Alou had grounded out in the first inning against Pirate starter Tom Sisti (4-4).

Bob Purkey (21-5) won it for the Reds with a three-hitter, giving up home runs to Stan Musial and Ken Boyer before holding the Cardinals hitless after the fourth inning. Don Blasingame snapped a 2-2 tie with a single in the fifth and Eddie Kasko wrapped it up with a three-run homer off Bob Gibson (15-12) in the ninth.

Defeat Flyers 5-3

Joyces One Up

By GARRY ALEXANDER
Staff Sportswriter

Joyce Real Estate used half a dozen RCAF errors to chalk up a 5-3 win over the Flyers at the Fairgrounds last night, taking a 2-1 lead in their best-of-seven series for the Belleville and District softball league crown.

It happens every year following the OSAA playdowns, the clubs were unable to come up with the same kind of ball that was played in the earlier games. Last night's affair, played before 65 fans in football weather, left much to be desired.

The fourth tilt will be played in Trenton Thursday night with the fifth back here Saturday. Both games are slated for eight o'clock.

The Flyers, out of action for three weeks, booted the ball all over the park in the early innings as Joyces moved in front 5-1 at the end of the fouth. RCAF got a pair back in the sixth but that was it.

Pat Maracle pitched the victory, allowing nine hits with four of them coming in the third inning when the Flyers plated their initial run. Maracle struck out 15 and issued one base-on-balls.

Mike Ratushniak toiled for the Trenton club, giving up six hits. He struck out one and did not walk a batter.

Two errors on leadoff batter Chuck Kingston got the losers off to a bad start in the first inning. Kingston scored later on the third error of the inning.

Joyces added a pair in the second on two more bobbles, a passed ball, a wild pitch, Plane's fielder's choice, Maracle's single and Kingston's ground out.

Taylor's hit to centre ignited a Flyer rally in the third after two were out. Drake, Alexander and Mitts all beat out infield hits to plate one run but Maracle fanned Mowatt to cut off the rally. Flyers loaded the bases in the next inning too on a missed third strike, a fielder's choice and the only walk of the game but Taylor said Drake went down swinging to leave the sacks full again.

Faulkner and Elliott hit singles and Jones' fly scored one for the winners in the third. An error on Kingston's fly ball completed the Joyce scoring in the fourth.

Umpires: Tom Hulme (P), "Shad" Ethier (1b) and Jim Tebworth (3b). Time: 1.24.

'Aint Going To Run'

'Over In Five Rounds'--Liston

By JOE MOOSHIL

CHICAGO (AP) — Sonny Liston is boxing's bad boy and nobody knows it better than the man who will meet Floyd Patterson for the world heavyweight championship in Comiskey Park Sept. 25.

"As things now stand, everybody thinks only bad of me," says Liston. "But when I win the championship, then people will see that there's good and bad in everyone."

Liston's comments were made in his Aurora Downs training camp Tuesday as he faced a group of 36 wayward boys who have come out of reform schools and are working for the Illinois Youth Commission's forestry division.

The youngsters attended Liston's workout and then were told by the challenger: "The only way you get ahead in life isn't a bad one. Let this be a lesson to you. When you get out, go straight."

The advice came from a man who, in spite of his brushes with the law, is training for the world's championship title.

TELLS HOW HE STARTED

The youngsters asked Liston how he made him decide to become a fighter.

"Well, it was where you are; we had recreation programs," he said. "And if a guy took part he didn't have to stay behind bars. So I fought to get out from behind the bars."

"Winning the title is as important to me as Martin Luther King's fight is for what he's fighting for," said the challenger in reference to rights for the American Negro.

Liston didn't attempt to hide any of the animosity he holds for Patterson. "He could have made his mind up to fight me long ago. But he kept waiting. Then he said he'd even fight me in the street. I'd say he should be the 'bad guy' for wanting to fight in the street."

Liston said the fight should be a crowd-pleaser because "of the style me and him carry. He ain't going to run from me and I ain't going to run from him. It'll be over in five rounds."

Liston said that once he wins the title anybody wanting "to come my way can have a fight."

"Patterson can have a return match the same night if he wants it, I'm going to change his mind about ever wanting to fight me again."

"What makes you think you can defeat Patterson," was another question.

Fire Dept. Enters Finals

The Fire Department qualified to meet the Belleville Utilities in the City Interdepartmental softball league finals last night by defeating the Public Works 9-3.

Tenth-Innings Homer

Yogi Clutch-Hits Yankees To Win

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

A decade or so ago, when Ralph Houk was a reserve catcher under Yogi Berra, Yogi's specialty was winning games for New York Yankees with vital hits.

Now, Houk is boss of the Yankees and Berra's a second-string catcher—but Yogi's still winning games with clutch hits.

He connected for one Tuesday night, a 10th-inning home run that carried the Yanks to an 8-7 victory over Detroit Tigers and inched them a bit further in front in the drive for their 27th American League pennant.

Berra came off the bench as a pinch batter in the eighth and delivered a run with a sacrifice fly as the Yankees scored three times for a 7-5 lead. The Tigers countered with two runs in their half of the inning and Berra, who stayed in the game as a replacement for first-stringer Elston Howard, got his next crack in the 10th.

He responded with a shot into Tiger Stadium's upper right field seats off rookie reliever Bob Humphreys — the 350th home run of his 17-season career.

ANGELS MOVE UP

By winning the cliff-banger, the Yankees moved four games ahead of Los Angeles Angels, who took second place away from Minnesota with a second straight shutout over the Twins, 9-0. In the only other American League game, Cleveland Indians blanked Washington Senators 5-0 behind Jim Perry's six-hit pitching.

The Yankees raced off to a 4-0 lead against Frank Lary but saw their advantage disappear quickly in the fourth when the Tigers ripped Jim Coates and Roland Sheldon for seven hits, the first six in succession.

Berra's fly, Tony Kubek's single and a ground-out chased in the three New York runs in the eighth, but again the Tigers roared back, knotting it when Dick McAuliffe homered and Chico Fernandez tripled in a run. Jim Bouton, the Yanks' sixth pitcher, held Detroit the rest of the way.

Kubek collected four hits, including a homer and triple, among the Yankees' 15 while Mickey Mantle and Bobby Richardson had three each.

TWINS THROTTLED

Right-handers Eli Grba and Don Lee combined for the Angels' shutout over Minnesota, which followed up Dean Chance's one-hitter of the night before. Grba limited the Twins to four singles over seven innings and Lee turned them back without a hit over the last two.

The Angels bagged Jim Piersall (16-13) for four runs in the first seven innings and poured across five more in a ninth inning spree against Jerry Arrigo and Ray Moore. Lee Thomas capped that burst with a three-run double, giving him four runs batted in for the day.

The Indians won their fourth in a row and dealt the Senators their fourth straight loss on Perry's tight pitching. Max Alvis, playing his first game in the majors, drove in the opening Cleveland run with his first big-league hit, a fourth-inning single against Claude Osteen. Woodie Held homered for the Indians in the seventh.

Veterans, Blake's Concern

Habs Open In Montreal

MONTREAL (CP)—Montreal Canadiens begin training today for the 1962-63 National Hockey League season with a roster of 40 summoned for the camp opening at Verdun Auditorium.

The club, which finished first last season and then was bounced out of the Stanley Cup playoffs by Chicago Black Hawks, has lost two men. Desjardacd to Chicago and forward Marcel Bonin has retired because of an injured back.

The flock of aspiring rookies includes many from the Eastern Professional Hockey League—especially from Hull-Ottawa Canadiens—and several from other pro leagues and a few juniors. Regardless of places open, coach Toe Blake's big concern may be with his veterans, some whom were absent for long stretches last season because of injuries.

Four goalies are on the camp roster but on the basis of last season's outstanding work by veterans Jacques Plante there appears to be no chance of anyone ousting him.

The others are Cesare Maniago, from Hull-Ottawa, Charlie Hodge, who was long No. 2 man and was with Quebec Aces of the American League last season, and Ernie Wakely, who played with three clubs in the EPHL last season.

Of the rookie defencemen the most likely to be successful appear to be Gary Bergman, with Cleveland of the American League last season, and Jacques Laperriere, who played brilliantly with the Junior Canadiens.

Wants More Production

Imlach Is Goal-Hungry

PETERBOROUGH (CP) — Frank Mahovlich should score at least 36 goals this season, coach Punch Imlach said Tuesday at the Toronto Maple Leafs' hockey training camp.

"He got 33 last season and should do better with his potential," Imlach said.

Several others in the lineup should score up to expectations in the 1962-63 National Hockey League campaign, Imlach added.

"He said 18 goals were not enough for Bob Pulford, nor was 13 a suitable output for Bobby Nevin. He though Dick Duff would have easily surpassed his 17-goal output if injuries had not hampered him. Ron Stewart was below production with eight and Eddie Shack should have done much better than his seven he scored, Imlach said.

"No forward should be in the National League if he can't score better than 10 a season."

The coach has sent two rookies back to Winnipeg and will be cutting more after an exhibition game Friday here between Leafs and Rochester Americans of the American League.

GENEVA (AP)—Ingemar Johansson plans to fly to the United States later this month to watch the Sonny Liston-Floyd Patterson title fight in Chicago Sept. 25.

Larks Hit Hard by Injuries

REGINA (CP)—Injuries have created problems for coach Perry Moss as his Montreal Alouettes prepare to tangle with Saskatchewan Roughriders in a Canadian Football League interlocking game here tonight.

The Montreal problems start at quarterback. Moss would like to rest Joe Francis, who twisted an ankle against British Columbia Lions in Montreal last Thursday.

However, the man he hoped would substitute for Francis, former Roughrider quarterback Dave Grosz, has the flu and may have to sit out tonight's battle.

The Als' rash of injuries, which Moss says is the worst since he joined the Eastern Conference club three years ago, has forced changes at several other positions.

Defensive end Don Paquette and corner linebacker Ron Brewer were left at home. Angelo Mosca was to take over for Paquette and Grosz was to replace Brewer. However, Grosz' flu bug has left things in the air.

A victory for the Riders would move them past Edmonton Eskimos and B.C. into a share of second place with Calgary Stampeders in the five - team Western Conference. An Alouette triumph would give them a share of second spot in the East with Hamilton Tiger-Cats.

Gretel Breaks Third Boom

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)—The Australian America's Cup challenger Gretel broke her boom Tuesday in test racing. It was the third broken boom for the Australian yacht since her arrival here in mid-July.

Skipper Jock Sturrock ordered the sloop towed back to the dock and the broken aluminum spar was replaced by a spare wooden boom. No one was injured.

Mass Swim Attack on Irish Sea

LONDON (CP — Toronto swimming coach Steve Mellors has been hired by the Northern Ireland Tourist Board to organize a mass marathon swim attack on the Irish sea next year.

Mellors, disappointed when his star swimmer Helge Jensen of Toronto succumbed to icy water and jellyfish last week during an attempt to swim from Donaghadee, Northern Ireland, to Portpatrick, Scotland, was cheerful when he spoke to a reporter here Tuesday.

"This gives Helge another chance," he said. "There's a £.5000 prize for conquering the sea now, and I think I've got the swim figured so Helge can make it the second time around."

Mellors said the big purse, plus free accommodation for professional swimmers, should attract a large field, particularly from Canada and the United States.

The swim will take place in June when the water is warmest.

Heads For Big Season

TORONTO (CP) — Fleet-footed George Dixon, the big running threat of Montreal Alouettes, could be heading for his best season since 1960 when he missed out on the Eastern Football Conference scoring championship by seven points.

The 25-year-old import from the University of Bridgeport in Connecticut has taken over the lead in this year's scoring race and is only six points behind his total outpost of last season.

Statistics compiled by The Canadian Press show the flashy Alouette's star out in front with seven touchdowns for 42 points. He scored three touchdowns as third . place Montreal edged British Columbia Lions 21-19 last Thursday in a Canadian Football League game.

Dixon is six points ahead of speedy halfback Ernie White of the EFC-leading Ottawa Rough Riders. White, who starred in the senior Ontario Rugby Football Union before joining the Riders last year, counted two touchdowns to run his total to six as Winnipeg Blue Bombers, the league-leaders in the Western Conference, defeated Ottawa 31-28 Friday.

Last week's leader, field goal and converi kicker Don Sutherin of Hamilton Tiger - Cats, dropped to third place. He has scored 31 points.

Dupas Bows To British Champion

LONDON (AP)—Brian Curvis, British Empire welterweight boxing champion, defeated Ralph Dupas of New Orleans Monday night when the American was disqualified for butting in sixth round. Dupas weighed 146½, Curvis 146¾.

Prior to the bout Dupas was fined $500 for breach of the contract which called for him to weigh 147 or less.

The disqualification came with only two seconds left in the sixth round.

The 25 - year - old Curvis stormed into the attack from the start before 12,000 fans at the indoor Wembley Stadium. He put Dupas down for a count of six with a right to the body in the first round.

Dupas hung on for the rest of the round—but never seemed to recover from that devastating punch.

"Just where is Hollywood, anyway?" he asked.

The question bothers many of the 3,000,000 tourists who annually seek the legendary glamor town.

Hollywood, they learn, is only the name of a Los Angeles postal zone. There are studios in the neighborhood, but they are making television films. Even most of the television film making is not being done in Hollywood, but in the area surrounding.

So the visitors take a bus tour—only to find that Disneyland isn't in Hollywood either. That's a separate tour in the other direction.

The compromise is the Hollywood-Beverly Hills tour. Its promoters promise that it will give a view of movie stars' homes.

He hasn't much luck.

SEE NO STARS

The bus rolls west on Wilshire Boulevard. The driver acquaints his passengers with the insurance companies' department stores and churches along the thoroughfare. There's not a movie star in sight.

"We're going to Beverly Hills," the driver tells the passengers. "It's a city entirely surrounded by Los Angeles. That's where most of the movie stars live."

That grey one is Jimmy Durante's house—he's at Lake Tahoe now," the bus driver explains. "That's where Jane Russell lived before he died, that other one to our right.

"The pink house on the corner—the one with all the foliage —used to be Dinah Shore's and George Montgomery's, until they were divorced. Nanette Fabray lives there now."

There isn't a movie star in sight. Row upon row of homes — Spanish style, Tudor manors, modern contraptions, stand well-kept and silent, as if their owners were victims of some strange disaster.

LAST OF VIKINGS LEAP INTO ACTION ON LOCAL SCREEN

The lusty Viking warriors leap to adventure on the screen of the Park Theatre Thursday, when the action-packed spectacle, "Last of the Vikings", starring Cameron Mitchell and Edmund Purdom, has its first Belleville and district showings.

Filmed in Eastmancolor and Dyallscope, this stirring saga tells the tale of a Viking Prince who swears to avenge his father's death at the hands of a usurper. Furious battles at sea and on land, and the climactic storming of a seemingly impregnable fortress are highlights of this exciting motion picture.

Second Feature

"PHANTOM PLANET" TELLS OF MAKING

Four Crown Productions "The Phantom Planet," science fiction thriller opening also Thursday at the Park Theatre, offers an exciting and scientifically authentic problem into the near future of what interplanetary travel might hold for earth people.

Starring Dean Fredericks, Coleen Gray, Tony Dexter, and introducing Dolores Faith, with Francis X. Bushman featured. The film was one year in preparation by Producer Fred Gebhardt, adapted from his own original story. William Marsh all directed.

The Tracks

TORONTO (CP) — Gay Pageant, a 5-to-1 choice on Tuesday at New York's Aqueduct, bounded past front-running Mussieg in the final furlong to win the featured Brighton Plate at six and a half furlongs.

Gay Pageant returned $12 even for a $2 straight ticket, covering the sprint distance in 1.19 3-5.

Outsider Bene Ducato won the fifth at 18 to 1 to set up a daily double return of $290.10 combined with Mrs. I. Weisdorf's Queen's Fury.

DEL MAR, Calif. (AP)—Roy Yaka piloted Slipped Disc to victory Tuesday in the $84,615 Del Mar Futurity with Dee Keeper getting the place and Y Flash the show in the field of 10 two-year-olds. The winner's time for the six furlongs was 1:09 45.

Y Flash had to come from far back but made a great run in the stretch and was beaten three lengths by the winner, owned by W. E. Reed. Eddie Burns, riding Y Flash, found himself blocked repeatedly in the early running.

Slipped Disc paid $5.40, $3.80 and $2.60. Dee Keeper $2.80 and $4.80 and Y Flash $2.60.

Suns Shade Wings

Leafs Defeat Crackers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

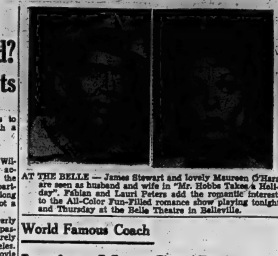
The International League semi-final playoffs shift to Atlanta and Rochester tonight and the two home clubs already have their backs to the walls.

Toronto Maple Leafs whipped Atlanta Crackers 7-3 and Jacksonville Suns went 16 innings for a 4-3 victory over Rochester Red Wings Tuesday night as each took a 2-0 lead in the best-of-seven series.

The next three games—two four-score and the third if needed—will be at Atlanta and Rochester, but there seems to be no stopping the Suns and Leafs, who finished 1-2 in the pennant race and are heavy favorites to meet in the final.

Toronto, which won 13 of its last 15 regular season games to finish only 2½ games behind Jacksonville, collected only eight hits to nine for Atlanta Tuesday night but four were home runs by Neil Chrisley, Denis Menke, Steve Demeter, Mack Jones, Jim Constable, despite a troublesome blister on his pitching hand that developed in the sixth inning, went the route for the victory.

The loser was Johnny Kucks, who was charged with six of seven Toronto runs in the 8 1-3 innings he pitched.



Jacksonville, winning its second straight extra-inning game, went hitless against Dave Vineyard, young Rochester fire-baller for 13 innings. Vic Davalillo broke the spell with a two-stroke single and later bonnered with two out in the 12th to make the score 3-3. Larry Brown finally broke it up in the 16th with a single off lefty Art Quirk that brought in Dan Morelon.

World Famous Coach

Legion May Get Dyson

By PAUL RIMSTEAD

TORONTO (CP) — Geoffrey Dyson of England, one of the world's most celebrated track coaches, may be employed on a full-time basis in Canada next year.

"He seems interested and we are definitely interested," Norman Shannon of Ottawa, the legion's public relations officer, said in an interview Tuesday night. "But it's a little premature. Nothing is definite. We won't know for a few weeks."

If Dyson doesn't accept the offer, the legion will hire someone else for the new job. Since 1956, the legion has been one of the biggest boosters of track and field in the country. Next year the program will be even more extensive.

Dyson conducted a clinic for Canadian track coaches at Guelph, Ont., Aug. 25 to Sept. 1 and was so impressive it prompted the legion offer.

He now works for the Milk Marketing Board of England and tours the British Isles lecturing on physical fitness and amateur sports. Dyson has taken many books on track and field.

He was chief national coach for the Amateur Athletic Association of England for years and coached four Olympic teams and four European championship teams for England. He left coaching in 1957.

SPONSOR CLINICS

The legion wants Dyson to set up a six-month organization which will sponsor track and field clinics throughout Canada.

"We visualize one national clinic and several regional clinics," said Shannon. "When coaching standards are what they should be, more concentration will be placed on the athletes themselves."

Shannon said the legion plans to concentrate on teaching coaches for at least two years. The organization's current program is extensive and cost $250,000 this year. There is activity right down to the community level, in every province.

The new program will be called the Royal Canadian Legion Sports Institute. Plans for national participation are expected to cost $50,000 alone. The legion started its work in track and field in 1956 and concentrated mainly on athletes. It dropped out when this year and started thinking about bettering coaching.

Franz Stampf of Australia, Don Canham of the University of Michigan, Dave Rankin of Purdue University, Wally Brown of the University of Toronto and John Disley of England were coaches who previously participated in the legion program.

But Dyson outshone them all this year. There were 173 Canadian coaches at the Guelph clinic and Shannon says not one complained.

New TV Season Kicked Off But Not Exactly Running

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—The 1962-63 television season was off, even though not exactly running, Tuesday night as CBS' Lloyd Bridges Show had its premiere.

Bridges has entertained us for the last couple of seasons as the intrepid skindiver of Seahunt. Each week he explored in some underwater bathing with assorted enemies, human and piscatorial.

Apparently his producers decided a thoroughly dry Lloyd Bridges would be too much of a shock for the fans. So now first caught him standing unprotected in a drenching rain in his new role of Adam Shepherd, "writer of set and fiction for newspapers and magazines, of short stories and novels."

Our hero was at the head of a mine where there had been a disaster, and everybody was talking about an unknown doctor who had gone down to administer to three trapped men.

A TWINKLY DISSOLVE

Then Adam climbed into the doc's car and found a letter. All of a sudden he started to disappear in some sort of a twinkly effect on the screen and then emerged as a young doctor returning to his father's Greek village.

The program's weekly device will be that twinkly dissolve, so that Bridges will always be playing dual roles—Adam and some other character—his fertile writer's imagination evokes every time he's confronted with a proper stimulus.

Tuesday night's story was all pretty confusing. Maybe the plots will improve in future instalments.

BARBER BACK

ASHEVILLE (AP) — Steve Barber, apparently recovered from a recent attack of mononucleosis, is expected to resume an active role with Baltimore Orioles later this week. The 23-year-old lefthander has been on the disabled list almost five weeks, but began working out with the team last week.

JOFRE WINS

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP)—Eder Jofre of Brazil knocked out Joe Medel of Mexico in 2:05 of the sixth round Tuesday night to successfully defend his world bantamweight championship. Jofre now is undefeated in 46 fights and has 39 knockouts to his credit.

Lakefield Family Collects Ancient Steam Engines

PETERSBOROUGH, Ont. (CP)—The Clarence Coons are a four steam-engine family.

Mr. Coons, a farmer at nearby Lakefield, got the fanning bug in 1945 and has been interested in the unusual hobby of collecting and restoring old steam engines a year ago.

Since he picked up his first relic of earlier days his two sons have each acquired their own engines and Mr. Coons has picked up his second.

Mr. Coons started by buying a 1905 Sawyer-Massey locomotive-type engine that stands 10 feet high and 18 feet long and eight feet wide.

The nine-ton machine hadn't run for more than 20 years, was rusty and practically falling apart. Mr. Coons, along with sons Clarence Jr. and Herb, spent three months cleaning it.

Then they got to new floor and removed cleats from the wheels. The cleats had been attached to help get the steam engine out of mud and snow but were taken off so that the engine could navigate on highways without cutting up the pavement.

After putting the engine in running order they gave it a three coats of black paint. Clarence Jr. was becoming disenchanted with the project before the three months of work on the engine still hadn't been in operation. But the day his father started it out of the barn looking like new the youth's interest was revived.

He acquired a 17-horsepower Sawyer-Massey of the same type as his dad's. And Herb followed by purchasing a 18-h.p. Nichols, not as big as the others but considerably older.

Clarence Sr. then bought an engine, bringing the family total to four, of which two are in running order. The two were on display at the Peterborough exhibition this summer while Clarence Jr. was at work on the job of putting his in operating condition.

The engines burn about a third of a cord of wood every three hours and use about 30 gallons of water an hour. Top speed is four miles an hour.

And steam engines are not the only family interest. Clarence is a fourth-year forestry student at the University of New Brunswick, has been a collector of old cars since he was 15 and often he seen with his girl in his 1934 Chevrolet sedan, his newest acquisition.

Ben Bella Wins Temporary Victory in Algiers But Situation Remains Fluid

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Fratricidal fighting in Algeria has ceased for the time being and Ahmed Ben Bella has won another temporary victory, but the situation is still fluid.

Observers generally feel that the present state of confusion, bordering in some cases on anarchy, may well continue indefinitely. Ben Bella is again in command but he may owe his triumph largely to Col. Houari Boumedienne, who may eventually demand political power in return for his military favors.

Col. Boumediénne, whom some regard as a cryptic, unpredictable figure in the Pidel Castro tradition, commands the armed forces involved in recent scattered fighting with troops of Wilaya 4. Wilaya is the term used to designate military divisions during the sovereignty war in Algeria.

Perhaps time will show that Ben Bella's main rival still is Belkacem Krim, a short, dark-haired man who by tremendously popular in the Kabylie region of Algeria. The Kabylies are a berber people and feet themselves different from, if not superior to, the other native populations.

PREDICT SUPPORT

Correspondents in Algeria predict that Krim will have the unwavering support of 2,000,000 Kabylies who are convinced that the Ben Bella government will discriminate against them.

Krim was one of the chief negotiators on the Algerian side of the Evian agreements and is fully versed in the realities of the Algerian situation. His earlier toughness has been tempered by time. Ben Bella, who spent most of the war in a French prison, may lack experience.

Another leader who could make a comeback is Ben Youssef Khider, Secretary-General. Ben Bella wrested power after independence. Ben Khedda has shown himself to be a moderate perhaps too moderate.

One reason for uncertainty resulting from independence is the fact that the young man of outstanding ability.

Algeria's top men were too busy fighting the ugly war to worry about ideologies. Certain of the Algerian leaders have victions, but the aftermath of war has produced not so much ideals as a rivalry of personalities.

LIKENED TO NASSER

As a personality, Ben Bella has been likened to Nasser and to Egypt's President Nasser. A magnetic, handsome man who has things with a flourish, he has been Algeria's "enfant chéri," or favored child, just as Nasser has been the darling of the Egyptian masses.

But just as Nasser is difficult to place as left wing or right wing in the usual Western terms, Ben Bella also is hard to classify. He is sentimental, pro-Islamic, and tending more left than right, but his socialism is more nationalist than ideological.

Algeria's economic situation will bower on the borderline for years to come. Unemployment is extremely high. There are shortages of all kinds, especially of trained specialists to replace the European Algerians who have fled to France. As in many other underdeveloped countries, American money is likely to be the main hope of staving off bankruptcy and chaos.

MACHINES APPROVED

TORONTO (CP)—The use of voting machines on a trial basis in six Toronto wards during the municipal elections on Dec. 3 was approved Monday by the city council. Board of Control has already approved the proposal made by Controller Philip G. Givens.

Excuse Me But There Is Baby on Roof

WESTKLIFF, England (AP) — Horton said the man at Wilfred Horton's front door, "but there's a baby on your roof."

"What!" gasped grandfather Horton, thinking of his grandson Andrew Rowbottom, whom he believed to be asleep upstairs in his bed.

"On the roof with yellow pajamas," said the man at the door. "I was passing in my car and he showed up in my headlights."

Horton called to his wife and their daughter Mrs. Phyllis Rowbottom, who were watching television.

Mrs. Rowbottom dashed upstairs.

There on the roof's edge—30 feet above the ground—sat two-year-old Andrew, smiling and dangling his bare feet.

Horton telephoned the fire department. Mrs. Rowbottom and her mother whipped a blanket off a bed and hurried outside, holding it beneath Andrew.

A hook and ladder company arrived. A fireman brought him down safely.

Guy Lombardo Moving Out of Hotel Roosevelt

NEW YORK (AP)—Guy Lombardo, the Canadian-born band leader who has played every winter season but one for the last 32 years at the Hotel Roosevelt, said Monday this phase of his career is over.

"The sweetest music this side of heaven"—too sweet for many fanciers of popular music but beloved by countless Roosevelt Grill Room patrons who like to bounce when they dance—will move with its creator to Florida.

Lombardo, a native of London, Ont., said his band will open New Years Eve at a night club in Tierra Verde, Fla., for which he is said to have a major interest.

Summer Musicians' Camp Most Unusual One in World

By JACQUES TREPANIER

MOUNT ORFORD, Que. (CP) Claus say, is the tourist accompanied by the strains of classical music while strolling through the woods of a provincial park.

The performers are unseen but they are there—each in the individual cabin assigned him for practising.

Classical music among the trees might surprise the tourist but it doesn't strike an eyebrow among the initiates at Les Jeunesses Musicales six - week summer camp.

The musical camp, now in its 12th season, lies nestled at the base of 2,750-foot Mount Orford in the tiny provincial park that bears its name.

'CAMP IS UNIQUE'

"This camp is unique in the world," says Parisian cellist Guy Fallot, a teacher at the camp. "Here, everything helps to further the pupil's work— from the natural surroundings to the organization of the study course."

The course is heavy and keeps student noses to the grindstone.

Up at 7 a.m. daily, they breakfast at eight and begin lessons or practice at nine. Dinner is at noon and students are free until 2 p.m., when work resumes until six.

Organized sports are held between seven and eight and the daily concert or lecture begins at 8:30.

Calvin Sieb, first violinist with the Montreal Symphony Orchestra, says there are "more concerts in six weeks at the camp than there are all year in Montreal."

Norbert Dufourcq, professor of musical history at the Paris Conservatory, was enthusiastic about the study program.

NO TIME WASTED

"It's marvellous here. There is no barrier between students and teachers. We are with them 18 hours a day.

"We can follow their progress from one year to another, and we realize that they will be among the world's great artists in another 15 years.

QUEBEC MUSICAL CAMP — International concert artists teach young Canadian musicians each summer at this musical camp in Mount Orford provincial park east of Montreal. The camp, in its 12th season, was founded by Les Jeunesses Musicales. Striking building in background is the camp's concert hall. In foreground are former Quebec government buildings now converted into classrooms and sleeping quarters. (CP Photo)

"The students come to us because they want to learn as much as possible in the few weeks the camp lasts. They won't let a minute be lost.

"We look on them as our children, and the best proof of that comes on the day we have to separate."

Paris pianist Viado Perlemuter, another teacher at the camp, says the six-week program gives the student an impetus that keeps him working hard all year.

Perlemuter treated his pupils to a Beethoven recital on the closing day of this summer's session before leaving for Spain and a series of concerts with the renowned cellist Pablo Casals.

Canadian students, he says, have "a spontaneity...you don't find among European students."

Gilles Lefebvre, founder and director of the camp, says he hopes eventually to boost the number of students to 150, but no higher.

STUDENTS LEARN MORE

"You can't increase the number indefinitely without losing quality. The teachers themselves can only handle a limited group without losing their intimate contact with the students."

The students are just as enthusiastic about the camp as their teachers.

Wilfrid Fournier, a 14-year-old from Prince Albert, Sask., who wants to be a concert violinist, says simply: "It's fantastic."

Marielle Kirouac of Levis, Que., says: "We learn more at the musical camp in six weeks than we do all year in the city."

Bunyon Webb, a professional guitarist of Fresno, Calif., came to camp to study under two well-known performers— Alexander Lagoya and Ida Presti.

Agnes Roberts, 21, a violinist with the Toronto Symphony, says the camp is "ideally organized for the study of music.

"We study harder here than at home. Because we are constantly surrounded by nature, the work is not so tiring."

Shirley Pether, another Torontonian, found her second year at camp "stimulating and encouraging."

Some Clubs Have Evaded Police Says Roach

Interjects Remark Into Brief by Minister

TORONTO (CP)—Some social clubs in Ontario have "evaded and frustrated" the police Mr. Justice W. D. Roach said Wednesday at his royal commission inquiry into crime.

The commissioner made the statement in an interjection in the testimony of Provincial Secretary John Yaremko, who was arguing there was "conclusive evidence" against Liberal Leader J. John Wintermeyer's claim that certain clubs had been able to conduct gambling with relative freedom for a long time.

Mr. Yaremko, whose department controls club charters, spent the whole of his second day in the witness box in an attempted point-by-point refutation of Mr. Wintermeyer's legislature speech of last May, in which led to appointment of the commission.

At the conclusion of his submission of a 75,000-word brief, it was announced he will be cross-examined later, and that R. J. Cudney, deputy provincial secretary, would be a witness today.

When Mr. Justice Roach challenged the minister, Mr. Yaremko was seeking to knock down the statement of the Liberal leader:

"Despite the declared policy of the government and the requirement of the law, these clubs have been able to operate with relative impunity for long periods of time."

"There is no evidence whatever to substantiate the accuracy of this statement," Mr. Yaremko read from his brief. Further, the provincial solicitor points that there is conclusive evidence to the contrary.

"No evidence where?" the commissioner inquired. "There is evidence before me."

Mr. Yaremko explained he was assuming Mr. Wintermeyer had been referring to 35 charters issued by the provincial police, a photo—mentioned in the speech.

Mr. Justice Roach said he was thinking of the evidence of the three noted operations of Joseph Bellmont and Vincent Feeley, frequently mentioned before the commission.

"Evidence, he said, "I have pages and pages of evidence before me." Notwithstanding the policy of the government, these clubs were able to operate for a long time."

Mr. Roach said at the moment he was not concerned with a specific number, but there was evidence before the committee that a number of social clubs, despite the policy of the government, had been able to operate for a long time, have evaded and frustrated the police.

'DOES NOT REFLECT'

"However," he added, "I see by the brief that despite the law or the policy of the government, I suppose that does not reflect on the police force."

But he could not agree with any statement that some clubs did not operate.

Mr. Yaremko repeated that he had been considering the

FORMER SIU OFFICIAL TELLS OF RIGGED VOTE

Damaging Evidence Given by Sheehan

TORONTO (CP) — Searing testimony of rigged elections, phoney committees, easy money and high-level skullduggery in the Seafarers International Union of Canada was presented Wednesday to the Norris shipping inquiry.

Former SIU patrolman Michael Sheehan spent five hours telling about his personal experiences in the SIU during the 11 years he served in the union hierarchy. He was to continue today.

Mr. Sheehan, one-time right-hand man of SIU president Hal C. Banks on the Montreal waterfront, now heads the rival Canadian Maritime Union, which is backed by the Canadian Labor Congress in its all-out struggle to destroy the SIU in Canada.

The Liverpool - born union leader testified under oath that Mr. Banks ruled the SIU with an iron hand, rigged elections, stuffed ballot boxes, fired dissident union officials, blacklisted seamen members who caused trouble, raised union dues and planned to build a high fence over of union members to add $250,000 a year to the SIU's treasury.

Mr. Sheehan was questioned by Maurice Wright, lawyer for the 1,070,000-member CLC and several affiliated unions, including the 600-member CMU, as Mr. Justice T. G. Norris continued his one-man investigation of waterfront union violence and lake shipping disruptions.

TO CROSS-MINE

The SIU will cross-examine Mr. Sheehan after he has completed his direct testimony.

Mr. Sheehan charged that Mr. Banks and T. H. McLagan of Canada Steamships Limited, major Canadian shipping company, are "very friendly" and communicate by telephone frequently.

"He (Banks) calls him by his first name, Rogie, so I guess he must know him."

The former SIU official said Mr. Banks told him during the 1957 strike that the desperate fleet of the Canadian National Steamships Company that he would never settle—even if a 50-per-cent pay raise was offered.

"We'll put those bastards out of business and we'll never sign," Mr. Sheehan quoted Mr. Banks as saying after a meeting with CNS officials.

He said Mr. Banks told him at the time that Canada Steamships was interested in entering the deep - sea business and wanted to buy three of the CNS ships.

SOLD SHIPS

The CN line eventually went out of business, but its ships were sold to Cuba, a deal still under court litigation.

Mr. Sheehan also testified that he was present with one other SIU official when Mr. Banks raised his own salary by $6,000 a year.

"He (Banks) said: 'Well, I'm going to make a motion that I raise my salary from $12,000 to $20,000.' So he stood up and he said: 'I second the motion.' He sat down and he said: 'I accept.'"

Mr. Sheehan suggested that

Woman Stabbed Suspect Jumps From 12th Floor

TORONTO (CP) — A 36-year-old women was stabbed to death early today and a construction worker jumped from the 12th floor of an uncompleted hotel-motel in what police say was a murder-suicide.

Police are Doreina Valendini and Antonio Grossi, 53.

Miss Valendini had been stabbed at least three times in the back. Her body was found on Harvie Avenue, near Helberly Road, a few blocks from her York Township home.

Grossi jumped from the top floor of the hotel-motel on Lakeshore Boulevard West, some three miles from the murder scene.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfredo Ciccolone, with whom Miss Valendini was living, told police the woman had been keeping company with Grossi but broke off the relationship at their insistence.

Police said Grossi walked up to the 12 floor to the top of the motel, overlooking Lake Ontario, and jumped from a balcony moments after his description had been broadcast on the police radio in connection with the death of Miss Valendini.

Miss Valendini left the Ciccolone home, headed for work, at 8 a.m. She was found dead only a few minutes later, lying on a cobblestone street in a pool of blood.

Dr. R. J. Mutchmor New Moderator of United Church

TORONTO (CP) — The United Church of Canada, took the general council chair today as the church's senior statesman.

Council Wednesday night elected the outspoken secretary of the church's boards of evangelism and social service as their new moderator on the first ballot. At the promoting of the three unsuccessful candidates, council made the election unanimous.

Rev. E. P. Johnston of Winnipeg remained council's nomination speech that Dr. Mutchmor — now the Rev. Dr. Mutchmor—gained the respect of Canadians although he often "exasperated" them when he took a stand "on contentious issues."

Canadian Stand on Talks Raises Storm at Home

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's stand at the London Commonwealth talks on British entry into the European Common Market has raised a political storm at home.

Liberal Leader Lester. B. Pearson and T. C. Douglas, New Democratic Party leader, both made sharply-worded statements in the House today attacking Prime Minister Diefenbaker's criticism of Britain's proposal to join six European nations in an economic and political association.

Mr. Pearson, opposition leader in Parliament where his Liberals hold 100 seats to the government's 118, referred to a "deplorable" split in the Canada and others at the prime ministers' conference which may block Britain's EEC move.

Mr. Douglas, who heads 18 socialist MPs and is seeking a Commons seat himself in an Oct. 25 by-election, called on Mr. Diefenbaker to make public immediately any alternative he may have to the British plan. He also said Mr. Diefenbaker "is fantastic" for Mr. Diefenbaker to raise the spectre of whether Canada would be as interested in participating in European defence if Britain joins EEM.

The two leaders' statements brought Liberals and New Democrats at least into partial alignment on the issue. And, Robert Thompson, leader of the 30-member Social Credit group in the House, also criticized Prime Minister Diefenbaker's stand.

In Calgary Wednesday, Mr. Thompson said he was disappointed Mr. Diefenbaker had not proposed a Commonwealth alternative to EEM.

He said a new look is needed at Commonwealth trade policies right from the first meeting of Commonwealth economic committee be given authority to hold a conference early next year.

"Britain has its back to the wall on this issue and we should have taken her lead with an alternative proposal. We in the Commonwealth have used Britain as a convenient ground for years."

He said the Commonwealth has both the markets and the raw materials which could help Britain prosper without becoming a Common Market member.

Justice Minister Fleming, acting prime minister, was asked for after a cabinet meeting for elaboration on Mr. Diefenbaker's reference to an alternative, and said "I believe I'll let him."

Trade Minister Hees said Mr. Diefenbaker will give details "when he feels it is time to do so."

Duffy joined The Sun in 1924, and remained with the newspaper until 1948. He won the Pulitzer Prize in 1930, 1933, and again in 1960.

DOUKHOBORS TO CONTINUE TRIP TO PRISON TOWN

Funds Running Low State Observers

GRAND FORKS, B.C. (CP)—British Columbia's marching Freedomite Doukhobors have renewed their vow to push on to the Fraser Valley and enter a prison at Agassiz.

Efforts Wednesday by the provincial government to force the Sons of Freedom back to their homes at Krestova apparently have been rejected by the Doukhobors.

Mrs. Fanny Storgoff, spokesman for the group, said her followers are "getting stronger and strong into Mountain Prison is considered terrorists now locked inside were not allowed.

"Nothing can stop us now," she said. "We are determined."

The march will be two weeks old Sunday. After covering the first 100 miles in three days, the Sons settled near here and have lived in the rough alone in a farmer's field. Observers say their funds are running low and that the group will soon be resources before driving to Agassiz, possibly Saturday.

The sect has blamed its financial state on a decision by welfare officials in Nelson to stop social assistance payments.

Government officials said the cheques were stopped because the Sons no longer have a permanent mailing address.

CASH WITHHELD

If they return home, the welfare department will issue food vouchers if a family has children in need, no cash. A spokesman said the ruling was made because it was felt the Freedomites may be making a wrong use of welfare payments.

"The government won't be any tougher than they are now," Mrs. Storgoff said in reply to the ultimatum. "We are taking it now."

A meeting was to be held here today for a decision on future movements.

Mrs. Storgoff made it clear there will be no more walking.

"We will load up some 50 people in a truck and drive them in a camping ground on the Trans-Canada highway near to Agassiz as we can. We will assemble before going on."

Agassiz is about 300 miles west of here.

Mrs. Storgoff's demand that the Fraser Valley prisoners be released is the latest in a bewildering new. The Sons previously said they wanted to be near the prison, to re-establish a settlement there.

SPECIAL TERMS

Those at Mountain prison—specially built for the Freedomites—have had long terms for violence in the Kootenay area.

The maximum security institution is surrounded by a double fence of high barbed wire.

Attorney - General Bonner said the Freedomites have to enter the prison "would certainly alter the character of their gathering."

"Up until now no suggestion of force has been used and there is a change in their attitude we'll be sure it will not be overlooked."

The village of Agassiz has already turned down a similar plan for re-establishment and Bonner said it is a specific policy aimed at preventing roughshod colonization.

How to Sink Slanted Oil Well Told From Sweatbox of Court

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Whipstock Bill James sat in the sweatbox of a courtroom and told in terms a layman could understand—how to sink a slanted oil well.

The frequent application of his skilled trade by drillers who know his trade has set off one of the new, great scandals in Texas.

It involves more people than the Billie Sol Estes affair. That is, drillers can steal his neighbor's oil.

Authorities say oil worth $10,000,000 a year is stolen this way.

The state says it has drawn more than 125 illegal oil drilled wells. Sixty-four were junked by the operators before crews could test them.

Whipstock Bill testified there may be as many as 200 to 250 crooked wells in the East Texas field alone.

Just how many he had drilled, he first said:

"Where I can't recall, I don't know."

Later he estimated 100.

Whipstock Bill said a driller can slant a hole and run it underneath a point three-quarters of a mile away and not miss his mark a dozen feet.

The driller gailed his name down a device called a whipstock.

As Bill described the whipstock, it is a steel wedge that is placed in the well, its top is slanted at a pre-determined angle.

When a drilling bit is rotated in the well, the whipstock nudges the bit a little to one side, slanting the hole.

Committee counsel David Wilts explained that Whipstock Bill merely did the jobs laid

Counter-Attack On Mart Critics Said In Making

British Cabinet Meets; Committee Work Starts

LONDON (CP) — Canadian wheat, New Zealand lamb and Australian dried fruit came up for discussion today as Commonwealth leaders reached the committee stage of their Britain-into-Europe conference.

With the first round of set speeches over, delegates are divided into groups for detailed study of temperate foodstuffs, Asian goods, tropical products and the implications of association by the European Economic Community for Asian nations.

External Affairs Minister Green represented Canada in the committee on temperate foods. Australia and New Zealand joined in the talks.

As the conference at Marlborough House entered its fourth day, there were rumblings of an imminent counter-attack by British ministers in reply to misgivings expressed by visiting Commonwealth statesmen about Britain's move into Europe.

CABINET MEETS

The British cabinet met today for the first time since Aug. 22 to discuss Commonwealth reaction. But Prime Minister Macmillan stayed away from the meeting.

Macmillan apparently absented himself from the cabinet session for two reasons:

1. He was anxious to continue a round of informal talks with Commonwealth statesmen before he sits down to reply in support of his Common Market plans.

2. He was anxious to avoid creating an impression of emergency by the midst of the summit conference of 16 Commonwealth countries.

"Our policy has taken a hammering," a senior British minister observed. "Sometimes it's the worst is over and the government will survive."

HEATH STAYS

Two other ministers intimately concerned with the market negotiations and the conference also stayed at Marlborough House. Edward Heath, chief negotiator with the Market nations, and Duncan Sandys, Commonwealth and colonial secretary.

The two met later in foreign office employee, George Blake, was given the longest sentence ever imposed under the act—42 years—for betraying British agents.

Strontium and Seaweed Lollipops Said Safeguard Against Fallout

BEXHILL, England (AP) — Dr. Michael Abel said Wednesday strontium — 87 lollipops to sick children.

He asserts they can combat radioactive fallout. The 44-year-old general practitioner thinks he has discovered a simple measure of protecting everybody in the world.

The basis of immunization in the lollipops, he says, is seaweed and chalk—a rock which is found near Chipping Sodbury in the Cotswold Hills. There, he says, Britain's leukemia rate is lowest.

David, the doctor's 14-year-old son, helps to make the lollipops, by mixing the powders with them at five and sixpence each," he says.

Ash reported he has been "feeding" his family iodine extracted from the seaweed and the powdered strontium.

"Now we have complete immunity to radioactive strontium and radioactive iodine," he said.

Ash's theory is that the effect of radioactive materials can be nullified by a heavy intake of the same minerals in natural form.

"The body can only accept a certain amount of these minerals," he said.

"Once the quota has been taken up by the natural minerals, no matter how large a quantity of radioactive versions the body was subjected to, it would be completely unaffected."

Ash said he added fluorine to the lollipops to protect his children's teeth.

He says he has produced a pill containing all the needed ingredients "which can be taken by everyone as advancing immunization against radioactive fallout."

Ash said that so far not much interest has been shown in his discovery in Britain.

The strontium lollipops are sweetened with sugar and different flavors.

Ash, who lives in Bexhill, once claimed that lung cancer is caused by radioactivity in tobacco.

Over 20,000 Are Eligible To Vote on Sale of Liquor

Over 20,000 persons will be eligible to vote in the September 20th liquor referendum to be held in Belleville, it was noted today by city clerk Adam Stalker, named returning officer for the vote.

The proclamation officially setting September 20th as the date for the vote was made yesterday by Mr. Stalker, who at the same time announced Don J. Barrett had been named as manager for the affirmative side, while Bram Humphreys was manager for the negative side.

The vote will determine whether Belleville residents are in favor of the sale of liquor under a lounge licence and also under a dining licence.

SO APPEARED

Wednesday evening Hastings county Judge J. C. Anderson held a court revision at the city hall for the purpose of adding names to the voters' list. Approximately 50 persons appeared before Judge Anderson to have their names added while about 150 had been enumerated by four enumerators who have been working this week.

The voters' list used at the June federal election has been used as the basis for the liquor plebiscite voters' list.

In most instances the polling places will be the same as were used in the federal election, although it is expected booths at churches or church halls will be changed.

Ballet Starts Rehearsals For Season

Official rehearsals for the National Ballet of Canada's 1962-63 season open in Toronto September 17th. The company opens its performances with a United States tour October 15th through Texas and the mid-western states. Eight dancers new to the company are joining this season.

David Adams, premier dancseur and a charter member of the company since its founding in 1951, returns after a year's leave of absence. Mr. Adams was a principal soloist with the London Festival Ballet, performing starring roles in Les Sylphides", "Schehera zade", "Serenade for Strings." This will be followed by Una Kai of the New York City Ballet, who also staged Mr. Balanchine's "Concerto Barocco" for the Canadian company last season.

Among the new dancers are Sara Thompson, one of the first full-fledged graduates of the National Ballet School. She has been with the school since its beginning in 1959 and received her Ontario Secondary School certificate last spring. Maiti Helena of Montreal, Marslyn Miles of Toronto and Barbara White of Winnipeg have been studying for a year or more at the school.

Francesca Meunier of New York, Rebecca Bryan of Dallas, Texas, and Lawrence of Buffalo are also new this season.

MORE DRIVERS

In one instance, he suggested Mr. Whittemeyer had been convicted on charges laid by the Niagara Frontier Club of Niagara Falls had changed its address without getting permission from the provincial secretary. No law had been contravened and, at last inquiry in mid-1961, the club was not operating as it had no premises.

The minister conceded on point of Mr. Whittemeyer's that the application refused at request of Toronto Metro police for cancellation of the charter of Toronto's Somerset Club on the grounds of suspected gambling. The club could not, by evidence for a court conviction, and there did not appear to be grounds to cancel the charter.

SOME CLUBS

clubs mentioned as being suspected in Metro Toronto, and he added that every complaint made by the police concerning these had led to action on cancellation of charters.

Early in 1960, he said, Police Chief James Mesley of Toronto had been asked by his department for specific complaints of clubs, and a number of the charters had been cancelled.

Mr. Yaremko testified that since 1960 and the time the commission was set up last Dec. 11, a provincial secretary had granted club licences in 37 cases where pre-issuance police reports had not been completely favorable." He said only one of these had been cancelled after a Toronto club subsequently suspected of harboring gambling.

Mr. Yaremko labelled as "completely false" Mr. Winter. meyer's legislature statement that "granting charters to clubs is the face of police objection and the subsequent cancellation of many clubs for gaming leads to the conclusion that the granting of charters was in fact a temporary licence to game."

BAR 78 CANCELLED

Since the new policy of the department was adopted in 1959, the minister said, a total of 75 clubs have had their charters (aside from the one Toronto club) and these had been issued after 1959 in the face of police objections.

Mr. Whittemeyer told the commission that the three McDermott-Feesley clubs — at Cooksville, Niagara Falls and Windsor—had been given provincial charters without prior police investigation on the decision of Attorney-General Rohert Welch.

Moose Lodge Holds First Meet of Fall

The regular meeting of Moose Lodge No. 1004 was held Sept. 6th at the Moose Hall with a good attendance. It was the first meeting following the summer recess.

Governor Reed as chairman conducting the regular business session and reported on social evenings held during recent months.

Governor Reed and Secretary Rolling were delegated to attend the Moose convention to be held at Windsor, October 19-20-21. Applications for membership were received and initiation night will be held at the regular meeting on September 20th with degree work to be put on by lodge members.

Refreshments and cards concluded the meeting.

CNIB Appeal Will Open in Two Counties

There are 113 blind people being served throughout Dundas and Prince Edward counties, it was reported at the CNIB Association and Institute for the Blind, Toronto. The annual meeting covered a very wide field in its discussion and type the report reveals.

From instruction in braille and learning how to complete various necessary forms to help the newly blind to the regular work of all registered blind people to discuss problems and strange services, the work of the CNIB is quite extensive.

One of the more important services is that of employment training and job placement which helps to establish a number of blind people as independent wage earners. This training takes place at Quinte-St. Lawrence Hall in Kingston. A residential service centre, and at the national training school and service centre in Toronto. Three local people were given this service during the past year.

The council also maintains a large free library of books in braille and on long-play records which are available to the blind. Record machines and radios are also provided on loan where required.

Of great interest is the Institute's work in the prevention of blindness in connection with public health and school services, through local agencies. Referrals from these groups are, where deemed advisable, aid and, guidance assistance in the form of either treatment or glasses.

In Kingston there are now seven persons from this area receiving residential care through the Hastings County Advisory Board and Prince Edward County Advisory Board.

Although a member of the Belleville United Appeal, the local CNIB groups also have to conduct campaigns in the counties and the town of Trenton. The annual campaign for funds in Hastings and Prince Edward counties will commence next Monday, followed by a campaign in Trenton from September 27th to October 5th.

In Belleville there will be no separate appeal, of course, since the CNIB is this community is a member of the Belleville United Appeal which will be conducting the annual campaign from October 1st to 16th.

Buses Return To Cedar Street

At least the only bus service is being resumed along Cedar Street today, following disruption caused by the laying of a new sanitary trunk sewer which was commenced in June by Mawer Construction Company.

The sewer has been completed for several weeks but the roadway was too rough for bus travel until it was resurfaced by the city. During the route interruption buses which normally travelled Cedar Street were re-routed along Coleman.

A transit company official noted that drivers found it much more convenient getting onto Bridge Street from Coleman because of the traffic lights, but that the Cedar Street route was a better revenue producer.

COMMUNIST MARKETS

Of Canada's 1960-61 bulk wheat exports of 321,000,000 bushels, 34,000,000 went to Communist China, 12,100,000 to Czechoslovakia and 7,500,000 to Russia.

and new Canadians." He said he favored the Canadian government's "new emphasis on skills" in immigration, but the regulation permitting entry of "next of kin" should not be pressed to include "end togo."

He added that he opposed the settlement of newcomers in neighborhoods "if prefer Integration."

WILL BE CONVERTED

Dr. McLeod said that the United Church will be concerned to determine whether immigration must continue to operate overwhelmingly as in the past 10 years to make Canada predominantly Roman Catholic."

In his retiring address to the 10th general council — the church's legislative decision-making assembly — Dr. McLeod suggested that religious freedom is threatened by communism than in a Roman Catholic regime which is "committed to leading our freedom by default."

Roman Catholic immigrants are "destitute of attitudes" he said, "but as members of a church with a hierarchy which favors the establishment of a monolithic infallible authority they are ready to take over and achieve the end of liberty they have known it and as we deem it necessary to fight for."

Warning against "infiltration" in both political parties, he said "political parties are submissive in the interest of a majority" and "the press is submissive in the interest of circulation, and the church is submissive because of its divisions."

The retiring moderator commented on foreign policy in the course of an address urging the United States investigation to concentrate on growth rather than on survival in a hostile world.

Dr. McLeod in the evening voted without dissent to have the address recorded in full in the minutes of the 10-day meeting.

HOPES TIME WORLD

The new moderator underscores Dr. McLeod's appeal to the church to "make time for the world. "The church must be brief, clear and practical, rough and tumble," said Dr. Mutchmor after his election.

He said he saw his new assignment as "paying attention to people rather than to the faith"—to people rather than the church organization.

"The church must inspire and serve those who are outside registered membership and we must be willing to adapt ourselves to reach them . . . Otherwise we cannot call our message to the big public."

Dr. Mutchmor, a vigorous 70 years old, said he plans to "concentrate on Canada" rather than "dissipate my energies during his two-year term of office. He will remain secretary of evangelism and social action until his previously- decided retirement next June.

Mrs. Mutchmor admitted that "we were really looking forward to retirement and a more tranquil, placid life." However, she said she was eager to help "husband" of 42 years—they married in Winnipeg four months after his ordination—handle the church's top assignment.

The new moderator is a veteran fighter with a disturbing flair for blasting his allegedly foolish and social service foes. He has been a member of the board of evangelism and social service for the past quarter century, has waged a continuing war against immoral behavior and a moral attitude everywhere and at all levels — inside or outside the church.

In fact, he makes slight distinction between the church and the world. He sees his mission of the church in the world of business and labor, school and family, recreation and travel, entertainment and government.

Hence the accusations of meddling in matters that are not his concern as a minister of religion.

Dr. Mutchmor accepts descriptions of himself as meddler, bigot and bluestocking as confirmation that his shafts have been on target.

TIMES OUT OF JOINT?

The bluestocking label has been attached by some younger farmers in the United Church who believe his strictures on alcohol, gambling and Sunday observance are out of touch with the times.

Dr. Mutchmor's rejoinder would be that it is the times that are out of joint with their "eat, drink and play-bingo complex."

But, says a colleague, he is disturbed if anyone takes his criticism of behavior as personal dislike. "He hates nobody and he can be genuinely fond of someone even while he disapproves of his behavior."

Underlying his reforming zeal and slumbering pronouncements, is an earnest concern for people. His fear is that greed, self-ishness and apathy will cause society to destroy itself.

He speaks of international affairs as "big power plays" or "international poker." He refers to "bonne bazone" and "swivelle sheela" and he draws up a "Morals box score" in his book. The annual report of church leagues call "Jim's directory of reached something approaching exasperation point.

COUNTER ATTACK

Ministers are reported to feel that the almost blanket criticism of Britain's cross-Channel initiative is unrealistic in that it refuses to accept the need for change.

The Daily Mail, undoubtedly reflecting a feeling uppermost in government circles, comments on the two-day tally of Commonwealth complaint:

"The Commonwealth will survive . . . but only if there is less looking backwards, less driving with both eyes on the rear-view mirror, and more determination to peer forward along the road ahead."

Some published reports suggest Macmillan is pondering the possibility of a country . wide speaking tour designed to counteract what appears to be a shift in British opinion on the European issue. Public opinion polls indicate sentiment is hardening against membership in the European club.

Pointing up Macmillan's dilemma in the face of Commonwealth criticisms and possible domestic political difficulties, the Manchester Guardian says he must steer carefully if he is to avoid charges of "letting the Commonwealth down."

Some observers are becoming increasingly doubtful whether in fact Britain can persuade the six countries of the European Community to grant the kind of concessions that will enable Macmillan to say he has fulfilled his pledges to the Commonwealth. Negotiations resume in Brussels in a few weeks.

PLAY UP STATEMENTS

Statements made in Ottawa by Opposition Leader Pearson and by T. C. Douglas, leader of the New Democratic party, criticizing Diefenbaker's stand at the conference are given prominence in The Daily Telegram.

The Conservative newspaper says Pearson's comment involves some of the strongest language he has used on the subject and adds: "It may indicate that Britain and the Common Market could become a domestic political issue in Canada."

Virtually the entire British Press supports the European idea. A conspicuous exception is the Beaverbrook's Daily Express. In an editorial today, it acknowledges its hostility but says triumphantly it has ranged behind it the "whole strength and enlightenment of the Commonwealth.

Authoritative sources said in reply to the Commonwealth leaders either Saturday or Monday Macmillan is expected to put forward some of these counter-plots:

1. On the issue of associate status with the market for Commonwealth territories in East and West Africa and the Caribbean, a status already rejected by Ghana, Nigeria and Tanganyika, Macmillan would argue there was no political implication in association.

2. Some of the visiting leaders complained of lack of precision in the entry terms so far obtained. Macmillan will say it is beyond the powers of the Market to give precise assurances and guarantees, and wholly unrealistic to expect this.

3. Macmillan will point out the Brussels negotiations still have a long way to go and that the Market itself is not static in composition.

America Cup Challenger Owner Has Imposed Strict Discipline on Crew Members

NEWPORT, R.I. (CP) — Annours of Australian calm and calculated silence surrounds the sels of the same kind yacht Gretel, which will open U.S. NEVER BEATEN an American Cup match-race against Weatherly Sept. 15.

Sir Frank Packer, 55-year-old newspaper publisher and organizer of the syndicate that owns the Australian challenger, has imposed a spartan discipline on his colleagues.

Packer's regime is faintly reminiscent of football in that his crew for the 12-metre Gretel —comprising 11 men — comes under a daily routine as rigorous as that imposed on football players. In fact, as tough as the training for a prize-fighter which Packer once was.

This involves the determined physical training of Gretel's men and a close-mouthed approach to the chances of the vessel—the first 12-metre craft ever built in Australia—on the basis of trials.

LADY, PACKER

There is a seldom-mentioned aspect of a softer vein: Gretel was named by Australia's Prime Minister Robert Menzies for Lady Packer, who died in the United States while on a visit with Sir Frank to plan the challenge for America's Cup.

Occasionally, there is a flash of humor. Gretel arrived here July 21 at the end of a two-rope after being carried from Australia to New York aboard a freighter.

Questioned about the Australians' concern for weight, the Sydney publisher was asked what was being done about the crew.

"We're collecting a bunch of runts," he said. "Also we're not going to let them eat until a week before the race."

Someone asked the pipe-puffing Aussie if he was in favor of the British tradition of a "tot" after a good sail.

"How's that?" Sir Frank demanded.

"A tot of grog—you know, a shot of whiskey."

"Oh, you mean a rum issue. Decidedly—and frequently."

FINAL GOING-OVER

After Weatherly eliminated other U.S. competitors and became opponent for Gretel, Weatherly and Gretel were pulled up side by side here—the Weatherly for a final going-over and Gretel for alterations.

Gretel's mast was moved forward 1½ feet to reduce a heavy weather heim—a tendency toward bearing into the wind in heavy weather. She was also reported getting new U.S.-made sails.

No box seats are available on the Australian vessel—a project which cost nearly $700,000—in her long series of practice races with Vim, both here and in Australia. The Vim, a runner-up for the right to represent the U.S. in 1958 when Columbia easily beat the challenging British Sceptre, has acted as a design prototype and trial horse for Gretel.

The practice has been for Vim and Gretel to exchange crew personnel, sails and gear from day to day and most of their racing has been on an International basis. Observers say there is considerable scepticism among yachtsmen that Australia, in her first try at building a 12-metre racing sloop, could have produced a yacht capable of beating a Weatherly which has been developed over five seasons in alterations following competition with other top vessels here and in Britain.

In 111 years of competition the U.S. has never been beaten for the America's Cup and this year Gretel will have to be the best of a series of 9 boats to do the trick. Each race will be about 24 miles, testing variously the ability of crews and vessels to contend with winds—or lack of them—and with each other.

Two years of solid work have gone into the Australian challenger, sponsored by a syndicate called the Australian America's Cup Challenge Association, whose chairman is Packer, managing director of the Australian Consolidated Press Limited, which has five newspapers, including the Sydney Morning Telegraph.

The impetus of Australian challenge seems to be that the country — with its temperate climate and its vaunted competitive spirit in various sports is natural for development of yachting talent.

Ten Bodies Found in Smoking Ruins

LAKE YAMANAKA, Japan (AP)—The bodies of 10 persons charred by a fire raging here found today in the smoking ruins of a mountain villa near this scenic summer resort lake at the foot of Mt. Fuji.

Police said some of the bodies appeared to have had injuries but the cause of death would not be determined.

Officers were reported investigating two possibilities—mass murder and arson, or accidental fire while victims were in a drunken stupor.

Police at Fuji Yoshida City said a party of 10 employees of two local bars had been missing since Tuesday after leaving for a drive to a lakeside villa. Fuji Yoshida is 12 miles from the burned villa.

TOURISTS INJURED

CAHORS, France (Reuters)—Two buses carrying British tourists collided near here Wednesday, injuring 44 persons, police reported. Eight Britons remained in hospital.

FORMER SIU

an impression of union democracy was always given in the SIU by holding membership meetings to elect committees to supervise nominations, votes and negotiations.

But he said the elected committee members were quickly shipped out on vessels and replaced by "beachies," whom he described as seamen who clean around the SIU hall, rarely sailing aboard ships.

SAYS SPIES

"These people made motions, seconded motions and spied on the membership."

He said they formed a clique that brought in committee reports or made resolutions ordered beforehand by Mr. Banks or by Mr. McLaughlin.

He said Mr. Banks would make a speech about the union's financial problems, then one of the "clique" would move that dues be raised.

"I've never heard, never seen anyone oppose pay raise in dues or special assessments."

He said he heard "lots of criticism" of Mr. Banks outside the union hall, but few seamen dared to raise their voice against their union leader at an SIU meeting.

'LITTLE DONATION'

Mr. Sheehan said it cost $22 to join the SIU when he entered the union in 1949, but now it costs $240 "with a little donation on the side."

Mr. Sheehan said he participated in a rigged vote designed to show that the marine engineers on lake ships wanted to amalgamate their National Association of Marine Engineers into the SIU.

He also claimed that he was once re-elected against an opponent for the post of patrolman after Mr. Banks told him he knew "21 different ways how to rig an election."

He said he later learned that Mr. Banks and another union official stayed up one whole night stuffing ballot boxes to achieve the result.

UNIVERSITY COSTS

University operating costs amounted to about $144,000,000 in 1959-1960, or about $8 for every Canadian.

TRENTON — Squadron Leader A. K. "Skeets" Ogilvie, 47, of Ottawa, one of the last Battle of Britain pilots, will leave active service with the Royal Canadian Air Force this September.

S/L Ogilvie joined the Royal Air Force in 1939. His entry to the RAF was somewhat rapid. He was called in to the recruiting office on Wednesday, had his medical on Thursday, and sailed for England on Friday.

S/L Ogilvie was credited with four enemy aircraft, including the Dornier bomber that bombed Buckingham Palace. This aircraft crashed and burned at the entrance to Victoria Station near Trafalgar Square. Skeets was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross for his operational work during the Battle of Britain. However, he wasn't able to attend his presentation ceremony at the Palace because he was in a German hospital at the time.

S/L Ogilvie was shot down over Lille, France, and spent the next four years in various German camps as a prisoner of war. He was one of the men involved in the famous "underground" break. He was caught and interned for a time in the Gestapo prison at Gurlanco in Czechoslovakia.

Sqd. Leader Ogilvie has had an outstanding aeronautical career. He was one of the first Canadians to fly a single-seat aircraft, one of the first Canadians to fly a Canadian-built T-33 jet trainer; he has over five thousand hours on aircraft, ranging from the tiny piston-powered Puss Moth to the sleek swept-wing Sabre VI jet fighter.

S/L Ogilvie intends to return to his home town of Ottawa following his retirement.

FIRE CHIEF

SHERBROOKE, Que. (CP)—Rev. Harry Durney of Kentville, N.S., was the only Roman Catholic priest to attend the Canadian Association of Fire Chiefs' meeting here. He was eligible to attend as chief of the polies company of Kentville's volunteer fire department.

'Do-it-Yourself' Curb Effort Instituted by Town Engineer Has Been Success

TRENTON—Taking a leaf out of Sarnia's public works' department note-book, Eric Aldersey, town engineer at Trenton, instituted a "do-it-yourself" curbing program for Trenton last year. Mr. Aldersey was city engineer at Barrie in 1958, and authored a "do-it-yourself" curb effort. He told the members of 1961 Trenton council that the town could save money if council gave him the go-ahead to buy curb forms and use workmen from the public works' department, (hiring additional workers where and when indicated) to install the curbs. Council agreed, and the engineer embarked on a program to curb 28 miles of streets. Trenton has, altogether, 35 miles of streets, and less than seven miles were curbed up until this year.

To date, more than two miles (one street mile of the curbing has been completed, and it is planned to curb four miles (two street miles) this year, and more, if financing permits. This represents more curbing than Trenton has laid in the past 20 years. At first, $26,000 was allocated for this purpose. Recently, council announced its intention of selling debentures to proceed with the remaining this fall, but this has yet to receive Ontario Municipal Board approval.

The town was able to collect 75 percent of the labor cost up until May 31 when the winter works' program came to an end, and expects to collect the rest in the 1962-63 winter works' program, which comes into effect Oct. 15. Local labor is employed. Size of crews vary, but 20 men are employed on an average. Many of these would have been on relief rolls if the program had not been carried out.

When the work crew started out in April, 150 feet of curb per day was considered good. Later an average of 200 feet per day was expected. Best record for one day was 322 feet. Average cost, per foot is $1.50.

All street curbing is taken out of general tax revenue. In this way everyone benefits and the individual taxpayer pays but a small amount. The department of highways pays one-third of construction costs if these are provided out of general revenue. If the curbs had up until this year been an expense, owners would have been paying for their curbs in their taxes for the next ten to fifteen years. Then too, the department would not have been obliged to pay the one-third construction cost allowance.

As the curbing crew goes along, boulevards are restored to their original state, or improved Catch basins are cleaned out or re-located to provide proper drainage on the streets.

Member Will Attend Gala Cadet Ball

TRENTON — Harry Bradley, M.P. for Northumberland and Mrs. Bradley will be among the distinguished guests to attend Saturday night's gala Air Cadet ball in Trenton. Mayor and Mrs. James MacDonald, Group Captain and Mrs. D. J. Williams, Group Captain and Mrs. C. R. Thompson, senior RCAF officers and their wives and civic leaders from Trenton and Belleville will all be present to honor retiring Air Force Association president Leonard Baldock of Windsor.

The dance-dance is sponsored by 413 Trenton and 418 Belleville Wings of the RCAF Association and proceeds will go to the two air cadet squadrons sponsored by the wings.

Curbs are aligned properly, sometimes necessitating the removal of trees or the re-locating of hydro or telephone poles. Sidewalks are repaired or built up where necessary.

The men are divided into two gangs as a result of "competition" with each other in the daily laying of curbs on their allotted street.

Gang foreman Charlie Scalets says: "The enthusiasm of the boys is amazing. If we've got along, it's all due to the boys."

A Reasonable Request

Prime Minister John Diefenbaker was on impregnable ground Tuesday, when he called for another Commonwealth conference after Britain concludes its negotiations with the Inner Six for entry into the Common Market.

But, despite this fact, the majority of Commonwealth prime ministers may decide that such a conference would be useless.

Mr. Diefenbaker's argument was unassailable, because Prime Minister Macmillan of Britain had promised to let the Commonwealth countries consider the terms for Britain's entry into the Common Market, and because these terms are not yet known. Macmillan, therefore, can hardly object to the proposal of the man who is being pictured as his chief opponent in his fight to get Britain into the Market. Or, if he does object, it will be at the price of admitting that his earlier pledges about consultation with the Commonwealth were essentially meaningless.

If, on the other hand, the majority of Commonwealth prime ministers decide that a later conference would be useless, their stand will only be a logical and reasonable one if they can produce evidence that Britain is going to join the Common Market in any event, regardless of the terms and regardless, too, of the attitude of other members of the Commonwealth to these terms.

Mr. Diefenbaker's plea for a later conference is clever political strategy. As long as a decision can be delayed, there is always some hope of a development which would block Britain's Common Market plans.

Lacking such a development, though, there is grave doubt whether any delay in a decision will alter the result. Indeed, reading between the lines, one can gather that Macmillan has already made up his mind. He seems convinced that Britain must join the Common Market if she is to have a chance of surviving as a major power, of even the second rank. If this is so, a second, and later, Commonwealth conference could do little more than provide the various prime ministers with another opportunity to visit Britain, and to do what little they can to soften the early repercussions on Britain's entry into the Market. There is little doubt but that in the early stages some severe blows will be dealt trading patterns of long standing. But Macmillan may well be right in his contention that, in the long pull, the effects will be more beneficial than detrimental to the Commonwealth countries and their trade with Britain, and with other countries in the Common Market bloc.

Not Like the Old Days

The Havana radio reported Tuesday two ships, one a British vessel, had been shelled by "pirates" off the north coast of Cuba.

There is no doubt as the identity of the "pirates." They are anti-Castro Cubans, bent on preventing arms and goods from communist countries reaching Cuba.

Later Tuesday, at London, a foreign office spokesman said that Britain was making "urgent inquiries" about the reported shelling.

There is no real urgency. Britain is unlikely to do more than make a formal protest. Having submitted to attacks on her vessels in the China trade by Chiang Kai-Shek's ships and planes, Britain is hardly likely to act like mistress of the seas almost within hail of the U.S. coast.

Nor is the Kennedy administration likely to take prompt and drastic action, because of U.S. public opinion.

The big powers are so afraid of each other that any embattled faction can ignore their legitimate interests in carrying on its fight against a rival. This would be bad enough if there were not the added danger that these unpunished floutings of international law could themselves provide the spark which might bring the big powers into direct conflict. What happens if the anti-Castro pirates shell a Russian ship when a Russian submarine is around? If the sub sank the pirate ship, as it would have every right to do, imagine the furor it would cause in the U.S.

Industrial Conference May Result in Lower Taxation

By RICHARD JACKSON
From The Ontario Intelligencer's Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — The average taxpayer, reading of the government's "industrial expansion conference" here last week, might well be cheering the business leaders who attended it.

They came at the behest of a government which is urging management and labor to get together, produce more at lower cost and boost export and domestic sales.

They listened for a bit to Trade Minister George Hees' plea, then got in their own licks.

Almost in unison they shouted to the government to lower taxes if it wants to increase production and sales.

And they were not asking just for themselves. The taxes they spoke of were both corporate and personal income taxes.

That means, in part, the money the average taxpayer hands over and the government each year. Why not cheer?

It would also mean, of course, that business and industry would be able to lower prices with the money saved from taxes.

Again, this savvy the taxpayer money, even while it enables exports to be sold at lower prices.

OUT SPENDING TOO

Mr. Hees and his boys were still trying to find out what is the answer to these demands when they were hit with another.

Out came the government's frill spending, the business leaders began to ask — spending done where business and industry were or could be doing it better.

Their specific example at one point was the $40,000,000 spent each year by the National Research Council.

They took object to the $14,000,000 going for grants and scholarships. In fact, they condemned it.

But they said this money therefore should not. The army of researchers, technicians and helpers employed by NRC would be absorbed by industry could not look after by itself and in some cases were duplicating work already done by industry.

This was a rough one for Mr. Hees. It came right on the heels of the report of the Massey-Lesage Royal Commission on Government Organization, which had criticized also after office from this the government itself because of inefficient spending.

In fact, no government answer was forthcoming on this point.

But maybe Mr. Hees and the government had no intention of answering such questions anyway — and that might be cause for more cheers.

A NEW LOOK

When the first session of the 25th Parliament opens two weeks from today, it might reveal that the government has been planning all along to do just what the business leaders are asking — cut taxes.

The Conservative Cabinet has a new finance minister, not bound by the tight-belt policies of his predecessor.

In fact, Finance Minister George Nowlan is a man who likes to see happy taxpayers and things which make them happy.

It would do the government no harm in the by-elections Parliament it will face, either.

If such a program, really, really support the country, it probably will receive the support of the Liberals, too.

Social Creditors also have been calling for tax cuts and would find little to criticize. Only the New Democrats might not like them — and are convinced that government can run the country's business better than business and would need the taxes to try.

But they have only 19 seats and are conceded by no one to be any sort of a threat in Parliament.

Maybe we'll soon have cause for some real cheering.

No Reason For Surprise

Health League of Canada

One afternoon, a stranger in town was astonished to see a gray-haired decrepit old man valiantly competing with some youngsters in a gruelling game of tackle football. His curiosity was such that he approached the old fellow to find out the secret of his long life.

"I drink two quarts of liquor a day, smoke five packs of cigarettes, eat anything I can lay my hands on and never see a doctor" the old man gasped.

"Amazing!" cried the stranger. "And yet at your age you can play football!" The oldster's bloodshot eyes showed that he was offended. "Gee whiz mister," he said, "I'm only 16."

Gangsters Die in Bed

Hamilton Spectator

A citizen in his late 40s or more may recall the gory gangsterism of the prohibition era with the same gently wistful nostalgia Granny used to show when she'd tell about a family christening or a particularly juicy strawberry festival.

The same person might have some of his fondest illusions shattered when he reads that some of the bad men of the 1920's lived well beyond middle age before their hearts quietly gave out. They all weren't disquieted by machine gun fire on Chicago streets, as in a George Raft movie. (Even Mr. Raft is 68 years old now, which is too bad.)

The calmer conclusion from departure occurred last week in Chicago in one weekend. Edward J. "Ejdie" Osmond, ageless king of the South Side, died in bed at the age of 72. And William "Big Bill" Johnson, 87, who reigned as the unchallenged chief of Chicago's gamblers in the 1930s and 1940s also passed away quietly.

O'Donnell took many of his secrets about the dozens of deaths attributed to his wars with such characters as Capone, Zatis, Al Capone and Johnny Torrio to the grave while control of beer distribution. Those lanes he survived assassination wounds — but died in his sleep in his home on what was described as one of the nicest residential streets on the South Side."

So, too, with Johnson. At the height of his career, he took over a closed bank and opened it as his private gambling bank. An associate recalled: "The take from each of his gambling casinos, spaced around the fringes of the Loop would be taken by armored cars with heavily gun-toting protectors to the bank for distribution." Johnson died at his home-in-Hemlock farm near Chicago.

In 1931, these men focused in the days of Chicago's widely-quoted Mayor, William Hale "Big Bill" Thompson, whose main claim to ridiculous historic notoriety was his pugnacious desire to "Open King George in the nose." But all this was in the days between the-wars era, published when a man named C. Y. Harrison published a self-serv book called "Generals Die In Bed". He wrote it before too many gangsters escaped the bullets of the tommy-guns to die there, too.

Kentucky Wash Recipe

St. Thomas Times - Journal

Women today, whose most difficult washday chore may be getting the soap carton open, can get some idea of how far things have improved since great grandma's day for the following item out of the past.

It's an authentic Kentucky "receipt," in its original spelling, for washing clothes:

1. bild a fire in back yard to heet kettle of rain water.

2. set nuse so wind won't blow in eyes if wind is pert.

3. shave one hole cake soap in bliln water.

4. sort things, make three piles. 1 pile white, 1 pile colored, 1 pile work britches and rags.

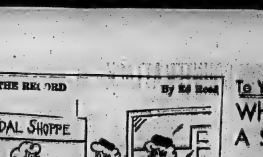
5. Stur flour in cold water to smooth then thin down with bilin water.

6. rub dirty spots on board, scrub hard, then bile, rub cullord but don't bile—just reech and starch.

7. take while things out of kettle with broom stick handle then reech, blew and starch.

8. spred ice towel on grass.

9. hang old rags on fence.



10. pore ranch water in flower bed.

11. scrub pouch with hot soapy water.

12. turn tubs upside down.

13. go put on clean dress—smooth hair with side combs—brew cup of tee—set and real and rock a spell and count blessins.

It was as simple as that in those days.

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

September 13th, 1942.

According to city residents who sojourned the weekend in the northern sections of the county, Jack Frost put a definite quietus on standing and field crops in that area Saturday night and a few weeks ago, but the Sunday night invasion left corn a brownish yellow and many tender crops a blackened ruin.

Belleville members of the Belleville Rotary Air Cadet Squadron made their first public appearance in uniform yesterday when they appeared at the 5th Annual Field Day of the Trenton Station of the RCAF. Looking very smart in their blue suits with trim fore-age caps, the future fliers assisted the Station Sports Committee in the distribution of programs to the large crowd that thronged the field.

An automobile stolen in Belleville last Friday was recovered undamaged in a field several miles south of Hatch. The vehicle belonged to Wm. Crawford of Forth Street. To whom it was delivered we are surprised to find that a considerable amount of fishing equipment in the rear of the car was undisturbed.

What to Do When One Has A Stroke or Heart Attack

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: What should a layman do while waiting for a doctor in case a person has had a stroke or heart attack? — R.H.B.

A good question. It is not usually that a layman would know exactly which and happened, but he should do the same things anyway.

In either stroke or heart attack there is apt to be marked pallor and sweating. The stroke victim will have facial grimaces, breathe heavily, perhaps slump to the floor whether he has been standing or sitting. He will probably be unconscious but in the early stages of a stroke paralysis of arm, leg or face may not be evident even though it may appear later.

The heart victim, unlike the stroke sufferer, will usually complain of severe pain in his chest or upper abdomen — often mistaken for indigestion. If a much more likely will remain conscious, but will be very uncomfortable, and will know something serious is happening to him, and he will have trouble getting his breath.

The less the patient is moved, the better, and he should be kept comfortable, whether lying on a bed or the floor. Loosen necktie, collar, belt, girdle, to allow breathing easier.

If the victim is convulsive, as is liable to occur with a stroke, a pencil, piece of wood, hard cork or some such object should be put between the teeth will keep the patient from biting his tongue.

Don't try to force fluids, not even water, because the patient may not be able to swallow, and will choke. And don't give alcohol because it does no good in either case.

Patients should be kept warm. But do not apply heat — you have done, there is risk of a chill.

There probably isn't much use of saying, "Keep calm," but that's important if you can accomplish it, even in the most alarming circumstances. Panic accomplishes nothing — and the heart patient, especially, is alarmed too much as it is, without adding to his worries. You can assure the patient quietly, "The doctor is on his way, and things are being done." Then be sure the patient quietly, "The doctor is on his way, and things are being done."

If you can't reach a doctor, then get an ambulance (police or fire department is the fastest place for quick help if other are not available).

And remember this: In the early stages of a stroke or heart attack there is something all that is required. Effective drugs are sound for stroke and this activity stops skin resentment.

This is important where the healing of wounds is concerned, as under excessive stress and worry, the healing process is slowed up. Medical experiences show that after an operation the rate of wound-healing is quicker if a person is allowed to go home. Further research is being done in this field of skin growth, as it is thought that stress and worry could perhaps slow down the rate of growth in children.

Shed Skins Like a Snake

BBC London Letter

Bullough has shown that all the upper layer of the skin is dead, and is constantly being replaced from the tissue underneath; the skin is replaced mainly when we are asleep — so there may be something in the term "beauty sleep" after all. The rate at which this only happens when we are asleep is that the background mechanism seems to lie in our adrenal glands — glands in the small of the back. When we are awake and active, and this activity causes worry or fear, these glands are active and this activity stops skin replacement.

This is important where the healing of wounds is concerned, as under excessive stress and worry, the healing process is slowed up. Medical experiences show that after an operation the rate of wound-healing is quicker if a person is allowed to go home. Further research is being done in this field of skin growth, as it is thought that stress and worry could perhaps slow down the rate of growth in children.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

A cheerful-cynic of my acquaintance is thinking of writing a new national club or society along the lines of the Canadian Club or Empire Club, with branches in all the cities of larger towns, the function of which would be to keep alive the memory of the majestic falsehoods of the past. At the monthly luncheons or dinners of this society, Napoleon would revive the identity and celebrate the memory of some mayor, or councillor, or leading citizen who was remarkable, in bygone years, for the short-sighted, ill-advised or downright stupid decision in the layout and planning of the community, the bottle-necks, the large degree, even minor weaknesses may appear, in much magnified form, in their children.

Dear Dr. Molner: are there any exercises to restore good eyesight? I am a little far-sighted and would like to better my vision before paying for an eye examination. I do not wear glasses yet. — D.D.

Only for very specialized types of eye disorders are exercises of any help at all. Far-sightedness is something that comes to most of us with age —we have to hold fine print farther and farther away, until at last our arms aren't long enough. The only answer to this is reading glasses. So my advice is to hop along for an eye examination.

Much heart trouble is preventable. Write to Dr. Molner in care of The Chicago Sun-Times Syndicate, P.O. Box 588, Dundee, Ill., for your copy of his booklet, "How To Take Care of Your Heart," enclosing a long, self-addressed, unstamped envelope and 10c in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received, there is not always time to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his columns whenever possible.

STOCK QUOTATIONS

TORONTO (CP) — The stock market continued to reflect current speculative fever today, as first-hour trading volume topped the 2,000,000 mark.

Individual totals were not as high as in recent sessions; however more issues climbed aboard the bandwagon. Jacobus paced the pack, climbing eight cents to 72 cents on a turnover of 250,000 shares, while Nesbitt Mines, trading 150,000 slipped five cents to 43 cents.

Meanwhile, industrials presented a mixed picture. Ahitbi, Salada Foods, Algoma Steel and Moore corporation, all rose in a ⅛ to ¾ range, while Massey-Ferguson, Leland Publishing and Canada Cement all gained ¼.

Distillers Seagrams, Bank of Montreal, Walker - Gooderham and Consolidated Paper all showed declines ranging to ¼.

On the exchange index, industrials climbed .02 to 546.99 and western oils .11 at 105.60. Golds dropped .49 to 92.70 and base metals .36 at 183.02. The 11 a.m. volume was 2,067,000 shares compared with 2,118,000 at the same time Wednesday. Falconbridge weakened base metals, dropping ½. Denison rose ½. In the golds, Dome declined ⅛ and Giant Yellowknife ¼.

Penny mining issues outshone all other sections Wednesday.

Paramaque Mines was the top speculative attraction, racking up more than 1,000,000 shares while jumping 12 cents to 56 cents. Earlier it touched a 1962 high of 30 cents. Other explorations traded almost 1,000,000 shares gaining one cent to 14 cents.

Industrials spent the day trying to recover from a slight loss on index sustained in the first hour. At the close, they were fractionally ahead.

Canadian Oil was the feature in the oils list as it climbed to 41½ — highest ever — before easing to 41 for a gain of ½. On the exchange index, industrials gained .15 to 546.88 and base metals .06 at 183.38, while golds dropped .62 to 93.10 and western oils 06 at 105.49. Closing volume was 9,658,000 shares compared with 9,652,000 yesterday.

Chinese Troops Invade India, No Fighting

NEW DELHI (AP)—The Indian government reported today that Communist Chinese troops have "appeared in the vicinity" of an Indian outpost on the disputed Northeast Frontier Agency but said "there has been no clash."

Unofficial but reliable sources reported an estimated 300 Chinese soldiers invaded Indian territory Tuesday and surrounded a post one mile inside the high Himalayan boundary mined by 30 men of the Assam Rifles.

There was no indication of any fighting. But one unconfirmed report said the Chinese disarmed the Indian troops and advanced nine miles further into India.

Prime Minister Nehru is in London attending the Commonwealth conference, and sides there said he had registered the strong official protest to the Peking government. It will demand the immediate withdrawal of the Chinese troops.

Arts and Crafts Executive Plans For Busy Season

The new session of classes to be given this fall by the Belleville Arts and Crafts Club was the main topic for discussion at the season's opening executive meeting at the Belleville Recreation Centre, Mrs. Lennox Smith, president, was in the chair.

This year there will be two adult art classes. One in the evening again under the direction of Paavo Airola, will commence on September 13th. An afternoon class will be under the direction of Mrs. G. Faulkner. Both Mr. Airola and Mrs. Faulkner are well known professional artists and Mrs. Faulkner's participation this year will increase the ability of the Belleville Arts and Crafts to provide many more local would-be artists with an opportunity for professional assistance. Well known in local circles, Mrs. Faulkner has had her work widely displayed in Mexico and Canada, her most recent showing being at the Mark Shawn Gallery in Toronto last spring. No date has as yet been set for the start of the afternoon classes.

Of interest to students of ceramics and those contemplating its study, will be the participation by Mrs. Davies, instructor in this craft, in a one-week course at the Blue Mountain Pottery factory near Collingwood. This course was given under the auspices of the Community Programs Branch and will enable her to provide ceramic students with many fresh ideas and new techniques as a result of her experience. Former students will be interested in seeing the work which she did at the Blue Mountain Resort, using the rich clay found in that area.

Other courses to be offered include mosaics, flower arrangement, weaving, silk screening, leathercraft, home decorating, enamel on metal, metal tooling, children's art, chinaware and basketry. It is hoped that a course in basic art and design for all crafts can be given this year. The need for such a course has been felt for some time, to enable beginners to be original instead of merely copying other designs when following a craft, since this is what the term "craftsman" really implies.

Mrs. Smith advised that there would be an exhibit of children's art, done during the summer sessions, and that this would probably be held sometime in the early fall. Mrs. Polly Cahn's work with children in these sessions is well known and her ability to bring out their creative instincts has always made the children's art exhibits an item of widespread interest in the demonstration of originality.

All courses other than adult art will begin the week of October 1st and run for a ten-week period. As in former years a workshop and registration will be held at the Corby Public Library on Sept. 20 and 21.

Because of the many rewards to be gained from the study and participation in any craft, it is hoped that there will be a large registration in all classes this year.

HOW TO SINK

out for him by others.

The Ontario Railway Commission, which regulates oil production, has ordered all wells on leases containing even one illegally slanted well cut off from producing. This means the oilmen have no way to market oil. Nearly 600 wells were cut off at once, although a few connections have since been restored.

PLASTIC PIPE HELPS

Whipstock Bill also described the plastic pipe trick:

"It was so you could carry oil and gas until I find it with a magnetic," he said. He referred to mine detector - type devices.

The trick works this way:

An oil operator orders a slanted well drilled on a lease he has no oil under it, as a number of dry holes testify.

He tells the railroad commission he has found oil with his new well. The commission tells him a daily production allowable (quota) under the rigid control laws.

The operator has plastic pipe laid to dry holes and pumps oil from the slanted well into them. He claims he has restored production to the dry holes and obtains more allowables.

Witnesses at the hearing said leased wells were sometimes zoomed to an output of 1,000 barrels per day.

Railroad commissioners say the slant wells could not have been pumped without connivance of railroad commission employees, two of whom were fired.

H.W. Pointer Elected to Executive Bd.

A Belleville man has been elected to the executive board of the joint protective committee of the Order of Railway Telegraphers, Transport and General Workers.

H. W. Pointer, chairman of CBRT & GW Local 126 at Belleville, has been elected to the thirteen-member Joint Protective Board at a meeting of the Joint Protective Committee in Montreal. The JPC are the 27,000 railway members of the 34,000 - strong brotherhood's convention.

A member of the CBRT & GW since 1932, Mr. Pointer was first elected to office in Local 126 in 1945. Following service as reporter until 1950, he then became financial secretary until 1950, when he was elected chairman.

In September, 1961, at the time of the Brotherhood's triennial convention in Montreal, Mr. Pointer was appointed secretary of the Resolutions Committee. At the JPC meeting this September, he served as chairman of the Credentials Committee.

TO REMAKE AREA

BOSTON (AP)—The Massachusetts Port Authority today disclosed plans for a $30,000,000 redevelopment plan to remake the area near North Station, Charlestown docks and parts of Cambridge and Somerville. The program proposed new highways, mass transportation construction, urban renewal, housing, industrial development and river bank improvements.

H.S. Students To See Special Festival Plays

STRATFORD — More than 30,000 high school students from all parts of Ontario and some from Michigan and New York States will travel to the Stratford Festival during the next two weeks to see three special performances of "Macbeth" and "The Tempest."

The students who will arrive by bus, train and private cars will see the plays at prices considerably below the normal box office level. For many, this will be a first experience with live theatre.

In addition to seeing the plays, they will be able to participate in a question-answer period after each show when a principal member of the cast takes stage centre to chat with the students and to answer their queries.

These informal periods have proven popular with actors and audiences in the past. Questions ranging from the technical to the more philosophical and personal side of theatre are invariably interesting and intelligent. The actors find the students make excellent audiences — alert, responsive and enthusiastic.

The original scheme of devoting a portion of the Stratford season to high schools began in 1958 when 12,000 secondary students saw special performances of "Henry IV, Part 1". The following season 15,000 attended seven presentations of "As You Like It" while in 1960 eight performances of "Romeo and Juliet" were seen by 24,000. Last year the school matinee program played to audiences of 25,000 students in 12 performances of "Henry VIII."

Building Boom Said Continuing In High Gear

Belleville's house building boom is continuing in high gear with the city apparently not yet having reached the near saturation point reported from other centres.

Records at city hall show that a total of 110 housing units, including houses and apartment suites, have either been erected or were in the process of erection during the first eight months of the year.

Twenty-four of the housing units were in apartments, with the balance being single family dwellings.

At the same time city hall records show there are eleven house building contractors operating in the city.

Of these, Maurice H. Rollins built the most houses from the first of the year to August 31. In that period Mr. Rollins built or was building 71 houses and 15 apartment suites.

Next in line was Charles Lawrence with 24 houses and nine apartment suites

The other nine builders ranged from two up to 12 housing units each.

Adaptable New Cheese Soup

by Mary Moore

Look for the new Cheese Soup which is on the grocery shelves. My prediction is (if that matters) that it will have popular appeal as a mixer and extender and sauce.

The chemists or nutritionists or home economists or chefs or cooks or combinations of all or any of these who worked on this new cheese soup formula have arrived at a delicious flavor.

We had it once at the cottage at a soup course with fresh homemade bread. That was success No. 1. Then I made it into a sauce by adding a little milk and parsley and marjoram, to serve over boiled onions. We had run out of fresh vegetables and were miles from the store and this was a treat. I am going to try it next on cauliflower and broccoli and Brussels sprouts and green beans.

Next I made Cheese Souffle using the cheese soup in place of the usual white sauce to which grated cheese is added, until stiff and fold into cheese mixture. Add grated onion or dimin in paste form, if used. Turn into greased medium-sized casserole and stand this in pan of hot water. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for about 40 to 50 minutes. Time depends on shape of casserole. This must be served at once as it soon falls. Delicious with green beans and baked potatoes for a quick and cheap meal.

Another thing I did with this cheese soup was to mix half a can with two cups of cooked rice and sauteed bits of bacon and stuffed some large green peppers with it and baked them. These were good and pretty too at a meal where we were short of meat.

One of the drop-backs to serving Eggs Benedict is that 4 components must be ready at the same instant. Since 3 of these are poached eggs and Hollandaise sauce, novices are discouraged. This is such an epicurean specialty more cooks should serve it. So I decided to try the new cheese soup instead of the Hollandaise sauce which seems so tricky to the inexperienced.

To make Simplified Eggs Benedict: Make, for each person to be served, 1 slice of toast or toast half an English muffin, fry 1 slice back bacon or 1 piece of ham, poach 1 egg. Pile these one on top of the other in order given. Spoon hot undiluted Cheese Soup over and serve at once for Sunday breakfast.

Dinner Menus

THURSDAY

SPEAKING OF MANNERS

BY PATRICIA LEWIS

MAIL CALL

Question: While walking down the street with a friend recently I stopped to say "hello" to a casual acquaintance. It took just a second, so I didn't bother to introduce my friend. But I thought I should have, and said she felt very annoyed by my "lack of manners." Should one make an introduction even though a greeting is brief and there really doesn't seem much else to do or say? — C.K., Baltimore, Md.

Answer: If a greeting is very casual and just in passing, it's not necessary to make an introduction. However, if you stop to talk, even if it's just for a minute or two, then anyone who is with you should be introduced.

Question: When I go to the beauty parlor, the woman who owns the business does my hair and the charge is $2.50. Will you please advise if a tip is the usual practice even though she is the owner? — Mrs. C.L., Hamden, Conn.

Answer: A tip usually is given to someone who performs a service and to whom it is, in effect, part of his or her salary. The owner of a beauty shop, while performing a service does not come under this category and, therefore, customarily is not tipped by customers or clients.

Husband Lacks Affection

DORIS CLARK

DEAR DORIS—Could you please let me know the title of the book you recommend to the girl whose fiance was not very affectionate?

We've been married twelve years but have had this problem since we were engaged. We have three children.

A fight will upset my husband for days and this must have some bearing on it, but I can't help getting mad once in a while. His mother never shows any emotion, never even kisses the children when she comes to visit He is more affectionate than that, but his background must have affected his feelings.

I've reading the Bible now, but it's hard to act like a nun with a man sleeping beside me.—"BETTER LATE THAN NEVER."

DEAR LATE—"Like a nun"? I assume you are using the expression loosely.

As a toddler your husband was not kissed, hugged, patted. So he bottled up his need until now he hardly knows it is there.

As a patient, loving wife, you can help him, even now. I am recommending two books to you, in my private reply. Would also recommend personal consultation with a social worker. You'll find trained help at the Children's Aid Society, 62 West Moira Street, Belleville, which counsels on family problems as well as when children are involved.

• • •

DEAR DORIS—I'm a widow. For the past ten years I have lived with and worked with a man to build a home. Several times he spoke of marriage but there was always something he wanted to do first.

The furniture is all mine, but the only thing I have my name on is the paper we both signed when we bought the land to build on. Since I did not sink cash into the land, but bought the groceries and furniture while he paid off the land, he claims I have no hold on anything except my furniture.

Now here's the problem. He has told me he wants me to leave and find a place of my own. I have no income at all. Can he make me leave without some sort of reimbursement? Do I hold any title to the land at all? Can I charge him so much for being a housekeeper?

You might advise me to obtain a lawyer, but I haven't one penny to do so.—VERY WORRIED.

DEAR VERY WORRIED—If your name was on the deed, you may have a claim on the land. But since you took him on without benefit of clergy, you have no other kind of claim.

You do need legal advice. Seek this through the Children's Aid Society, 62 West Moira Street, Belleville.

Women's Institutes

CHATTERTON W. I.

The September meeting of the Chatterton Women's Institute was somewhat unusual. Fourteen members met at the Tops Motel Restaurant, Belleville, for lunch. After lunch and after looking at the swimming pool the ladies went for a tour of the new Hastings County Court House. The sheriff, Mr. Robson, was kind enough to take time off to explain the procedure of court sessions and the functions of the various offices. A meeting of the municipal heads of the municipalities within Hastings county was being held and the members of the W.I. listened with much interest to the discussions which concerned the inspection of meats, school matters and other things of interest.

The Hastings county museum was also visited and while it is not large the museum displays many interesting items. Some slides showing pictures of Belleville in the earlier days were presented to the ladies.

Altogether, the visit to Belleville was most enjoyable and instructive.

F/O and Mrs. Murray Jack Scheiter, Gimli, Manitoba, are shown signing the register following their recent marriage in the Church of St. Michael the Archangel, Belleville. The bride is the former Nora Elizabeth Kaiser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. August Kaiser, R.R. 2, Belleville. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Scheiter, Waterloo, Ont.

SCHEITER—KAISER

A lovely wedding was solemnized in the Church of St. Michael the Archangel, Belleville, at high noon on September 1, 1962, when Nora Elizabeth Kaiser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. August Kaiser, R.R. 2, Belleville, became the bride of Murray Jack Scheiter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Scheiter, Waterloo, Ontario. The Rt. Rev. J. P. Sullivan officiated.

The altar of the church was decorated with vases of white gladioli, white arrangements of white gladioli and white chrysanthemums adorned the railing.

Traditional wedding music was rendered by Miss Dorothy Grant, who also accompanied the guest soloist, Mr. Bob Hunt.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, Mr. August Kaiser, was radiant in a floor-length strapless sheath of peau de soie highlighted by a bejeweled bolero of white rose-patterned Chantilly lace which featured long sleeves and a Sweetheart neckline edged with seed pearls and bugle beads. The front of the sheath was adorned with Chantilly lace roses centred with beads and this design was carried out along the edge of her detachable train. Her headdress, a crown of peau de soie covered with matching lace and beads held in place an elbow-length veil, bordered with lace roses. She carried a crescent bouquet of white carnations mingled with stephanotis and trailing ivy.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Ted Rapley of Scarborough, and the bridesmaids, Miss Sheila Scheiter of Waterloo, sister of the bridegroom, and the Misses Sheila and Brenda Kaiser of Belleville, sisters of the bride, were identically attired in floor-length gowns of pale turquoise imported brocade with a lace pattern design. The skirts were bell-shaped and featured fitted bodices with V-set necklines, short sleeves and corded about the waistlines with tailored self bows. They were matching sheers and their headdresses were of wedding ring style band, with tailored bow in front and veiled with turquoise and silver net. Each carried a spray of three huge white 'mums with turquoise and silver ribbon.

F-O Roland Sefer of Gimli, Manitoba attended the bridegroom, while the ushers were: F-O Tom Spruston, F-O Gerry Ferguson and F-C G. Dowden, all of the Royal Military College, now stationed at Gimli, Manitoba.

The reception following the ceremony was held in Pinnacle Room 1st Hotel Quinte, Belleville, where the bride's mother received the guests, wearing a parchment colored long-sleeved brocade dress with matching hat, gold and beige accessories and a bronze orchid corsage.

She was assisted in the receiving line by the bridegroom's mother, who was dressed in a beige lace over taffeta sheath with matching accessories and a corsage of ivory-colored baby 'mums.

For the wedding trip to Gimli, Manitoba, the bride chose a forest green silk sheath dress, brown accessories and a corsage of gold colored 'mums.

The bride is a graduate of Queen's University, Kingston, and the bridegroom is a graduate of Royal Military College, Kingston, and he is now stationed at Gimli, where they will reside.

Guests were present from Waterloo, Ottawa, Kingston, Toronto, Listowel, Picton, and Belleville.

Holloway St. U.C.W. Plan Tea, Bazaar

The general meeting of the Holloway Street United Church Women, met Monday evening in the church parlors, with a good representation of the units present.

Due to illness in her family the president was not present and the vice-president Mrs. Ross Taylor chaired the meeting.

The worship service, taken by Mrs. Les Digby, followed the theme: "Don't let your possessions bind you". Using the scripture taken from Mark 5:1-17, where it narrates Jesus' cleansing of the tombs' man of his unclean spirits — she showed that the curing of one man meant nothing to the owners, only the loss of their herd of swine mattered to them and they ordered Jesus to leave their country. Some were fearful of Him, some told incomplete and often wrong reports, and so, through fear, falsehood and greed, Jesus left their coasts. Riches choke God and His work. He who seeks Jesus will make little become much and the impossible, possible. God has deliverance and blessing for everyone. Worship closed with prayer.

A tour of the church auditorium, where re-decorating is nearing completion, was made by all present.

During the business period final plans for the fashion show and tea were made and reports heard from the decorating and fall bazaar committees.

The offering was received by Members, Elizabeth Spafford, Sinfield and Cunningham.

Mrs. W. J. Coleman spoke in the interest of the United appeal and also Mrs. O. Bertram with a delightful "Pot-Luck" buffet held at the home of Mrs. W. G. Slade, Goldale Road.

Following the social hour, Mrs. T. Forrester, head of the residential canvass for United Appeal spoke most informatively on the different aspects of this worthy cause.

Mrs. R. M. Patterson, Regent in thanking Mrs. Forrester, assured her of the cooperation of the chapter in the campaign starting October 1st.

Plans were completed for a beauty clinic to be held November 5th at the Kiwanis Club.

A series of "Neighboring" coffee parties held during the month of June proved a most worthwhile project and one that has been requested again by an interested public.

A district dinner will be held on October 24th at the Tabernacle Church with Mrs. W. R. Morrison, provincial president, as guest speaker.

Jessica which has so recently attained independence was the subject of an interesting paper given by Mrs. J. Parrot.

Mrs. R. M. Patterson, Regent and Mrs. R. C. Ellis, standard bearer will be delegates to the semi-annual meeting to be held at Peterborough October 27th and 16th.

With current business completed, the meeting closed. Mrs. Patterson thanked Mrs. Slade on behalf of the chapter for the use of her home, and the arranging of the "buffet".

ARNOTT — TWIDDY

Red and white gladioli formed a lovely setting in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church Belleville, on Saturday, September 1st at 2 p.m., when Marilyn Joyce Twiddy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Foster Ian Twiddy, Belleville, was united in marriage to Barry Edward Arnott, son of Mrs. Harold Arnott, Belleville, and the late Mr. Arnott. The Rev. R. D. MacLean, B.D. minister of the church officiated.

Mr. A. Hayck rendered the traditional wedding music and accompanied Mr. Garth Allen in his renditions of the "Wedding Prayer" before the ceremony and the "Wedding Hymn" during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a floor-length chiffon over taffeta bridal gown, featuring a skirt gathered gently into a lace trimmed bustle, caught with a dainty rosette. The bodice was enhanced with long lace sleeves and a scalloped Sabrina neckline adorned with sequins at the yoke. Her pearl dress was a crown of pearls and sequins and held in place a shoulder length veil. She carried a bouquet of Sweetheart roses with trailing ribbon, and trailing roses mingled with ivy.

Miss Marilyn Reid, R.R. 4, Stirling was maid of honor, dressed in Azalea pink pure silk organza dress enhanced with bell shaped skirt and accented by rosette at waistline. She wore a matching headdress and carried a spray of 'mums tinted to match her ensemble.

The bridesmaids were Mrs. Charles Reynolds, Belleville, sister of the bride, in tropic water blue and Mrs. Ray Twiddy, Uxbridge, sister-in-law of the bride in matze similarly attired to the matron of honor. They were cultured pearls and earrings, gifts of the bride. Miss Kathy Reynolds in mauve and Miss Sherry Lee Twiddy in pale green organza over taffeta were the demure little flower girls. They were white accessories and matching hats and carried baskets of appropriately tinted 'mums. Each wore a tiny silver heart-shaped locket, gifts of the bride.

The groomsman was Mr. Don McCurdy, and the ushers were Mr. Wayne Twiddy and Mr. Ray Twiddy, both of Belleville.

The reception was held in the church hall where the bridal table was most attractive with its white linen cloth centred with a three-tier wedding cake topped with a musical bride and bridegroom and flanked with tapering white candles in candlelver crystal candelabra. The bridal bouquets added to the nuptial setting.

The bride's mother, wearing an embroidered satin sheath of Dior blue with matching hat of ostrich feathers, black accessories and a corsage of pink Sweet heart roses, received the guests, assisted by the mother of the bridegroom in light blue organza over taffeta, with lace top, matching feather hat and a corsage of pale pink Sweetheart roses.

The bride chose for her wedding trip to Ottawa, Pembroke and northern parts of Ontario, a pale turquoise sheath with matching Galpin, fur bridesmaid's hat, white accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

Guests were present from Belleville, Warkworth, Madoc, Frankford, Uxbridge, Toronto, Oshawa, Cleveland and Solon, Ohio,

Previous to her marriage the bride was honored at a shower held at Oak Lake by the girls of Ontario Hydro Office, Belleville; at a miscellaneous shower at home of Mrs. Clarence Wilson with Mrs. Lynn Wilson and Mrs. Bob Moore as co-hostesses and a presentation of a pair of table lamps from the Ontario Hydro Social Club, where both the bride and bridegroom are employed.

The couple will reside at 5 Plaza Square, Belleville.

Parkdale Baptist L.M.F. Lists Officers

On the 5th September, the Parkdale Baptist L.M.F. met at the home of Mrs. G. Nicholls. The president, Mrs. Snyder opened the meeting with a few words of welcome. The Scripture reading, was from St. John 15: 2-67.

During the business period, a slate of officers for 1963 was presented by the nominating committee and approved. Various reports were read.

The following members will be taking office in October; president — Mrs. Nicholls; vice-president — Mrs. Way; treasurer — Mrs. Mitchell; secretary — Mrs. Blake; press reporter — Mrs. Nalsmith; devotional leader — Mrs. Twilley; missionary convener — Mrs. Storey; social convener — Mrs. Breaton, assisted by Mrs. Tyrell; social service convener — Mrs. Seamont, assisted by Mrs. Hance, and hostess, Mrs. Twilley.

Mrs. Snyder told the ladies that the October meeting will be held in the church at which time, Miss Armstrong, a missionary home on furlough from Nigeria would be guest speaker. She also has some interesting slides of her work in Nigeria to show.

The devotional was taken by Mrs. Meeker from the 48th chapter of St. Luke 19-31. This is the story of the rich man and Lazarus. Mrs. Meeker drew some interesting comparisons between the two men. She said the rich man lacked for nothing while Lazarus was glad even of the crumbs but after death, it was the beggar who became rich and the rich man had to beg for even a drink of water. He felt the rich man's wealth and possessions had been left behind and he was a beggar in God's sight while Lazarus was made rich in the things of God.

Mrs. Foster read a poem by Annie Flint Johnson, "The Nameless Thinkers".

The meeting closed and a time of fellowship followed.

PARRINGTON — THOMAS

Cannifton United Church was the setting for a lovely wedding on Saturday, September 1st, 1962, when Patricia Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Thomas, Cannifton was united in marriage to Myles Parrington, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Parrington, Peterborough, Ontario. The Rev. Nichols assisted by Mr. Dawson officiated at the ceremony.

Traditional wedding music was rendered by Mrs. H. Farman who also accompanied the soloist Miss Wilma McPherson in her renditions of "O Perfect Love" and the "Wedding Prayer".

The bride, given in marriage by her father was radiant in full length bouffant bridal gown of Queen Anne lace featuring a fitted bodice, Sabrina neckline and long sleeves ending in lily points at the wrists. The skirt flared to three scalloped tiers of lace giving a lily waist line. Her headdress was a crown of scalloped Bavarian crystals entwined with pearls which enhanced a fingertip veil of bouffant silk illusion.

The maid of honor, Miss Patricia Galpin, the bridesmaid, Miss Dawn Thomas and the little flower girl, Miss Trudy Thomas were identically gowned in soft yellow chiffon over taffeta with the skirts featuring a slitted front panel. Their headdresses were yellow rosettes and they wore yellow shoes, yellow organza mitts and carried cascades of yellow and white 'mums.

The bride's mother received the guests at the reception in the church parlors, attired in turquoise blue dress with matching hat, white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. She was assisted by the mother of the bridegroom who wore a draped sheath dress of Dior blue with matching hat, pink accessories and a pink carnation corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. Parrington will reside at R.R. 3 Peterborough.

PRICE CHECK

Government economists say a price spread of more than five cents a dozen between large and medium-size eggs should warrant buying the medium.

Mr., Mrs. Andrew Scero Mark 60th Wedding Anniversary

DESERONTO — On September 10th, a highly respected and popular couple of the Tyendinaga Reserve, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Scero, celebrated their diamond wedding anniversary. It was in 1902 that Ethel E. Culbertson, daughter of John and Margaret Culbertson was united in marriage with Andrew E. Scero, son of Alexander and Lizzie Scero by the Rev. Garret Smith then rector of Christ Church Tyendinaga Reserve. Janet Maracle was bridesmaid and is now deceased but the groomsman, George Orval Maracle is now a resident in Midland and unfortunately was unable to attend the dinner held in honor of the happy couple in the Council house on Saturday night.

One son Burley predeceased his parents and the other son, Everett is now living in Oshawa. There were seven grandchildren and now Mr. and Mrs. Scero are the great-grandparents of 21 children.

On Saturday night 100 people gathered at the festive board at the Council house to honor Andrew and Ethel. They were the recipients of a telegram of congratulations from Her Majesty the Queen, Prime Minister Diefenbaker and Premier Roberts and were presented with a scroll from the Provincial Government.

During the supper they were presented with a purse of money from their many friends throughout the area and also received a countless number of cards of congratulations.

The dinner was catered by the Ladies' Guild of Tyendinaga Reserve.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

Mrs. K.R. — She wants to transfer to a wild, "progressive" college.

Annette R. — It's a school that treats students like adults.

* * *

Mrs. K.R. — Annette is 19 and has completed her freshmen year at our local university. We thought she'd be returning there this fall and go along steadily to graduation. Instead we learn that she's applying for a transfer to one of those extremely progressive, avantgarde colleges in New England. She says our college is too much like a high school. And besides, she wants to get away from home.

We can't stop her for money reasons because she has a healthy bank account, both from gifts and her teenage earnings. But we'd like to stop her on other grounds. First of all, it's an all-girl school and her social life will be affected. Second, from what we hear, that college leaves the girls entirely too much to their own devices.

Annette R. — I'm fed up with rules, laws, regulations, codes and inscrutable hands out to me both at school and at home. At last I've heard of a college that gives a girl some credit for being bright enough to take care of herself. If my application goes through I'll have my first experience with living in a mature environment.

At this women's college, you're not a queer if you beg to be left alone. And I like being left alone, instead of always having to join in, take part, converse and be sociable. I want to live and study in a place where privacy and personal freedom are respected, a place where people mind their own business. I hope to find some peace for the rest of my college years, away from friends and family who make light of, make fun of and interrupt my serious study.

* * *

The Council: We can't get vexed about Annette's prospective transfer, so long as she doesn't go off the deep end on this question of privacy. Does she realize that a person can have too much privacy? After long periods of boiling, of doing as she pleases, of thinking of no one else's wishes but her own, Annette may find she's lost her social skills and her social assurance.

Even though family ties and group endeavor carry with them certain restraints and stresses, they offer us the social interplay course which turns us into "human beings." Human nature is essentially social and all our human qualities come from brushing shoulders and rubbing elbows with fellow humans. As proof, note the animal-like condition in which people who have been helplessly penned up emerge. Remember the man whose mother boarded him up in a garret to beat the Draft! So we urge Annette to seek a healthy balance, rather than to wallow in isolation.

Also, we raise the same question Mrs. R. asks: Is a 19-year-old girl ready for a mature social responsibility? Even staid and well-adjusted middle-agers enjoy some direction, some steering. Isn't it too great a load to place on a young girl to decide whether she'll go to class, whether she'll drop geology, nurse her cold, stay out all night?

Whether Annette wins admission to this Walden Pond of her desires or must "make do" with the present conventional state of affairs, we hope she never loses sight of the fact that people need people. Those who flaunt this basic psychological truth do so at great risk to their optimum development. A few exceptionally gifted people can come through a hermetic period unscathed. But a young lady like Annette may, if she withdraws from other people too assiduously, lose her ability to converse normally and grow insensitive to the "radar signals" emanating from her peers.

Privacy is fine for those who also have a strong sense of belonging. Self-direction is fine for those who are highly self-disciplined. At 19, Annette is faced with a neat juggling job, in order to come out even.

AGREE TO REQUEST

DANNEMORA, N.Y. (AP)— The hospital at Clinton prison here will open a plastic surgery centre next month for the benefit of prisoners, the head surgeon reports. Dr. Edwin M. Jameson said Wednesday night that 26 prisoners had already requested surgery at the centre. Defects or deformities are a dominant cause of crime, he said, in six to eight per cent of criminals.

The chalk talk, "Chrysanthemums Transplanted" from the study book was given by Mrs. B. Reide. A poem, "Her Consecrated Car," was read by Mrs. W. McMullen. A Bible quiz was conducted by Mrs. B. Stapley and the meeting closed with prayer by Mr. Dyson.

BRIDGE NECESSARY

TROIS-RIVIERES, Que. (CP) A bridge across the St. Lawrence River soon will be necessary to aid summer traffic, city council has been told. All three city ferries now in service boundary to carry an average total of 1,500 cars.

St. John's Church Holds Fireside Hour

On September 9th, St. John's Anglican Church, Point Anne held an evening service at 7 p.m. Mr. H. Cavlier conducted the service.

At the close of the service the congregation and guests from Holy Trinity Church, Shannonville, adjourned to the Parish Hall to join in the first Fireside Hour.

Mrs. Dorothy Hart welcomed the visitors and thanked Mr. Cavalier for having this get together take place. She called on Mr. Cavalier who led in prayer.

Mrs. Dorothy Hart took the part of MC for the evening and the following program was presented — a reading by Miss Pamela Akey; piano solo "Hornpipe" by Miss Gloria Green; tap dance — Miss Carolyn Chisholm; sing-song by all present and a game of "Sly Wink".

Refreshments were served by the ladies of the Friendship Group after which all present formed a circle and sang "Abide With Me", Mr. Cavalier closed the program with the benediction.

Mr. Fitzgerald, on behalf of the visitors from Shannonville thanked Mr. Cavalier and the Friendship Group for a most Pleasant evening.

Mr. Cavalier thanked all those who took part in the program and the ladies of the Friendship Group for arranging the program and providing the refreshments.

Mrs. Audrey Chisholm president of the Friendship Group, thanked the visitors from Holy Trinity Church for joining in the first fireside hour, and also thanked all those from St. John's Church who took part in making the evening such a success.

'Lines on Life'

By Dr. Sizzrl E. Rosenberg

The Bible has been read, studied and taught for the spiritual content of its messages. But its sociology is as intriguing and instructive as its theology. Here, in simplified form, is a little list of significant and tell-tale social traits of Biblical life and times:

(1) As long as a man lives he retains a forward-looking hope. The older he gets, the more he will be respected, the greater his prestige, the higher his social standing.

(2) As his children grow up, they grow toward him and the family. Instead of moving out of the house when they are married, they move in - his sons bring their wives under the father's roof - and raise their own children in the parental home.

(3) The goal of education is thus not self-centredness and complete independence but total and joyous commitment to the continuity of the family and the reverence due to elders. The younger, therefore, look forward to being old - it's worth living for!

(4) Juvenile delinquency and loneliness in old age are unknown since the young need not compete with their elders for power and affection, nor are elders afraid of being outertaken, transcended or neglected by the young. Both the young and the old know very well who they are and what they are not. And neither is either ashamed or confused by this knowledge.

Now let us see how our social patterns compare. Here's a contemporary catalogue:

(1) Our children do what they want; parents, too, do what their children want. Parents, it appears, serve one principal purpose: to fulfil the whims and fancies of their children.

(2) Children grow up in our society minus feelings of responsibility toward their elders because they have been assigned few duties. It is obviously no accident that early in their lives they develop a feeling of superiority in relation to older people in general and to their own parents in particular.

(3) Our child-dominated society orients children, at an early age, away from the authority of the home, to the world of other young people, in the belief that there - in that world - young people are free to be themselves, to think, talk and believe the way young people believe they should.

(4) Everyone, however, ends up less than happy. Older people, too, alienated from their parents' world, soon discover that they're old at forty. By the time they've awakened to that frightening fact, their own children are telling them how old-fashioned they are!

Which list seems to be more conducive to happiness - the old or the new?

The Biblical world, rather than the modern, held open possibilities for deeper spiritual satisfactions because it did not disrespect the old in the futile attempt to idolize the new.

Perhaps at the very core of our difficulties this is the reason for our gnawing sense of frustration. Have we, perhaps, been so busy "being modern", so anxious to "keep up-to-date", so fearful of being called "old-fashioned", that we have really gone backward, thinking we were moving ahead?

A sign on a New England roadside store proclaims a quaint slogan: "Be Modern! Buy our Antiques."

Perhaps the real failure of modern times is our insistence upon "changing to keep up with the times". Perhaps we need to work harder at saving some of those older things which may yet change the times.

Women's Auxiliary Pres Of Que. Socreds Active In Workings of Party

By JANET KASK

MONTREAL (CP) — Mrs. Judith Richard, president of the Social Credit Women's Auxiliary of Quebec, lives in a house in Montreal's north end where "Social Crediters have been coming for 20 years."

And they're still coming. One of the frequent guests is Real Caouette, provincial leader and deputy national leader of the party.

Mrs. Richard, a native of Montreal, became involved in the Social Credit movement when she married 20 years ago. She heads a group of close to 1,000 Social Credit women which was formed last October.

The petite, soft-spoken mother of four—two daughters 18 and 21 and two sons 19 and 20—said all four are active in the Social Credit youth movement. Her husband, Dollard Richard, was a candidate in Montreal's Dollard constituency and is joint provincial treasurer of the party.

"I have always co-operated with everything my husband did," she said. She helped him in his first job as an insurance agent and now helps run his fuel oil business. "It's the same in politics. We always work together."

APPEALED TO WOMEN

On the success of the Social Credit party in Quebec in the last federal election, Mrs. Richard said that for one thing many women who had had no previous interest in politics were voting for the first time—and the Social Credit party paid special attention to them.

She doubted that the present Diefenbaker government would last long, but hoped another election would not be called for a while because of all the work involved.

Speaking perfect English, she said she had learned it as a girl when she went to J. Arthur Rank films "with notebook in hand" and wrote down new words in the darkness of the theatre. She served as translator in the Social Credit headquarters in Montreal during the last election campaign.

"I with more than anything else," she said, "that women would realize how important politics are—if only for the future and education of their children."

There are too many people who think they're too good for politics—or that it's some sort of subversive movement."

"All women can't go out and occupy prominent positions, but all women can learn about politics. It all the same."

SOCIAL CREDIT LEADER

Mrs. Judith Richard, Montreal, mother of four children, is president of the Social Credit Women's Auxiliary of Quebec. The auxiliary, formed last October, has about 1,000 members. (CP Photo).

Youth Definitely Not Handicap in Business

MONTREAL (CP) — The 19-year-old associate director of a theatrical and modelling agency here says her youth is definitely not a handicap in the business.

Jean Loch, the daughter of Baroness Loch of Drylaw, England put it this way in an interview:

"I keep hearing, 'You're so capable for a 19-year-old,' and, if I make a mistake, people say, 'Oh well, she's only 19.'"

Miss Loch started her fashion career with a London couturier and found she liked arranging for models.

She plans to go to Europe eventually in connection with this work and will head for the south of France to work in one of the many small fashion boutiques.

Miss Loch definitely prefers European to Montreal models both in temperament and performance.

"A Montreal model is always trying to convey her image and they often become moody and temperamental. On the other hand, European models are better trained and won't complain if they are asked to stand in one place for eight hours."

As to performance, "Montreal girls also tend to copy one another, and their presentation is all the same."

Miss Loch would dearly love to model but says "unfortunately, I haven't the fortitude to diet."

She lists the main requirements of models as an interesting, photogenic face, a figure with a small bust, neat waist and slim hips, and "an ability to make whatever she puts on look good, whether it's a Dior or a $18.95 model."

Women's Activities

BATAWA — The W.A. meeting of Batawa United Church was held in the Sunday School room on Monday evening. The president, Mrs. Ivan Lockhart opened the meeting with prayer. Mrs. Donald Hiscott conducted the worship portion.

The program was in charge of the Rev. H. Beach who gave a talk on United Church Women and their association with Christian education.

The business was conducted and correspondence was read from the W.A. foster child from Hong Kong.

A pot-luck supper will take place in Shoreline United Church, September 22nd completed with Xian and included the members of the session and church board and their wives and friends of the various church organizations.

The next W.A. meeting will be October 16th.

Refreshments were served.

AGENCY DIRECTOR AT 19—Jean Loch is only 19 but already she's associate director of a Montreal theatrical and modelling agency. She started her career in London and her work involves arranging for models and getting backdrops and props for them. Miss Loch is the daughter of Baroness Loch of Drylaw, England. (CP Photo).

Acting Prime Minister Says This Is Not a Time To Downgrade the Council

OTTAWA (CP) — Acting Prime Minister Donald Fleming says this is not a time to downgrade the National Productivity Council but instead to encourage it in its endeavors.

Mr. Fleming was commenting following a cabinet meeting on the announcement Wednesday by Claude Jodoin, president of the Canadian Labor Congress, he has resigned from the council.

The justice minister said he regrets Mr. Jodoin's action, especially since the council has been in existence only about 18 months and was just nicely launched into its work.

He said it is significant that Mr. Jodoin's letter of resignation, received Tuesday afternoon, based the action not on particular criticisms of the council's makeup, but on Mr. Jodoin's desire for a different kind of organization.

Before Mr. Jodoin had written his letter, it was known to him that the government was prepared to consider changes that might make the council more effective.

Mr. Jodoin said the council is a barrier to labor-management co-operation.

REPEATS CALL

Mr. Jodoin repeated his call for an economic advisory council, bringing together the three levels of government, plus management, labor, agriculture and other groups.

His resignation leaves four other labor representatives on the 32-man productivity council. There are also five delegates of from business and industry, five from agriculture and other primary industries, four federal government members and a director-at-large appointed by the cabinet for terms of one, two and three years.

Chairman H. George Dewing, president of Atlas Steels Limited at Welland, said the resignation comes just as the council was about to implement new programs.

"Mr. Jodoin calls for a high level of labor-management-government co-operation in Canada," said the statement issued through the council office here. "The council wholeheartedly agrees and is taking concrete steps to implement this national objective.

He said the council's terms of reference were broadly based to permit such development and council members had agreed that productivity alone "is not the full answer to Canada's economic growth."

The new program would be reviewed at Halifax Sept. 20 and 21 when council would implementation. It was hoped that the CLC "will want to assume its full role in helping to make the various sides of Canada's economy."

PEARSON UNDERSTANDS

Liberal Leader Pearson said he understands Mr. Jodoin's position.

When the council was first formed, the Liberals "protested out that it was too limited in scope and its mandate did not go far enough and that it should not have a productivity council but an economic advisory council. .

Leader Robert Thompson of the Social Credit also sympathized with Mr. Jodoin. "The council wasn't doing its job."

Leader T. C. Douglas, of the New Democratic Party said the council was a matter for Mr. Jodoin and he was in a good position to assess the reasons for it.

Three of the four remaining labor representatives are members of CLC-affiliated unions.

Communist China Taking Action to Solve Problems In Agriculture and Industry

Clare McDermott, leaving Peking after 26 months there as Reuters correspondent, reviews the changes during his stay and takes a look at the future. McDermott is a native of Edmonton.

By CLARE McDERMOTT

PEKING (Reuters) — How long will it take Communist China to complete its present period of "adjustment and consolidation" and embark on another "great leap forward?"

This question draws many different answers from diplomats and other foreigners in Peking today.

Toward the end of my two year stay in Communist China, there was evidence that the authorities were taking action to solve their agricultural and food problems before preparing for a return to an industrial build-up.

Communist officials have declared, publicly and privately, their opinion here that the current economic difficulties are only temporary, and that the upsurge will start again before long.

The third five-year plan is due to begin in 1963, but no program has yet been published.

WILL TAKE TIME

Some diplomatic observers say it might be five to 15 years before China can restore her agricultural production, complete the laying of a foundation for her industry, settle transport difficulties and reassure the peasants that a new drive for industrialism will not result in shortages and hunger.

Chinese agriculture has been based largely on the use of animal manure and it will be some time before enough chemical fertilizer is available to replace the pigs killed off in recent years.

In spite of greatly increased production of tractors, it will take some time for these to make up for a great shortage of draught animals.

Water conservation, electrification, irrigation, farm mechanization and afforestation are all being tackled, but less rapidly than envisaged in 1958 when the peoples' communes were established.

As to industry, diplomatic observers here think that much depends upon the build-up of raw materials reserves and transport.

MINING WEAK

Po I-po, vice-premier and chairman of the state economic commission, recently described mining as a "weak link" in the economy.

He urged increased prospecting for resources, the development of necessary transport facilities, and improvements in production, particularly in non-ferrous metals, coal and oil.

But foreign observers think much of the "consolidation and adjustment" must be done in the thinking of the people—the officials, ordinary workers and peasants, the merchants and the intellectuals.

The new "hundred flowers" campaign to woo intellectuals and merchants back into a more active role was intensified at the time of the National People's Congress (Parliament) session this spring.

The experience and technical skills of these people are badly needed by Communist China. But their help and confidence has to be gained.

According to what some of them have told foreign diplomats, the intellectuals still recall the "rectification" which followed only a year after the 1956 appeals to "let a hundred flowers bloom and a hundred schools of thought contend."

EASE PEASANTS' LOT

In the meantime, while official pronouncements have dropped the emphasis on the simultaneous development of industry and agriculture as well as predictions that Communist China will overtake Britain industrially within 15 years, attempts are being made to ease the lot of peasants and workers by offering more material rewards for their labor.

Observers say more of the food produced is being channelled back to the people instead of being exported to pay for machines and equipment which to develop industry.

Stress now is laid on production of consumer and handicraft goods, and efforts are being made to see that they get into the hands of the people.

Peasants are being persuaded to rely more on their own efforts, to plant their own gardens and produce small crops for which they will be paid individually.

Political pressure has been relaxed. There are fewer meetings and fewer demands for political study by peasants and workers already tired after their day's labors.

Food supplies, according to all available estimates, are better in Peking, Tientsin, Canton and other cities this summer than they have been for the last two years, although difficulties and shortages are still reported from some country districts.

Much depends on this summer's harvests. First official reports for many districts say they are likely to be better than in recent years.

New Book Facts

Are Canada's Indians increasing or decreasing in number? In the last dozen years, which is the only N.H.L. team not to have made the Stanley Cup finals? Which of the three armed services has the largest personnel? What proportion of Canadian dwellings consist of four or more rooms? What port of entry admits the most tourists to Canada? What part of Canada, comprising less than three percent of the country's total area, houses 60 percent of the population?

The answers to these questions and many thousand more are contained in the 18th annual edition of Quick Canadian Facts, the 144-page, 50-cent pocket encyclopedia about Canada that has just come out in the book stores and on the larger newsstands. To the questions above, here are the book's answers:

The New York Rangers are the only National Hockey League team not to have played in the Stanley Cup Finals in the past 12 years.

Full strength of the three armed services as permitted by Sept. 1, 1961, order-in-council is army 50,571, air force 52,238, navy 21,749.

About 90 per cent of Canadian dwellings consist of four or more rooms, and are equipped with running water, electricity, radio and television receivers, powered washing machines and mechanical refrigerators.

A few more excerpts that illustrate the diversity of the new annual's information:

About income: The total of wages and salaries and supplementary labor income paid to Canadians in 1961 was $18.9 billion: an increase of 4.3 per cent over 1960. In the past 15 years the total of labor income has more than tripled, although the number of Canadians with jobs has increased by only about one-third.

About trade: "In total volume of world trade Canada normally ranks fifth to the United States, the United Kingdom, West Germany and France. On a per capita basis, Canada usually ranks first or second in the world in both imports and exports. About two-thirds of Canada's imports are of fully manufactured goods; in total volume and on a per capita basis Canadians are the world's largest buyers of such products. Exports, on the other hand, are mainly of raw materials, food products and semi-manufactured goods; the primary industries, that account for more than two-thirds of total exports, directly employ only about 10 per cent of the labour force."

About newspapers: "The first newspaper in what is now Canada was the Halifax Gazette, first issued on March 23, 1752, by John Bushell who had brought a press to Nova Scotia from Boston. Like other early newspapers the Gazette existed by virtue of government permission and patronage; its columns consisted many government advertisements and in addition the press was kept busy printing official documents. On Bushell's death in 1761 the paper was taken over by his partner, Anthony Henry, but on government order he was dismissed from the editorship five years later for criticism of the Stamp Act, the law by which Britain taxed her colonies in North America to pay one-third of the cost of troops garrisoned there."

This new edition of Quick Canadian Facts (published by Quick Canadian Facts Ltd. 219 Bay St., Toronto) includes a chronological history from Canada's earliest days up to early 1962, concise articles on the provinces, government, the six major industries, text and tables on geography and climate; in addition there are up-to-date statistical reviews of the population, occupations, incomes, taxation, trade, transportation and business.

Ontario Hospital Penetanguishene

By MATTHEW R. DIMOND, M.D., Health Minister for Ont.

A popular movie series began by describing the hospital as a place "where life begins, where life ends, and where life goes on".

In a sense, life begins at our Ontario Hospital at Penetanguishene. With modern treatment of mental illness, for many there is birth, or rather rebirth, into the world of mental health.

The steps towards this rebirth having been taken, the individuals have begun to establish, within this hospital, a society — "where life goes on". They are striving towards a community which approaches, as nearly as possible, the world outside the hospital. They are showing increasing initiative in organizing and maintaining their activities and consequently, accepting more responsibility for their own behavior and the behavior of the community to which they belong.

This is particularly true of the individuals at the "Oak Ridge" section of the Ontario Hospital, Penetanguishene. A number of people there, through their mental disorder, have become involved with the law or have been management problems at other Ontario Hospitals. Still others have become mentally ill while serving sentences. Yet all are encouraged to participate in the various activities which represent part of normal living.

The first project to be undertaken was the establishment of a hospital newspaper, "The Quill". This is published monthly and contains contributions from the editorial staff and others of the hospital community.

Following shortly, the Athletic Board was instituted. It consists of a representative elected from each ward and from these representatives, a chairman is elected. This board has the responsibility of organizing and ensuring the smooth running of athletic activities.

And it was on the stimulus provided by the individuals in the hospital that a series of concerts was undertaken. The first of these presentations was designed to provide additional entertainment at Christmas. The staff were so enthusiastic, and surprised by the hidden talents, that they requested a repeat performance. And so the concerts were made open to the staff, their families and friends.

All of these endeavours on the part of the individuals involved demonstrate a desire to show to others that they are approaching their goal — a return to normalcy.

Giants Lose Game, Mays-Dodgers Win

Jay Lost To Reds

By JIM BACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Los Angeles Dodgers won their game.

San Francisco Giants lost their game—and Willie Mays.

That combination of events Wednesday night may provide the Dodgers the opening for a breakthrough in the tension-filled National League race.

A home run by Frank Howard and the fight-relief pitching of unbeaten Ed Roebuck and Ron Perranoski lifted the Dodgers to a 1-0 victory over Houston and a 1½ game lead over runner-up San Francisco. The Giants were 4-1 losers to the third-place Reds, still 5½ behind, as Fred Robinson powered the way for the winners with two homers.

Mays and Jay were casualties in the key struggle at Cincinnati, and both attended Jay-off by either of these star performers appeared the ills chances of his club.

Mays, the majors' top home run hitter with 49 and the Giants' leader in their pennant drive, suffered what was described as an attack of indigestion in the third inning. The brilliant centre fielder was unconscious when he was carried off the field. The game had to be forfeited to the hospital.

STUCK BY BALL

Jay, a 21-game-winning right-hander, was sent to hospital a short time later after a batted ball struck the index finger of his pitching hand.

In Wednesday night's only other NL game, Philadelphia master threw a six-hitter as Philadelphia threw a six-hitter as Philadelphia Phillies 9-0.

The Dodgers managed just three hits off Ken Johnson and Don McMahon, but the big one by Howard was enough for the Pete Richert-Roebuck - Perranoski combine. Richert held off the Colts through three innings, but in the fourth he gave up a single to Roman Mejias and a safe-bunt to Carl Warwick with none out. Roebuck then made his 32nd trip to the mound this season, and after a sacrifice and an intentional walk, Hal Smith hit into a double play.

The right-handed relief star had a get through jams in the seventh and eighth. Then in the ninth, after a one-out walk to Smith, Perranoski rang down the curtain, saving Roebuck his 10th straight victory.

WILLS HELD HITLESS

Howard's 27th homer in the fifth. Maury Wills, who had stolen 54 bases in the last six games and was on a 19-game hitting streak, was held hitless in 3 Dodgers' at-bats before hitting streak, was stopped cold in his four appearances at the plate.

San Francisco left-hander Billy Pierce got roughed up in the first inning at Cincinnati. Eddie Kasko opened up with a single and was sacrificed to second by Joey Jay and Wally Post homered in succession. Robinson socked No. 36 in the sixth, also off Pierce.

Jay held the Giants without a hit until the fourth inning, but then had to retire after being in game under protest after charging Jay with using an improper pitching motion.

The Braves supportd Lee Master's shutout pitching with a 14-hit attack led by Joe Torre, Eddie Mathews and Frank Bolling. Torre homered and also singled twice, Mathews had a homer and single, and Bolling collected a pair of doubles and a single. Phillie star Art Mahaffey, now 15-12, was the loser.

Leafs Lose To Crackers

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Home park magic held up again for the International League playoffs Wednesday night.

Rochester Red Wings and Atlanta Crackers, both double losers in visiting roles, snapped back with victories in their home parks in the semi-final best-of-seven sets.

The Red Wings nailed the league championship Jacksonville Suns, 2-0 and the Crackers edged the second-place Toronto Maple Leafs, 4-3.

The Suns and the Leafs still have 2-1 edges in the series.

Buster Narum, 12-4 for the Wings during the regular season, set down the Suns on seven hits. Only one Jacksonville runner, reached third base, as Narum's mates chipped in two help-ful double plays.

Joe Dedrick homered with two out in the first inning, and Bob Saverine singled, stole second and scored on Jerry Ward's hit in the third, for the Rochester scoring. Art Ceccarelli, 15-13 during the season, took the loss. He worked six innings.

John Glenn smacked an eighth inning pinch homer that decided the edge for the Crackers. Tommy Jumped out to a three-run lead, including Tim Thomas's two-run homer. Relief pitcher Billy Moford, 9-6, Ed Bauta, the winner, set down the last 18 Leafs in order, however, and the Crackers pecked away at Steve Ritzie for a run at a time, Glenn's 425-foot blast over the center-field fence came off Cal Browning, the loser, who relieved in the seventh.

The next two games of both sets are scheduled Thursday night and Atlanta, before moving to Jacksonville and Toronto if necessary.

Not Shooting For Record

Wills' Aim, Help Club

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Baseball's greatest base thief since the great Tyrus Raymond Cobb has taken his burglary act on the road for the final time this season.

Maurice Morning (Maury) Wills of Los Angeles Dodgers is the gentleman in question. The return of the club to Dodger Stadium Sept. 25, the mighty little one seems certain to break one of the game's most sacred records—92 bases stolen in 1915 by Cobb, the immortal Georgia Peach.

Wills got No. 90 Tuesday night, his 14th in six games and 30th in the last 25 games. At Houston Wednesday night he failed to reach first base.

Wills seems embarrassed when the Cobb record is emphasized or obvious comparisons with Cobb are made.

"No," he insists, "I am not pointing toward Cobb's record, or any particular number or bases stolen. My only aim is to help the club in the pennant race.

"If a record comes—well, it just will. But my real aim is to help the ball club win the pennant in the National League."

Wills, 28, a 150-pounder, is not the fastest man on the Dodgers. Willie Davis holds that honor. But he has mastered the technique of the quick start and the perfect timing in getting the jump on a pitcher's throwing motion.

Six times this year Wills has stolen three bases in a single game. Against Pittsburgh last week he stole four.

Vault To Second With 24-10 Win

Riders Gallop Over Alouettes

REGINA (CP)—For football fans who can barely remember the Glenn Dobbs era, the look of the Western Football Conference standings is a little unfamiliar. Saskatchewan Roughriders, cellar dwellers in the conference basement, are in second place.

The Riders, who last won a WFC title 13 years ago on the strong arm of Dobbs' passing, dumped Montreal Alouettes 24-10 in an inter-locking Canadian Football League game here Wednesday night before 12,000 fans and vaulted from last place to second place tie with Calgary Stampeders.

The Riders and Saskatchewan have seven points apiece, B.C. Lions and Edmonton Eskimos have six and Winnipeg Blue Bombers are on top with 12. The loss left Alouettes in third place in the eastern conference, two points back of the second-place Ottawa Rough Riders.

Halfback Ray Purdin of Saskatchewan gained a share of eighth place in the individual WFC scoring statistics as he scored twice. Wednesday's win by two touchdowns and raised his points total to 34. Purdin, a 5-foot-8, 180-pounder, is a versatile who is in his second year with Roughriders, scored one touchdown on a scintillating 93-yard run, the longest of the season for a Saskatchewan player - kicker Gerry Organ boosted a field goal and three converts.

WEST GALLOPS HOME

Rookie Dale West, a graduate of New Mexico Highlands university, was the first Alouettes player to score. Bobby Jack Oliver converted and added a field goal.

Riders took a 7-0 lead in the first quarter on Purdin's 92-yard touchdown run. Score at half time and 24-10 after three quarters.

Purdin collected the major share of Riders' 312 yards rushing as he battled for about 170 on 21 carries. Alouettes went for 186 yards on the ground and 230 in the air as Stephens completed 16 of 27 tosses. Two were intercepted in the fourth quarter.

Peach threw 2've passes and completed three for 137 yards. Alouettes collected 24 first downs compared with 17 for Riders.

The teams exchanged three fumbles in quick succession in the fourth quarter. Two were recovered.

Next game in the West will be Wednesday contest between Hamilton Tiger-Cats and Edmonton Friday Calgary entertains the Alouettes Saturday.

Fighter Fined For Butting

LONDON (AP)—Ralph Dupas of New Orleans, disqualified for butting in his fight against Britain's Brian Curvis Tuesday night, was fined £200 Wednesday by the British Boxing Board of Control.

The sixth-round disqualification robbed Dupas of a possible return against world welterweight champion Emile Griffith and opened the door to a title fight for Curvis, British and Empire weight champion.

"The stewards of the British board were very fair," Dupas said afterwards. "I am very well satisfied."

Dupas said: I do fight in a crouch. I understood the rules when they were explained to me but not after that first punch."

Hull In 'Best Shape'

Hawks Happy, Hall Signs

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—There was bad news for the other five National Hockey League teams Wednesday as Chicago Black Hawks completed their third day of training here.

Black Hawks manager Tommy Ivan announced that Glenn Hall, affectionately known as "Mr. Goalie" in Chicago, is the first player to sign a 1962-63 contract.

With Hall happy we'll be solid again in goal," said Ivan.

Also likely to cause some concern among the rival NHL clubs was the two-goal performance from Bobby Hull in Wednesday's scrimmage.

Hull, who shared the points championship last season with Andy Bathgate, had his biggest year in actual goals with 50, tying him with Montreal Canadiens' Bernie Geoffrion and the now-retired Rocket Richard as the single-season leader in that department.

Both Coach Pilous and Ivan feel Hull is in for another treat-ment year. "I think Bobby reported in the best shape ever," said Ivan.

The Hawks meet Toronto Maple Leafs in the first exhibition game here Saturday night.

Lightfoots Shade Trudeaus

A last-ditch stand in the bottom of the final inning plated four runs for Lightfoot Construction last night and gave them a 5-4 decision over Trudeau Motors.

The Lightfoot victory tied their best of seven city softball finals at one game apiece. The next three games are scheduled for Saturday, Monday and next Wednesday, all at the CNRA Park at six o'clock.

Trudeaus held a 4-1 lead going into the bottom of the seventh. An error put the first man on and Rowbotham tripled him home, scoring himself on Smith's fly ball. Moreau hit a single and Trudeau's lifted pitcher Jimmy Day in favor of Harry Powers. An error on the first batter Powers pitched to let in the tying run and Rusty Garvin singled Dolan across with the winner.

Powers was the losing pitcher while throwing to just two batters. He gives up eight hits while striking out two and walking four.

Rusty Long hurled the victory, allowing nine hits while getting three down on strikes and handing Trudeau the hit one batter.

Smith's double and Dolan's single got Lightfoot's first run home in the third.

Trudeaus scored two in the third on Lyle Wannamaker's bases-loaded single. Hits by Baker and Casey, a walk and an error plated another pair in the fourth.

Doug Moreau had a double and single for Lightfoots while Rowbotham had a triple, Tom Lynch and Don Smith a double each. Don Dolan, Rusty Garvin, Jack Garvin and Percy Long added singles.

Bob Wannamaker collected a double and single and John "Shaker" Baker two singles for Trudeaus. John Casey, Lyle Wannamaker, Eddie Pista, Paul Searaw and Junior Day had single.

Those arrested in the 18-state crackdown were charged with failure to buy a $50 annual occupational tax stamp, pay a 10-per-cent excise levy on their profits and a tax of $250 on each coin operated gaming device. Each can be fined to $10,000 and imprisoned for five years if convicted.

With the American League pennant scramble reaching its climax, the least likely team you'd expect to hear from would be Washington, but a 15-strikeout salute by Senators' pitcher Tom Cheney has grabbed the spotlight from the contenders.

Cheney, a 27-year-old right-hander who has labored sporadically and unspectacular in five previous major league campaigns, struck out 21 batters in 16 innings Wednesday night for a major league one-game record en route to a 3-1 victory over Baltimore Orioles.

Meanwhile, it began to look like the end of the line for New York's pursuers in the pennant race. The Yankees ballooned their bulge as Mickey Mantle hit a three-run homer and powered the defending world champions to a 5-2 decision over Cleveland Indians.

The second-place Los Angeles Angels lost to Kansas City Athletics 4-1 and fell five games back while the third - place Minnesota Twins bowed to Chicago White Sox 5-4 in 12 innings and dropped 5½ lengths off the pace.

TEN MORE TO GO

That left the Yanks' magic pennant - clinching number at 10. Any combination of 10 New York victories and Los Angeles defeats will give the Yankees their 12th pennant in 14 years.

In the other AL games Wednesday, Boston Red Sox swept a doubleheader from Detroit Tigers 5-4 and 6-2.

Cheney, a slender 6-foot-2 hurler, was started out in the St. Louis system, struck out the side in the third and fifth innings, wound up nine innings with 13 strikeouts, then continued his streak in extra-innings.

Cheney's performance topped the mark of 18, set in 1934 by Charles Sweeney of Providence in the National League and Hugh Dalley of Chicago in the Union Association. It also better the modern standard of 16, accomplished six times by four different pitchers.

Cheney brought his record to 6-8 when Bud Zipfel homered off Dick Hall (4-6) for the game-winner in the 16th.

MICKEY WINS IT

Mantle's homer off Pedro Ramos put the Yankees ahead 4-2 in the fifth inning after the Indians had moved in front on Chuck Essegian's two - run homer in the fourth. That wrapped it up for the Yankees as Whitey Ford (15-7) checked the Indians on six hits. Ramos (8-12) pitched with a broken finger on his left hand.

The Athletics rode a four-hitter by Orlando Pena (4-3) to their victory over the Angels. Los Angeles' lone run coming when Lee Thomas homered in the ninth inning. Kansas City tagged Bo Belinsky (9-10) with the loss, scoring all the runs they needed in the fifth on run-producing hits by the pitcher and batterymate Haywood Sullivan.

Sherm Lollar stroked a two-out single in the 12th, scoring Al Smith with the winning run for the White Sox as they handed the Twins their fourth consecutive setback. Camilo Pascual (13-9) went all the way for Minnesota and the winner was Ed Fisher (9-5).

Rocky Colavito hit homers Nos. 34 and 35 and Norm Cash tagged his 30th for the Tigers in the opener, but the Red Sox won it for Dick Radatz (9-5) on Ed Bressoud's three - run homer in the ninth. Ron Nischwitz (3-5) took the loss. A three-run homer by Frank Malzone provided the Red Sox with the nightcap triumph. Don Schwall (8-15) got the victory with Paul Foytack (6-7) the loser.

Rangers Work Out On Coast

VANCOUVER (CP) — Defencemen Doug Harvey, goalie Gump Worsley and forward Bert Olmstead were missing when New York Rangers' first opening training Wednesday for the 1962-63 National Hockey League season.

But the Rangers general manager Muzz Patrick, appointed last week as club's coach, said they'd be on hand along with 41 other players by Sunday.

The Rangers are working out with Vancouver Canucks of the Western League and will remain on the West Coast until Sept. 29 when they begin heading east in an exhibition swing through the Prairies.

Patrick, with assistant general manager Emile Francis and Canucks head coach Max McNab aiding him, put the Rangers and Canucks prospects through two skating workouts Wednesday.

Patrick said Harvey, the $30,000-a-year defenceman who was Rangers' playing - coach last year, Worsley and Olmstead were given permission to be late, Olmstead was picked up from Toronto in the off-season draft.

NO PRACTICE

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Pitcher Don Drysdale did not suffer a rib fracture Monday night when he and Chicago Cubs' Ken Hubbs collided, x-rays showed Wednesday. Dr. Robert Kerlan said the Los Angeles Dodgers' 24-game winner was suffering nothing more than a bruise and has been treated for it. He will rejoin the club in Chicago.

Habs Open 'Ink' Loop, Nine Sign

MONTREAL (CP)—Montreal Canadiens opened their training camp Wednesday and the squad of 46 had a whirl at free skating and shooting. There will be more serious business starting today.

There was the usual weighing-in and also a few words of welcome and general instructions from managing director Frank Selke and coach Toe Blake.

"Sure there are openings for rookies if they can make the grade," said Selke. "We'd be happy to find a youngster who is ready to jump up to the big team, even from junior company."

The weight chart indicated that the regulars as a whole reported in pretty good shape.

Big Jean Beliveau weighed 214, the same as he did to start last year's camp. He will scale down to around 205, his playing weight, without trouble.

LOU AT 189

Defenceman Lou Fontinato at 189 was a pound less than when he finished last season. Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion scaled 192, his weight when last season ended.

Defenceman Tom Johnson at 191 was a pound lighter than when he reported a year ago. He plays at around 186.

Johnson suffered a serious eye injury last season but said his vision now is perfect.

Meanwhile, four more players signed contracts Wednesday bringing the total to nine in all.

Those who signed are Jacques Plante, Don Marshall and Gilles and Jean-Claude Tremblay.

Sign Five Imports

Argos Ogle Schreider

By PAUL RIMSTEAD

TORONTO (CP) — Unfinished deals have postponed the expected housecleaning in the Toronto Argonauts camp.

Coach Nobby Wirkowski said Tuesday that cuts would be made before practice Wednesday night.

But only one mail was chopped, lineman Tom (The Emperor) Jones.

"We expected to complete deals with a couple of other clubs which we've been working on all week," said Ken Brown, Argos' publicity director. "But they aren't final."

One of the deals involves corner linebacker Gary Schreider whom Argos hope to snare from the British Columbia Lions. Schreider left Lions here Sunday after their 37-21 win over Toronto to complete his law studies at Osgoode Hall.

Brown says four men will be cut today, two imports and two Canadians.

SIGNED FIVE

Argos Wednesday signed five of the six late cuts from the National and American football leagues who are in camp. The sixth, quarterback Don Trull, is working out with the team but they're having a longer look at him.

The new Argos are:

Zeke Smith, an offensive guard who played with Baltimore Colts and New York Giants in the NFL;

Aubrey Linne, a towering offensive end from Baltimore;

Jerry Wilson, a two-way end and corner linebacker who played with Philadelphia Eagles and San Francisco 49ers in the NFL and who was recently cut by Buffalo Bills of the AFL;

Lehman Bell, two way tackle and defensive end who played with Baltimore and Minnesota Vikings; and;

Tom Maudlin, a quarterback and defensive back who was a late cut at Los Angeles.

MAY CHARGE RIDERS

TORONTO (CP)—Metro police Wednesday asked advice of the attorney-general's department about possible charges against the Black Diamond Riders—a 200-member motorcycle gang—following a raid Wednesday night in which 20 baseball bats, axe handles and clubs were seized. The raid came after three gang members were charged with possession of offensive weapons following a street brawl.

The Tracks

TORONTO (CP)—My Busty, owned by Determined Air Keith Robinson, gave owner Larkin Maloney his first stakes victory of 1962 Wednesday's $5,745 Shady Well Stakes before a crowd of 7,010.

The 2-5 favorite, Ontario holiday, looked like a winner as the field turned for home, but she could not withstand the finishing burst produced by My Busty and was a length behind at the wire. Etimota finished third.

In the first race, the Mc-Machan Stable's Hannibal Miss held off Jeannie Dop and Five Fun to set up a daily double combination with Sports Lady in the second worth $40.70.

The quinella of New Door and All Cash in the fifth returned $40.30.

COMING OVER — Chico Fernandez, Detroit Tigers shortstop, leaps over New York Yankees Phil Linz after force at second base, getting throw to first in time for double play in the 9th inning of game at Detroit. Yankees' Clelis Boyer had grounded to Detroit's second baseman Dick McAuliffe (behind play) who flipped to Fernandes who gets ball away to first base. New York won game 8-7 in 10 innings. Crews' Moods Vary

Yachts Near Deadline

By CHARLES FLOOD

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)—With only two days of practice left before the opening yacht race for the America's Cup Saturday, the difference in mood between the American and Australian contingents is becoming increasingly clear.

Wednesday morning, while the Australians waited in port for a spare boom to arrive to replace the one broken in half by Gretel in Tuesday's practice session, American helmsman Emil (Bus) Mosbacher, and the crew of Weatherly were out in the roughest water they could find off Point Judith, hitting the big 12-metre's equipment as if it were impossible anything could break.

Mosbacher, evidently dissatisfied with the time it took to bring the Genoa jib about, had the Americans coming about once every two minutes for the better part of two hours.

TREATED GENTLY

When Gretel finally appeared outside Narragansett Bay in midafternoon, her workout was confined to a brief spinnaker run with her trial horse, Vim, a few minutes of tacking on an improvised starting line set up by Sir Frank Packer's chartered motor yacht Ionic and a buoy, and one reach and a long beat up the western approach of Narragansett Bay.

Gretel's work-out was held in lighter winds in more sheltered waters and with noticeably less strain on her recently - damaged equipment.

It was an interesting day for the trial horses in the waters off Newport. When Weatherly had her one bad moment and took 45 seconds to break out a spinnaker which fouled around the forestay, her trial horse Easterner, with two women and several tens - spars aboard, broke out a spinnaker and had it drawing in eight seconds flat.

On a long port tack in the western approach Gretel's trial horse, Vim, pointed higher and footed faster for a period of about 10 minutes.

NEEDS MORE SHIPS

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Canada hasn't enough ships to deal effectively with the problem of hunting out nuclear submarines although the Canadian navy is anti-submarine in concept, the president of the Navy League of Canada, Cmdr. F. C. Aggett, said Wednesday.

Willie's Condition Not Serious

CINCINNATI (AP) — San Francisco Giants centre-fielder Willie Mays, the major league home run leader, collapsed and blacked out Wednesday night after returning to the bench in the third inning of the Giants' game with Cincinnati Reds.

Dr. George Ballou, the Reds' team physician who examined Mays after he was carried to the clubhouse on a stretcher, diagnosed the cause as an attack of indigestion.

Mays regained consciousness but was being kept under observation. Dr. Ballou said the San Francisco slugger would not be sent to a hospital.

The general opinion in the clubhouse was that the siege was not of a serious nature.

Mays has hit 45 homers, driven in 123 runs and is hitting .298 for the Giants, locked in a tight struggle with the Los Angeles Dodgers for the National League pennant.

The Giants lost 4-1.

Big Name Stars Can Be Seen at Ball Games, Fights

By DORIS KLEIN

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — You don't have to spend $2.50 for a Hollywood bus tour ticket to find a motion picture star.

With so many of the studios making movies overseas, it's difficult to see stars at work. And if you look around the famed landmarks of Hollywood and Vine and the Sunset Strip, you'll have to look hard and long to find a familiar face.

So next time you're in town, throw away that map of movie stars' homes and try this for a guide:

Chavez Ravine—the baseball park—has become the biggest gathering place for celebrities since the heyday of the big fights at Hollywood Legion Stadium. On a good night, watching Los Angeles Dodgers or the Angels, you'll find Doris Day, Milton Berle, Dinah Shore or Danny Thomas.

During football season, try Memorial Coliseum and Russell frequently tools from the sidelines for Los Angeles Rams. Her husband is Ram coach Bob Waterfield.

HOPE LIKES GOLF

If there's a pro-celebrity golf tournament around town, you're likely to find Bob Hope, George Goebel, Fred MacMurray, Gordon MacRae, Robert Sterling, Jerry Lewis or James Garner.

When there's a good boxing match, Hugh O'Brian, Jose Ferrer or Jack Lemmon may be at ringside.

With Ciro's now a twist club and the old Macombo levelled to make way for a new playboy club, it's not often you'll spot a big-name actor along the Sunset Strip—except for those like Jerry Lewis and Dean Martin, each of whom owns a restaurant on the Strip.

CAMERON MITCHELL A "NATURAL" AS LUSTY VIKING CHIEF

Versatility is the hallmark of Lynn and Alfred Lent, notable for their many stage successes, and versatility has distinctly marked the career of Cameron Mitchell, who won his first role by auditioning for this famous couple. Mitchell's current role as a Viking Chief in "Last of the Vikings," action-filled saga now at the Park Theatre, is a case in point.

In portraying the blonde Harald, whose mission it is to avenge the death of his father, Mitchell has to register as a lusty hero in a bold and violent era. Physique is important in the demands of action-filled scenes — battles at sea, hand-to-hand combat, duels to the death — but fine acting alone can convey the vital quality which makes a man a Viking chief. Mitchell has to be convincing and he is, as a mighty combatant and leader of men.

On the same program adventure and thrills in "The Phantom Planet." Both features are first Belleville showings.

The Trots

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Windsor is virtually assured of harness racing for at least a two-month period in the fall of 1963.

That's the word from Hon. Earl Rowe, one of Canada's most prominent harness racing men.

Mr. Rowe is an officer of Windsor Raceways Limited, a newly - formed company that plans to build a multi-million dollar track in Ojibway, a Windsor suburb.

Mr. Rowe said Wednesday the Ontario Racing Commission has abolished 56 days of racing. Exact dates for racing will be determined at a later meeting of the commission.

Cosentino Replaces Faloney

HAMILTON (CP)—Hamilton Tiger-Cats beat west today for two games in three days, with all players in tow but at least two of them doubtful starters for their Friday night encounter with Edmonton Eskimos.

Defensive end Ron Ray may see no action at all and quarterback Bernie Faloney will probably not be used until Monday's game with British Columbia Lions.

It is expected Canadian Frank Cosentino will call the signals in Edmonton.

Faloney has a chipped bone in his passing hand and a wrenched knee. He has been able to reach his full effectiveness as a passer or runner.

Ray also has a sore knee and coach Ormie Tribble terms him a "doubtful" starter.

New Crop of Commercials Appearing on TV Screens

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Along with the new shows, the new crop of commercials is beginning to come into view on the home screens. Even at this early date, some trends are apparent.

Inanimate objects will be doing a lot of talking. There's the petulant, snippy voice of recalcitrant hair refusing to lay flat in a hair spray commercial. There's the gay, merry gurgling of a shampoo lotion as it bubbles through midday's locks.

Charlie, that whistling wolf who spends all his time ogling the girls—and picks them up with such ease because his hair is so beautifully greased — is mooning on to fresh conquests.

Whimsy has overcome the creators of those detergent ads washer-repairman. Now they've got him all logged out in an Elizabethan costume, conferring with a housewife who somewhat resembles Queen Elizabeth — and they're admiring clean towels with Olde English monograms.

Carlo, the janitor, is back contending with irascible ladies with incredibly dirty sinks who are on the verge of nervous breakdown about what "the girls" will think.

There's a new comer among the cleaner commercials that starts with a comedy sequence ending in disaster — husband dropping mother-in-law's breakfast tray—and then along comes the product to clean up the mess.

There seem to be a lot of new films of the same old baseball star shaving and drooling over dry cereals and bread. There's apparently not much new, except changes of scene, in the cigarette commercials — the smokers are still lighting up and demonstrating sheer delight.

Quinte Trap, Gun Club

If Wednesday was any indication, the ducks and other game in this neck of the woods are in for a rough time when the hunting season opens, shortly.

The sharpshooters at the Quinte Trap and Gun Clubs turned in a list of high scores that included 16 bull's-eyes in 20 marks.

Other good scores were: Don Parker 22, Garnet Hart 22, Jim Shortt 22, Earl Baldrick 22, Bob McKinnon, Jack Sullivan 21 and John Hutchinson 21. There were also a number of 20's recorded.

PICTON

Milford Fair, Riot of Color Much Enjoyed

PICTON — The sun shone brightly for Milford Fair, Wednesday afternoon, resulting in a large crowd congregating on the Community Centre grounds for the fifteenth annual show.

The day was climaxed by a gala program in the big shed.

If there was one thing that no one missed among the great array of exhibits, it was the dogs. From the rural areas where they do not need to be tied, they vociferously made their displeasure known with barks and yelps which could be heard long before the grounds was reached. Visitors just could not miss going to see what the fuss was all about and they found big dogs, medium size dogs, little dogs with big barks, and tiny puppies, all except the latter helping to add to the sounds found only at country fairs.

But the dogs had some opposition — roosters attempted to outdo them at times. But all the roosters did was disturb the other pets — rabbits, bantams, cats and kittens, the latter with children almost as big as themselves. There were many kinds of poultry, and of special interest, three beautiful pesteocks shown by Alex Miller of Black Creek.

SCENE OF COLOR

As usual, it was a scene of color in the big shed — long tables filled with flowers in a riot of color, plants and trees by gorgeous begonias, every kind of vegetable including giant yellow pumpkins, eight entries in rosy-cheeked fruit.

Penny Miller had the best basket of McIntosh apples and Randy Murphy the best plate.

The home cooking was also the biggest yet, and included 25 pies and 22 tempting layer cakes, which were sold to the juniors and also open.

On tables and around the walls were posters, drawings, writing, handicraft, the work of school children. There were fine samples of sewing and crafts.

South Marysburg Calf Club held its annual show and sale and had a display of rope halters and barn protectors.

OPENING PARADE

The opening parade saw the pageant South Marysburg Central School preceded by two decorated cars, tractors, pulpwood, saddle horses, three ponies, pony on buggy and a goat, driven by Ronnie Ross.

The fair was officially opened by Douglas Alkenbrack, M.P., Prince Edward-Lennox. He commented on the excellence of the parade and the exhibits, and said that these small fairs contributed to growth in a larger sphere and to the national economy.

Fair president Clifford Walker extended thanks and expressed thanks to all who made the fair possible, and to merchants for donations. Reeve Don Bond introduced Mr. Alkenbrack and also spoke of fine cooperation given by many.

MANY PRIZES

Carson Scott, for the fifteenth year, was the genial M.C. and handed out prizes for dozens of things, including the oldest, longest married, most recently married, tallest man, coming longest distance, attendance prizes, birthdays, etc.

Calf Club competition was conducted by Agricultural representative Ivan Bell and Hastings representative Sidney MacDonald.

Chris Lockyer judged the cattle and sheep, and Mrs. Geraline the sheep. Bill Wills judged the pigs, Charles Fletcher the flowers and Mrs. Gerald Welsh, the cooking.

During the afternoon there were sports for ages, and novelty contests including rolling pin throwing and shoe kicking.

SHOW

The baby show saw fourteen entries. Mrs. Willis Metcalfe and Mrs. George Ostrander were in charge. Judges were Mrs. James Dick, Mrs. Nettie Everal and Phil Vanderwell.

The sweepstakes was won by Gordon Milton Ostrander, 10 month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Ostrander, Point Traverse.

Winners in boys' class, to 18 months, were: G. M. Ostrerman, Steven Francis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Wannamaker; Leigh Wesley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Miller; Jim Frederick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Keogh.

In the girls' class, winners were, Valerie Anne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Meeker; Lorna Colleen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Minaker; Darlene Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Grimmon; Brenda Lee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Laverne Way.

Residents stocked the Community Centre refreshment booth which did a big business. Black Creek U.C.W. had a fish pond and Point Traverse ladies a candy sale.

Former Official Makes Searing Attack On SIU

Says Union Made 'Sweetheart Deals'

TORONTO (CP) — Michael Sheehan, former official of the Seafarers International Union of Canada, charged Thursday that the SIU is in a "sweetheart deals" with Canada Steamships Lines for its coastal ships "and with several other shipping companies.

Testifying before the federal investigation into waterfront labor violence and shipping disruptions, Mr. Sheehan named union leader said the SIU put "pressure" on many shipping companies, but never troubled Canada Steamships—one of the biggest marine firms in the country.

Mr. Sheehan was continuing the cross-examination of the Seafarers Union for which he worked for 11 years until kicked out in 1961.

For 10 hours Wednesday and Thursday, Mr. Lavergne — born sailor and unionist levelled a series of searing charges against his former union and its leader, American-born Hal C. Banks.

He accused Mr. Banks Thursday, of "terrorism" and "corruption" and "muscleman" banging around delayed members, officials or ship owners.

He told of two kinds of "treatment" used by the union—the "pavement treatment" and the "telephone treatment."

Mr. Sheehan said Mr. Banks told him the "pavement treatment" meant getting a man's legs across the pavement, then jumping on them to break the bones.

The "telephone treatment" meant phoning a person, day-to-day and casual, rarely saying anything first waiting for a while, then hanging up. Since leaving the SIU, said Mr. Sheehan, he has received this kind of treatment—so much so he has had his telephone number changed three times since.

Mr. Sheehan testified that Hamilton police charged the original Canadian Maritime Union against the SIU, he was shot at from a passing car outside his home in Montreal.

"The bullet missed my legs by just a few inches," he said.

Mr. Sheehan said there was a "big fight" between "scrupulous and muscleman" banging around delayed crews, ship owners running errands for Mr. Banks and available for "little dirty jobs."

IMPORTANT JOB

He said Mr. Banks imported a heavyweight boxer from Sacramento, Calif., Ed Mongeon, 18, his brother Ronald, 24, and Robert Martineau, 18, were taken to hospital with burns to the face and upper parts of the body.

O'Grady said a load of orange flame burst from the doorway with the blast. "I was knocked flat on my back."

Firemen said the explosion must have come the six locks instantly. Two homes on either side escaped fire but were extensively damaged, leaving families of six and three persons homeless.

Also severely burned was Raymond Beaudoin, 27 - year-old construction worker, who smashed a window and pushed his wife and three children to safety.

The house, a cheap frame construction with insulating board siding, was owned by Proulx, a laborer and odd-job man. The Beaudoins had been renting the downstairs since May.

HULL COUPLE, FOUR CHILDREN PERISH IN FIRE

Explosion Tosses Rescuers 50 Feet

HULL, Que. (CP)—A middle-aged couple and four of their seven children died in a flaming home early today while horror-stricken neighbors stood helpless under a downpour listening to their screams.

The bodies of Joseph Proulx, 36; his wife Pauline, 42; Andre, 16; Nicole, 12; Diane, 8, and Daniel, 4, were found huddled in the kitchen inside the front door only feet from safety.

Five of their neighbors were burned when they tried to force open the door and were caught by an explosion which tossed them 50 feet into the street.

"God, it was terrible," neighbor Michael Grady, who was running across the street when the blast came, told reporters. "The whole top came off the house."

The Proulx family lived on the top floor of the two-storey frame home in Lucerne Hull. A family of five downstairs escaped through a front window. TEN KILLED

Ten persons including three firemen were taken to hospital. Four of them, including two firemen with minor burns, were released after emergency treatment.

In critical condition was Roger Proulx, 17, pulled to safety through the partly - opened doorway by a sister Georgette, 25, who was sleeping at a neighbor's house and awoke to the screams of her parents, brothers and sisters.

Georgette, stunned by the tragedy, told reporters she also saw four-year-old Daniel in the light of the flames but was unable to reach him. Heat finally drove her back after she tried to force the door further.

Firemen said inside air pressure created by the heat of the fire probably was responsible for holding the door closed enough to trap the Proux family.

BLOWN INTO STREET

Neighbors rushed to the door and one of them, Gaston Tasse, 41, actually had hold of Andre when the blast blew them into the street. Tasse, Robert Rodrick, 26, Paul Mongeon, 18, his brother Ronald, 24, and Robert Martineau, 18, were taken to hospital with burns to the face and upper parts of the body.

O'Grady said a load of orange flame burst from the doorway with the blast. "I was knocked flat on my back."

QUARTER BILLION IN BONDS SOLD TO U.S. FIRMS

Will Put Proceeds In Exchange Fund

OTTAWA (CP) — In a rare move, the Canadian government has completed a deal for the private sale of a new $250,000,000 long-term bond issue directly to five life insurance companies in the United States.

Finance Minister Nowlan said the government intends to put the money into the country's foreign exchange reserves. The 25-year bonds bear interest at five per cent and proceeds are to be received here in instalments starting Oct. 15 and ending on or before next March 31.

At the same time, Mr. Nowlan said that at the government's request $200,000,000 in the $400,000,000 stand-by credit arranged in June from the Export-Import Bank in Washington has been dropped, leaving $200,000,000 and never drawn on this credit.

Informants said there was no suggestion in the government that Canadian holdings of gold and U.S. dollars have shrunk this month. They noted that the Canadian dollar has been strengthening.

LEVEAL INFLOW?

While the reserves will be built up, sources indicated that the government move was designed partly to revive a capital inflow. The transaction would reveal to investors that the Canadian government's credit in New York is "very good."

It was the administration's first direct move in the new York bond market in 12 years.

Besides the agreement in May, 1950, the previous one was in the 1948 exchange crisis — a $100,000,000 issue to replenish reserves after repaying an Export-Import Bank loan.

Since the first instalments from the new issue are not due until the mid-October, the addition will not be reflected in the government's monthly standing of Canada's official reserves of gold and U.S. dollars.

At July 31, these reserves stood at $2,330,600,000, including $650,000,000 in loans from the International Monetary Fund and the U.S. and British central banks. Their low point was $1,100,000,000 on June 24 when the government announced its exchange control measures, including import surcharges and budget cuts.

Two Killed When Car Hits Bulldozer

BROCKVILLE (CP) — Two men were killed on Highway 401 when their car left Highway 401 at a road construction site and crashed into the side of a bulldozer 22 miles west of here.

Dead are William Carberry, 72, of Lake Water Leclair, 68, both of Brockville, Carberry, a passenger, died at the scene and Leclair, the driver, died in hospital here.

Cabinet Ministers Overruled Deputies in Granting Club Charters Inquiry Is Told

TORONTO (CP)—The Liberal party Thursday explored the possibility of the Liquor Control commission on crime looking into recent revivals of old horse racing charters, but the idea made no headway.

"That ends the matter," Mr. Justice W. D. Roach, the commissioner said after inquiries by Liberal counsel Hazel Estey established that such organizations do not come under the head of social clubs, the subject currently under investigation by the commission.

Mr. Estey's freiler — which drew objection from Provincial Secretary John Yaremko—was prompted by successful moves by two organizations to obtain racing dates in the Ottawa and Windsor areas by gathering up old and long-dormant racing associations charters and bringing them to life.

One line of commission inquiries has been the question of revivals of disused social club charters, in which the provincial government authorities now are thrown.

(Major figures in the Windsor Raceway project include W. Gordon Rowe, Progressive Conservative Commons member for Dufferin-Simcoe, while James Sinkin, Prigeville Conservative Commons member for Renfrew South, is connected with the Ottawa area move.)

Other commission developments today:

Deputy Provincial Secretary R. J. Cudney testified he was overtime four times by cabinet ministers after turning down social club charter applications, once in the face of a police report that two major Toronto bookies were club members.

E. The commission looked into the question of tightening up the statutory definition of social club, with a view to curbing their use as illegal fire gambling and Mr. Justice Roach indicated he might make a recommendation along this line.

Evidence was given that federally - licensed clubs have been a problem for Ontario authorities but that licenses of other provinces have not.

The commission adjourned indefinitely pending clarification of gambler Vincent Feeley's affairs. The Supreme Court of Canada hear his claim that Mr. Justice Roach should be disqualified. He is due to leave to go before the court to be heard at Ottawa Tuesday.

Should Feeley obtain leave to have the full court hear his case, the commissioner indicated, the much - interrupted commission hearing will remain in recess until it finishes.

If Feeley is turned down at the outset, the commission probably

Pakistan Leader May Seek Conference With Inner Six

LONDON (Reuters) — Pakistan's President Ayub Khan is considering the possibility of proposing a meeting of Commonwealth and European market leaders to discuss Britain's entry into the European trading group, an authoritative source said today.

The source said he expected Ayub Khan to discuss the idea with French President de Gaulle when he is received by statesman makes a scheduled visit to Paris Saturday.

The source said Ayub Khan has been discussing the idea at the Commonwealth trade conference but has not submitted any formal proposal to the heads of government at the meeting.

The Pakistani president thinks a top ministerial meeting of the Commonwealth and European Market could be of great value before Britain signs any final decision on whether to join the six-nation trade group.

The source said that since the idea is in its formative stage, the Pakistani leader has no definite views on the time or place for such a meeting.

But Ayub Khan was understood to have discussed the idea in private meetings with British Prime Minister Macmillan, Australia's John Diefenbaker, Australia's Robert Menzies and other Commonwealth leaders.

Besides the conference itself, the delegations have received a detailed examination of British and European Common Membership amid indications the talks were running behind schedule.

Four separate discussion groups are dealing with specific commodities as the conference is to conclude today, but some of the groups may extend talks until Saturday.

Canada's chief interest centres on the commonwealth agreements with temperate foodstuffs such as Australian butter, Australian beef and New Zealand butter.

The Canadian government feels that the six-nation group wants to erect a high protective wall to shelter Common Market agriculture.

Wheat is the largest single problem from which the Canadian effort to protect the preferred position held in Britain by Commonwealth countries more than $800,000,000 a year will be made. Canada now ships in Canadian wheat and flour now enters Britain duty-free each year.

Protestant Unification With Anglicans Bogs Down

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—A committee on Protestant unification in the United Church of Canada reported to synod today two years of negotiations with the Anglican Church of Canada have bogged down on the status of the clergy.

A report to the governing general council of the United Church said "no further progress" is being made because of differences on the authority of nonepiscopally ordained ministers compared with the bishop-ordained ministers of the Anglican Church.

"No further step forward seems possible until some form of mutual recognition of ministries is reached and until acceptance on the part of both communions on the validity of both episcopally and nonepiscopally ordained ministers."

But the committee said talks should continue.

The report also suggests an informal "exploratory" discussion to the Presbyterian Church in Canada — the group that terminated outside the 1925 merging of Presbyterians, Methodists and Congregationalists as the United Church.

The United Church report underlined disagreement on the ministry more heavily than a report by the Anglican archbishop of Canada, Archbishop Ernest E. Long, secretary of the general council, as official observers and consultants.

BUTTER OUTPUT CONTINUES TO SHOW GROWTH

Consumption Up At the Same Time

OTTAWA (CP) — Butter production continued to rise in the first eight months of the year although consumption was higher too, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics said today.

Creamery butter output totalled 259,687,000 pounds by Aug. 31 compared with 243,552,000 pounds a year earlier.

Stocks were listed at 144,032,000 pounds or butter oil, a considerably less than a year earlier — but little of any part of the government's holdings of surplus butter.

Not included is about 75,000,000 pounds of butter oil, a converted form of butter, stored.

The figures for production and storage followed a warning by Agriculture Minister Hamilton that while the butter surplus decrease is encouraging, "it is apparent that federal subsidy action alone is not solving the dairy surplus problem."

Without naming names, he answered notice to dairymen in Quebec producers — main ones in the surplus area — would have to co-operate through producer organizations with the government in working out adjustments in balancing output and demand.

SUBSIDIES TO END

He said the same thing last year when he announced that the present system of dairy price supports would be continued only until 1962 to give fluid milk producers a chance to work out their own solution to the problem. After that date, federal subsidies will end on fluid milk, main source of surplus butter.

Ontario producers are working on a five-point scheme which has aroused some interest in Ottawa. Quebec plans legislation later this year.

To help cut the butter surplus, the government has set up a subsidy program May 1 costing $42,000,000 annually. The retail price was dropped 12 cents a pound while the government continues to buy top-grade surplus butter at 64 cents a pound.

Savings Bonds' Interest High

OTTAWA (CP)—A new issue of Canada savings bonds with an interest rate of 3 3/4 per cent — a record high — if held 14 years to maturity was announced today by Finance Minister Nowlan.

The 1962 bonds, to be dated Nov. 1, will be available from banks, investment dealers, stock brokers and trust companies as well as payroll savings plans. The limit is $10,000 worth a person.

Four Develop Paralysis After Taking Doses

All Cases in Canada To Be Investigated

OTTAWA (CP) — Provincial health departments have moved quickly to suspend general use of Sabin oral polio vaccine pending an investigation of all poliomyelitis cases in Canada this year.

The suspension was recommended Thursday by the technical advisory committee on live polio virus vaccine, a body of nongovernmental epidemiologists from across Canada, after four vaccinated persons, and possibly more, developed paralysis.

An informant said the committee is satisfied that the four persons developed the paralysis as a result of taking Sabin. The cases were among 4,000,000 Canadians who have received or given oral vaccine this year.

One of the victims was said to be a child in neighboring Hull, Que. Dr. Francois Gosselin, Hull medical officer of health, said paralysis developed about a month after the child took the vaccine. A slight paralysis has since disappeared, he said.

The committee said Sabin still should be used, if necessary, to control local outbreaks of poliomyelitis. Federal health department, which advised the provinces of the committee's recommendation, said that while Sabin still is the only material available which will control local outbreaks, the use of the vaccine will end as soon as possible.

EXPLAINS ACTION

The committee's chairman, Dr. J. J. Rhodes, director of the school of hygiene at the University of Toronto, said Saturday night the decision to advise suspension of the vaccine should not cause alarm. He termed it a normal precaution.

While the incidence of polio has been extremely low, he said the committee felt it was necessary to permit a full investigation.

Tests would be made during the next two months to determine whether the paralytic accidents were infected by one of the three polio virus vaccines contained in the Sabin vaccine, or by the so-called "wild" variety.

There are 3,000,000 doses of four have been infected with a virus." Dr. Rhodes said.

Meanwhile, three Canadian health officials have said that any symptoms of paralysis would appear within a few weeks after it had been given, Dr. Allan R. Morton, Nova Scotia health minister; A. Donahoe and Manitoba Health Minister George Johnson all agreed that the symptoms would develop within a few days.

Fear and Hate End Rule of Law In South Africa Says Alan Paton

DURBAN, (AP) — Author Alan Paton says South Africa is being infected by fear and hatred that "we have ceased to live under the rule of law here."

Paton, best known abroad for his 1948 novel Cry, The Beloved Country, was interviewed at his home at Kloof, in the hills 15 miles outside Durban.

Discussing the situation under Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd, whose government now controls virtually all political action:

"Everything here is now run in the interests of the Afrikaner people—the volk, the white people. Nothing is allowed to stand in justice — impartiality — is gone and the worst thing is that freedom is tapped. Some of his most outspoken people are in prison or have left the country to live and work.

"If you are not 100 per cent in favor of apartheid (racial separation), then you are considered as assisting the spread of communism.' And if anybody suggests any change in the situation here they're accused of traitor to the state. This new charge of 'assisting in the spread of communism' is a joke, as many people will learn."

Paton is barred from travelling abroad. The Verwoerd government cancelled his passport in December, 1960, on the charge he gave "aid and comfort to South Africa's enemies" in his speeches.

Despite recent interrogations by political police, Paton continues as head of the anti-racial Liberal party. It has no representation in Parliament.

So far he has escaped the lowest restraints of the South African police state, such as solitary confinement. But Paton says he believes his telephone is tapped. Some of his friends and overseas people gets strangely long distance telephone interviewing calls to his home don't seem to come through lately.

He expects to be detained under some kind of house arrest, which would cripple his activities but still leave him far better off than 102 persons on the political prisoners list of banned and silenced South Africans. These people are forbidden to be quoted publicly, their statements and writings can not be published in South Africa.

CO-OPERATIVES FIGHT EFFORT TO TAX THEM

Claim Campaign Being Instituted

OTTAWA (CP)—The Co-operative Union of Canada charges that a "vitriolic campaign" has been started to bring about taxation of Canadian co-operatives.

The organization said in a statement Thursday that critics of the co-operative movement are trying to mislead the public by saying co-operatives should pay income tax on patronage rebates they return to their member customers.

But insurance companies also receive rebates refunds to their policyholders, and this action was endorsed by millions of Canadians who help participating insurance policies, it said.

The statement said the campaign was made public in Sept. 8 story in The Financial Post and in the Sept. 1 appearance of D. A. Gilbert, general manager of the Retail Merchants Association of Canada at the federal government's national investment expansion conference in Ottawa.

The Financial Post said a newly-formed organization, the Equitable Tax Foundation, is spearheading an anti - co - op campaign to "put the tax rug" from under co-operatives," the Parking, Service Facilities Topics Discussed by Chamber

Several topics were discussed by the board of directors of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce at their monthly meeting yesterday afternoon at the Queen's Hotel. Parking, and service facilities for motorists were two of the items discussed at length.

A brief on parking which is to be submitted to city council suggested the provision of metered parking lots to attended parking lots in which a motorist would have only to pay for the amount of time he actually used and not have to risk a ticket for overtime.

Courtesy tickets have been provided by the downtown merchants allowing a period of 25 minutes "grace" after a meter expires before the violator is actually ticketed. It was suggested that free boxes be used throughout the metered zones so that a motorist could pay his fine on the spot rather than have to attempt to park near city hall and pay his fine there.

Extended parking facilities with the ultimate goal of taking all parked cars off the downtown streets was also suggested in the brief. The Chamber also commended the local parking authority for the action which it has taken to date in handling the local parking situation.

The board approved a letter which is to be sent to the local service station and garage operators' association requesting that the members give their attention to the provision of 24-hour service at stations fronting on the community. It was suggested that the present-by-law could be used to allow any operator interested in conducting a 24-hour service to do so.

The attitude of a garage operators' association spokesman that there was no need for such service because of gas stations located 10 miles in either side of the city and that no operator could afford to stay open was considered as being unrealistic. The suggestion that the association would poll yesterday's operators who did stay open 24 hours in contravention of the present by-law was East Dundas and is inadequate and unlawful.

Further discussion took place on the location of the new liquor retail outlet was given by committee chairman Irv Shulman. The board directed him to make further enquiries into this matter at a higher level.

It was reported by management consultant Beckwith that the Highlands of Hastings brochure had been turned over to the Highlands of Hastings Tourist Association and that they had stated a need for the Chamber to bring out its own brochure on Belleville. This matter will be given over to an executive committee.

The several teachers' day for new primary and secondary school teachers in the city was reported as having been a success. Buses were provided by Belleville Transit and the tour of the city concluded with dinner and a visit to the Northern Hotel Motor Inn. It was mentioned that a request had come in from the Ontario School for the Deaf and Albert College for a similar event for their personnel, was arrived later than the public school personnel.

Deputy Mayor Ben Corke, acting chairman in the absence of the president, expressed thanks to the Chamber for the work of director Jack McAvay over the past year and wished him success in his new position in Toronto.

The board also authorized the purchase of a dozen tourist promotion displays for use in the community.

Teachers Take Tour Of School District

In order to acquaint his teaching staff with the district from which their pupils come, Moira Secondary School principal W. H. Macgrove arranged a bus trip. Loaded aboard a bus and cars, for two hours the 47 teachers toured Tyendinaga and Thurlow townships, as well as East Belleville. Enroute they were given a commentary on points of interest by two of the senior members of the staff.

The bus and car tour, according to Mr. Musgrove, was to give the teachers a quick lesson in local history and geography and to help them better understand their students. It also helped teachers to appreciate the long bus trips taken each day by many of their pupils who travel to school from rural areas up to 25 miles distant.

Will Use Money Donated to Help Students

The C.P. and T. Benevolent Committee of Cobalt Miners and Rebekahs held a work party on Wednesday evening in preparation for the annual tag day appeal.

The wheel chairs, hospital beds and crutches for which the committee is responsible were found in good supply and available when needed.

It is proposed to continue the association with the Grand Lodge Central C.P. & T. Committee since by that association the local committees has available to it substantial resources for the relief of distress arising out of major disasters.

This year the committee has taken action to encourage certain high school students to further their education and to complete their courses of study. Funds have been made available to assist in the purchase of books and supplies for students whose families are in strait circumstances. The present program is considered a pilot project designed to ascertain the size and proportion of the need. Expansion of this project will depend to an extent upon the resources available.

Shortly after the provinces were advised of the committee's recommendations, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Newfoundland, British Columbia and Ontario announced temporary suspension of their Salk vaccination programs or plans to launch them.

Dr. James McGrath, Newfoundland's health minister, said "tens of thousands" of Newfoundland children have received Salk vaccine, with no sign of adverse results. His department considered the danger so slight it "would administer vaccine if an outbreak of polio threatened."

In Halifax, Mr. Donahoe said the province has called off a province-wide polio vaccination program scheduled to start Monday.

Deputy Health Minister Dr. J. A. Melanson of New Brunswick said the province's vaccination program scheduled to start Oct. 15 in the province has been deferred. No Sabin vaccine has been administered in New Brunswick.

Provincial health officials in Victoria said an intensive Vancouver Island oral vaccine mass immunization program will be delayed until after Oct. 15 due to strait Oct. 15.

OLDEST OUTLIVES

Ontario Health Minister Matthew Dymond ordered every available dose of vaccine in the province to halt distribution. Ottawa was to have launched a mass immunization drive today.

In Quebec, Dr. A. R. Foley, the chief epidemiologist of the provincial health department, said the government "is studying the possibility" of halting distribution. The province was awaiting further word from Ottawa.

In Alberta there was no word on whether a province-wide immunization program, scheduled to start Monday, has been called out. City health officials in Edmonton were to meet today to discuss the question. The province's health minister, J. Donovan Ross, said he felt the investigation of the vaccine could have been made without "throwing such a scare into the general public."

In Manitoba, 180,000 residents were given the vaccine last spring. Three definite cases of paralytic polio have been reported during the year, but none had been given the vaccine.

Three cases of polio have been reported in Saskatchewan where 760,000 persons received the vaccine.

The province's health department said that one case occurred in a child that had not received the vaccine; one case in a child that had already developed clinical symptoms when oral vaccine was administered and the other was in a child that received Salk vaccine in May and became ill in July. But the department said the illness in the vaccinated child might have been caused by a non-polio virus.

Sabin vaccination programs have been conducted in all provinces except Alberta, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island. The Sabin vaccine was licensed for use in Canada last March and is produced by Connaught Medical Laboratories of Toronto and the Institute of Microbiology and Hygiene, Montreal.

The live Sabin vaccine—administered by mouth—is given than by injection — immunizes the intestinal tract and prevents multiplication and spread of polio viruses. Salk vaccine, which employs killed viruses, provides protection against the paralytic effects of polio but does not prevent an individual from being a carrier of the disease.

In addition, certain individuals who do not respond to Salk will obtain immunity from the Sabin vaccine.

As live Sabin vaccine produces immunity, federal officials regard it as the only available means by which might bring about eradication of polio and control a local outbreak.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The meeting of a federal committee on oral polio vaccine has been moved up following a recommendation by the Canadian health department that general use of the Sabin oral vaccine be suspended.

The Canadian move was accompanied by a report that at least four persons who took the Sabin vaccine developed paralysis.

A spokesman for the U.S. public health service said the advisory committee will meet within the next few days instead of Sept. 27 as scheduled.

"As a result of the Canadian action, the meeting is being advanced . . ." the spokesman said. "The committee will consider the Canadian situation and other data available and make recommendations for the surgeon-general as to what action, if any, it thinks we should take in the United States."

The spokesman added that 12 cases similar to the four in Canada were reported in the United States Aug. 22, but that none has been reported since. He said the U.S. advisory group studied the 12 cases and decided it could not be determined that Sabin vaccine caused them.

Assess Damages Of $8,689.95 In Accident

Damages in the amount of $8,689.95 were assessed against the Ontario area resident, Mrs. C. Herrington by Mr. Justice Gale, Judge in Supreme Court here yesterday, as the result of an action arising out of a motor vehicle accident which occurred last October.

Mrs. Herrington, 17-year-old daughter of Mathieu Graber of Batawa, was awarded $1,500 for injuries she suffered as a result of the accident. She sustained severe personal injuries and nervous shock as the result of her head going through the windshield of her father's car.

Mr. Graber was awarded $7,189.95 for injuries he sustained in the accident and for damage to his motor vehicle.

Mathieu Graber Jr., aged eight years, was awarded $50 for injuries, he also suffered in the accident.

On October 31st of last year, the Graber family and two children were proceeding south on highway No. 33 when a vehicle driven by Mrs. Herrington entered the highway off a ramp from Highway No. 401.

The jury found that Mr. Herrington failed to yield the right of way upon entering the highway. Mr. Graber's automobile was damaged to the extent of $850.

Gets 7 Months For Biting off Man's Finger

MONTREAL (CP) — Racehorse owner Roy Culverhouse has been sentenced to seven months in jail for biting off the finger of a constable at Blue Bonnets race track.

Culverhouse, 34, of Brantford, was also given a 15-day concurrent sentence for fighting when he appeared in court after pleading guilty.

Judge Paul Champagne told him he had intended to sentence him to two years, but "I decided to give you a chance in view of the fact that you did have been hit by a few injuries and will likely be barred from every race track in America for your actions."

Evidence was that Culverhouse got into a fight with Police Constable Gilbert Comeau in the Blue Bonnets race track restaurant. He bit Rancourt on the thumb.

Taken to the track's security office for questioning, he struggled with Constable Guy Lafond and bit Lafond's second finger, completely severing it.

Another Drop In Gas Prices Is Expected

TORONTO (CP) — The gasoline price war spread to another 200 service stations today and prices are expected to drop five cents a gallon more before closing time tonight.

Closing prices Thursday for regular grade gas at major oil companies was 37.9 cents.

But hundreds of others were selling their gasoline for 35.9 cents and big companies are expected to meet the competition.

One independent was selling gasoline at 33.9 cents a gallon.

About 600 of Metropolitan Toronto's 1,200 service stations have cut prices.

Two Old Lancs Ready to Make Farewell Flights

WINNIPEG (CP) — Two old warrior aircraft, almost the last of a disappearing breed, will make farewell flights here Saturday before going into mothballs.

The planes are RCAF Lancaster bombers, the type that formed the backbone of allied night bombing missions on Germany in the Second World War.

Now obsolete, they go into retirement after flying in an air force display at Winnipeg International Airport.

They were used as search aircraft lately by No. 111 Rescue Unit in Winnipeg and are the last RCAF Lancasters in active service in Western Canada.

They have been replaced by amphibian jet-engined Albatross aircraft and Dakotas.

Only a few Lancasters are still flying with the air force out of Ottawa and Torbay, Nfld.

The Canadian Press erroneously reported earlier that the Lancasters flying here Saturday were the last on active service with the RCAF.

Ratepayers' Association Has Few Questions for Council

TRENTON — At a meeting of the Trenton Ratepayers' Association in the town hall last night, members present inquired about the school re-ported.

"Once suspected, the location of the cancer can be accurately ascertained by presently available techniques and either removed surgically or treated by means of radiation."

White Powder Numbed Tongue Of Policeman

HAMILTON (CP) — A white powder that numbed a policeman's tongue was later analyzed as 78-per-cent heroin, Judge John S. Latchford was told Thursday.

Judge Latchford was hearing evidence in the trial of Joseph Angelo, 35, with Michael Tracarella, 41, both of Buffalo, charged with possessing narcotics for the purpose of trafficking.

The heroin, worth more than $50,000, was seized June 5.

Const. John Mkurpel of Waterdown Provincial Police said he had tasted the powder at a West Flamborough farmhouse.

"It numbed my mouth and tongue and I needed a drink of milk," Const. Mkurpel said.

He said he had turned eight packets of the powder over to the laboratory analyst's squad.

Allen Hynds, a 15-year-old farm worker who discovered the packets, ran from the witness box in tears during cross-examination.

He returned and said he had seen a man leave a bag near the tree while he was working in a nearby field.

"I thought it was garbage but when I returned later I found it contained eight small envelopes full of white powder," he said.

The trial is continuing.

The matter will be brought to the attention of town council next Monday night.

Mr. Hyde supplied the meeting with a report of membership standing and an accounting of finances. He said that the association now had 100 paid up members (at $1 a membership) and 43 "ninety per cent" members, who have not paid yet, but have indicated that they will. Membership tickets have been printed.

Taking into account the cost of printing the tickets and charges for renting public halls for association meetings, the association now has roughly $54 in the treasury.

Mr. Vaughan deplored the small attendance at association meetings and called for suggestions regarding the advertisement of called meetings. He said that he had tried the newspapers, the radio and had even mailed out cards (which arrived as members' homes after the meeting had taken place). A suggestion that a placard advertising the meeting be placed on a bulletin board in front of the post office, may be adopted.

ASKS $ EXAMINATION

Mr. Vaughan asked the members present for permission to go before council next Monday with five questions. These include queries about the cost of running the Trenton Police Department; why the town had to pay $870 extra on the contract price for the installation of trunk sewers on Sidney and Front Streets (contract price, $179,000); and, said Mr. Vaughan, "we want to find out about planning and zoning by-laws, the sale of land by the town and things like that."

Walter Thompson asked the association members if anyone was dissatisfied just what questions Mr. Vaughan was taking before council. The answer was an unqualified "no."

Mr. Hyde then clarified the first question, concerning the cost of running the police department. He first explained that he felt more qualified to explain this particular question as the notes were in his handwriting and that he felt he would be more capable of deciphering them than Mr. Vaughan.

Mr. Hyde said that there had been much discontent and many complaints about the police department not operating on a sound financial basis, in 1961. He understood, the department budget was for $115,000. Actual expenditures were reported to be $114,000. Then, asked Mr. Hyde, "did the town receive $40,000 in grants and revenues for police protection in the town of Trenton?" If this was correct, said Mr. Hyde, the police department was operating efficiently an an operating cost of $70,000.

"If the other questions are not for publication before the council meeting, I suggest they not be read," said Mr. Thompson.

"That's the situation," Mr. Vaughan told him. "There's a terrific underhand about asking for permission to bring them out before council without reading them out at this meeting."

Mr. Vaughan was granted permission by the members present.

Hearing on Annexation Set For Sept. 25

TRENTON — The Ontario Municipal Board has come up with a firm date for a hearing on 13 proposed annexation of parts of Murray and Sidney townships by the town of Trenton. Previously, a tentative date of September 22 was given out by the hearing. Now, the date has been set as September 25 and the hearing will be held in the municipal office at Trenton.

Town and township councils will be notified to this effect as will all property owners whose land lies within the borders of the area under consideration for annexation. Owners are free to appear at the official hearing and register protest against the annexation.

On the same day, Sept. 25, representatives from the Ontario Board will hear protests from 21 citizens in the town's announced intention to raise $35,000 for street repair and reconstruction by means of debenturing. The 21 citizens registered protest in a petition to town council a few weeks ago, thus necessitating an OMB hearing.

Sewer Project To Be Finished Within 6 Weeks

TRENTON—Howard Lumsden, Gore and Storrie consulting engineer, who has been in Trenton since the start of the Front and Sidney Streets sewer installation project, said yesterday that the installation should be completed by the middle of October or the beginning of November at the very latest.

Workmen are at present engaged in laying the sewer main between South Murray St. and Gould St. on Sidney St. and some work is being done at the north end of Sidney St.

Operations, designed to lead the trunk sewer across Dundas St. West, just west of the town bridge, are to start shortly.

Still undecided, at least on an official basis, is whether the tunnel under the street or to breakthrough the pavement and dig a trench to accommodate the sewer. Should the latter course be taken, one-way traffic on the bridge will be the order of the day. However, the latest word from the contractor is to the effect that tunneling will be employed if at all feasible, thus causing no disruption in traffic.

Parade to Mark Anniversary of Battle of Skies

TRENTON — A full scale wreath laying ceremony entitled the "Battle of Britain" will be held on Sunday at RCAF Station Trenton. The parade, similar to those being held across the country, is a special event for memorial services in the chapels.

The Battle of Britain marked the Royal Canadian Air Force's greatest air fire when, in August 1940, Number 1 Squadron RCAF (later 401 Squadron) flew into action against the enemy near London.

Forty-seven Canadian officers and airmen lost their lives during the Battle of Britain, serving in Fighter, Bomber and Coastal Command, and each year parades and memorial services are held in commemoration.

The parade at Trenton will consist of one squadron and three flights each, under the command of the Commander, A. A. Powell at Air Transport Command Headquarters. The Wing Parade Adjutant is Flight Lieutenant R. M. McLeod, assisted by Wing Warrant Officer D. Hargrave.

In all, some 300 personnel will attend, the parade section will include the trumpet and drum band of RCAF Station Trenton under the direction of Sergeant Bud Miller, bandmaster, and Corporal D. N. Monteth, drum major.

The occasion was the Moon Festival, one of the biggest festivals traditionally celebrated by Chinese.

CABINET

will resume Wednesday with the witness likely to be Feeley, now in jail here as he awaits the outcome of an appeal from a conviction on a charge of conspiring to obtain gambling raid information from police.

Mr. Varcoe himself came into the deputy secretary's evidence when Mr. Cudney testified he had countermanded two of his club turndowns, while others had been overruled by former ministers Mackinnon Phillips and George Dunbar.

The minister has final say in charter matters, but the veteran deputy secretary said it is normal practice for him to make the ruling, usually without reference to the ministers.

In 1960, he testified, Mr. Phillips—who resigned his portfolio in 1960—granted a charter to the After Friendly Society of Toronto after Mr. Cudney turned it down when Metropolitan Toronto police reported its members included "two of the most active bookmakers in the downtown area" and three others who had been convicted on betting and gaming charges.

The club had been refused a charter in 1951 after the OPP reported it was a petty "another gambling outlet."

No reason was given for Mr. Phillips's issuance of the charter.

The commission was told there have been no complaints about the club since being chartered.

Mr. Cudney in 1960 had turned down a request at Algonquin Village because it was embroiled in a church dispute —details of which were not made known — and later Mr. Varcoe, acting on his behalf, after Highways Minister Fred Case intervened. There were no complaints about the club.

Mr. Varcoe, a lower mainer again with a charter in 1961 after Mr. Cudney turned down the Regal as a branch club after receiving police reports of excessive drinking and apparent sale of liquor on the premises.

After getting the charter, the club obtained a liquor licence.

Reviewing past troubles with social clubs, Mr. Cudney said a problem had been created by Ontario's multiplicity of licensing functions operating in the province, beyond control of provincial authorities. He suggested the federal government might adopt charter restrictions such as now are in effect in Ontario, but he did not indicate the reaction to the suggestion.

Looking for ways of tightening up the social club law, Mr. Varcoe said he wondered whether the legal definition could be changed so that charters could be cancelled when it became apparent the organization was being "downwinked" through their use for gambling.

He suggested an example was the McDermott-Feeley club at Hamilton where charter eventually was cancelled.

Cudney agreed a tightened definition would be helpful, if a precise one could be arrived at.

Indian Painter Called Genius

TORONTO (CP) — Norval Morrisseau, 31, Ojibway painter from Lake Nipigon, has been hailed by Jack Pollock of Pollock Art Gallery as a "genius." A first group of 30 paintings, on exhibition this week at the gallery and the Four Seasons motor hotel, also "immensely impressed" Selwyn Dewdney, Indian art expert from London, Ont.

"Norval's paintings have a passion, spontaneous and unpretentious simplicity, that expose the emptiness of much contemporary painting," Mr. Dewdney said.

New Procedure To Detect Cancer Found

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—A new procedure for early detection of cancer of kidney and bladder, which is expected to save many lives, was announced Thursday by the Harvard Medical School.

The test, the announcement said, "can reveal the presence of cancer before clinical symptoms become evident or, in many instances, suspected."

The announcement described the test as "the simplest possible screening procedure," disclosing any increase and sensitivity of a zinc enzyme in the urine of presumably symptom - free persons.

Urinary cancers are notorious for silence or lack of evidence of early symptoms, and as a result, nearly 50 per cent are recognized only when it is too late for curative therapy," the school's report reported.

"Once suspected, the location of the cancer can be accurately ascertained by presently available techniques and either removed surgically or treated by means of radiation."

The Better Part of Valor

Attempting to make any comment on that statement is something akin to trying to sharpen a pencil on a buns saw. The results are likely to be uncomfortable.

Let the craven flinch! Only a weakling would shrink from the obvious hazards after the sterling example set by Brig. R. C. Crowdy. It was Crowdy who made the statement quoted in our opening sentence—and Crowdy is director of supply and transport for the British Army on the Rhine. If he has courage enough to say such a thing, surely a fellow-countryman of the "higher type chaps" to whom he refers should have the darting to turn the statement over and examine it critically.

This Canadian, though, wishes he could follow Brig. Crowdy's method. Crowdy waited until he was far away from Britain and from the British Army on the Rhine before delivering himself of that opinion—he waited, indeed, until he was in Canada.

Some place abroad, preferably the South Pole, would seem to be the appropriate place in which to set up a typewriter and dissect his opinion. However, we doubt whether the business office would approve an expense account for such a trip. Even the office, we fear, has the unanimous notion that editorial writers are expendable.

So here goes!

Brig. Crowdy says that the Canadian soldier is "a higher type of chap" than the British soldier because Canadian soldiers are all "permanent-army men," not drafted under a national service scheme. This must mean he thinks that a man who chooses the army as a career is, on the average, a higher type of chap than the man who prefers some other kind of occupation. This is a statement which—

Gosh, all those army types are armed, and are they husky!

Golly, all those civilian types are a lot of all, so very many many.

South Pole, here we come.

The Wrong Attitude

If anybody wants to know what is wrong with the movies, he has only to refer to an article by Cynthia Lowery of the Associated Press which appeared in Wednesday's issue of The Ontario Intelligencer.

Wherever two or three actors are gathered together, she said, the talk is about money—about actual gains and depreciations and generally on the care and multiplication of the dollar.

It is silly to say that money is the root of all evil. Everybody needs it and everybody is, or should be, interested in acquiring and retaining enough of it to relieve them of the necessity of worrying about it.

But it ought not to be of primary importance. Only one class of people ought to be customarily discovered talking about money—financiers. For them it would be "shop talk."

When, however, any other class of worker is habitually found talking about money, instead of about his work, shows does not need to be surprised if his work shows that he finds it something less than all-absorbing. He may be competent, but it will be a competency for the sake of money, rather than as the result of pride in his work. Nobody will deny that Hollywood movie-makers are competent, but all too seldom do we see a film which was obviously made for the gratification of artistic ideals, rather than primarily to make money.

Paradoxically enough, the richest financial rewards in any field are almost always reserved for those who put their work first, and money-making second.

Follow the Leader

According to Cuban refugees landing in Miami, some of the "Reds" ships coming into Cuba are bringing Congolese tribesmen to the newest workers' paradise. These tribesmen, according to the refugees, are in some cases dressed in "skirts, like the Scots wear." Many it seems, have rings on their noses.

It is apparent that this is part of a two-way cultural exchange. The Congolese, it seems, are to be treated to the refreshing sight of Russians mounting the guns and installing the rockets required to keep a workers' paradise working.

The Cubans, on the other hand, are presumably expected to please their leaders by taking up the style, obviously useful to the leaders, of wearing rings in their noses.

A land without ruins is a land without memories — a land without memories is a land without history. — Abram Joseph Ryan.

Steacie's Lively Spirit

By J. Norman Smith in the Ottawa Journal

Those close to Dr. E. W. R. Steacie, (Chairman of the National Research Council), knew his greatness; so, for others sensed it; but possibly most of us will have come to a full awareness of it only upon reading the incredible list of his degrees, medals, honors and positions that was brought to the public eye upon his death.

The man himself had no interest in making himself known. His joy and pride was science; his goal was to bridge the gap between science and society and the individual — for the betterment of all.

These last few days I have gone to his speeches and papers seeking to find out what it was he was saying to us — but we've been frustrated.

The motto of the Royal Society of London (of which he might have become the first Canadian president had he lived longer) is "nullius in verba" which is used to translate freely as "don't quit your day job in words." But Dr. Steacie was one scientist who, handling words with meticulous care was yet able to make them dance for him. He was a master of art in laughing, nothing childish in trying to be clear.

Let us convey the liveliness of the man by glimpsing here and there the illuminations which brightened his speeches.

* * *

On science and religion:

"One hears quite frequently nowadays the statement that there is a fundamental hostility between science and religion. Nothing could be more untrue. It is, of course, entirely true that many great scientists have also been religious men, both in the past and recently and in the past. Nevertheless, there is a basic philosophical conflict. The scientific attitude is always to be questioning, to question conclusions and beliefs, and this is a rather different outlook from that of many religious people. It seems to be entirely possible that the conflict arises not out of personal synthesis of the two, but there is an underlying conflict in that the attitude of science is best summed up in the story of a man who said to a scientific friend, 'Look out for the brown cow.' His friend replied, 'Well, the brown cow is this side.' This attitude is essential to scientific observation, even as it is infuriating to wives and relations when carried over to general life."

* * *

On his contention that "science" as such cannot itself be blamed for the technology of our day:

"The impact of technology on society is merely the impact of what scientists have put upon itself. Actually the direction of technological advance is apt to be due to the work of advertising and sales and promotional efforts than to the work of scientists and engineers. For example, it is equally possible from a scientific point of view to have automobiles longer, more streamlined in the future and more expensive, or to have them more durable, cheaper and not so streamlined. The direction of the development is evidently due to pressures under the influence of mass media of communication. Science has the making of these or what is possible, but only a minor influence on what is, in fact, done."

* * *

On his merits of individuals as against teams:

"There is a popular view that team-work is the modern way to do research, and that the day of individual accomplishment is past. I don't believe a word of it. A team has never had an idea, as far as I know. The outcome of the team is what ideas individuals, 'shotgun research.' It works on the principle that if you fire enough shots without aiming you are bound to hit something.

"In support of this view I would like to quote from two people who are not scientists. The first is Mr. Justice Stuart Mills who remarked that the question is 'whether our modern intellect be not rather a march towards doing without intelligent, and supplying our deficiency of giants by the united efforts of a constantly increasing multitude of dwarfs.' On the basis of Mill's remarks, the ultimate end of the team is the computing machine. These are often called 'electronic brains,' but of course they aren't. They are merely capable of an endless and rapid series of small simple operations. The electronic computer is, in fact, the equivalent of a team of millions of docile morons. It thus has many of the qualities of a large committee."

On bogus professions and phoney degrees:

"There are many bogus professions as well as real ones, and there are many pressures, local and otherwise, on the universities to give courses with a specific professional aim. It appears to be the desire of almost every working group in society to convert themselves into a profession, to have the profession closed by legislation, and to get a specific university degree in their own subject — — (for instance) cosmetic chemistry is in no sense a real field of knowledge if such a course is given, and it is given in some universities, it is merely a hodge-podge of odds and ends for the benefit of a specific industry.

"In connection with peculiar university courses I give the result of browsing through the 'Commonwealth Universities Yearbook' and 'American Universities and Colleges.' There is a widely held, and quite unfair view that the United States leads the field in the betterment of life. This is quite untrue, and the Commonwealth is far ahead. The two handbooks together list the titles of nearly a thousand different degrees. The AUBC includes Bachelor of Rural Science, Master of Science in Dairying, Doctor of Commercial Science (presumably leads to a PhD in sapic) and Bachelor of Expression. And since the BSc. has been preempted for so many things that it is logical to — and a degrees is Bachelor of Science in Science. (in case anyone doesn't believe that this degree exists it will be found on p.1013 of the 1948 Edition of American Universities and Colleges.) I will tactfully refrain from quoting Canadian degrees, although the nicest of them is a poetic standpoint is the BSc. (POT). Incidentally, it is very noticeable that when an arts faculty wants to give a degree of which it is ashamed it always gives a BSc. with a suffix appendage, rather than a BA. This is gross discrimination against sciences!"

Ohio Senator Speaks Out

Brantford Expositor

Senator Stephen M. Young (Democrat-Ohio) is a person who rarely leaves any doubt as to his opinion of things or people, especially constituents who send him unsolicited advice.

Some examples of his taste recently:

"Don't give me any more of your unsolicited advice. You're not scratching, but that's exactly what it's worth."

"The customer is not always right, and it's neither honest nor sound policy to pretend he is. I refuse to take cheap from these jerks, especially from self-appointed, right-wing outfits who try to play God with another man's patriotism."

"Some anti-Socialists sent me a telegram to which your name is affixed."

The Gregorian calendar was officially adopted by the British Empire and its colonies in 1752. Some years ago today—in 1752. The calendar adopted by Pope Gregory III in 1582, had suppressed 10 days in the ancient system in order to bring the civil year in line with the solar year. To keep the relationship, the new calendar provided that the practice of adding a day in February be omitted from all century years except those multiples of 400.

Hopes of joining Canada's fighting forces after running away from his Montreal home were abruptly dashed on the rocks of despair when 16-year-old Alex Brewster, of Montreal, was apprehended in the Can. Locomotive Works in Kingston on Tuesday night. Young Brewster's parents, fearing that he was enroute to Toronto to join the navy, notified police at Belleville, and members of the force assisted the C.N.R. authorities apprehended the lad as he came from Belleville aboard a fast freight.

The very gratifying sum of $473 was realized by Kingston's Hospital Auxiliary on Saturday as the result proceeds of their annual Tag Day. Belleville public was most generous and the members of the Auxiliary extend sincere appreciation to all those who contributed and also to the taggers who so zealously carried out their duties.

Man's Memory Sometimes Plays Tricks

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

One of the obvious tricks that our unconscious plays on us frequently is making us forget things we don't like to remember and misplace objects we don't want to be reminded of. What we ordinarily call "carelessness" has been shown by the depsychoanalysts to be frequently a deliberate (if unconscious) act.

* * *

I am forever misplacing my picture notes, for instance — also losing the addresses and forgetting the dates of my engagements — because I have an aversion to public speaking. And it is probably true of all of us that we "misplace" bills in a good deal easier than cheques we don't want to pay the bills, but are eager to cash the cheques.

Darwin, who understood this trick of the mind long before the Freudians, wrote in his autobiography: "I have made it a habit over the years always to make notes of any facts or observations that disagreed with my general theories; for I soon found by experience that such facts and observations were much more likely to escape from the memory than favorable ones."

Ellen Terry related that one of the few occasions on which she forgot her lines was during the early performance of a Ibsen play. When she came to a certain speech, she simply "drew up." This happened several times, and she finally sat down to analyze the trouble, and then recalled that the speech echoed a disturbing episode locked away in her unconscious mind rejected it.

Stephen Leacock loveriably "misplaced" invitations to social functions he didn't want to attend. Likewise he often left the names of his literary colleagues, in the hall privately by not obliterating his correspondents. Dwight Morrow, who hated to travel, would promise on a train trip and in the middle of the journey completely forget where he was going. His wife, eventually, planned a tag to his coat lapel, the way they used to do with small children.

The most classical case of absent-mindedness, however, is that of Pestalozzi, who was three times premier of France. This brilliant man would take a taxi home when his own car was waiting, and would often give the cab-driver his telephone number instead of his address.

Once, expecting a friend, he stuck a note on his own door: "Painters will return in 15 minutes." Upon returning, he read above the steps to wait for himself. I'd give a party to know what the psychiatrists would say about that fellow!

Celiac Disease Is Common During Early Childhood

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: We have recently been told that our 2-year-old daughter might have celiac disease. Do you have any information on the subject?
— M.C.S.

Increasing numbers of parents are learning that their children have — or may have — celiac disease.

It is an ailment that in recent years is being recognized more often. There is every indication that it is more frequent. Years ago it doubtless accounted for many a "sickly child" for no good or problem no explanation was known.

The name itself — celiac — merely means "abdominal," because in some cases the stomach is distended and there are digestive troubles.

Technically, some prefer to call it a "malabsorption syndrome," because that describes what it is: symptoms which result when food is not properly absorbed by the system.

Total nutrition, and particularly vitamin absorption is insufficient, so the child is weak, loses weight, and shows other signs of lacking vitamins or other signs is diarrhea.

Note: Do not assume that the child has not been getting vitamins; it's simply that he can't make use of them. Large doses of Vitamin D, and specially-arranged diet are the basic treatments.

Some cases are probably hereditary; others may be the result of an acquired digestive disturbance.

Another form of the disease is called sprue, which is more severe and has been known a longer. Again there are different varieties of this, but they follow much the same pattern of loss of weight and strength; chronic diarrhea; inflammation of the tongue; loss of pigment, or coloring matter, in the skin; retention of water, and so on.

Again it is a problem of the body not absorbing things, particularly the fat-soluble ones, but also some of the water-soluble vitamins.

Treatment for sprue involves bed rest, special diet free of wheat and rye products and especially low in fats, plus large doses of vitamins.

Where in earlier times celiac disease went unrecognized, to day it should be in the opposite direction. Doctors, now realizing the significance of the ailment, lean in the other direction and suspect it when it may not in fact be present. In fact, it certainly believe, is as it should be. A little extra bit of suspicion is a good safeguard.

Since celiac disease isn't always easy to identify, especially in milder forms, some parents are going to the extreme that their children might have it and can be relieved when it's a false alarm.

Most of these cases can, in any event, be arrested or even cured by proper treatment, if skilled attention is required.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have always thought that oleo margarine is as good for you as butter, but my sister-in-law says people need animal fat. If that is so, don't you get enough animal fat from meats and whole milk?

I use margarine for economy but will change to butter if it is better health for my family. — G.T.

Don't change on my account. There isn't enough difference between them to affect the health. Of course you get animal fat from meats and from milk. I eat butter only because I like it better.

Pay Too Low For Top Men

Ottawa Journal

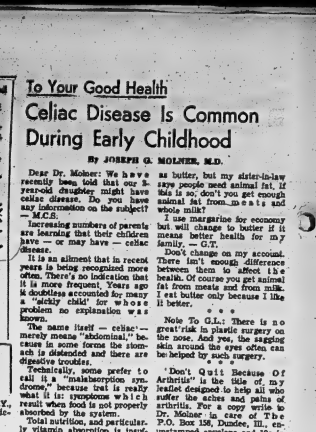
Let the Glassco Commission's recommendation of higher salaries for top civil servants not be properly understood. The situation has not come about for sweeping across-the-board raises. It has recognized what a great many persons in Ottawa have known for a long time; there is much room for improvement among the salaries of the four or five top levels of pay.

The difference between and difference between the salary of a deputy-minister for example, and his chief lieutenant at present is too much difference between the salaries of deputy-ministers and the heads of some government corporations outside the Civil Service in the mission. And there is much too much difference between the pay of executives in industry and senior civil servants who do not lead in such recognizability and ability.

Perhaps fewer than 100 civil servants would be in the category in mind for higher salaries. The cost to the Canadian taxpayers of even doubling the remuneration of these top men—which still would place some of them beneath counterparts in industry—would not be significant. But the effect upon the Civil Service generally to attract and to keep the best minds would be enormous.

The Glassco Commission recognized that the sense of public duty, the challenge and the interest of the work kept many senior administrators in government service. Yet there is a question too, as the Commission says, of "simple justice" to those who day in and day out bear the heaviest burdens of government administration.

THE PACKSACK



By GREGORY CLARK

My soulmate on the bus proved to be a chemical engineer specializing in plastics. So I asked him how long it would be now before plastic plates, cups and other dinnerware as well as ornamental articles of the more delicate kinds moved out of the greasy-spoon class and were available to attractive artistic forms and patterns.

"Many plastic goods," I charged, "still look the way they did years ago when plastics were first developed as a domestic material. They look like the prizes you get for winning a game in the side shows at a fall fair."

The engineer assured me that I looked down my nose and in the better stores, I could find plastic dinnerware as fine and beautiful as good china.

"But," he admitted, "the industry is now enough to be still dominated by engineers, most of whom have no artistic sense whatever and firmly resist the intrusion of people who claim to be interested in good taste. Some of those grab-awful oranges and plastic tablecloths look beautiful to engineers."

Only serious casualty reported was Alex Foran of Windsor, who suffered head injuries and a broken arm when his truck hit a tree that had been blown onto Highway 40 near Chatham. Another motorist plowed into the wreckage of the first accident, but was only slightly injured.

They want about thirty of them, and three officers. The women will take recruit training and normal military training with the exception of arms drill; then they will select a specialty, for further training. Specialties encouraged for this group are clerical, signals and working in quartermasters' stores.

TREES UPROOTED

At West Lorne, 35 miles northwest of Chatham, the wind uprooted about 50 trees some of them two feet in diameter. Two cars were crushed by falling trees and one tree crashed onto a house, but no one was injured.

Weathermen said the humid air has hung over southern Ontario for the last few days caused the disturbance. Cooler and drier air was moving into the province.

The storm hit St. Catharines and Barrie with lighting and heavy rain, but little damage was reported.

Hasty Pees Seek 30 Women For Stores and Paperwork

The women are getting into uniform again. Because the army has decided that all able-bodied males in the service will be needed for active work in case of emergency, the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment is recruiting women to handle the paperwork.

The women they are looking for are between 18 and 40 years old, have grade eight education, and are physically fit.

In case of emergency, the women will take over the operation of all the regimental armouries, as the men form into active columns and move off to their rendezvous. While the men are in the field the women will arrange reinforcement and supplies and handle the normal paperwork.

The women are enlisted in the Canadian Women's Army Corps, and attached to the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment.

For all practical purposes they are members of the regiment.

Before the enlistment drive, started this week, there were six CWAC's on strength with the Hasty Pees. Four more were sworn in last night, and a further six have applied for enlistment, but are not yet sworn in.

Kingston Girl Located Here

A 14-year-old Kingston girl, Barbara Kelly, returned to her home after being located by city police here, on Wednesday. She had been reported missing from her home for several weeks.

Police had questioned this girl earlier, at which time she gave a fictitious name and false address. A short time later, a member of the city's police force recognized her picture, broadcast over the Kingston television station.

A search was made of the downtown business area and she was located in a local restaurant.

She returned to Kingston with her parents.

St. Joseph's Parishoners Inspect School Addition

It was "Open House" at St. Joseph's Separate School in the east end of the city last night as parishioners came to view and inspect the new four-roomed addition which was used for the first time with the opening of the fall school term.

Rev. J. J. V. Buckley of St. Joseph's Church, blessed the school addition with Mr. R. J. Buckley, Separate School Board Chairman, officially declaring the addition open.

Built originally as a six-roomed school back in 1953, St. Joseph's has already seen two additions, and now is a 12-roomed school.

Board members felt the current four-roomed addition would take care of school enrolment for at least two years, but already they are thinking in terms of another addition next year.

"It makes you wonder where it is all going to end", commented Paul Mercier, chairman of the school building committee.

The campaign appeared to be as attempt to isolate co-operatives from the business community of Canada and to cast them in a role somewhat less than respectable, the statement said.

"The attack seems symptomatic of the general situation in Canada's private - profit enterprises. Canada's co-operatives are virtually 100-per-cent Canadian-owned — a statement that few other parts of Canadian business can make.

"Canadians are being misguided as to the source of their real problems when the finger is pointed at the co-operative movement, organized by the people themselves to serve themselves at cost and not for profit."

Other SIU tactics, said Mr. Sheehan, included sending an undertaker to a man's home "to measure the body."

Mr. Sheehan said Mr. Banks forced an abject apology from a captain of the Hindman Transportation Company ship who had made "disparaging remarks" about the SIU and Mr. Banks.

A photostatic copy of the captain's letter, sent Oct. 7, 1956, to Mr. Banks was read at the hearing by Maurice Wright, lawyer for the Canadian Labor Congress. In it, the captain said:

"My job and my family's welfare depend more entirely on your mercy. I hope you will accept my apology and in your benevolence allow me to keep my job so I can keep my family. If there is anything I can do to square this with you I will most earnestly do so."

WAS SECOND LETTER

Mr. Sheehan said this was the second letter from the captain because the first was not humble enough for Mr. Banks. He said he was told by Mr. Banks to take two copies of the letter to be ship's bulletin boards to humiliate the captain before his crew, and he disobeyed and tore them up.

Mr. Sheehan said this was members were assessed $10 each for a special levy in 1957 when the union went on strike against the CNS line in 1957, meaning about $104,000 for the union.

Only $30 of this was ever paid out, Mr. Sheehan said. Strikers from CNS ships were given priority in getting new sailing jobs "above all others" so the union wouldn't have to pay strike aid, he said.

He said ships of Reoch Steam, ships Line, owned by Capt. Jack Reoch, former general manager of Canada Steamships Lines, were covered by agreements between the crew to a "prayer meeting" in the union hall, the SIU sidestepped its contractual pledge not to call strikes during the life of its lower costs sanctioned by Raw milk square cheese sold at a top of 37½ for first grade white and colored 37¾ cents for colored. Top price for heated cheese was one quarter cent less.

Mr. Banks.

USED MEETINGS

Later, after completing direct testimony, Mr. Sheehan told J. A. Cullen, lawyer for Upper Lakes Shipping Limited, that the SIU used "prayer meetings" to harrass companies.

He said "many times" he was ordered by Mr. Banks to board ships of certain companies and find some trouble to pull the crew out. This was always timed to hurt the company—either just as the ship was about to sail or was ready to unload a cargo.

Mr. Sheehan said this tactic was generally directed at ships of the Scott Misener Line, N. M. Paterson and Sons, the George Hindman Company or Upper Lakes—but never against Canada Steamships or firms with which the SIU had 'sweetheart' deals.

In union parlance, a sweetheart deal is signed between a company and a union, for the benefit of the company, not the crew covered by agreement. The crew to a "prayer meeting" in the union hall, the SIU sidestepped its contractual pledge not to call strikes during the life of the agreement, he said.

School Boys Are Recruited As Inspectors to Cut Number of School Fires

BY JOHN MOSHER

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP)—During the last 10 years, 3,400 fires caused about $24,000,000 damage to schools and colleges in Canada. Now, with another term under way, a school fire prevention program that has set a pattern for other parts of the country is being continued here where it originated.

In 1950 the Saint John fire department organized a squad of junior firemen — boys selected and trained to make sure their schools stay as free from fire hazards as inspections and reports can make them.

The idea spread slowly between the province. Similar squads are in operation in Quebec and Ontario. A group was to be organized this year at Kentville, N.S.

About 30 boys 14 or over—from Saint John High school are appointed in September. After instruction in inspection work and forms specifying the hazards to seek. After each inspection reports are submitted to the school principal and then passed on to the school board's maintenance department.

TEACHERS CO-OPERATE

On the first duty tour the boys are accompanied by their instructor, the captain of the local fire prevention bureau.

Fire Chief H.S. Knight says that when the program started in 1950 some teachers didn't like the bother of co-operating such hazards as unemptied wastepaper baskets.

"Now they've come away with and we get 100 per cent co-operation from the teachers and school board."

The youths take their responsibilities seriously and pursue the hazard - hunting at home, on playgrounds and holidays is also carried into later life at home and work," says Chief Knight.

At a banquet given the junior firemen every November, regular firemen and serve food provided by merchants. Another reward is that identification badges presented at the function authorize the boys to enter burning buildings and help the fire-fighters in any way possible, such as errand-running.

MASTER STRATEGIST

As cup-bearer to the Babylonian king Nehemiah had, no doubt, been present on numerous occasions when various military campaigns had been planned by the king and his military advisers, so he certainly have a wonderful opportunity to get an education, if they are naturally ambitious he would benefit by his every chance.

When he arrived in Judea, at the head of a great host of returning patriots, he was technically and personally prepared for leadership, being skilled in at least three major respects.

1. He was quick to see the opportunities and the hazards of the situation.

2. He saw personal and social resources in the people but no one else recognized.

3. He counted on the inner motivations of the people, shown their economic and military prowess.

Believing in the people he led, in the God who guided him and them, and in the power of individual integrity to work miracles, Nehemiah stood ready to venture.

NO MIRACLE IN IT

When the people have a willingness to work, when they are motivated by a cause that is just, and when they fight for their convictions, their victories are not miracles. Rather, they are the natural results of the outworking of established spiritual laws.

The Uniform Sunday School lesson for September 16: "LEADERSHIP IN CRISIS," Nehemiah 2; 4; 6:15.

It was important, of course, that Nehemiah should assist every man to the responsibility for the wall directly in front of his own house. And it was also important that he ordered his forces to carry their spears in one hand and their tools in the other. Defence and offence often go together.

But the great victory was won by virtue of the fact that the people accepted wise and unselfish leadership. They did the thing that Nehemiah ordered them to do. The strongest nation in the world will go down to defeat if it rebels against leadership.

Sunday School Lesson

Prayer and Preparation

By ZOY L. SMITH

One of the interesting things about the Bible is the fact that in the Old Testament, especially, we find so many modern situations duplicated. This is because of the fact that moral laws work according to the same principle in all generations.

The Sunday school lesson for this week is a vivid illustration. Because of the jealousy of the surrounding nations, the leaders of the Jews in Judea were frustrated at every point, as they undertook to rebuild their nation.

THE MAN NEHEMIAH

Nehemiah, the hero of our story, was an individual who enjoyed the confidence of the Babylonian monarch and who was assigned to one of the most confidential jobs in the Empire. He was called "the cup-bearer," but that meant that he was in charge of the king's food and drink. In a time when poisoning was one of the common arts, this title indicates that he was a man of character, wise and well trained. Even a Babylonian believed in him, and we are told remembered that Nehemiah was a Jew, the son of a family that had been banished from Judah, the whole situation assumes importance. Certainly such a man in the employ of the king in such a job, must have been a man of character.

THE MAN SANBALLAT

Some 200 years previous to the time of our story the Assyrian Empire had destroyed the little Hebrew kingdom of Israel (722 B.C.), and had carried off 30,000 of the best families to a country from which they never returned. Other peoples, taken prisoners of war were sent to Assyrians were deported to the land formerly occupied by the Hebrews, the total population coming from perhaps a dozen countries.

As a consequence, the "Samaritans" of the newcomers were called) were held, greatly, in contempt by their neighbors. Most of the race with all peoples, even the most despised, occasionally leaders of strength arose and administered brilliantly through a period of years. Such a man was Sanballat.

Through the centuries, however, the Samaritans, and other neighbors of the Hebrews were suspicious of their leaders, and now that a stream of deportees are making their way back to Judea, all the neighboring nations became alarmed. Sanballat they organized for the purpose of holding the returning Jews in check.

Following are some questions with answers which may be of interest.

Q. Is a married woman entitled to unemployment benefit if she quits work?

A. This would depend on the reason for the separation. If, as a married woman, she is not interested in being employed any longer, then she would be considered as not being available for suitable employment and, therefore, not entitled to receive unemployment insurance benefit.

A married woman must prove she is available for work the same way as any other claimant. She must be ready, willing, and able to accept immediately, suitable employment.

Q. To ascertain her rights to benefit she should apply to the nearest local office and supply complete details of why she left her last job, and whether she is willing to accept suitable employment.

Q. I am told by friends that if I have paid unemployment insurance contributions for two years, I must file a claim for benefit before the two years are over or these contributions become void. Is this correct? They say that if I do not make a claim in the two-year period I will have to start again at the beginning with new contributions and that the ones already made will not be counted.

A. Any contributions acquired during the 104 weeks prior to the date of the claim are taken into account in determining whether a person is able to establish a claim for unemployment insurance benefit. However, if you have been unable to acquire the necessary contributions during this period due to certain specific reasons, such as you'r having been employed in non-insurable employment, or in business on your own account, the 104 weeks referred to may be extended. For complete details on this question you should apply at your nearest local office.

Q. My son, who is 16 years of age, had a job for some time but left it. He is now drawing unemployment benefits. He collects the money at the office but does not bring any of it home. His wife says big board and I am afraid he is in bad company. Is there anything that can be done to keep this money from him?

From him?

A.No, the filing of a benefit claim by an insured person should be regarded as a personal matter between the claimant and the Commission. If your son has qualified for unemployment insurance benefits, these benefits are payable to him on receipt of proof of his entitlement to them. Benefits are not capable of being assigned, charged or attached.

Q. Why is it that you do not pay unemployment insurance contributions when working on construction for the government of Canada, or a municipality, are employed in insurable employment. Unemployment insurance contributions are paid for such work unless the employer, federal or municipal, has certified that the employment is of a permanent nature. Where employment certified permanent by a federal government department or a municipality, unemployment insurance contributions are not paid on behalf of the employee.

Persons employed by the Government of a Province are not employed in insurable employment regardless of what kind of work they perform. Such employment becomes insurable only with the consent of the province concerned.

Q. I have lost my insurance book with stamps for the last ten months. I understand I cannot get benefit without them. What can I do about it?

A. If you lose your unemployment insurance book you should immediately contact your nearest NES office and give the full particulars of the loss. You will also be required to tell them your insurance number, full name and date of birth. Should you need the contributions for benefit purposes the local office will give you a special form which you will be asked to have your former employer complete and return to the local office. The local office will then be in a position to credit you with the contributions which were in the lost insurance book.

Q. I was manager of our local ten-cent store. For three weeks I was sick and the firm paid me my full salary. When I returned yesterday I found a man in my place. I was told I could remain as a sales clerk at a lower salary. I just could not do that and I resigned. Am I eligible for benefits?

A. Generally speaking, where the change in the terms and conditions of employment are considered unlikely you, a disqualification for voluntarily leaving employment would not be imposed. However, each case must be dealt with on its merits and when filing your claim for benefit you should give complete details as to the reason for your separation from employment in order that the insurance officer, when assessing all the facts may arrive at a fair and equitable decision.

Q. Is it true that the Unemployment Insurance Commission can prosecute a benefit claimant who has committed fraud, under the Criminal Code of Canada, instead of under the Unemployment Insurance Act?

A. Yes. Prosecution can be proceeded with under our own Act or under the Criminal Code, depending on the nature and flagrancy of the fraud.

Q. What is the maximum penalty when prosecuted under the Unemployment Insurance Act?

A. The maximum penalty on summary conviction for an offence under the Unemployment Insurance Act is a fine of $500.00 or imprisonment for not more than 6 months, or to both a fine and imprisonment.

Arctic Pilots Have World's Longest School-Bus Route

INUVIK, N.W.T. (CP)—Arctic pilots have probably the world's longest school-bus route.

Eskimo children from primitive homes scattered across the Arctic are taken to school by airplane. But the trip, more than 1,200 miles for many, is only twice-yearly, for classes in the fall and home again in the spring.

"It's pretty hard finding most of them," says Pilot Paul Hagedorn, 39. "They move their camps and villages so often that there's no guarantee I'm going to find them where I took them the last spring."

Small aircraft working out of three posts scour the Arctic coast and islands for camps and homes of the nomadic Eskimos.

After the smaller planes have gathered the children into the marshalling centres, a large aircraft carries them to school at Inuvik, at the mouth of the Mackenzie River 1,200 airmiles northwest of Edmonton.

The Anglican and Roman Catholic hold a joint school, which house the children, have no idea how many children there will be this year. Last year there were nearly 700.

CLASSES BY CORRESPONDENCE

Depending on the keen eyes of the pilots, who must find the children, and the determination of the parents to let them go, attendance at the school is a question mark until enrolment day.

Most of the parents do not object to allowing the children to attend school. Pilot Hagedorn, who makes his base at Cambridge Bay 1,000 miles north of Edmonton, says he runs into little trouble in that connection.

Eskimo children from the Yukon to the eastern Arctic go to school at Inuvik and the first load on a large plane on the 800-mile flight from Cambridge Bay to Inuvik was 71 children.

At Inuvik, Superintendents of Schools Gin Needham and the plane. Each child bore a tag giving name, home and whether he would stay at the Anglican or Roman Catholic hostel.

At the glistening — clean hostels, the children were stripped of their native clothing and given baths, new clothes and haircuts. Some of the little ones attending for the first time hesitated about the bath routine.

In the spring, the children, six to 16 years old, will be returned to their homes. Finding the homes may be difficult for the families probably will move several times during the winter.

Safety Talk Given at Avondale H-S

"What can be done at home to supplement the school safety program," was the subject of an address heard by members of Avondale Home and School Association at a meeting held in the school on Tuesday evening. Guest speaker was Sgt. R. W. Blatchford, Belleville Traffic Safety Officer.

Sgt. Blatchford noted that it had been found that pedestrians tended to err mostly in one or more ways. To counteract this, six safety rules are stressed in school traffic safety lessons, when Sammy the Safe-T-phant, Mr. Beep and various film strips are used as teaching aids.

He also indicated four ways the whole parents are able to supplement the school program. Most important of these is setting "the finest possible example." "In fact," he said, "the greatest single safety lesson a child ever learns will be the example set by someone the child loves."

Secondly, parents should both talk about safety to their children and listen carefully to what the children tell them about the school safety lessons, so that they can make sure the children have understood the safety rules.

Thirdly parents should occasionally watch their children from a hidden vantage point to ascertain whether the children are obeying the safety rules at all times, and lastly, parents should discuss any traffic safety problems with Sgt. Blatchford, in order to lessen the possibility of accidents.

The guest speaker explained that bicycles are a special problem, because they are classed as vehicles and should, therefore, travel only on the road and because the sight of bicycle riders on the road tends to make many car drivers nervous. He noted that bicycles should receive regular safety checks.

The guest speaker was introduced by Mrs. D.-C. Horne and thanked by Mrs. H. Heslip.

A short business meeting preceded Sgt. Blatchford's address. Mr. R. Horwood, the principal of Avondale school, introduced the teachers: Mrs. E. G. Bristol, Miss Euler, Mrs. R. Moorcroft and Mrs. Thompson.

Mr. Horwood also announced that library day would be Monday this year, and that it would be appreciated if children did not arrive at school more than fifteen minutes before class time and if parents would send a note of explanation when children return to school after an absence.

Refreshments were served by executive members.

Ont. Diocesan W.A. Holds Sept. Meet

The Ontario Diocesan Woman's Auxiliary held its first monthly meeting of the autumn at Christ Church, Bellevile. The president, Mrs. W. F. G. Mitchell, presided and Archdeacon J. R. Creeggan said the opening prayers.

The work of the Dorcas department was explained to members by the Dorcas secretary-treasurer, Mrs. R. H. Goodden. Indian and Eskimo residential schools which are in constant need of supplies of clothing as well as monetary assistance are the first consideration of this department. Thirteen schools are listed with the Dominion Board and each unassisted Diocese is sent a requisition sheet, which in turn is divided and sent to each Parish branch. The presiding bishop of any of the 11 assisted Dioceses may also make a personal request if an emergency arises and the secretary urges members to be constantly prepared.

Mrs. A. C. McCollum who with her husband, Rev. A. C. McCollum lived in the Yukon for several years, introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. H. H. Marsh, wife of the bishop of the Yukon.

Mrs. Marsh soon made her imagination visible and unnecessary the work of the Dorcas department is in an assisted Diocese. Before leaving Whitehorse in the Yukon Mrs. Marsh was rector of St. Timothy's in Toronto, and the contrast between his present way of life and that of living in Toronto almost defies imagination. Slides were shown to help bring home the stark reality and poverty of the Yukon, as well as the breath-taking scenery. Mrs. Marsh aptly described that part of Canada when she termed it "a grim and gorgeous world." The Alaska highway trail like in the defence which was built at the cost of 135,000 men, crosses mountains, gorges and swamps, remains unpaved as yet and is difficult to traverse, but has contributed to the catapulting of the Stone Indians into the atomic era much too quickly. Here is where missionaries are needed in preventing the exploitation of these people, and to educate and assist the many children who have never known a decent home. In turn these same missionaries with their dignified but cheerful unselfishness which are taken for granted in this part of Canada, and daily duties are needed in the amount of help to aid them in their unselfish work. Very often extremely frustrating work.

Mrs. R. Fleming of Marmora thanked Mrs. Marsh and the Rev. J. Mullen said the closing prayers.

Mrs. W. Black of Kingston thanked the ladies of Christ Church for their hospitality.

Resumes Fall Meetings

Regular weekly meetings of the Girl Guides have been resumed on Monday evening and there was a good turn out of members.

President Trudy Sands welcomed the girls back, and the secretary, Betty Teed read the minutes of the last spring meeting and the summer correspondence was read. Marilyn Smith gave the treasurer's report up to date.

Plans were made for fall activities both social and outdoor. The girls were reminded to work on the articles for the Christmas bazaar. A rummage sale is scheduled for a late date in September under the direction of Marg Dack and the girls of her group.

U.C.W. Hear Talk on Public Health

Eastminster U.C.W. held their first meeting of the fall season at the church on September 10. The meeting opened with a devotional service conducted by Marjorie Kerr's group. Conforming with present day public health, they fittingly presented a service pertaining to this. They concluded the devotional period with a quiz on the subject and foods referred to in the Bible. The panel consisted of Marjorie Kerr, Ella Wilder, Grace McKelley, Audrey Daniels, Verla Dales and Mary Harden.

GUEST SPEAKER

Mrs. Peggy Cochrane of the Belleville Public Health Department and a member of Eastminster U.C.W., gave an address on Public Health and first gave a resume of public health from the days of the Greeks and the Romans to the present-day system such as is in Canada.

She spoke of the importance of proper foods in the daily diet and the necessity of a balanced diet, firmly stressing a good breakfast for school-aged children, and in particular the smaller youngsters of the kindergarten class. These little ones often become fatigued and ill or lack concentration and when the public health nurse is called by the school, these factors usually stem from a cold or unbalanced meal before setting off for school.

Mrs. Cochrane proceeded to encourage the ladies to take advantage of the Tuberculin Testing Clinic in the area. She pointed out cases in parts of Ontario where entire families sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "O Perfect Love."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a ballerina-length dress of white lace with long sleeves and square neckline. A shoulder-length veil was held with a crown of pearls in petal shape. She carried a bouquet of red roses.

The bride was attended by Miss Pat Nelson as maid of honor, and the Misses Marie Hawley and Irene Bandy as bridesmaids. Their dresses were of white nylon with scoop neck-lines and short sleeves. Their headdresses were large green roses with veils. They wore matching gloves and carried yellow and white bouquets with green leaves and fern.

John Bandy was groomsman while ushers were George Bongard, Picton and Darryl Morden, Wellington.

The reception was held in Mount Pleasant Hall which was prettily decorated for the occasion.

The bride's mother chose a teal blue dress with corsage of yellow roses. The bridegroom's mother wore a blue flowered dress and corsage of roses.

Those who served were Diane Hubbs, Rebecca Chapman, Marilyn Whitten, Judy Woodland and members of the Willing Workers Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Hawley are residing at 15 Bowery Street, Picton.

Hold Training Course for Guiders

Belleville Division of the Girl Guides will have its own trainers next year, according to Mrs. D. Stewart, Belleville Division Commissioner. Mrs. Diana Settle and Mrs. Joan Watkin are planning to qualify for their trainers' certificates during the coming winter.

Part of their qualifications are being met as they conduct a "basic training" course for Guiders, in Bellevillé now. The course runs two hours a night, one night a week, for four consecutive weeks. The first session, in the Rivanis Centre, was last night.

Purpose of the course is to provide training for those Guiders with less than one year's experience in the movement, and to provide a refresher for more experienced Guiders who wish to improve their efficiency. The course has been operated in Belleville for several years, but previously it was on one day only, and the trainers for blue and brown Guiders had to be imported from Toronto.

Attendance, on the part of the Guiders, is purely voluntary, but there were 16 Blue (Senior Girl Guide leaders), and 17 Brown Guiders (Brownie leaders), representing nearly half the Guiders in Belleville, at the first session.

A secondary purpose of the course is to provide an introduction to interested parties to the movement. Because of this, the Guiders had a standing invitation to women who might be interested in becoming Guiders, to attend any of the Thursday night sessions.

U.C.W. Meetings

COLLEGE HILL U.C.W.

The afternoon unit of College Hill United Church Women held their September meeting on Wednesday, at the church.

The president, Mrs. A. Dickens opened the meeting with a warm welcome to all.

The various reports by the secretaries were read and some items of business dealt with. It was announced that a general meeting would be held at 11 church on the evening of September 20th, also an invitation was read to attend a bazaar and tea to be held in Bethel Church on the afternoon of September 20th.

Mrs. C. Bailey led in devotions. The meditation was based on stewardship. The Psalmist proclaims all for God. He created the earth, the heavens and all things therein.

Mrs. Vesey told a most interesting story of a French Canadian Christian man named Emile, who had three sons, and told of some of the difficulties they encountered in getting their education and making their living. Their principles of Christian living were felt in the community long after they were gone.

The benediction closed the meeting and a social half hour was enjoyed with Mrs. H. Clarke and Mrs. A. Dickens in charge of refreshments.

Trend Toward Working Wife Is Growing

OTTAWA (CP) — There are more married women than single women holding jobs in Canada and the trend toward working wives is growing steadily.

The bureau of statistics said in a labor force report today that 20.8 per cent of all wives—just over one in five—had a job last year.

Figures for August showed there were 1,838,000 women in a total labor force of 6,862,000 and they had an unemployment rate of 2.8 per cent as against 4.6 per cent for men.

Of these women, 47.3 per cent were married, 42.5 per cent were single and 10.2 per cent were either widowed or divorced.

The growth in the percentage of wives at work has been concentrated in the last eight years, the bureau said. In 1953 just over 12 per cent of all wives had jobs.

Since 1953 the female labor force has been growing at an annual rate of 4.8 per cent. The rate for men in the labor force grew by only 1.6 per cent in the period.

RED TRADE OFF

GENEVA (Reuters) — Soviet trade with Communist China fell by 35 per cent between 1959 and 1961, a United Nations report shows. It was during that period that the ideological dispute between the two countries intensified and finally broke into the open at the 22nd Communist party congress in Moscow.

Tabernacle U.C.W. Hold Initial Meet

Tabernacle United Church Women began their fall program Tuesday evening with a potluck supper in the church school auditorium.

The president, Mrs. Lewis Andrews, called the meeting to order with a kindly word of welcome and conducted the routine business.

Mrs. John Babiak, program convener, announced the fine presentation of Andrew Lendvai's color-film pageant coming in the near future, to Tabernacle church.

Mrs. Babiak also introduced Miss Marilyn McFarlane, guest speaker, who told of her very wonderful experience of caravan training at Five Oaks Christian Workers' Centre and then her assignment to Lake Scugog South Bridge where she had charge of eight girls for eight days. These girls were taught housekeeping, handicraft, recreation and most important of all, how to live together as a Christian family. Some of the girls had never been to camp before, some were from broken homes, some were very depressed and found it most difficult to smile —until the end of the week. Snapshots of girls, camp sites and cabins were provided on a screen giving a more vivid impression of the work of caravaners.

After Miss McFarlane's "Caravan to Camp," Miss Ethel Horton invited the ladies to go with her to Scarboro United Church Women" held at Trinity Ladies' College, where over 400 delegates registered during the week. Rev. Dr. J. Long of Oshawa, gave the opening address on "The Church—Task." Mrs. E. Collins, Ottawa, conducted Bible Study each morning on Rev. Donald Maitland's book "The Word and The Way," which is the proposed Bible study for the U.C.W.

Miss Millicent Howse, Angola, Africa, was the missionary in attendance and told a great deal about her work. She returns to Angola this month and will carry with her refreshing encouragement and great hope of the devotion and prayers for her and her important work in Angola.

Miss Beatrice Wilson, assistant secretary of the Board of Women of the United Church of Canada, was also present. She introduced the mission study of the church which is "The Rim of East Asia"—four beautiful little islands that have been scarred by war and over-crowded by refugees — Korea, Hong Kong, Formosa and Taiwan.

Miss Wilson's closing remarks were "United Church Women have to face where we are going."

PATRICIA LEWIS

ON MINIMIZING SHOPTING WOES

In all the flurry of getting the children ready to go back to school, probably nothing is more flurried than the shopping expedition that precedes it.

The children have to be re-outfitted from head to toe, and since each has grown a few inches higher and rounder during the Summer, naturally the youngsters have to be brought along to make sure that all of the new finery fits in the newly stretched and expanded places.

In the excitement that prevails in the childrens department of store this time of year, how can one possibly make youngsters behave long enough to try on a few dresses or a suit or two?

"Loud is the key word here. The secret is to make the shopping trip not long that as brief as possible, so children won't get tired and produce the sort of boisterous and cranky behavior which is the main symptom.

A mother-of-four who lives near us survived her expedition simply by confining it to a well-chosen hour or two. She bundled her brood into the car at nine in the morning on the rainiest day of the week and had two good things working in her favor. By getting a bad-weather day, the store was not apt to be bursting at the seams with other customers, and by arriving when the store opened at nine-thirty she was able to avoid any crowd that eventually might turn up.

To further save time, she resolved to have each child try on only the barest necessities. Each of the girls got a dress, a skirt and a blouse, and each of the boys a pair of corduroy trousers, a shirt and a sweater. Oh, yes, each got a new pencil box, but of course these didn't have to be fitted.

But as far as the clothes were concerned, this mother's main interest was determining everyone's current size. With that to work on, she then could pick over the contents of last year's wardrobes, see what fitted whom, then make up a list of what each needed to fill in. At a later date, she could return with size chart in hand and, in blissful solitude, complete her shopping calmly and at leisure.

This is one mother's experience, but basically it points up the simple measures that can be taken to prevent children from becoming unruly in stores.

Get them the rush hours around midday and early afternoon when the store is more likely to be jammed. Plan your shopping list so you know exactly what you want, and don't have to pull a young child from piles to post while you muse over what to order. Don't try to buy everything at once. Trying on clothes for hours at a stretch is too wearing on a youngster and a case of bad temper is likely to develop.

Oh, yes! An important item to add to the shopping list is a perfect flavor on in your purse to spring at the proper psychological moment when he threatens to bolt. Or promise to get one as soon as the shopping is over. It's making how a very inexpensive toy — or pencil box — is a major investment in good behavior when it's most needed.

THE FARM COUNCIL

Rowena G. — As the mother of the groom, I have nothing to do with things.

Greta W. — Oh, there are lots of friendly gestures she should be making.

* * *

Rowena G. — My son became engaged at Easter and, although we have met his fiancee several times, we have never met her family. I always was under the impression that it's the bride's mother, not the bridegroom's, who offers the first invitation for the family to meet. But I'm getting digs from my son that, because I haven't invited Joyce's folks over, it looks as though we're not accepting her! Nothing can be further from the truth and if I'm wrong I'll hasten to apologize.

Greta W. — From everything I've read and observed, however, the groom's family is supposed to stay pretty much in the background. But now my friend Greta chimes in with my son and tells me I ought to be making much more of a to-do about the engagement and the wedding. Just what are my duties and those of my family?

* * *

Greta W. — If I had a son Rowena, you'd be there, you know I wouldn't just be sitting back waiting for instructions. My pet peeve is being shy. Why stand on ceremony? Why not do what comes naturally? She likes the girl. She'd like to meet the family. She waits. No move from them. Well, there's a good reason. Anyway, dive in and invite them over. We all know that each family is reading a different etiquette book.

Then Rowena can show some interest in Joyce's wedding plans, to help her assemble a trousseau. I'm not sure who pays for what, but I think you say that a mother-in-law can't contribute a couple of pretty finger tips towards the bride's trousseau or an interesting objet d'art, however. She has an idea of what the young couple likes.

As her best friend, I'm advising her to stop waiting so stiff and jump right into the act. It's her show, too!

* * *

The Council: For the most part, Greta is right. It's natural, human approach is always right, always correct. But, in general, the wedding and pre-wedding a mem ifies emanate from the bride's territory, and the honeymoon and post-wedding responsibilities from groom's — which doesn't mean, Rowena, that at this point the two sides should be lined up glaring at each other like the guards at the Berlin Wall!

On the two questions worrying you, the comforting coverall word is friendliness. Querying among social secretaries and other cognoscenti of the proper betrothal behavior, we gather the impression that the girl's family invites the boy over first. After all, the boy has to get over the hard hurdle of popping the question and being accepted. So the "ball" shifts to the other team to indicate that all's well as far as the families are concerned.

But here's the but, Rowena. Why prolong the not-getting-to-know-you period? Friendliness would dictate that it really doesn't matter who initiates the invite, and that a phone call or letter from Rowena to the bride's mother would bridge the awkward gap and set the wheels of approach in motion.

As to just where the bride-groom and his family fit into the wedding preparations, again we say there are finds and finds which no etiquette advisor these days dares be rigid. Friendliness wins out over the dictates of Emily Post and the rest. But there's a general agreement on the following, to be paid for either by your son, Rowena, or by the parents: wedding ring, marriage license, boutonnieres for himself and ushers, corsage for his and the bride's mother, gifts for ushers, minister's fee, rehearsal and the reception, plus bachelor dinner, AND . . . the bride's gift to him — a wedding gift of substance."

C'mon now, Rowena! Joyce's folks are as human as you, so get set to enjoy every day's leading up to the Big Moment in both households.

86-Year-Old Widow Writing About Adventures in Canada

PETERBOROUGH, Ont. (CP) — A woman who came to Canada 48 years ago to write about the Canadian Indians has ended up writing about her own adventures instead.

When Mrs. Minnie Elizabeth McHolm first came to Canada as a genteel Englishwoman, of 38, she found herself learning to bake bread, make butter, and as a housekeeper for six men on a Saskatchewan wheat farm.

"I was very ill nice boys, and I don't know how they put up with me at first. I never baked bread or made butter. The first bread I baked I could throw off the wall."

She was the only woman among the six men, and was so shy that she retreated upstairs when they came in to wash for dinner and stripped off their shirts, she recalls.

The Indians? "I didn't have time for writing anything but letters in those days. I was too busy."

Now the 86-year-old widow is writing the story of her romantic adventures on the Canadian Prairies.

And her Prairie experiences are only part of her story, which also tells of a way of life —dress, food, customs, and cottage prayer meetings — which disappeared long ago in England.

Mrs. McHolm knew this way of life as a child when, too delicate to survive the rigors of living with nine brothers and sisters, she lived quietly with her grandparents in Froome, Somerset, England.

She had first planned to stay in Canada for only three years, but in 1914 war broke out and by the time it was over she had met and married a Scot, William McHolm.

After five years of farming in Manitoba, she and her husband moved to a small town near Morrish, Out., 24 miles south of Peterborough, where Mrs. McHolm now lives and is a reporter for the Port Hope Guide.

Philandering Wife Says "Get Out"

DORIS CLARK

DEAR DORIS—After we were married we bought a house from the wife's mother. I did not go with her on the deal, but knew we could not be days we bought the house, but then I paid monthly on it. When the title came it was only in the wife's name. She said her mother said you don't need both names on there. That was fine.

Then she came around planting the garden, watering it, digging it up. I could not do any work in the basement because I made too much dust. I could not do a thing around the house because it was no good either with the wife or her mother. I have done everything and nothing works.

Then I got hold of a letter from another man telling my wife that he loves her and all that. He started phoning her collect long distance sometimes for $10.00. So I quit paying everything: groceries, lights, water, taxes. Till then I bought as much as I could. Now she tells me to "get out of her house, bum, you don't support me anyway."

This other fellow spent three months in jail this year. Her mother says if she wants to go out she can, so one night she came home at 3.30 a.m., drunk and lied that she was at a friend's place. I'm no angel. We all have faults, but don't drink, don't gamble, and don't chase women—WHAT WOULD YOU DO?

* * *

DEAR WHAT—Depends on what you want. If you love her, you keep supporting her.

And you start laying down the law about other men. You insist that her mother put you right out. To gain back her respect you must rule the roost, in no uncertain terms.

Receipts for house payments might help prove partial possession of the house. Most of your quarrel is over support, see a lawyer about this.

* * *

DEAR DORIS—I was going with this girl and one day when we were in a restaurant with girls waiting I took some pictures in my wallet, so I went and sat with them when they were looking at them. My girl friend got mad at me and I can't understand why.

Then that night she gave me back my school ring. I want her back. Please tell me what I should do.—DICK.

* * *

DEAR DICK—Is this her way of breaking off?—Invite her for a coffee and ask her what's biting her.

Don't be too urgent about the ring. By next week you may notice another slick trick you'd like to take for coffee.

* * *

TO WORRIED—Many women have trouble with superfluous hair on various parts of their body. Cutting them off is an accepted way of coping with them. Just be careful that you do not injure the skin.

Now Proven Indians Mined Silver Near Cobalt Mines Over 2,000 Years Ago

By JIM ANDERSON

TORONTO (CP). — Indians 2,000 years ago mined silver near the now-famous Cobalt mines of Northern Ontario, says a Royal Ontario Museum anthropologist.

Walker Kenyon, assistant curator of the museum's ethnology department, has brought back from a site near Campbellford, Ont., 30 to 40 paper-thin pieces of silver— the first known to have been mined by northern American Indians.

Among other anthropological firsts in what he describes as a "fantastic range of material" from the site are a shark's tooth pendant and a conch shell ornament from either the Gulf of Mexico or the West Indies and bone daggers of a previously unknown type.

The tooth and conch shell, he says, indicate that the Indians of Mexico or the West Indies stretching right down to the Caribbean.

The site — or "dig" — is six miles south of Campbellford and about 20 miles northwest of Belleville on the Trent River farm of the LeVesconte family of Toronto.

Museum mineralogists have identified the unsmelted silver, along with a small piece of cobalt mineral, as coming from the Northern Ontario mining area of Cobalt, about 250 miles distant, Mr. Kenyon said.

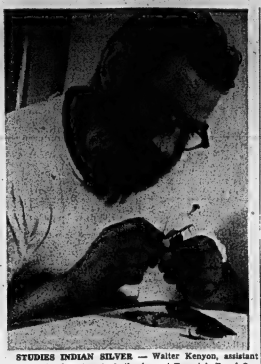
RACE AT SITE

There is no way of knowing whether the Campbellford Indians mined the silver themselves or traded with the Indians who did.

Mr. Kenyon, 45, stocky and sunburned with a busy, grizzled beard, talked about the discovery during a brief visit to Toronto to round up more diggers.

The exploration will lapse when the university year begins and removes his supply of "peasants" — anthropologist's slang for the students who, for $30 a month and "all the pork and beans they can eat," live in tents and bear the brunt of the shovel work.

"The excitement gets terrific up there," he says. "I haven't settled down yet. I just keep walking around saying: 'Look at all this stuff.'"



The site was discovered by a member of the LeVesconte family who became curious about an unusual mound on the farm, dug up an arrow point and a few bones and sent them to the museum.

"It looked like a single burial, a one-day job," Mr. Kenyon said. "Now I've got a hole three to four feet deep, 20 feet wide and 30 feet long. My trouble at the moment is that I can't find the bottom of the thing. I keep running into more bones."

"We have found more material in one month than the famous Serpent Mound produced in six summers of digging, and we have a beautiful mess of bodies—all ages, sizes and descriptions. We have the Indians' physical characteristics nailed right down."

TRIBE VANISHED

Pottery from the site proves the Campbellford Indians, like those at Serpent Mound 30 miles up the Trent River, were Point Peninsula Indians, named for the place in New York state where their remains were first found, Mr. Kenyon said.

STUDIES INDIAN SILVER — Walter Kenyon, assistant curator of the department of ethnology at Toronto's Royal Ontario Museum, examines bits of silver found on a 2,000-year-old Indian burial mound near Campbellford, Ontario. The silver, identified as having come from the Cobalt area 250 miles north, is the first known to have been mined by Indians in the northern part of the continent. (CP Photo).

The tribe was in Ontario at least as far back as 500 BC but when they arrived and vanished is unknown. A third Point Peninsula Indian site in Ontario is on Lake Huron.

The find itself is a burial ground in what was once a large village, most of it now under water.

The bits of silver, carefully dug out with a plastic toothpick and tweezers, were originally taken from the surface veins in the Cobalt area, he said. They were beaten into paper - thin bands and used as decorations around wooden sticks. What the sticks were for is not known.

The conch shell is probably the first properly excavated in Ontario, Mr. Kenyon said, although others have been turned up by farmers plowing their fields.

The shark's tooth has a hole drilled through it and probably was hung by a thong around an Indian's neck. It is believed to have passed from tribe to tribe all the way from the Gulf of Mexico.

Canada's Austerity Program Has Made Stay-at-Homes Of Many Canadian Shoppers

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Canada's austerity measures have made stay-at-homes of many Canadian shoppers who formerly helped commerce flourish in border communities.

This is a capsule summary of a series of surveys conducted by The Associated Press along the 3,000-mile border but there is no easy assessment that fits all sections.

New York State sources interviewed were just about unanimous in saying Canadians lost their incentive to shop across the line after Canada devalued its dollar and cut from $200 to $25 the amount of goods per person they were allowed to take home duty-free.

Minnesota and North Dakota had a similar story while, in far-west Washington State, merchants reported the 7 per cent discount did not affect their business as much as the goods-tax.

Michigan sources also noted a drop in Canadian customers but a puzzling counterpoint: Canadian customs collections at Detroit and Port Huron, Mich., were reported higher in July this year than in that month in 1961.

DIMINISHED IN MAINE

And in Maine, James Casey, president of the Chamber of Commerce, declared: "It is a fact that Canada has become aware of the attention it gets. Canadians, like Americans, will purchase less if they become aware of premiums and discounts," he said, citing a survey on Sunday evening.

From Buffalo to Watertown, along the New York shore of Lake Ontario — merchants reported a drop in their business, blaming the slump almost entirely on the weakened Canadian dollar.

Ahlstrom said Niagara Falls merchants believe Canadians who have been accustomed to visiting the U.S. strictly for economical reasons soon will find bargains at home and other recreation spots still are coming.

"It is the shoppers who are staying home, Ahlstrom said.

CANADIANS

"There are a lot of sad, sad people in Canada," said one merchant who asked that his store had been approached by a representative of a large employer in Canada who asked for a discount for the Canadian employees.

After the lag in Canadian trade became apparent, however, a few of the larger store owners teamed up to give Canadians little more than the official value of their dollar.

In Plattsburgh, for example, Canadian Night in Mill Mall attracts Bureau agreed to discount the dollar five per cent instead of 10 per cent. Banks were co-operating.

David Merkel and Edward Glineberg, bureau co - chairmen, reported many stores hadn't been able to live the usual number of summer salespeople this year because of having to decide whether to lay off some of their present employees.

Some New York Pittsburgh banks supported the bureau's efforts by lowering the discount rate to 3½ per cent—the official exchange rate plus handling fee. Border banks generally have been assessing service fees of 2½ cents to the dollar for handling.

Retail stores in the past have taken pains to inform Canadian buyers, of special sales. Some advertisements now proclaim "Canadian money taken at par," or "Canadian money taken for the amount of purchase."

REVERSE PREMIUM

This means that if a Canadian makes a $1 purchase and pays for it with a $10 bill, $1 is taken at par and the $9 is discounted.

Not all Canadians were willing to forego the discount. Some Watertown residents complained they were refused the exchange when travelling in Canada.

"It's just politics," said one gasoline station attendant in Waterloo, Que., cheerfully refusing to honor the Canadian dollar premium.

But for thousands of Americans living in Canada and working in the U.S.—most of them commuters—dwellers in the border —the new exchange has been a boon. By purchasing gas, food and bridge commutation tickets in Canada they say they save about 10 per cent.

Detroit's largest department store (J. L. Hudson Company) reported a "decided drop in Canadian money."

And in Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., man who makes a business of exchanging currencies, estimated his business was off 75 per cent. He said that in two stores where his pickups formerly ran as high as $400 a day they are down to $10 a trip.

SHOPPING BY AMERICANS

Both in Detroit and Sault Ste. Marie it was said that considerably more money flowed up in tills was brought home from Canada by Americans and spent before "they get out of the area where exchange is easy."

Carlos E. Toro of the Greater Detroit Board of Commerce said: "Apparently Canadians don't get much Canadian tourist business" since the city is basically dependent on a much part of Ontario's population and many Canadians entering Detroit are bound elsewhere.

Toro said that while no complaints had been received from exporters, some manufacturers complained that certain duties imposed under the austerity program—but more than decreased the duty refund from five to 15 per cent.

Whatever the many Canadians who work in Detroit live in Windsor, across the Detroit River. Their wages could be used in customs inspection at Windsor-Detroit Tunnel and at the Ambassador Bridge—a situation that has not changed since the austerity program was introduced.

IMPORT DUTIES UP

Meanwhile, inland Canadian customs officials tight - lipped about before-after comparisons but Ottawa Windsor figures for July. These showed that 14,139,128 vehicles entered Windsor in July, 1961, and totalled 14,139,128 compared with $1,438,700 in July, 1960, and $2,999,200 in July, 1960.

At Sault Ste. Marie, where tourist spending was said to be low as reflected in business, customs collections totalled $143,338, compared with $128,318 in July, 1961.

There were yes-no indicators in Maine, too. Although Mr. Casey, the Calais Chamber of Commerce official, questioned the impact of the discount, merchants gave varying responses.

Managers of department, clothing and auto stores said business was down. Ted McNabb, liquor store manager, saw no difference. James L. Simmonds, running a clothing-auto accessories shop, said Canadian business has at times been approximately 25-40 per cent of our total business, but has decreased to 20-30 per cent this year." A department store official said high-tag items were hard hit.

Eddie Foss, clothing store owner, said: The Canadian customer who would come in and spend $50-$60 a year ago now feels that $5-$10 is more than he can afford to spend."

Leapfrogging westward, inadvertent gains told by merchants in such towns as Minot and Grand Forks, N.D., and International Falls, Minn., that business has suffered.

BUYERS SELECTIVE

International Falls merchants estimated loss of revenue at 10 to 20 per cent. Lay-by by Canadians who want a particular item reserved came down to zero.

The manager of a large Minot store estimated Canadian shopping down at least 50 per cent, with buyers showing much selectivity. Another Minot store manager, who said his Canadian business is off 90 per cent since late June, blamed the $25 maximum since he had offered efforts by lowering the discount rate to 3½ per cent—the official exchange rate plus handling fee. Border banks generally have been assessing service fees of 2½ cents to the dollar for handling.

Retail stores in the past have taken pains to inform Canadian buyers, of special sales. Some advertisements now proclaim "Canadian money taken at par," or "Canadian money taken for the amount of purchase."

FIRE DEPT. PICNIC

Sunday afternoon was the scene of the annual picnic of the local Volunteer Fire Department when almost all the members, their wives and children gathered at the Piercy Drive just off the Lake Shore. During the afternoon there were races for the children of the various age groups and even some for the adults. The competition, while friendly, was very keen in the races the men engaged their wives in a game of baseball and the wives showed their superiority by winning by one run.

Shortly before five o'clock the group repaired to the club rooms over the fire hall where the firemen had prepared a turkey dinner. The feature of this was that the men did the cooking, the serving, and washing of the dishes. The wives were loud in their praise of their culinary efforts and it seems assured that some of the firemen are due to take a little more of the work at home.

Gayhurst Dam in Quebec Will Not Be Used Again

By JOHN TORBETON

QUEBEC (CP) — Gayhurst dam stands naked across what used to be the bed of the Chaudiere River, its thrust by the 10,000 people of the river valley to go.

So is its ability to produce power for the 3,600 townsfolk of Lac Megantic, 115 miles south of Quebec City.

They are stuck with $1,600,000 in debts attached to the earth and clay structure which during two weeks last March could have broken under the weight of the spring runoff sending a wall of water cascading down the valley.

The danger was avoided, for good, when a channel was dug to carry the Chaudiere around the eight-year-old dam which had developed serious faults.

The channel has left the dam and its two-turbine power house sitting on dry land.

"It probably will never be used again," said a spokesman for the natural resources department.

"Will it just sit there?" he was asked.

"That's right," he replied.

MAY HELP PAY

But, he said, the government is reviewing the matter to decide what steps it will take to offset losses created when the dam became useless.

"It will pay part of the debt that the dam and the power plant have not been paid for and they are not profitable," said Megantic Megantic residents to pay for something that is not producing."

The dam was built between 1952 and 1954 by the town.

Power now is being sold to the Shawinigan Water and Power Company which had supplied part of the electricity before the dam went out because the turbines, with a total capacity of 4,500 horsepower, could not supply demand.

The company has offered $500,000 for the distribution system but is not interested in the dam, which cost $2,000,000 to build.

The crisis at the dam became public when Rene Hamel, the natural resources minister, issued a statement in March 20 that the dam's clay base had become saturated and that mounting pressure from the runoff could-breach it creating "catastrophic floods."

'BARELY FLAWLESS'

The dam had been damaged by a landslide during construction and it had been "hastily patched and badly built," Mr. Levesque said.

Behind it was some 625,000,000 cubic feet of water, poised like a Sword of Damocles over the valley.

The army and civil defence personnel were asked to be ready, just in case evacuation of the low, flood-prone valley became necessary. Some 1,000 men of the Royal 22nd Regiment were stationed in Quebec. The 400-foot-long dam was watched 24 hours a day.

They were not called upon. Water rose to within less than three feet of the channel, but it fell from the critical stage. Accustomed to spring floods, the people of the valley acted unconcerned.

After consultation with all concerned it was decided the best way to prevent a flood would be to sacrifice the dam by guiding the river around it.

A 700-foot channel and 40-foot deep was dug around the structure. Engineers calculated that it would carry more water than a deeper bed in the soil.

It did. The river now is 75 feet deep and rolling deeper, decreasing the danger foot-by-foot.

Movie Stars' Children Have Night Club Revue

By DORIS KLEIN

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — When Producer Barry Ashton was casting around for a new night club revue last spring, he hit on the idea of using movie stars' children.

"I didn't know what I was starting," he said after a recent supper show at Chip Off the Old Block at the Statler Hilton.

"When the word got out, the kids came out of the woodwork."

Harold Lloyd Jr., one of the show's stars, explained it this way:

"I guess we're all just another ham of the old hock."

Ashton's revue also stars 17-year-old Mickey Rooney Jr., a blonde six-footer who plays the guitar and sings; Carol Costello, 22, a peppy pop singer whose father was the late comedian Lou Costello; Stephanie Foster, 22, Preston Foster's operetics-singing child, and Beverly Wills, 20, a comedienne like her late mother, Joan Davis. Young Lloyd, 20, is an actor and singer.

The show has been playing to substantial audiences. Ashton has it booked on a national tour and is considering a television special.

MAY HAVE 2 SHOWS

"We found there were so many other kids around, we may start another troupe," Ashton said.

Paul Hereid's daughter, Monica, singer and dancer Bill Benadix's daughter, Lorraine, has been on TV with her dad.

"We approached Frank Sinatra Jr., but he wanted to do other things. You can't even touch Jack Jones, Allan Jones' boy. He's so busy with his records.

"Maureen O'Hara has a beautiful daughter, Bronwyn, who sings. But Maureen said she wanted the girl to get a little more training.

"And Marilyn Marx's son, Bill Marx, is a helluva musician. He has a combo."

Were there any objections from the parent?

"Mickey Jr.'s mother objected a little at first," said Barry. "It was his first try at show business and she was concerned. But Mickey Sr. turned up a big asset."

"Preston Foster's seen the show seven times. On opening night, Harold Lloyd was there. He said it was his first trip to downtown Los Angeles in eight years."

Lloyd lives in suburban Beverly Hills.

As Carol Costello put it:

"I used to make believe I wasn't interested in show business and my father would say, 'that's fine.' But I remember the time I was leaving the house for a TV show and my dad came up sort of shyly and asked, 'can I help you with your nines?'"

Wouldn't Have Been Anything But an Entertainer Says Judy

Judy Garland is one of the most frequently written about stars in show business. What she herself feels about life in the spotlight is told in the following first-person story.

Written for The AP
By JUDY GARLAND

I love my career. I want to say this because I'm always being painted a more tragic figure than I am, and I get awfully bored with myself as a tragic figure.

I wouldn't have been anything but an entertainer. With all the troubles, with the stumbling and falling on the way, the rewards are still so great.

If you happen to be a success, you meet writers, politicians, people in the arts, people with stimulating ideas in many places. It's a marvellous opportunity to lead a broad existence.

As a performer, I love the enthusiasm audiences have shown me. You can't blame me for — we all want to prove ourselves, and I've had appreciation shown to me in the most inspiring, spontaneous ways.

Now I look at my three fine children and I wonder whether I would want them to be entertainers, too. Applause alone doesn't sustain you at 3 a.m., when you can't sleep.

But even if my children understood this, could I stop them in their choice of career? I don't think there's much I could do — or would do. I'd be a damned fool to discourage them if they wanted badly to be actors.

WON'T COMPETE

Despite been around theatre people all their lives, it's inevitable that they'd think of the stage and screen for themselves. If they're born talented, if they have the desire to sing and dance and entertain, it would be most terrible to have that smothered by a parent. It would never be a mother who wants to be the star of the family, with no competition from her children.

How then could I help them prepare for show business, if they chose to enter it?—as Liza, the eldest, has already. I used to think the best thing is to try to keep their lives, up to a certain age, as normal as possible. But how the heck can it be completely normal when they travel all over with me? Yet I believe they have been helped by the security of being with their mother. That is better than the best boarding school or a home full of servants — and no mother.

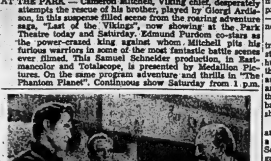
I would like to live in London in summers and New York in winters so that the children will be educated in New York. Education is, I feel, fundamental to their future. I first went out on a stage when I was three and have been at it pretty steadily ever since. That didn't happen to my children, fortunately, and I wouldn't want them on a stage at eight or 10 or 12, either.

Lorna and Joey, my younger children, will go to school in New York, but Liza, who's 16 now, will go to study at the Sorbonne. She will take history, languages and even study sewing and cooking — things that I think are necessary to a young girl who wants to grow into an attractive woman. As long as she's going into theatrical work, her education should first embody all that, before everything narrows down to the theatre.

Finally, it comes down to a matter of talent. Liza has been studying ballet since she was a child and loves it. Last year she spent the summer season at Hyannis, Mass., as an apprentice in summer stock - painting scenery, moving props, sweeping the stage, working hard.

Lorna, who's nine, is the singer of the family, she has a terrific voice. Joey—he's only seven and you can't tell with boys.

If they approach acting, I would want them to be aware of the responsibilities of a career and the little hurtful things that can happen. They have to be taught what true professionalism is — good manners at work, thinking of other people, your co-workers in a production. There are people who have been acting for years and have never achieved this. I may be many things people disapprove of but I have always tried to be a true professional.



So if they are talented, you teach them and encourage them and give them confidence. If they are not talented, get them into another line quick. It's difficult enough when one has talent. When one hasn't, it's too heartbreaking.

LOVES SHOW BUSINESS — Actress-singer Judy Garland, who says she wouldn't have been anything but an entertainer, poses at New York's Idlewild airport with her children—Joe 7, Lorna 9 and Liza Minelli, 16, her daughter by a previous marriage. Judy, one of the most written-about entertainers, says she wouldn't discourage her children from going into show business. (CP from AP).

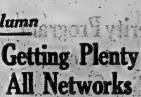
New Shows Getting Plenty Of Plugs on All Networks

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—Reruns of this spring summer television season are bad enough but the interminable plugs about the new ones are worse.

CBS has sent out a half-hour film called Seven Wonderful Nights in which Jack Webb frankly conducts a 30-minute hard sell on the network's fall programming. It will be shown if it hasn't already—on all the network's affiliates.



Sometimes it seems that all transcontinental planes must be stuffed with Hollywood names hurrying east to scatter among the gees, haws, panel shows, audience participation shows and interview shows to exhibit their profiles and tell the breathless world about the fun shows they've been working on.

Earlier this week, for example, Jim Backus concluded a summer season of Talent Scouts on CBS. His "celebrity" guests included George Maharis who had a few kind words to say about his singing discovery but no more about his soon-to-return Route 66. Keefe Brasselle not only plugged his upcoming special but introduced his wife who is launching a nightclub singing career.

Perfects Process to Embed Fish in Plastic Table Top

VICTORIA (CP) — A Vancouver man says he has developed a method by which a proud fisherman can display his catch in an unusual and colorful setting.

Ron Carbons, a professional jazz drummer by trade, said here he has perfected a process that allows him to embed a fish in a plastic table top.

"A big United States plastic company told me it couldn't be done and University of British Columbia scientists didn't think it was very feasible," said Carbons.

The problem involved finding chemicals which would harden —without cracking — plastic poured over the taxidermists' stuffed fish.

"A fish is an exceptionally large object to embed. As it is, I can only cover a fish weighing up to five pounds."

He said he experimented for 18 months before solving the problem.

He did not disclose exactly how he and a taxidermist partner came upon the solution.

He said that by using the new method, a fish and tackle can be shown beneath the surface of a coffee table, bar or counter.

Another suggestion is a fish in a large block of transparent plastic surrounded by grass, shells and driftwood with the place and date of the catch engraved outside.

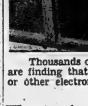
Teen-Age Canada

Thousands of Canadian teen-agers are finding that language laboratories or other electronic devices are giving them a new slant on French. Teen-Age Canada suggests this as a winter project.



Teen-Agers Should Learn Both French, English

BY JACK HUTTON

The 17-year-old young man before me was looking unhappy.

"How many teen-agers in Canada grow up knowing that they will have to speak two languages to get by?" he asked.

"I have friends complaining that they have to study a few

French verbs. But my family knew before I went to school that sooner or later I'd have to learn English.

"Imagine arriving at school with only a few words of English at your command—and badly pronounced at that! It took me two years to really think in English."

"How we can manage this—and we have to—why can't other teen-agers make the effort to understand our language? Believe me, we're not brighter than they are."

FAMILY FIRST

I was talking to a French Canadian friend during a visit last week to Quebec and Eastern Ontario, an extremely intelligent Canadian teenager whose family is proud of the fact that he is fluent among them to speak English fluently.

My friend who preferred to speak anonymously, had a message which he hoped would somehow reach the many thousands of Canadian students starting high school this fall.

His complaint: the vast majority of Canadian high school students forget that Canada was French before 1759 and ignore an opportunity to explore both French Canada's cultures.

"Let's look at it this way," said my friend. "I think my friends who speak only French are limiting themselves terribly. When you learn two languages you are able to live in two houses of consciousness."

"You almost seem able to look at any problem in two different ways. Speaking English you can read a great many books and magazines not published in the other language.

"But who's making the effort? I remember a dozen other neighborhood youngsters like myself growing up in English when we arrived in Grade 1. We all can now—but 13 years later only two or three of the others can speak French."

Why should any teen-ager make an effort to improve his or her French in a community where few adults speak the language, I asked. Wouldn't that be a waste of time?

TWO CULTURES

"That point of view is entirely wrong," said my friend. "What makes us different from our neighbors to the south of us unless it's the fact that we have both French and English cultures behind us?"

"A European teen-ager usually adjusts to more than one language, especially if he lives in a country like Switzerland. But how do thousands of teenagers in Canada who can't talk to each other."

"I think a teenager improves his or her French speaking ability if it's really simple," said my friend. "The secret is just listening. Any record store will probably supply Frenchspeaking records that will help your accent."

"Try listening to phrases, repeating them after the speaker and then playing them again. You'll be amazed at how suddenly whole sentences anchor themselves in your mind. The patterns become automatic.

"Try to find one or more friends who are also interested in your project, and have French get-togethers. See if you all get by in French for an evening and you'll be amazed at the progress that you make."

"I feel so sad," he added, "when I think that thousands of teenagers in Canada are studying French with the feeling that it's a dead subject like Latin. If only they would think of it as a living language and realize that nearly everywhere in Canada, they have fellow citizens whose native tongue is French!"

ICE CUBE DERBY

Just heard from John Thompson, 14, of Vancouver, who feels that he and other friends have established a record of tossing back and forth a handful of ice cubes.

Last week Sandra Fraser, 15, of Halifax reported that she and a friend were able to keep two ice cubes for 13 minutes and 30 minutes. The idea is to keep the cubes as long as possible.

John wrote: "The ice cube championship of Canada is now back where it belongs—in the cold frozen West. Any claims from the East only demonstrate how far behind they are as usual."

John and a girlfriend read our column and decided on the spur of the moment to try their hand's refrigerator for standard-size ice-cubes.

"On our first try," reported John, "we kept two ice cubes going between us for 15 minutes and 10 seconds. Just to be fair, as we Westerners always are, we brought in witnesses and did it all over again."

"This time the ice cubes lasted longer than 18 minutes which might be accounted for by the fact that our hands were getting darn cold. Bit of a trick but we're used to this sort of thing out here."

Has anyone surpassed John's record?

SCRAMBLED TUNES

It's fall again, and in your honor the fall parade is turning handsprings. If you've never noticed before, the hit parade always changes a great deal as school and the annual round of parties and dances start.

A Canadian Press columnist remarked last week that it reminded him of a goldenrod field full of hay-fever victims.

"Sherry," a tune which hardly anyone knew a week or two ago, has abruptly climbed to the top of the charts and chart all across Canada. It just proves all over again that rhyme and reason don't exist in the music business.

LETTERS DEPARTMENT

"A Faithful Teenage Reader" from Toronto writes: "When are you going to do a column on teenagers who like to play chess? I'm sure adults would be amazed at the number of us who take the game seriously.

"I'd like to play long-distance chess with other teenagers by letter. Are there any of your readers who would be interested?"

Custom-Made Houses Cost Money But May Be the Right Answer

In the search for a house of his own the prospective home-owner comes up against that perennial question: Which is better, to build or to buy?

Like a good many other questions it is not one that can be answered simply. There is little doubt that an individually tailored home designed by a good architect in many ways provides the most satisfying answer. With a "custom-made" approach you can select your own site and have a house designed to blend with the surroundings. However, a house obtained this way tends to cost more than the merchant builders' houses. We all like to look at prize winning homes illustrated in housing magazines and imagine for a moment that one of these belongs to us; but most of us will have to settle for less. Custom work in any field is expensive. For the building of a single house, materials must be bought in small quantities, from twenty or thirty different sources. Sub-trades will usually ask more if only one house is involved. Still, if you are set on having things done your way nothing short of a custom-built house will do. And when it is completed you will have the satisfaction of knowing that it fits like a made-to-measure suit.

The alternative is of course to buy a ready-built house. The main advantage from the owner's standpoint, in this case, is probably cost. Another valuable feature is the time saved. It usually takes considerably longer to have a house designed and built to your specifications than to pick a standard design. Although this does not afford the customer as "personalized" a house as he would otherwise get, there usually is a variety of designs to choose from in ready-made houses. A common practice among mass builders in urban areas across Canada is to build model houses which are then open to public inspection. The customer can thus have a life-size notion of what he is buying instead of looking simply at a single-dimension blueprint or a sketch of the exterior of a house, and having to make a decision on this evidence alone.

When going through a model house, or rather a number of such houses, you not only get a clearer notion of what every feature will mean to you when the house becomes your property, but the actual workmanship can also be assessed. Materials that go into the house are bared to view and a comparison can be established between houses put up by various builders.

This method of shopping for a house is becoming more firmly established, not only in our larger urban areas but also in adjacent communities and in smaller municipalities. Blocks of land in different parts of the city are developed at the same time by different builders, model houses are put up on display and the customer places his order for the type of house that he feels is best suited to his needs and his means. Making the rounds of model houses on various projects has become an established weekend pastime in Canadian cities. Sometimes, to assist the shoppers, a group of builders will organize a "parade of homes" in a single location, each builder displaying his wares like a giant fair.

Whether you have a house built to your specifications or whether you buy one "off the counter" will depend on how exclusive are your tastes, whether you have a lot of your own, and on the amount of money you are prepared to pay for your new home.

Mayor Says Housing Industry Influences Community Prosperity

"The importance of the house-building industry to the business life of our community is a fact that few of us appreciate," Mayor A. McLean Haig stated today in proclaiming National Home Week, September 15-23.

The week is being observed by the Quinte Home Builders' Association which is sponsoring display houses open to the public at various locations in the city.

Mayor Haig noted that the house builder provides a basic need within the community. "A town or city flourishes only where its citizens enjoy good housing conditions. We in Canada are fortunate indeed to have some of the finest housing in the world, thanks to the diligent efforts of our house builders over the years.

"In addition to creating better living conditions, the industry also contributes to the economic growth of our area. Almost every local business profits from the money put into circulation when a family buys a new home.

"During National Home Week we should accept the invitation of our builders to come out and see the advances achieved by the housing industry. I am sure after such a visit the people of Belleville and district will agree with me that the Quinte Home Builders Association deserves congratulations on the design and quality of construction in their display houses."

NO PART-TIME TERMS

BURNABY, B.C. (CP)—Allan Harvey Costain, 38, when sentenced to 14 days for impaired driving, asked to be allowed to serve the time on weekends so he would not lose his job. Magistrate C. C. Bell said no—"The law makes no provision for serving sentences in installments."

Message From NHBA President

Each year the National House Builders' Association sponsors National Home Week across Canada. This is the time when home builders display their finest wares and offer the public an opportunity to see the latest in house design.

Canada enjoys the highest level of home ownership in the world and your housing industry works constantly to ensure that the homes it builds also lead the world in value.

To the people of Belleville I extend a warm invitation to visit the model homes on display during National Home Week. I'm sure you'll be pleased with the variety and quality of the houses being shown. For Your Home Buy Quality Not Quantity

A home—like Rome—is not built in a day. This is obvious to anyone who starts to furnish from scratch. To the new home owner it may be frustrating to realize that the cold facts of price tags confuse the rosy mental image they may have cherished of a well and comfortably furnished house. Essential furnishings for a new home are hard on the budget and not often will available funds buy everything at once. The answer? Begins with planning.

AVOID 'ERRATIC' BUYING

Something to sit on — something to sleep on and something to eat on; these are basic requirements. The important point to remember is that the essentials should be chosen in line with ideas for future planning, so that there is an integrated furnishings look and not just an assortment of "bargains" picked up without reference to anything except the amount of money which may be available at some particular moment. Erratic buying can result in confusion of styles, upholstery design and finishes and nothing which spells "homemaking" as an investment for the future.

For example, a three-year buying plan can usually be broken down into definite areas. The first is that which is "essential" for beginning, the second is that which adds additional seating and the third is the "finishing" decorative pieces.

For simplification, let's say that the couple find they can spend $1,000 to begin with and another thousand dollars in each of the second and third years. The first $1,000 will have to cover items of good quality, chosen with a design format in mind, so that they may add to it without confusion. They will choose a good box spring and mattress, and a chest of drawers (preferably in a style which may be used elsewhere eventually) for the master bedroom. The living room requires a good sofa, one upholstered chair, two end tables and a good-quality medium-sized rug. The dinette furniture consists of a dining table, four chairs of good finish and design and a chest which doubles as a small sideboard. A good idea is to match this chest with that in the bedroom and eventually they may both be used as a pair in one room. Drapes may pose some problem, but it is well to keep in mind that side drapes only, in neutral shades, can be complemented by sheer glass curtains until such time as it is advisabe to invest in wall-to-wall draperies.

The second step for $1,000 involves adding another upholstered chair to the living room, a coffee table and a desk. The bedroom will boast a night table, a combination chest-dressing table, and a small chair (we have moved the original bedroom chest to the dinette area) and two small matching rugs. The dinette has no additions, other than the matching chest from the bedroom.

The third and final step in the plan spends another $1,000 to living room, another occasional table, a mirror and an odd armchair, a chest of drawers (preferably in a style which may be used elsewhere eventually) for the master bedroom. The living room acqu

Don't Lay Carpet on Hardwood, Lay It Directly on Subfloor

If you are planning to buy or build a new home, why not plan ahead? You probably intend to carpet the living room eventually, why not right away? If planned for in advance you can save the costs of hardwood in that area because carpet can be laid over the subfloor.

Seven out of ten Canadian homes have carpets or rugs in the living room. Yet, most people when buying their new home specify hardwood flooring in the living-dining area only to cover it with carpet as soon as possible.

CAN BE MORTGAGED FINANCED

Wall-to-wall carpet comes under the heading of "building materials" with CMHC and can be included in your mortgage. In fact, many builders today offer carpeted living-dining areas in their new homes as a plus factor and generally offer the purchaser a choice of at least two styles in a selection of colors.

If you are buying an older home and plan renovations, the same applies. Wall-to-wall carpeting is available with an NHA Home Improvement Loan from your bank.

Carpet in your new home is a good investment. It not only gives you warmth and comfort underfoot, beauty — for your room and a noise-muffling material, it enhances the value of your home, and, if you decide to sell later, it is a plus factor to the prospective buyer.

When selecting the new carpet for your new home, think of "economy" in long-range terms. It is false economy to buy an inferior grade carpet for an area in your home which will get hard wear. Don't skimp on quality for carpets that will be walked on every day. Many an unwary buyer who 'economized' on carpet for his new home has lived to regret it in the monthly payments on a worn eyesore.

DECIDE ON TRAFFIC PATTERN

To ensure satisfaction through the years, consider the traffic pattern in the area to be carpeted and then select your carpet accordingly. To make the selection easy, a Toronto carpet manufacturer has established a simple but reliable traffic rating system which is based on "how long will it last?" and appearance retention (will it look and how often you certain. For example, a family of four, with two young children and a dog should select a heavy traffic use carpet for their living room unless the home includes a family room and the living room is 'out of bounds' to the youngsters and their pet. On the other hand, a business couple or an adult family would be satisfied with a carpet from the medium traffic group, depending on the frequency of entertaining, etc.

You will also have more satisfaction—from your carpet purchase if you carefully consider color and texture. Of course, you will do this from the decorative standpoint but consider these factors from a practical standpoint also. A moment's thought will tell you that solid color carpets in medium tones or multi-color carpets show less than pastel colors, and that tightly textured surfaces are best at concealing footprints and pressure marks.

Of course it is wise to choose a reputable dealer and a well-known brand name when making such an important purchase. This reliability, coupled with your own good judgment assures you that your new carpet or rug will give you and your family years of satisfaction.

Buying House Involves Work For Lawyer

The purchase of a house usually involves the preparation of at least two documents. They include an offer to purchase ,a transfer of title to the land, and acceptance of the mortgage debt by the purchaser.

The offer to purchase is a written contract which states that the owner agrees to sell and the buyer to buy, and binds both parties to the agreed terms and conditions.

The offer to purchase usually includes all necessary descriptions, the purchase price and terms of payment, the dates on which the deal is to be closed and when the buyer will obtain possession of the house. All this your lawyer will see that your interests are protected. He will also make sure that the document covers the apportioning of taxes, the fire insurance coverage from the time your responsibility in the property begins. He will also check on the cost of services such as water, sewer and roads. These may be included in the purchase price or you may be required to pay them through increased taxes over a period of years. There is more to an "offer to purchase" than the average person realizes. That is why it pays to have a lawyer looking after your interests at this point.

Your lawyer searches the title and is personally responsible to see that you have clear title to the land. This title will be registered by the issuance of a "Deed of Conveyance of the Title of Land" in your name.

The third essential document must be signed when closing the deal. The purchaser is then required to agree in writing to accept the mortgage debt unless, of course, he can pay for the property in cash, a privilege that very few people can afford.

The legal procedures are similar if you are buying a house which is in the process of being built, though in this case you should obtain a written agreement covering the work to be completed. This agreement should include a clause identifying the working drawings and specifications according to which the house is being constructed.

The person who plans on buying a lot on which to build a house should see a lawyer before he purchases the land. The legal document in this case will include, in addition to those we have already discussed, a survey of the land, a building permit and a building contract. Your lawyer can arrange to obtain the building permit from local authorities.

The building contract with the builder is also an important document since it provides essential protection for the home-owner. This contract should identify the parties concerned, contain a description of the work to be done and the amount and method of payment. Reference should also be made to the working drawings and specifications and the right and responsibilities of both parties.

The lawyer may also be responsible for making progress advances to the builder, in other words, paying out portions of the mortgage money to the builder as the various stages of construction are completed. You can arrange with your lawyer for him to see that enough funds are withheld to cover any workman's or mechanic's lien against the property.

What is a lien, you might ask? A lien is simply a claim against the property by the workmen or suppliers to cover goods or services unpaid by the builder.

When you realize how much legal work is involved in purchasing a house, you will agree that a lawyer is a home purchaser's best friend. When it comes to buying a home, the cost of legal work is more than repaid in the protection of your investment.

Buy With Care, Houses Differ To Meet Needs

House types vary considerably because they are designed to meet specific needs. The house in which you intend to live should be chosen with this idea in mind. At the same time you should relate your house-type considerations to your life and personal preferences. You would not do yourself any favor by choosing a house solely because of its attractiveness without giving consideration also to its practical use in relation to the family needs.

The bungalow offers many advantages, the obvious one being the easy access to rooms which are all on one level. The housewife will appreciate this during the course of her work. Her only climb would be the basement stairs. Usually there are fewer accidents in a one-floor home particularly where children and elderly people are concerned.

The 11-3 - storey house provides the greatest amount of floor area for the least cost, and allows for expansion if needed, without interfering with external appearance if only the first floor is required at the outset. The one-thing you should be aware of is that designs for this type of house often require dormers. As dormers add to the cost, you should try to obtain a plan that allows for light through the gable ends.

Many people prefer a house with an upper floor but they may wish for more than two bedrooms. The two-storey is the answer in this case. It has happened that a person like a particular neighborhood but can only find a narrow lot, and here the 2-storey house is the answer. It can be used to great advantage on a narrow lot where a wide frontage is impracticable. Due to its compactness the 2-storey house is easy to heat, and would not present the heating problems often encountered with a bungalow.

NEWEST DESIGN IN RADIATORS — replaces the conand blankets the outside walls ventional wooden basebeard with a gentle flow of warmth as well as emitting radiant heat at floor level. As this type of above photograph, ensures an even temperature in all parts of a room.

The split-level is a relative newcomer to the housing scene and embodies some of the advantages of the bungalow and the 2-storey house. One advantage is that there are only six or seven steps between floor which makes for less strenuous stair climbing. Another advantage is the greater separation between sleeping and living area. If the lot you have chosen is a sloping one, the split-level would be most useful in solving the problem presented by such a lot.

Each house-type has advantages and disadvantages and the wise person will consider the merits of each in relation to his lot and family needs.

Artistic Brick Can Add Color To Buildings

Inside the home, "accent" colors serve a useful purpose for the decorator by adding contrast and excitement to the main color scheme.

The same technique can be used outside, with the use of contrasting materials, and colored units such as concrete brick and block.

A handsome flower bed edging retaining wall, or terrace edging can be built, for instance, with concrete brick, laid either on their sides or on end.

Strong reds, browns and yellows, or pastel pinks, rose, tan, sand and orange can be used singly or in combination.

Contrasting materials, such as concrete combined with wood, or stone or glass, provide an opportunity to highlight and accent.

Solar screen pierced concrete block, which allows light and air through, but still preserves privacy, can be used to screen off a patio, porch or carport, at the same time creating a pleasant home highlight point.

Dramatic effects can be obtained by spotlighting concrete block with a raised or recessed surface pattern, thus creating a light and shadow relief.

"Spotting" colored concrete bricks in larger structures such as walls and garages can also be very effective. They can be laid in the wall to form either a regular or a random pattern.

Plans for many home structures such as barbecues, ons and two car garages, refuse burners, patios, benches, garden fountains and plants are available from both concrete products manufacturers and cement companies, and manufacturers will also advise the home owner on their concrete construction projects.

It's easy to build with concrete brick and block, with their absolutely uniform dimensions and multitude of sizes, shapes and colors, and a little imagination and ingenuity will pay handsome dividends in the improved appearance of the home.

BATHROOMS CAN BE ATTRACTIVE — A fine example of today's up-to-date styling and design in bathroom fixtures is shown in the above picture.

Lawyer Can Help You, Builder Will Have One Too

If you have a limited amount of cash to invest in a new house you may find that purchase from a builder is the most convenient arrangement. The total cost can be established at the outset and you will know exactly how to plan your finances.

As in buying a house, you should make your solicitor your closest confidant. He will be able to interpret legal documents to you, ensure that title to the land is clear and that you are the actual owner of the property. His services can, in fact, save you many dollars.

The builder may have already obtained a mortgage loan for the proposed house. The loan may have been taken out in his name and you will be required to sign an assumption agreement stating that you will assume all obligations of the mortgage.

You solicitor will be able to give you advice and assistance in this regard.

You, solicitor will be able to give you advice and assistance in this regard.

Generally, house sales are made through use of a legal document called an "offer to purchase". The offer to purchase is a written contract which usually states that the owner agrees to sell and the buyer agrees to buy. It binds both parties to agreed terms and conditions, and usually sets out the lot on which the house is to be built, the type of house, the purchase price, the amount of mortgage loan, the rate of interest, the amount of money to be made available during construction, the approximate date of completion of the house, and the period of time within which you will have your solicitor search the title of the lot.

After clear title has been assured your solicitor, or the builder's solicitor, prepares a draft deed.

The builder's solicitor will prepare a statement of adjustments covering the obligations of all parties to the purchase. This will include (1) monies due the seller, such as purchase price, share of taxes and insurance paid by him, and details of any extras you ask the builder to put in the house; and (2) credits due to you including down payments, mortgages obtained or assumed and any second mortgage. The difference between these sales and purchaser credits will be the amount payable on the closing date specified in the offer to purchase.

On satisfactory completion of the house you are expected to complete payment of the purchase price and will receive the deed to the property. This should be registered immediately by your solicitor.

You will then receive duplicate copies of the mortgage document, the deed, and a sheriff's certificate to the effect that the property is free of claims by debtors of the seller.

Cast Iron Case For Heavy Pipe To Hold Water

It is important to have a good plumbing drain and vent system in your new home, to avoid problems, advises the Canadian Institute of Plumbing and Heating.

Possibly the most important considerations is protection of health and the best assurance of protection from health hazards is to provide a pressure-tight long-lasting plumbing system.

Corrosion can eat into the pipes and cause dangerous leaks unless the material is of heavy wall construction such as is used in cast iron soil pipe. Sharp objects such as a misplaced nail or rough piece of masonry may also puncture the pipe if thin material is used. In the course of a normal day a plumbing system is expected to carry some 200 gallons of water for an average family; it is most important that the pipes provide continuous, trouble-free service. The plumbing pipes are built into the walls where it is very costly to replace any part and it is therefore doubly important that a material which has a proven long life against corrosion and strength to resist structural forces be used.

Cast iron is thoroughly reliable for plumbing vent and drainage purposes both inside your house and from house to street, because it has a proven record of performance and safe operation.

Cast iron will safeguard your family's health as long as your house remains standing. If cast iron is used in the original construction you need never worry - - - hidden behind the walls and under the basement floor it will quietly and surely provide years of trouble-free service.

Mass Built Houses Are Cheaper And Quality Need Not Suffer

There's economy in quantity and that is why many home owners purchase ready-built houses. But another good reason is quality. The home buyer can be sure of quality if he looks for the National Home Builders' Association affiliation emblem displayed prominently as a sign of integrity by good builders across the country.

Builders, who are members of local home builders' associations, must live up to a strict code of ethics. Buyers can be sure that they are dealing with a respected business man in their community.

There are several reasons for purchasing a ready-built house. Builders in this market have a number of units under construction at the same time. This can save you money. Its materials are purchased in quantities and such items as excavation work for foundations cost less per unit because in most cases the work is being carried out in the same area. There is no lost time or expenses involved in moving heavy equipment.

Your chosen builder has an experienced work force that can ensure steady construction activity and, in addition, overhead expenses are spread over the total number of houses in the project. All of these savings are reflected in the selling price of the builders' homes.

Purchasing a ready-built home also offers the buyer an opportunity to see exactly what he is paying for and knowing the final cost. It is a much less complicated transaction than having a custom home built and, in most cases, the buyer is able to take immediate possession.

When shopping for a ready-built house the purchaser should first of all be concerned with the suitability of the design of the house and its location. He should ask himself whether or not the layout of the unit fits the way his family likes to live. Will it still meet the family's needs in the years ahead? Will it accommodate his present furniture or would there be the added expense of buying new furniture? Is the location of the property within a reasonable distance from work, schools and churches?

These are just a few of the questions to be answered before a purchaser can make his decision. Remember, purchasing a house is the greatest investment the average family ever makes and it should be entered into only after careful consideration has been given to all the factors involved.

Even if the price of the house seems reasonable as compared with other dwellings being sold in the area, and the dwelling fills his needs, there are other points to be considered by the buyer.

The quality of the construction of the house is vitally important. In this regard, the best guide is probably the reputation of the builder for using quality workmanship and materials - - - this is another way of saying a builder who is a bona-fide member of a National House Builders' Association affiliate.

The Lighter Side of a House Is Something to Think About

Home buyers are recognizing more and more the value of good lighting inside and outside a house. They want to "decorate" with light, to use fixtures, and floodlights, and dimmers to display their homes to the best advantage, to create a mood rather than a monotony in and around their homes. Through the intensive nationwide Medallion Home Program, the building industry is placing added emphasis on lighting, along with other qualities of electrical excellence.

Bronze and gold Medallions displayed in homes with built-in electrical systems provide an easy-to-spot symbol of quality for the home buying public.

LIGHTING CHOICE IS YOURS

In line with this program, home buyers now have the widest choice ever in lighting possibilities.

Fixtures which concentrate light actually can be used as effective room dividers. Fluorescent lamps under frosted glass tops can be trained on walls from bookcases or shelves.

Floodlamps in swivel reflectors can be aimed at draperies covering window walls and, by controlling these with dimmers, variations in the appearance and "feeling" of a room can be obtained. An almost infinite variety of lighting effects can be achieved from the dimmer control, from soft-whites to blazing sunset colors.

Pull-down fixtures provide just the right illumination over desks, telephone stands, or hobby benches.

The choice of fixtures of kitchen illumination is almost unlimited, including lights for areas under cupboards and over sinks, for hoods over ovens or cooking surfaces, or behind soffits.

By utilizing lighting in the garden or patio, many families have found that they can enjoy additional hours of outdoor work or play virtually every day of the year.

Lighting in accordance to Medallion Home standards has become important for builders and contractors; they have learned to show prospective home owners that good use of lighting and appliances make it possible for them to enjoy preparing and eating outdoor meals, watching television, reading in cool comfort, listening to hi-fi, dancing and engaging in sports.

Concrete Steps Lead Way To New Homes

A new home in the suburbs often has a raw, unfinished look, characteristic of uncompleted subdivisions.

Concrete products can often be used to add a touch of permanence and finish. Precast concrete curbing for the driveway, for instance, is delivered straight form the manufacturer's plant, and need only be placed in position.

Patio stones of concrete of varying shapes and sizes add character to the rear lawn and garden area. Concrete brick and block can be used for planter beds or lawn and terrace edgings.

Steps, complete with railing indecorative wrought iron, can be delivered and placed as a single unit.

A barbecue, as simple or as elaborate as the home handyman wants to make it, can add immeasurably to outdoor living pleasure as soon as you move in.

If the neighborhood is still in the development and building stage, block li off with a decorative screen block wall, which lets light and air through, but gives you privacy.

Even a backyard swimming pool is not beyond the scope of the more ambitious home handyman.

Precast concrete benches can be either built or ordered as a unit, and decorative panels with precast fountains can be formed to add interest to garden area.

Concrete products allow the home owner to have all these home accessories immediately to add a finished atmosphere to the home from the start.

Many manufacturers stock them as standard units. They're also glad to work with the home owner to make up custom units to his design and standards.

BROTHER STOLEN TOO

PARADE OF HOMES

House Is Cold New World Without Modern Heating

We all experience an unforgettable thrill when we first enter our new home. Everything around us is bright and fresh and we look forward to years of happiness, contentment and comfort in what has suddenly become for us, a dream world.

Have you ever considered what goes into the making of your home? Bricks, wood, plaster, modern plastics, glass — most or all of these are used to give the appearance and style in which we take pride and added enjoyment. But it is an unfortunate truth, as the Canadian Institute of Plumbing and Heating points out, that insufficient attention is often given to one of the most important parts of the home. One single feature, more than anything else, will make a house a warm, comfortable home or an uncomfortable, bothersome and sometimes frustrating place to live. That feature is the heating system. It must be properly suited to the house and it must be adequate in performance to do the job you will expect.

Emphasizing the heating system's importance, the Institute further points out our Canadian climate is such that some measure of heating is necessary during eight to nine months of the year. If we are to enjoy the pleasant indoor temperature required for good health and comfort, Unless this condition exists in the house you live in, it could be the end of your dreams. It is only good sense, then, that what effects your well-being for three quarters of your life should be carefully investigated before a new house is built or bought.

There are heating systems on the market today which will meet every requirement of the most careful buyer. In addition, you may choose a heat distribution system which gives complete freedom of furniture arrangement in every room. And it is also possible with the proper equipment to control temperatures in different parts of the house to suit individual tastes.

HYDRONIC HEATING

The ultimate in heating facilities may be secured today with hydronic heating (the science of moving heating and cooling with liquids). It will pay you at the outset to look into its many advantages.

Hydronic heating utilizes compact and attractive boilers which may be fired by the fuel of your choice. The boiler heats water which is circulated by a pump and silently carried through small pipes to the radiators. Modern radiators may be had in the new streamlined free standing types, the concealed cabinet type which is recessed into the wall and, most modern of all, the baseboard type. This latter design replaces the conventional wooden baseboard and blends the cold side walls with a gentle flow of warmth as well as emitting radiant heat at floor level, giving even temperature in all parts of the room. Why at the outside wall? Because that is where heat is being lost and by keeping the outer walls warm the best in heating is experienced. Hydronic heating also eliminates the need for basement ducts and the restriction of head room. It allows you to fully use the basement as desired.

In a compact bungalow it is often possible to control the heat in all rooms by a centrally located modern thermostat which starts and stops the heating system and maintains an even temperature throughout — not hot and cold spells but a steady flow of heat in all rooms.

MORE CONTROLS NEEDED

However, a trend today is towards spread out construction, ranch styles and levels and more active living areas in the basement. Here, one thermostat is not enough; you must control the amount of heat which each area is to be heated. Proper controls can be installed on your hydronic heating system to allow you to set different room temperatures in playrooms, living areas, bedrooms, garage, and basement recquirements. All heat is supplied by one boiler. Hydronic heating is flexible enough to allow these features at small additional cost.

There are many plus features available with hydronic heating. You can include provisions from automatically melting the snow off driveways and walks — no more shoveling, an exclusive feature of hydronic heating. You can provide your domestic hot water requirements from a special coil installed in your boiler. Check all these features with your builder and plumber — you will be surprised how economical it is to have them.

Hydronic heating in your new home will assure years of comfortable living — a gentle flow of clean, quiet and even heat is at your fingertips. It doesn't pay to have less than what's best when comfort and health are involved. Even a little saved by scrimping at the outset may prove very costly in the years to follow.

Pharaohs Used Copper Plumbing Also Good in Modern Homes

The value of copper tube for plumbing and heating lines was recognized by man at the dawn of civilization. Ancient ruins have divulged that the Pharaohs of Egypt used crude copper pipes to convey water to their bathing pools. Proof of copper's durability is that these 3,000-year old tubes can still efficiently carry water!

Modern man's requirements for water have increased greatly since that time but he still relies on copper as the basic material to satisfy these needs. In addition, today's home-buyer benefits from the inherent qualities of copper plus the many technological developments and improvements made by industry down through the years.

DURABILITY IMPORTANT

Why are durable materials so necessary in plumbing and heating systems? Most important, of course, is dependability. Nothing is more annoying — and costly — than poor functioning plumbing caused by inferior materials. Health and comfort go hand in hand with trouble-free plumbing and heating systems.

A constant supply of fresh, pure water for drinking, cooking, washing and bathing is an absolute necessity to our way of life. Equally important to health is the removal of wastes to the proper disposal areas. Comfort, through efficient, dependable heating systems is vital during almost seven months of the year in our climate.

In this day and age, we demand hot or cold water at the turn of a tap — comfortable temperatures with the setting of a thermostat; and countless other conveniences that a constant, never-failing water supply brings us. It is any wonder that copper, as the most dependable material, is used in 95 per cent of residential plumbing today.

Water lines which connect the house with the city supply main are usually buried beneath lawns, gardens and driveways. Failure of poor materials can be costly and inconvenient to repair.

COMPACT DESIGN

Interior plumbing lines of copper are small, neat, compact. They are easily hidden in wall studding or ceiling furring with no unsightly loss of space. They are corrosion resistant and will not "rust out" causing clean-up and expensive repair.

A fairly recent development, hydronic baseboard heating, also employs copper tube. Hot water, circulated through small copper lines and convectors, concealed in a special baseboard, replacing the conventional one, provides quiet, efficient and dependable heating. Copper adds to the value of a home without adding to the cost — and adds immeasurably to the health, comfort and peace of mind of the owner in whose house it is installed.

Sport Snapshots

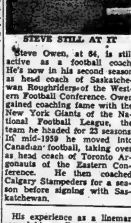
By SCOTT SCHILL

REGINA (CP)—Steve Owen, quietly, patiently and steadily, is placing his trademark on Saskatchewan Roughriders of the Western Football Conference—a nearly flawless defence with a solid running attack.

This is the system he used for 20 years as head coach of New York Giants in the National Football League. It's the system he hopes will carry Roughriders into the WFC playoffs for the first time since 1958.

Last year, under his guidance, the Roughriders moved out of the league basement. This year after five games his club led the WFC, a surprising place for a team that had come almost to accept losing as a way of life. "I like it fine here," Steve says. "The fans are wonderful, the board of directors doesn't bother me. They finally have enough confidence in me to let me do what I think best."

In 1961 under Owen Rough-riders fielded 10 rookies in seven games. Eight returned this season plus another six.



LONG WAY BACK

At 64, Owen can trace his football career back to the 1920s when he played for Phillips University at Enid, Okla., then turned pro with Kansas City.

In 1925 New York received an NFL franchise and Steve is calls how he came to join the team.

"I played a game in New York with Kansas City. I must have had an impressive day because New York bought my contract for $100."

An offensive guard and defensive tackle, Steve played with the Giants for five years, then became playing coach. Three years later he quit as a player and continued as head coach.

STEVE STILL AT IT

Steve Owen, at 64, is still active as a football coach. He's now in his second season as head coach of Saskatchewan Roughriders of the Western Football Conference. Owen gained coaching fame with the New York Giants of the National Football League, the team he headed for 23 seasons. In mid-1959 he moved into Canadian football, taking over as head coach of Toronto Argonauts of the Eastern Conference. He then coached Calgary Stampeders for a season before signing with Saskatchewan.

His experience as a lineman served him well and his Giant teams were noted for their defence.

In 1927 we set a record that will never be broken. We allowed only 20 points against us in 13 ball games. Hell, they score that many any quarter you want now, never mind a full season."

Owen retired in 1953, spent the next years watching games and "second - guessing" coaches," then was defensive coach at Baylor University for a season and with Philadelphia Eagles for two.

JOINED ARGOS

It was in 1957 that he took a similar job under Hamp Pool with Toronto Argonauts of the Eastern Conference. When Pool was fired in 1959 Owen took over for the remainder of the season.

He was invited to go west by Calgary Stampeders who had lost six straight and managed to get them into the playoffs. The next season, however, Bobby Dobbs was hired and Owen accepted a call from Saskatchewan.

He says the Canadian game has changed a lot since 1960 when he led New York into Ottawa for an exhibition game.

"It's much more liberalized now. Every change I've seen since coming to Canada has been for the betterment of the game. You've got two more men who can block all the way down the field now and you can block on interceptions. The game has opened up a lot.

"It doesn't take all day to play a football game. Up here two hours and 10 minutes is enough. In those States' college games they take 3½ hours."

Owen also likes the single point on punts and would prefer to see unlimited blocking.

SURPRISED SHERMAN

Steve likes to recall the 1950 exhibition game in Ottawa.

"I had Allie Sherman as backfield coach. He was only 25 and I kept telling him to get in shape; that I was going to play him in that Ottawa exhibition. He thought I was kidding.

"I had the trainer put in a uniform for Allie when we went to Ottawa and I made Allie dress. He was sitting on the bench during the game and we had a tough situation on our own 30-yard line.

"I turned to him on the shoulder. 'Go in,' I said. He looked at me, then went out and completed seven passes in a row."

Sherman, who coached Winnipeg Blue Bombers from 1954 to 1956, last year became head coach of the Giants.

Willie May Join Club Tonight

CINCINNATI (AP)—Officials of the San Francisco Giants Thursday ordered a thorough physical examination for star outfielder Willie Mays, who blacked out Wednesday night.

Mays was scheduled to stay in Cincinnati's Christ Hospital and have the tests today, according to manager Alvin Dark.

Dark said there was no apparent indication what belied Mays, who collapsed during a game against Cincinnati Reds which the Reds won 4-1.

Dr. George Ballou, Cincinnati team physician, said it was apparently a case of acute indigestion, but was unavailable for comment on tests taken Thursday.

Giants' traveling secretary Edward Brannick said Mays was scheduled to fly from Cincinnati to rejoin the Giants tonight for a game against the Pirates in Pittsburgh.

Dark said Mays felt well at the hospital Thursday.

Race Series Starts Tomorrow

American Yacht Favored

By CHARLES FLOOD

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — The overwhelmingly favored American 12-metre yacht Westerly and her 30-man crew Saturday will begin defence of the America's Cup against the Australian challenger Gretel.

President Kennedy will be among the spectators aboard 3,500 vessels of all sizes off this New England seaport as the racing dogs meet in the 10th defence of an American sporting monopoly 111 years old.

Westerly, 56 feet over-all and 46 feet on the waterline, and Gretel, 69 feet over-all and 45 feet on the waterline, will be sent on their way Saturday by the committee boat of the New York Yacht Club in the Atlantic line miles off the Rhode Island coast.

This first race of a best-of-seven series will be on a two-legged windward-leeward course, with the boats to go twice around for a total of 24 nautical miles, Monday, after a day's rest, the course will be once around a triangular course of 24 miles to a leg. Odd-numbered races will be windward-leeward and even-numbered races will be on the triangular course.

The Australian boat is the product of a syndicate formed by Sir Frank Packer, Australian publisher and radio magnate.

Australian inexperience in the 12-metre class is testified to by the fact that Gretel's sails carry the number AA, signifying that she is the first built in that country, while Westerly's number is 1857.

The Australians got a scare Thursday night when Gretel slipped on her cradle while being hauled onto the ways and hurtled down a 40-foot slide but not list and instead dipped into the water. A check showed no damage.

Top Drivers In Mosport Grand Prix

TORONTO (CP)—Several top U.S. drivers have announced they will compete in the Canadian Grand Prix at Mosport near Orono, Ont., Sept. 30.

Jim Hall, Allan Connell Jr., and Bob Schroeder will be among the favorites in the 250-mile grand Prix, the longest and toughest motor race held annually in Canada.

Hall will again drive his six-litre Chaparral. Connell will use his new Cooper Monaco and Schroeder will drive a 1½-litre Once-powered de Tomaso, a car never before seen on the Mosport track, 60 miles east of Toronto.

In addition to the three Texans, the U.S. challenge will include three-time Sports Car Club of America champion Bob Holbert who will drive a Porsche RS 62. Bob Donner and Herb Swan will be driving Porsche RS 61s.

RODRIQUEZ TO RACE

Pedro Rodriquez of Mexico will head the Ferrari team and has been joined by John Fulp Jr., of New York.

Meanwhile, it was confirmed Thursday night that Stirling Moss of England, one of the world's greatest racing drivers, will be at the Canadian Grand Prix again this year—but not as a competitor.

Moss, severely injured when he crashed at more than 110 m.p.h. on Easter weekend at Goodwood, England, will be the guest of honor and official starter.

Would Organize Gridders

CALGARY (CP)—A Calgary lawyer announced Thursday night he is working on behalf of professional football players across the country trying to organize a football players' association which, among other things, would set minimum salaries.

Ted Duncan, a former Canadian pro who saw brief duty with the Calgary Stampeders as a kicker last year, said he has semi letters to the nine Canadian Football League clubs and expects an organizational meeting of the association will be held "within the next 30 days."

The association would not be a union but would operate more as a guild which would give players a voice in differences of opinion or policy between management and players. It would also set up a fund for protection for injuries and pay for exhibition games.

He said his letters have received favorable answers from players' representatives of Edmonton Eskimos, Saskatchewan Roughriders, Winnipeg Blue Bombers and Calgary Stampeders.

He said he believes Ottawa Rough Riders will fall into line because most of their players, Dick Desmersais and Bob Beattie, recently used the team for a letter asking settlement following injuries they received in exhibition games.

Dave Hill Tops Golf At Seattle

SEATTLE (AP) — Dave Hill, 26, fired a six-under-par 65 Thursday and led a parade of par-busting pros through the first round of the $25,000 Seattle Open golf tournament.

Of the 126 pros entered, 46 smashed par.

It was played on rain-soaked Broadmoor Golf Course. Squalls swept the course through the day, setting the greens up for low scoring.

Bunched at 65, a stroke off the pace were big Mike Souchak, Bob McCallister, Al Geiberger and Larry Mowry, a relative unknown from Modesto, Calif. Don Massengale was alone at 66.

Then came 15 pros at 67, three under par, headed by Jack Nicklaus, National Open and "World's Series" champ. Two other members of golf's big three, Gary Player and Arnold Palmer, finished at 68 and 70 respectively.

The most topsy-turvy rounds of the day, which saw the 71-shooters tied for 63rd place, belonged to Julius Boros and Ken Venturi, Boros, married with a course-record 29 on the first nine, six under par, then balked to a three-over par 38 coming back for a 68 total.

Venturi, out in 36, finished with a 36 to land with Boros at 68.

Eskimos, Tigers Tonight

By BOB TIMMIS

EDMONTON (CP)—Six weeks and seven football games ago, Edmonton Eskimos launched the 1962 Western Conference season touted as the only team with a chance to dislodge Winnipeg Blue Bombers as the top team in the WFC.

Tonight they meet Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Eastern Conference in an interlocking game and they find themselves six points behind the first - place Bombers and holding down a share of last place in the five-team WFC with British Columbia Lions.

There's been little joy in the Edmonton camp since the club opened the campaign with two straight victories. A rash of injuries to first-string players undersored the Eskimos' alump. They have won only one of the last five starts.

The Hamilton game marks the halfway mark for Edmonton in its 16-game schedule. The Eskimos need a victory. Never since they joined the league in 1949 have they found themselves so far down the ladder so late in the season.

JUGGLE SQUAD

Coach Eagle Keys will continue to juggle his lineup in an effort to overcome the injury problem and find a victory combination.

Linebacker Dick Grecni from Minnesota Vikings of the National League has been signed and will see his first action. Quarterback Tom Wilkinson, obtained in a trade from Montreal after Jackie Parker, Edmonton's top signal-caller was injured, will play. Canadian veteran Don Getty will start his second straight game at quarterback.

Returning to action for the first time since late last season is quarterback Jim Furlong, a back will be defensive half Ted Tully and defensive end Ed Gray. Gray will play with a cast on his right arm to protect his broken bone.

Out with injuries will be half backs Bobby Waiden and Dave Harvey, Fullback Ron Bisemen Gino Fracas and Mike Kmech. Guard Roy is expected to see little duty because of a leg injury.

Jim Trimble, Hamilton coach, also was expected to perform the injury jig for the game.

Bernie Faloney, his pro quarterback, and defensive end Ron Ray were not expected to dress. Faloney has a chipped bone in his passing hand and a wrenched knee. Ray also has knee troubles.

Canadian Frank Cosentino was expected to start at quarterback, Faloney might return in time for a game Monday in Vancouver against the Lions.

Fullback Larry Hickman, who joined Hamilton inday through 1961 after being cut by the NFL Green Bay Packers, may see his first start of the season. He'll go in if Trimble shifts fullback Bobby Kuntz to corner linebacker.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

On Sunday some 1,500 sportsmen of the district will forget the common market, Khrushchev, nuclear weapons, the Yankees and Dodgers, income taxes and the price of peanuts in Upper Mongolia to let their hair down and enjoy a day's fun.

They will converge on the property of the Madoc District Hunters' and Anglers' Club, some four miles northeast of the village.

The Madoc best-end-hunt bombers are the hosts to the first Annual Sportsmen's Field Day being held under the auspices of the Eastern Central Ontario Association of Sportsmen's Clubs.

And they're not being stuffy about it. They've seen to it that the old man won't get away with a thing. The minute the kids and the family pooches, bunting, lap and chicken chasers, all have been invited.

And they'll be lookin' the hardware. No six-guns, but shotguns, rifles, catapults, bows and arrows and if they have them, blow-guns.

But strictly for competitive purposes. Any attempts to start an inter-club shooting war will be promptly squelched.

Contests have been arranged for practically all phases of shooting and what not. They tell me there's even a trophy for the best pea-shooter. Slingshots are barred, except for private use.

The Belleville Fish and Game Club will supervise an open clay shoot, a mixed-and-match on the gamesage system. This is a share-the-dough gimmick.

Picton takes care of the rifle shoot on the brand new range. Marksmanship, matches, and a running deer shoot are features.

There is a 35-yard shotgun shoot, and a shooting exhibition by an ammunition company.

There will be a "Dog Trading Post." Here dogs will be displayed for sale and for trade. You can turn in your old model hound for a brand new "Boomer." Kennel dogs will be welcomed. Bring your own dog food and fire hydrant.

There will be a horseshoe pitching elimination contest. You can pick your own shoeing and fire at will. There's a calf training show, a five bird display (wives not eligible), sporting goods shows, boats and motors, and other features.

There's a big tug-of-war contest planned. The Madocers say they can trim the whiskers off any beatnik muscleman from any club.

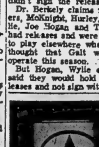
It says here the "Lard Famines" of the Tweed District Lands and Forests have challenged the Lindsay District "Fat Bottoms."

Imagine the cheek!

It will be a hard pull and a long opportunity to see a game warden on the end of a rope.

There will be a merry-go-round and other rides for the kiddies. There will be food and drinks (soft) available, and if you don't want to take a chance on the Madoc cuisine (mooseburgers, pikeburgers, beaverburgers and rabbit rolls, garnished with iron ore winers), bring along your own basket lunch.

A feature of the Field Day will be the official opening of the Madoc and District Hunters and Anglers Club's handsome new property.



A few months ago the boys purchased a 75-acre lot, composed of pine and hardwood bushland with about 20 acres of open field, and a 15-acre beaver pond. The latter contains several species of duck and other wild waterfowl. They claim, and rightly so, they now have a "Sportsmen's Paradise."

The property will be officially opened with a ribbon-cutting and other ceremonies. Club president Lloyd Blue and his Madocers deserve a lot of credit.

The fun gets under way at ten o'clock—in the morning—that is. A large number of Belleville Fish and Game Association members are planning to attend.

Reds Jolt Giants With 7-2 Setback

Two Games Off Pace

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

From the time Willie Mays started running out from under his baseball cap on a full-time basis eight years ago, the Giants never have won a game in which his name did not appear in the lineup.

They met with similar lack of success Thursday night.

While Willie lay in a hospital bed undergoing tests to determine the cause of his sudden collapse in Wednesday's game, Cincinnati Reds dealt San Francisco's National League pennant hopes a stiff jolt as Jim O'Toole pitched a four-hitter for a 7-2 victory over the Giants.

The defeat dropped the second-place Giants two games behind the idle Los Angeles Dodgers. Each team has 55 games remaining to play. The defending champion Reds, in third place five games back, have 53 games left.

The Mays case, meanwhile, remained something of a mystery.

KEPT IN HOSPITAL

The slugging San Franciscan, the major league's run-batted-in leader with 43, blacked out in the third inning of the opener of the three-game series, which represented the last meeting between the two pennant-leaders battling for the NL flag.

Taken to a hospital for observation, Mays wanted to leave Thursday, but stayed on for further tests.

Manager Al Dark said there was no apparent indication of what felled Mays. Team physician Dr. George Ballou said it apparently was a case of a dizzy infatuation. Giants Vice - President Chub Feeney said Mays's feeling fine, but the doctors want him to stay in the hospital."

The 31-year-old centre fielder, who has missed only about 15 games since he came into the league in 1954, joined the Giants on a full-time basis, was scheduled to fly from Cincinnati for tonight's games at Pittsburgh after the tests were concluded.

DAYDEAL'S ALL SET

At the same time Mays' outlook seemed to be brightening, the Dodgers received good news about ailing 24-game winner Don Drysdale, who injured a rib Monday night in a game against Chicago Cubs. Manager Walt Alston said Drysdale would pitch Saturday.

One other game was scheduled in the NL Thursday, Philadelphia Phillies beat Warren Spahn and Milwaukee Braves 2-1 on John Callison's ninth inning homer.

O'Toole (15-12) was almost untouchable against the Giants until he had a big enough lead to let up a bit. He was tagged for a double by Harvey Kuenn in the first inning and then did not allow San Francisco another hit until the eighth. By that time the Reds were leading 6-0.

CEPEDA MUFFS TOSS

Cincinnati scored twice in the second inning, the first on Frank Robinson's homer by Wally Post off Mike McCormick after Vada Pinson made it 4-0 in the fifth when singles by Eddie Kasko and Don Blasingame sandwiched a fielder's choice. Larsen came in and gave up a single to Gene Freese that filled the bases, Frank Robinson bounced one to third baseman Jim Davenport, who fired home for the force out at the plate, but first baseman Orlando Cepeda muffed the throw from catcher John Orsino on an attempt at double Robinson and two runs scored.

In the eighth, Kuenn's two-out single scored the gap to 4-2 but the Reds came up with three in their half to put it out of reach.

In the Braves-Phillies game, Milwaukee scored its only runs on a walk and two singles and Philadelphia evened it in the seventh with Callison's game production. Callison's homer with one out in the ninth decided it.

Squabble Over Players

Terriers, Tigers Twist

GALT (CP) — Things should be lively in the Ontario Hockey Association senior A league this season.

Training camps haven't opened, but Galt Terriers and Kitchener-Waterloo Tigers are already rivals.

Two Galt stars, veteran goaltender Boat Hurley and captain Bob McKnight, have signed with Tigers, Galt, apparently both have had changes of heart and want to return to Galt.

Galt wants the pair back and is arguing that both left with improper releases and therefore their contracts with the Tigers are void.

The Tigers, of course, are protesting.

The Terriers, Canada's representatives in the world tournament last year and Allan Cup winners in 1961, have appealed to the OHA and are awaiting a ruling.

"Releases should be signed by the president and secretary of all teams adhering to OHA rules," said Terriers president Dr. Ben Berkely Tuesday night. "Both their cards were signed by me and our club's assistant manager Don Hibbs."

WAS FIRED

Len Gaudette was the Galt manager - secretary but was fired when the team returned from the world tournament and was not available to give releases.

"We have a recording secretary, Bill Patterson," said Dr. Berkely, "and his signature should have been legal—but he didn't sign the releases."

Dr. Berkely claims five players, McKnight, Hurley, Bill Wylie, Joe Hogan and Ted Maki, had rackets and were prepared to play elsewhere when it was thought that Galt would not operate this season.

But Hogan, Wylie and Maki said they would hold their releases and not sign with another club until Terriers made definite plans.

All three are now free agents but Dr. Berkely said he expects them to return to the team.

Actually, McKnight and Hurley signed with Tigers two days after the announcement that Galt would continue.

"We talked to them," said Dr. Berkely, 'and they now feel they have a moral obligation to us. They've played here the past three years, led us to an Allan Cup and were with us in the world tournament."

Both players live in Kitchener and played for Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen before going to Galt. Dutchmen folded and Kitchener turned to the Eastern Professional Hockey League for hockey.

Meet Ottawa On Sunday

Argos Put 4 Players On Waivers

TORONTO (CP) — Coach Bobby Hackett of Toronto Argonauts of the Eastern Football Conference Thursday completed his three-week mid-season overhaul when he placed four players, two Canadians and two Americans, on waivers, subject to recall.

The latest cut, following the dropping of import tackle Tom Jones earlier this week, were: Defensive halves Brian Aston, a college product from the University of Toronto and Boyd Carter, who learned his football in the United States but who now is a Canadian; second-string quarterback Pete Hall from Marquette University and end Ron Stover, from the University of Oregon.

The Argonauts, desperate after five straight losses and the only club in the nine-team Canadian Football League without an entry in the win column, made their decisions earlier this week. Another American, quarterback Don Fuell from Mississippi Southern, is in camp and it is believed he will be signed by the Argonauts.

The newcomers, late cuts from the National and American football leagues, are trying to be in the lineup Sunday when Argonauts are at home to the Ottawa Rough Riders.

SETS 72 HOURS

The waiver limit is 72 hours, and Montreal Alouettes, as last-place finishers in the Eastern Conference last year, have first claim—for $250 each—on the players cut.

If they pass them, teams in the Eastern Conference, the difference will be able to bid in reverse order, of their standing at the end of the 1961 season.

But the "subject to recall" rule will be used if any of the other eight CFL clubs nibble at the bait, Argonauts can withdraw.

The new Argos are Zeke Smith, offensive guard who played with Baltimore and New York in the NFL; Aubrey Linne, defensive end from Baltimore; Jerry Wilson, two-way end and corner linebacker who played with Philadelphia Eagles and San Francisco in the NFL, and who was recently cut by Buffalo of the AFL; Lebron Shields, two-way tackle and defensive end from Baltimore and Minnesota Vikings, and Tom Mundin, quarterback and defensive back and a late cut by Los Angeles Rams.

SETS RECORD

BLACKPOOL, England (AP) — Linda Ludgrove, a 15-year-old British Olympic prospect, bettered the listed world record in the 110-yard backstroke swim Thursday for the second time in two days. She was timed in 1:10.9 as she won the British senior championships. She won the junior title in the same time Wednesday. The listed world record is 1:11.9, set by Judy Grinham of Britain.

Canadians Paid Too Little

Lions Have New Roar!

VANCOUVER (CP)—A contract dispute between two third-year Canadian players and British Columbia Lions football club flared into print here Thursday with charges that Canadians are paid too little.

"We're not looking for raises," said Neil Beaumont. "It's the basic salary scale they give Canadians that we are against."

Beaumont, first string defensive halfback, and Steve Cotter, first - string offensive guard, have refused to sign 1962 contracts with the Lions and are playing out their 1961 contract options.

Herb Capozzi, general manager of the Western Football Conference team, said the club is not interested in negotiations unless the players relax their salary demands.

Beaumont and Cotter said the argument is purely monetary and they are not playing out their options in order to join any other team in Canada.

NO FIGURES

Neither has any figures regarding their demands.

"I understand that there is a gentleman's agreement between the teams in Canada," Beaumont said, "that if a player plays out his option, no other team will pick him up.

"I think that's blackballing and if they blackball me—over a couple of dollars—I'll never go to the American Football League."

Cotter said he'll play all this season on his 1961 option, then renew negotiations next year, if necessary.

Beaumont, WFC rookie-of-the-year in 1960, said there are United States players who got more as a signing bonus than he received for two years with Lions.

"And there are guys in town on the reserve list who are getting more for not playing than I have been offered," he added.

"Some people have the idea that Canadian players on the Lions team get paid $10,000 a year. Well, I haven't made $10,000 in the total of 2½ years.

"The management gives us a lot of baloney about job opportunities and security. But the only good jobs go to the imports. And how much security do you have with this Canadian draft, when you can be shuffled off to another team if your own club doesn't protect you?"

Capozzi, questioned after the players', comments had appeared in a newspaper here, said he had no comment.

Wings Shade Suns

Crackers Take Toronto

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The International League semi - final playoffs are all knotted up today.

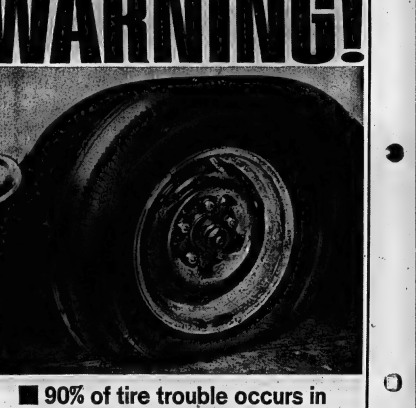
Rochester Red Wings whipped Jacksonville Suns 5-4, and Atlanta Crackers took Toronto Maple Leafs 6-4, Thursday night, as the home team edge held up again.

The victories evened both series at 2-2. All the games have been won in home parks.

Rochester poured over four runs with one out in the bottom of the ninth inning, against the regular season champion Suns. Rookie Tommy John surrendered a solo homer to Pete Ward in the first inning, and shut out the Wings after that until the ninth. Then John walked Joe Lonnett, struck out Danny Kravitz and gave up a topped infield single to Bob Saverine.

Lefty Ed Donnelly relieved, and Ward singled, Pat Abernathy came in to pitch and walked pinch hitter Cal Emery to force in a run. Fred Valentine singled two more in, and Sam Bowens singled the winner across.

Mike De La Hoz hit a two-run homer for the Suns.



Solid relief pitching by Ed Bauta sealed the Atlanta victory over the Leafs, who were second during the regular campaign. Bauta appeared in the sixth inning after Neal Chrisley had cut the Atlanta margin to 5-4 with a three-run homer off starter Harry Fanok. He set the Leafs down with only two hits the rest of the way. The win went to Fanok.

Six different Crackers drove in the runs.

PUC Shades Firemen 2-1

Belleville Utilities shaded the Fire Department 2-1 in the first game of the City Interdepartmental softball league finals last night.

The series is a best-of-five affair with the next two games scheduled for the CNRA Park on Tuesday and Thursday nights next week. All games start at six o'clock.

NHL Training Camps

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A year ago Bobby Leiter almost failed to catch a place with a minor league team. To day he's being touted as the most promising rookie in a NH league camp.

The 20-year-old Winnipeg centre is given the best chance to uncrack Boston Bruins' lineup in the National Hockey League this season by coach Phil Watson.

But last year was a different story.

Fresh out of junior hockey at Winnipeg, Leiter attended Kingston Frontenacs' camp in the Eastern Professional Hockey League.

He seemed to be drifting, crash-prone but fast enough.

But general manager Wren Blair went along with the crew-cut, button - nosed youngster from the West and it paid off.

LEIT SCORERS

Leiter improved tremendously and capped a 30-goal season by leading Frontenacs to the EHPL finals. He was the leading scorer in the playoffs.

"He has a good shot, good speed and he's very aggressive," Watson Thursday at Bruins' training camp at Boston Garden. "He has a good chance to make the team."

At Peterborough, the defending Stanley Cup champion Toronto Maple Leafs played golf. They open their exhibition schedule tonight against their American League farmhands, Rochester Americans.

Bobby Hull and Stan Mikita, two of Chicago Black Hawks' top guns, couldn't stop the Blacks from dumping the Reds in a Chicago intra-squad scrimmage Thursday at St. Catharines, site of the Chicago training camp. Blacks romped, winning 9-8 win led by the three-goal performance of right-winger Ken Wharram.

Hawks general manager Tommy Ivan reported the signing of two more players, Eric Nesterenko and Murray Balfour.

SIGNS TWO VETERANS

At Detroit, Red Wings announced the signing of veterans Norm Ullman and Vic Stasiuk. Wings have now signed nine players.

Gordie Howe, Alex Delvecchio, Bill Gadsby, Parker MacDonald, Claude Laforge, Bruce MacGregor and Earl Smith signed earlier.

Trainmen Told Dispute Could Lead to Strike

MONTREAL (CP) — The Canadian Pacific Railway said yesterday in a message to all employees that a dispute between the railway and the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen (CLC) could lead to strike action.

The statement said the trainmen's union is demanding wage increases and excess of those granted earlier this year to engineers and firemen.

The engineers and firemen had settled for rule changes and wage increases of up to 6½ per cent over a three-year period. The trainmen are demanding an increase of eight per cent over 18 months.

The statement said:

"A trainmen's board of conciliation has recommended certain rule changes requested by the brotherhood of the company, leaving the matter of wages open for negotiation. The company has stated to the minister of labor the belief that the dispute could be resolved promptly on the basis of this report.

SECRECY REPORT

"However, at a meeting Monday some representatives of the trainmen's union rejected the report and demanded unqualified acceptance of a wage increase. This was after nine months before they would even discuss a recommended rule changes. The union's primary trainmen's union is attempting to enforce a demand upon the company in excess of those reached with all other groups of railroads.

The company said the dispute could lead to grave damage resulting in cessation of service and layoff of all employees.

In addition to layoffs," the inescapable result of a strike would be a drastic curtailment of traffic, with permanent reduction in jobs," said the statement.

It suggested organized employees might wish to discuss the situation with their representatives or to make their feelings known to company officers.

Middle age began at 40 instead of 45 or 50. (Today no one will admit he's really old until he hits 70 or 75.)

It was a sign of prosperity for a man to wear a big ruby in a gold ring.

You could tell how stylish a family was by counting the number of tassels on the lampshades in the home.

A wife reared on soap and water, washed enough and well-to-do family kept at least one poor female relative—it was usually cheaper than hiring a maid.

When a telegram arrived, everybody broke out crying. They were sure of worse before opening it, that no one would go to all that trouble and expense except to send bad news.

Focus on Health

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Topics this week: A miniature machine for miniature heart patients . . . Smallpox and its 15,000,000 small enemies, and a look at children and teeth from reality.

MINIATURES

There now is a machine that can breathe and freshen the blood for tiny babies.

University of Michigan doctors have scaled down the larger heart - lung machines used for adults to produce a miniature device for infants.

It gives the doctor precise control over the blood supply of the infant during open heart surgery, in which heart defects are corrected. The heart-lung machine circulates and freshens the patient's blood during surgery, enabling surgeons to work longer on the heart.

The smallest baby yet operated on with the new heart-lung device weighed only six pounds. The youngest was 12 days old. Both operations were successful.

CROWDED HANDS

There are some 15,000,000 microscopic germs on your hands right now, unless you washed recently with a potent antiseptic.

And one of the most effective of antiseptics, says Dr. Harold A. Sitkoff, Pennsylvania podiatrist, is iodine.

Once momentarily used, iodine lost popularity because it irritated the skin, Sitkoff says. Now for coming back, combined with other ingredients that reduce its irritating qualities.

You probably won't want to wash those bacteria — ladies hands with iodine. But, says Dr. Sitkoff, a two - minute washing with alcohol will kill as many bacteria as 20 minutes of scrubbing with soap and water.

MAGICAL THINKING

Schizophrenia means "split from reality" and as a mental disease, it is one of the most severe and widespread.

Dr. Stanley I. Glichman, Rutgers University psychologist, is studying groups of children with the disease in hopes of finding out how it can be diagnosed earliest, and treated.

One symptom he finds is that of magical thinking. The schizophrenic child may think, for instance, that "if I clap my hands, another atomic explosion will take place."

A Person Is as Young In Heart as His Memories

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—A person is as young in heart as his memories.

And, no matter what your chronological age is, you still have a youthful spirit if you can look back and remember when—

High school girls were eager to get a baby sitter for 10 cents an hour.

Middle age began at 40 instead of 45 or 50. (Today no one will admit he's really old until he hits 70 or 75.)

It was a sign of prosperity for a man to wear a big ruby in a gold ring.

You could tell how stylish a family was by counting the number of tassels on the lampshades in the home.

A wife reared on soap and water, washed enough and well-to-do family kept at least one poor female relative—it was usually cheaper than hiring a maid.

When a telegram arrived, everybody broke out crying. They were sure of worse before opening it, that no one would go to all that trouble and expense except to send bad news.

Roman Catholics Hit Back At Moderator's Criticism

TORONTO (CP) — Roman Catholic churchmen have hit back at a statement by the retiring United Church moderator that liberty may end in Canada because immigration is making this country predominantly Catholic.

Rt. Rev. Hugh A. McLeod told the 10th general council of the United Church of Canada Wednesday night the influx of Catholics "is a peril and to achieve the end of liberty as we know it."

His statements were termed "irresponsible" by Rt. Rev. Thomas B. Fulton of the Catholic archdiocese of Toronto's chancellory office.

In an interview Thursday the monsignor said: "It is difficult to see how such irresponsible statements are consistent with the Christian spirit or conducive to harmony or understanding in the community."

Statements were made Thursday by a number of leading Toronto churchmen.

Rev. C. J. Mulvihill, director of Catholic family services, said the suggestion of loss of liberty was "ridiculous."

He said the Canada Immigration Act does not place any restrictions on an immigrant's religion.

"It's just accidental we are getting so many Catholic immigrants. Prior to 1957 the bulk of immigrants came from England and now, due to a change in economic patterns they are coming from a predominantly Catholic section of Europe," he said.

Rev. T. A. McDonald, Newman Club chaplain, said the sentiments were those of the ex-moderator and not of the United Church.

However, Rev. A. C. Forrest, in an editorial in the United Church Observer Sept. 1 wrote that the church's general council for some time had been aware of signs of religious imbalance in immigration policy.

SHOW A GROWTH

Census figures, he wrote, showed a 2.4 per cent growth of Roman Catholicism between 1951 and 1961.

"It hasn't come through the battle of the cradle or converting back-sliddin Protestants, either. It has come through immigration," his statement read.

Referring to Dr. McLeod's statement, Rev. Frank Stone, Catholic Information Centre director, said the remarks were "cockeyed half truths that had no place in the utterances of a person of high standing."

He said: "Fortunately Dr. McLeod doesn't speak for all members of the United Church of Canada. Liberty never means licence but rather the ability to choose what one feels to be right."

Rt. Rev. Frederick H. Wilkinson, Anglican Bishop of Toronto, said Dr. McLeod's fears, as far as Toronto is concerned, were "totally unfounded."

But Dr. Rose Cameron, Presbyterian Church of Canada moderator "fully agreed" with the views of Dr. McLeod.

He said that if the influx of Catholic immigrants continues it could lead to a loss of civil rights for Protestants.

Canada could become another Spain, he said, "where, if you are not a Catholic your marriage is illegal, your children illegal, and you can't vote."

Dr. Cameron said the Catholic Church dictates what men will think and believe. It doesn't stop there but tries to dominate civil affairs and education."

Rabbi Abraham I. Feinberg, an eminent Toronto Jewish leader, attacked Dr. McLeod's statement as being "dangerous" and threatening "to set back the progress of inter-faith understanding in Canada."

"To assume that the members of any faith imperil the liberty of others, and to imply that the government is discriminating on religious grounds, reveals a mistrust and cynicism not conducive to Canadian well-being," he said. He is rabbi of Holy Blossem Temple, Toronto.

SUGGESTS WAY

He suggested that a more positive and effective way to secure a closer Catholic-Protestant understanding would be to eliminate differences between themselves.

"Canada's future will be, to a large extent, shaped by the relationship between Protestants and Catholics," he said.

Delegates to the United Church general council heard London Mayor Gordon Stronach make an impromptu attack on Dr. McLeod's statement.

Mayor Stronach an Anglican, said: "We are living in a divided world. We are divided, Christians fighting communism, but we can't afford to be divided among ourselves.

"This is a great city we live in. We have proven that Christians of all faiths and Jews can sit down together."

He left a silent council immediately after speaking.

Dr. McLeod stood by his statement. In interviews, Dr. McLeod said the speech featured his own opinions. While realizing it was a touchy subject "it was something that had to be said."

Comment in council corridors —generally off the record—indicated opinion is divided among the delegates. One church officer said he agreed with the McLeod statement, while other delegates tended to agree with Mayor Stronach.

A minister - delegate, Rev. Ralph G. LeDrew of St. Paul's Church, Petrolia, Ont., said he believed it would be impossible to control immigration on a religious basis and wants to try.

The present predominance of Roman Catholic immigrants "just happened that way. I doubt if the government or the Roman Catholic Church planned it," he added.

"Jest a Second"

"We'd like something near a school."

Berlin Threat Graver Than In Many Years

This Is the Opinion Of High U.S. Officials

WASHINGTON (AP) — High U.S. administration sources say Soviet threats to Berlin are greater now than in many years, and that it was chiefly this situation — not Cuba—that triggered President Kennedy's request for standby authority to call up 150,000 reservists.

While the current military buildup in Cuba was a factor in Kennedy's decision, these sources said, the Berlin situation is considered infinitely more dangerous because the Soviets seek there to weaken the North Atlantic alliance.

The Berlin crisis was described by these senior government spokesmen as worse than last year, when 148,000 U.S. military reserves were called up to help meet Communist threats in Berlin and elsewhere. Kennedy's present current request for authority to mobilize 150,000 is designed as insurance against the world-wide menace of communism, of which Cuba is only a minor factor, they said.

WHAT WARRANTS

If Congress approves Kennedy's request, it would not necessarily mean that reserves will automatically be called to active duty but will give the president authority to call them whenever he feels world events warrant.

In playing down the current threat of Premier Khrushchev to replace the high government sources said Cuba is regarded as less of a worry to the western hemisphere than a year ago.

The recent shipments of Communist-bloc arms and technicians to Cuba, they said, add to forces but not much, they said.

The reserve call-up bill is scheduled for action on the House of Representatives floor Sept. 24 and is expected to win approval from the House armed services committee Friday.

United Church Wants Change In Divorce Law

Would Recommend Expanding Grounds

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — A double - barrelled plan for government action to bring the light of social science to divorce, family and marriage will be studied here by the general council of the United Church.

Traditional concepts of the grounds for divorce are criticized in a study which will recommend: 1. A royal commission to investigate expanding grounds for divorce. 2. A federal department of marriage and family welfare.

"A 60,000 - word report, released to delegates and the press before presentation Monday, recommends that desertion, cruelty and insanity besides adultery be considered grounds for divorce.

"The breakdown of marriage and the breaking of families is a grave social problem," the report said.

URGES CONSIDERATION

Nevertheless, the report urges the church to realize:

"The instigator of divorce where marriage has ceased to exist.

"That adultery is not the only ground on which divorce should be granted.

"Social sciences have thrown new light on the causes of marriage failure, and the effects on children of serious friction between parents."

A royal commission should examine grounds for divorce and correct "the method of granting divorce by private act of Parliament . . . a relic of its legislative function."

A federal department of marriage and family welfare should be established because "there is very little research or study of the incidence of divorces, desertions, separations and illicit unions in Canada."

Recommendations in the report will be passed on to the government if the general council approves them in a vote Monday.

LISTS CAUTIONS

On the remarriage of a divorced person, the report says: "It is not the practice of the church in every case to accede to the request" for remarriage and lists several cautions for ministers.

The minister should satisfy himself that the person seeking remarriage is "duly repentant of the past failure in marriage and without a hope of such marriage a success.

Among other recommendations, the commission on Christian marriage and divorce advocated the minimum legal age of 21 for both the bride and groom in a marriage without parental consent.

For marriage with consent, the legal age should be 17 for the bride and 18 for the groom. Present legal age in Ontario is 18 for bride and groom without consent and 16 with consent.

Justice Orders Production of SIU Documents

Sittings Next Week Will Be in Ottawa

TORONTO (CP) — Senior counsel Charles Dubin of the Norris shipping inquiry suggested Friday that organized labor and organized management created a "Frankenstein" when they put Hal C. Banks into power in the Seafarers International Union in Canada.

Mr. Dubin made the remark in cross - examining Michael Shea, a former SIU patrolman who now heads the rival Canadian Maritime Union (CLC), before Mr. Justice T. G. Norris and his one-man investigation of waterfront labor violence and shipping disruptions.

Mr. Shea, who acts as lawyer for the federal inquiry commission, questioned Mr. Shea has how the SIU and its burly boss gained contracts to represent seamen on Canadian ships.

Mr. Sheehan agreed that Mr. Banks was brought to Canada from the United States with the support of organized labor and the association of shipowners to drive the Communist-dominated Canadian Seamen's Union off the Lakes.

It was and the charges of vote-rigging and dictatorial rule by the SIU are true, said Mr. Dubin, then labor and management created "what turned out to be a Frankenstein."

Mr. Sheehan agreed.

"You know what a Frankenstein is?" asked Mr. Justice Norris.

"Yes," said Mr. Sheehan, "it's a virtual monster."

The Vancouver jurist added that a Frankenstein is a monster.

Southern Ontario Mopping Up After Furious Thunderstorms

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Southern Ontario mopped up Friday after furious thunderstorms hammered the province for 75 miles an hour pounded the area Thursday afternoon and left the Kent and Elgin districts.

Hydro officials in the Chatham area reported it will be weeks before normal operation is resumed. About 1,500 customers were left without service, and Friday crews from several neighboring communities were moved in to repair damage.

More than 300 telephone lines were knocked out of service in cities in the Chatham and Sarnia districts. Some 1,500 phones were reported out of service between Mitchell's Bay and Lake St. Clair. Hundreds of other telephone poles were downed.

Restoration of phone service in Kent was expected by Saturday night.

In tobacco - producing Simcoe, it was feared rain extensively damaged unharvested crops. Barns were levelled and unharvested tobacco damaged.

No lives were lost, but several narrow escapes were reported in the short, vicious storm.

Richard Rowse, his wife and their two children missed death by inches when a tree two feet thick flattened the hood of their station wagon in which they were riding on the United States highway, he said.

Mr. Fleming read carefully through Mr. Pearson's statement, then turned to reporters in the corridor outside the cabinet chamber and said:

"That's a perfectly silly statement Mr. Pearson has made. Either he doesn't understand or he doesn't wish to understand.

"He might recall what the Liberal government did in 1946 and in 1947 when they were faced with a very severe foreign exchange crisis. They took steps that led to a change in the exchange value of the Canadian dollar in consultation with the International Money Fund and, as part of their program, they went into the New York market and raised a loan similar to that the Canadian government announced yesterday.

"I wish he would remind himself of that and not wish to make cheap political capital out of statements like this."

MR. FLEMING'S REPORT

Mr. Fleming said he will go to Washington today to attend the annual meetings of the governors of the International Bank, International Monetary Fund, International Finance Corporation and International Development Agency where he expects to report on the circumstances that led Canada to devalue the dollar and seek loans and credits to bolster dwindling foreign exchange reserves.

He said his Washington statement will be "gratifying because the progress made since June has been very gratifying in relation to (foreign exchange) reserves."

Trade Expansion Bill Will Give Kennedy Wide Powers

WASHINGTON (CP) — President Kennedy may clarify his stand in his grasp the greatest power to reduce United States tariffs ever handed a president in modern times.

With just one more step to go a Senate floor debate that starts Monday—the new trade expansion bill will become law, authorizing the Kennedy administration to initiate in 1963 a new drive to stimulate transatlantic trade through step-by-step tariff slashes during a five-year period.

The most important scheme in Kennedy's legislative program, the bill would authorize the president to reduce tariffs in broad categories of goods by up to 50 per cent over the five-year period and to negotiate elimination of tariffs altogether on those categories of goods for which the U.S. and the Common Market combined supply at least 80 per cent of the world market.

Key to the effectiveness of the legislation — virtually unmarked by the assaults of protectionists in the House of Representatives and Senate finance committee is the entry of Britain into the European Economic Community.

Entry of Britain will widen the list of goods on which tariffs can be eliminated altogether, And the tariff reductions, in turn, is expected by the U.S. administration to help Britain gain Common Market entry. Leaders of that trade bloc — France and West Germany — are well aware of U.S. support of Britain's membership and also are aware that Britain's entry would open a big new market to them with an easier road to travel into the American market.

Reduction of trans a tlantic tariffs also would be a big boost for Canada and other world exporters, stimulating their industrial drives. But the U.S. does not expect to give away tariff bargains without getting something equivalent in return. For example, the U.S. would expect some concession from Canada if it is found that Canada would gain major benefits from any negotiated tariff bargain between the U.S. and the Common Market.

Fleming and Nowlan Reply To Pearson's Loan Criticism

OTTAWA (CP) — Acting Prime Minister Fleming and Finance Minister Nowlan traded verbal punches Friday with Liberal Leader Pearson over the $250,000,000 loan the Canadian government negotiated with five United States insurance companies.

Mr. Pearson earlier Friday said he is seeking to avoid the serious problems of today by creating still greater problems tomorrow," Mr. Pearson charged in a statement.

"That is a perfectly silly statement Mr. Pearson has made, retorted Mr. Fleming following a cabinet meeting.

Mr. Nowlan, with obvious sarcasm, said Mr. Pearson's statement "was silent as a mouse" as any statement Mr. Pearson has made lately."

The Liberal leader said the 25-year loan indicates that the government intends to finance current external deficits by long-term borrowing.

"What a change from the days before the last election when the Diefenbaker government (Mr. Fleming) was strongly advising our provinces and municipalities to stay at home raising on the United States money," he said.

Mr. Fleming read carefully through Mr. Pearson's statement, then turned to reporters in the corridor outside the cabinet chamber and said:

"That's a perfectly silly statement Mr. Pearson has made. Either he doesn't understand or he doesn't wish to understand.

"He might recall what the Liberal government did in 1946 and in 1947 when they were faced with a very severe foreign exchange crisis. Margaret Said Expecting Her Second Child

LONDON (Reuters) — Several British newspapers today published in bold type headlines that Princess Margaret—reported expecting her second child—did not attend a wedding Friday of her cousin, the Earl of St. Andrews.

The Daily Sketch carries a seven-column headline "All eyes on Margaret" above its account of the christening of the 11-week-old son of the Duke and Duchess of Kent.

Eleven members of the Royal family were at the christening of the baby earl, including the Queen and Prince Philip, who was one of his four godparents.

Troops Move In On Agassiz To Protect Jail

Freedomites Start Breaking Camp

PRINCETON, B.C. (CP)—An advance guard of more than 1,000 elderly Sons of Freedom Doukhobors moved into a chilly campsite near here Friday night as the east started breaking camp at Grand Forks to continue its western trek from the British Columbia interior.

One member of the advance party was admitted immediately to Princeton Hospital with pneumonia. Hospital officials said Tom Strolloff 79, of Glade, is in serious condition.

Strolloff was picked up by an ambulance called by RCMP who are accompanying the Freedomites on their trek to Agassiz, and his niece was called to the hospital to act as an interpreter.

At Agassiz, destination of the Freedomites' trek, work started in the Kootenays in southeast B.C. Sept. 1, was resumed Friday to strengthen fortifications around Mountain Prison, which holds 67 Freedomite terrorists.

HELP BUILD FENCE

Numbering 150, the first troops of the 1,000-man Royal Canadian Engineers, had instructions to help the prison staff build an extra barbed-wire fence around the federal camp.

The advance party of Freedomites were taken from Grand Forks by car to Brownlee Park, provincial campsite on the Similkameen River 10 miles east of here.

Friday night in the valley the temperature was 36 degrees Thursday night and was expected to drop to 30 Friday night. The elderly Freedomite campers had only tents for shelter.

The Freedomites now number about 1,400, plan to move to Brownlee park in a shuttle service from Grand Forks before their trek has been stalled for more than a week. The first part of the trek, 100 children, is expected to move Sunday.

Brownlee Park they will have another 100 or so miles to go to Agassiz.

MAY NOT MOVE

There were indications, however, that many of the original party may not proceed no further than Grand Forks.

RCMP said 200 Freedomites appeared to have taken up permanent residence in Grand Forks, about 200 miles east of here.

"The people who are going to Agassiz have nowhere else to go," said a senior officer. "The ones who are left here have found jobs or are living on farms of relatives. Most of the real Freedomites are remaining. It looks like Grand Forks is going to be the new Freedomite capital."

Most of the Sons started quitting from their old capital of Krestova Sept. 2, after reaching Grand Forks Aug. 31. They maintained there, much to the disappointment of Grand Forks residents, that it does have spiritual value."

How does it feel to strip in public?

"There's really nothing to it. Someone starts and soon everyone is doing it. It's not really so shocking."

She became a Doukhobor convert when she was 16 and now speaks and reads Russian.

PILOTS DIE

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Two jet fighters collided in flight Friday and both pilots were killed as the ships plunged into Mountain Creek Lake Friday. The accident occurred during routine maneuvers at the Dallas naval air station.

Aircraft Fins Made to Perfection, Put in Storage, Sold for Scrap

LUTON, England (AP) — The British Government Inspection said Friday night it is still turning out precision - made rocket fins for a missile that has been dead for a year.

The fins, a thousandth of an inch, minutely inspected on the production line, the fins go straight into storage—for sale as scrap.

This was disclosed when the 300 workers employed on the project went on strike Friday and held a mass meeting outside the factory gate. One of their leaders said holes are punched in the fins as soon as they are completed.

The fins were designed for the Blue Streak missile. They were This was abandoned by the government last month and the project cancelled.

But it is better for men's morale to be working than idle," said a spokesman for the corporation. "There has been no fresh expenditure of public money."

The workers in the Luton factory are due to be transferred soon to another plant 12 miles away. They pledged the half-hour strike Friday in protest against the transfer terms.

Macmillan Busy Preparing Final Plea To Parley

Marshalls Arguments For Summing up Mon.

LONDON (Reuters) — Prime Minister Macmillan today marshalled his arguments for a final summing up of the Commonwealth probe into Britain's negotiations for Common Market membership.

Macmillan's market experts were on hand for private week-end discussions before the Monday plenary session of the Commonwealth conference that was scheduled to wind up the debate on the terms Britain has won so far.

Conference sources said there was a possibility the Common Market discussions could extend to Tuesday, leaving only one day for the discussion of international affairs and other matters before the meeting is officially adjourned Wednesday.

Macmillan held informal talks with leading delegates for the second day running Friday while he was not in public session.

SUGGESTS ENLARGE

President Ayub Khan of Pakistan, who was due to fly to Paris for talks with French President de Gaulle today, suggested Friday that the Common Market enlarge its economic links with countries outside of the West.

Ayub broach his idea to de Gaulle, whom he is meeting for the first time privately. His official opinion rated him little chance of success in selling the suggestion to the French leader.

Neither de Gaulle nor West German Chancellor Adenauer is interested in Britain joining the Market and dragging the whole Commonwealth behind them, they feel would dilute the value of the two countries grouping.

But according to information now available, there is growing belief in Britain and elsewhere that Britain will have to make some gesture to meet French objections when negotiations concerning the market begin in the Common Market delegates in Brussels again next month.

PARIS (Reuters) — President Ayub Khan of Pakistan arrived here today by air from London for talks with President de Gaulle expected to centre on the European Common Market.

Ayub, met at the airport by French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville, suggested in London that the Common Market enlarge its scope for economic links with countries outside the West.

He is expected to put the idea to de Gaulle, whom he is meeting for the first time. British official opinion rated Ayub little chance of success.

The newspaper Paris - Jour commented that Ayub and Indian Prime Minister Nehru, who is due here Thursday, were both seeking in Paris something Britain could not give them—a link with the Europe of the Common Market.

Ask Shipowners Not to Carry Arms to Cuba

LONDON (AP)—The British government was reported today privately urging shipowners in Britain to refrain from transporting Communist arms to Cuba.

Informants said the appeal was issued by Transport Minister Marples through the General Council of British Shipping.

The government can prevent a direct ban on shipments from British ports until it has drafted regulating British ships operating from other countries.

The United States has charged British and other vessels have been carrying ship arms and supplies to Cuba.

LONDON (Reuters) — Soviet Merchant Marine Minister Vice-Adm. Nikolai Chabanov claimed the United States was exerting "crude pressure" through NATO to stop its allies trading with Cuba.

The minister's claim was contained in an article in Sovetskaya Rossia published by the Soviet news agency Tass.

He said, however, "Washington has been unable to impose its will" on British and other countries carrying goods to Cuba.

Bakayev said millions of tons of cargo have been shipped both ways between Russia and Cuba.

Bakayev said shipments to Cuba consisted of oil, farm machinery, industrial goods and various equipment. Cuban shipments to the Soviet Union included sugar, alcohol and honey.

Explains Why Members of Sect Strip

GRAND FORKS, B.C. (CP)—Marie Ashaleit, 19, Doukhobor schoolgirl who became a Sons of Freedom Doukhobor at the 19 years ago, explained Friday why members of her sect strip.

"There are two reasons," she said both of who has been convicted of stripping in a public place.

"We do it as a form of prayer, at times as a protest against the government as a greeting. Of course, the greeting in this form does not fit in with accepted ideas, but it does have spiritual value."

She says it and to what extent German ships are engaged in the transportation of strategical goods was of particular interest to the authorities, she continued.

It is ascertained that German ships are carrying war-important goods to Cuba controls will be clamped on a spokesman added.

BONN (AP)—The control of West German ships plying Cuban ports to prevent the arming, indeed, a foreign ministry spokesman said today.

Bakayev said it and to what extent German ships are engaged in the transportation of strategical goods was of particular interest to the authorities, she continued.

It is ascertained that German ships are carrying war-important goods to Cuba controls will be clamped on a spokesman added.

Fire Rating

Tweed ...est District

Temperatures dropped to 38 degrees in Bancroft last night as cool air swept in from the north.

Tweed and the Dacre area registered degrees of 46. This morning a warming sun brought the mercury up to 83 degrees.

Three fires were extinguished yesterday leaving two under patrol.

The humidity which reached 98 on Thursday evening plummeted down to a 53 last night.

Forest ranger officials said the autumn tree pictures of reds and golds will not be as colorful this year in the southern part of the district. Summer dry weather caused a "dormancy" in certain trees which will affect the fall color show.

In the northern areas, however, the trees will be in the full glory of their autumn raiment within a short time.

The fire hazard was quoted as normal but rising to medium.

WHAT IS AN INTERNIST?

Answer — A physician specializing in the diagnosis and treatment of disorders affecting the inside of the body. Sometimes the symptoms of an illness can be almost the same for different diseases. Then, your family Doctor may wish the opinion of an Internist to confirm or help him make the proper diagnosis.

This help often saves much sickness. It is instructive why it is seldom wise for people to attempt to diagnose or treat themselves. You are safer when you consult your physician.

Pioneer Quarter Settlement Will Be Commemorated

On September 16, at 2.30 p.m., an historical plaque commemorating one of the province's earliest Quaker settlements, will be unveiled in Adolphustown and Ameliasburgh Township. A suitable site was located on John Dorland's farm on Hay Bay for this edifice and a burying ground. Construction of the Meeting House was almost entirely new and was completed a short time afterwards.

By 1800 the local Quaker population had grown sufficiently to warrant the establishment of a "Monthly Meeting", and after due consideration was given to the request by a committee from New York, the Adolphustown Monthly Meeting was opened in January, 1801 at the Friends Meeting House. During the next few years this congregation prospered and new meetings were established in the adjacent areas. The Quaker population reached its peak before the War of 1812, but local tradition maintains that the old Meeting House was operated as a barracks by the military.

NEEDED REPAIRS

In 1822 Adolphustown became a part of the newly-established "Monthly Meeting" of Pelham, but by 1860's the old frame Meeting House on Hay Bay, which had been in continual use for almost seventy years, was in need of considerable repairs. A committee was appointed to look into the matter. This body recommended that a new building should replace the old, and this was done in 1865.

By the late 1860's many of the descendants of the old Quaker families had either moved away from Adolphustown or had begun joining the numerous local groups of Methodists. As a result, Adolphustown was taken over by the jurisdiction of a "Monthly Meeting Committee". The latter body met only irregularly, until in 1871, it was decided to "lay down" (i.e. dissolve) the meeting altogether.

In 1897 the Meeting House was sold to a local farmer, who at that time possessed the old Dorland property on which the building was located, and it gradually fell into disrepair. All that remains of one of Canada's earliest Quaker settlements is a small burying ground which marks the site where the Meeting House once stood.

Prices Steady At Big Market This Morning

Fair weather brought many purchasers and vendors to the local market this morning. Prices remained steady, varying little from those of last week.

Peaches, pears and plums are still plentiful for 10 cents a quart. Peaches may also be purchased in two-quart baskets at 60c each or one-quart containers at 35c.

Apples sold for the usual 35c a six-quart basket, but a few baskets were sold at 25c and 30c. Crab apples sold for 90 a basket.

Corn is still plentiful and is selling for 40c a dozen ears. Tomatoes sold for 30c a basket. Carrots sold for 15 and 25c a bunch. Onions sold at 10c a bunch. Cucumbers were 10 to 25c according to size, and cucumbers for pickling sold for 30c. Cucumbers are still selling for 25, 75c and 80c a basket; beans 12c a box; cabbage 10 to 15c each, according to size; squash, 10 to 25c; potatoes, in large quantity, are selling for 50c a six quart basket.

A large assortment of flowers added an array of color to the market, and sold for 25c and 50c a bunch.

New honey was plentiful this morning, selling for 45c a comb, 45c a two-pound jar, 80c a four-pound tin, 25c a one-pound jar and 15c for baby honeys.

Eggs were about the same this week, 40, 45 and 50 for small, medium and large.

JUSTICE ORDERS

ster that destroys the own, creators.

The exchange cashs as the one - man deputy wound up his fourth week of public sessions with an announcement by Mr. Justice Norris that the hearings will be held next week in Ottawa. Mr. Norris was on court facilities for the inquiry in Toronto last week.

The judge also made a standard order for production of all pertinent documents and records from the SIU, its rival CMU and other parties. He said commission investigators will study SIU records and then he will issue specific orders for production of specific documents.

The order was made after Maurice Wright, lawyer for the Canadian Seamen's Congress, the CMU and several other unions, demanded that the SIU produce the entire file of seamen on the "do not ship" or "on report of charges" blacklist.

SIU lawyers said some of the record prior to 1956 had been destroyed in the course of routine housecleaning.

Faced with a record of his "trial" in the SIU on charges of "slandering" Hal Banks, union president, Mr. Sheehan described some passages in it as "absolutely false." He said the transcript showed him answering questions by the SIU look the Fifth Amendment" and had refused to reply to queries.

Mr. Wray read from the minutes of Nov. 13, 1957, meeting of the SIU membership on the dispute with Canada Steamships. He quoted a passage in which Mr. Sheehan was reported to have called for "a big CNR job offer of a big CNR post."

Mr. Sheehan said he did not recall making such a statement to any meeting.

The offer was turned down and a strike called against the company which eventually went to arbitration.

RECALL 25

Mr. Nuss also produced a list of 107 names of seamen whom, he said, had been placed on the DNS blacklist by Mr. Sheehan. Mr. Sheehan looked over the list and recalled about 25 names of men he had actually recommended for the list.

Under cross - examination by Mr. Dubin, the union official said he remained in the SIU, despite misgivings about its methods, because he felt there was "always a chance" of changing it for the better.

However, he admitted that he never went to the police or to other union leaders when he heard about skuldoggery or violence in the SIU.

He also agreed that he signed a contract with Upper Lakes shipping which was not the Canadian Maritime Union before he had any members. This, he said, was "simply a matter of self" — the same tactics used by the CIO when it broke the CSU in 1948-49.

Plevna Mother Pleads for Two Charged in Death

KINGSTON (CP) — The sentencing of two Plevna men arrested 6 months involved in the Sept. 3 drowning of Robert Prouse, 17, of Parham, Ont., was heightened by a plea from the victim's mother.

Ralph McInnes, 26, and Andrew John Laverne Gunsinger, 18, both of Parham, are charged with dangerous driving of a boat and with operating a boat without proper lights. Prouse was drowned when his skiff was upset by a wake from the boat after it collided with Gunsinger's vessel on Sand Lake.

Mrs. Martha Jane Prouse, the victim's mother, told court Friday she didn't blame the youths for what happened and she felt they had had enough punishment.

After Mrs. Prouse's testimony, Magistrate James B. Gervais said: "If the boy don't go to prison, it will be because of your testimony."

The youths were sentenced to three months probation on the driving charge and fined $10 on the second.

Bids for Major Oil Companies Stir Industry

By JOHN MATTERS

CALGARY (CP)—Two American companies made bids Friday for major chunks of Western Canada's petroleum industry.

British American Oil Co. Ltd., made an offer for Royalite Oil Co. Ltd., a fully-integrated Canadian independent.

It appears BA will have little trouble culminating the deal, unlike the bid by Superior Oil Co. to acquire control of Calgary and Edmonton Corp.

Calgary and Edmonton, a large Canadian land - holding and petroleum company, predicted a battle will ensue over its control. It asked shareholders to resist attempts of the American - owned company to take it over.

BA, 60-per-cent controlled by Gulf Oil Corp. of Pittsburgh, made a two-for-one offer to the shareholders of Royalite, a firm which produces and markets from about 375 outlets in the West.

SOME APPROVE

The announcement said Royalite's principal shareholders, controlling about 40 per cent of the company's stock, have accepted the share exchange offer.

As an $8,000,000 deal five months ago, BA bought the marketing and refining facilities of Anglo - American Exploration, a Calgary - based company which had 650 retail service stations in the West.

Acquisition of Royalite would give BA, Canada's second-largest integrated oil company, a sharp boost toward reaching the size of Imperial Oil Ltd., largest in the business in the country.

"It would leave only two Canadian-owned integrated companies — Canadian Oil Companies Ltd., which recently rejected a $114,000,000 takeover bid from Shell Oil, and Canadian Husky Oil Ltd. There have been reports that two other companies are preparing offers for Canadian Oil.

OFFERS EXCHANGE

BA offered all common shareholders of Royalite, on a share for share basis in the United States an exchange of any or all their shares for BA stock on one common share of BA for each two common shares of Royalite.

At the close of trading on the Toronto Stock Exchange Friday Royalite shares sold at $14.50 and BA's at $20.25.

Next to the Canadian Pacific Railway and Hudson's Bay Co., Calgary and Edmonton Corp. is one of the oldest land-holding companies in Western Canada with assets include such top-flight producing areas as the Turner Valley and Pincher Creek natural gas fields and numerous oil fields.

The Bay Bridge has been jacked up again, to its proper level, to compensate for the settling of the pier supporting one end. Al Martinell, of Port Hope, foreman of the crew now rebuilding the approaches to the bridge, explains a modification to Alfred Poste, of Mountain View, a patrol foreman with the Department of Highways. Mr. Poste was foreman of the crew that jacked up the bridge, and restored the approaches, 20 years ago, when it first sank.

ANAF Padre Honored Before Leaving City

The regular monthly meeting of the A.N.A.F. Unit 201 was held in the club rooms Thursday evening with President Cec. Brown in the chair. The meeting started with two minutes of silence in memory of departed comrades.

Comrade Dick Burns was forced to resign from the executive owing to his being transferred out of town by his company. Comrade Art Hobbs was sworn in to replace him until the end of the year.

The president welcomed back Comrade Padre Imhoff (R.C.) after the summer recess and then called upon Comrade Padre Archbishop J. B. Creggan to be escorted to the president's chair by Comrades Mills and Law. He spoke very warmly of the services and benefits the Padre had been to the club during the past years he had been Padre to the unit and greatly regretted to see him go. The president then presented him with a very handsome travelling bag with the best wishes for his future success and happiness in his new diocese. The Padre thanked the president and the club for the token of esteem and would always remember his very pleasant association with the club and deeply regretted having to leave, but had many pleasant memories to take with him. He was given a standing ovation at the end of his remarks.

The president then called upon Comrade Jack Lundberg to stand and extended heartiest congratulations and best wishes to him on attaining the high honor of Dominion President. A unique event occurred as Mrs. E. Lundberg, the Dominion President's mother was re-signing as Dominion President of the A.N.A.F. Ladies' Auxiliary at this same convention. The Belleville Unit is very proud of the honors that this illustrious mother and son have brought to the Quinte district. The club members gave a rousing welcome to the new Dominion President and wish him a prosperous term. Another guest welcomed by the president was Cecil Westerby of Amherst N.S., father-in-law of Comrade Les Parks who is visiting in the Quinte district.

The regular business of the club was then carried on and concluded.

The president then gave an interesting talk on the highlights of the Dominion Convention held at Winnipeg last month. He said they were well-comed with true Western hospitality and enjoyed the trip very much. He wished to thank Comrades Foxon, Smith, Percy and Turner who travelled to Winnipeg at their own expense. They drove up by car and took the unit colors with them. They were the only unit that had a complete set of colors with a color party and also were the only unit on parade to carry the Navy colors.

A pleasant surprise to the Belleville unit occured during the convention banquet when Mrs. Charlotte Clarke was honored by the presentation of a silver spoon with the Winnipeg coat of arms engraved on it by the Mayor of Winnipeg. Mrs. Charlotte Clark, who will be the same age as Sir Winston Churchill in November thanked the Mayor very graciously and said she thought she would take in the dance after the banquet and try out the twist. She was probably the oldest person at the convention. A vote of thanks was tendered the president for his very interesting remarks.

The president thanked the members for their very good attendance and expressed the wish that there would be as good a turnout for the Decoration Day Parade, Sunday, Sept. 16th, and extended a hearty welcome to all veterans to join in honoring the Comrades who have joined the White Battalion.

The meeting was concluded by the singing of God Save the Queen accompanied by Comrade Jack Winstanley on the piano.

Refreshments were served and a very pleasant meeting was concluded.

FIRE KILLS FIVE

FORT TOTTEN, N.D. (AP)—Five persons died and four escaped when fire destroyed a one - storey frame house on the Fort Totten Indian reservation six miles northwest of here early Friday. Victims were Louise Marie Cheske, 7, Russell Dean Chaske, 3½, Patricia Chaske, 1½, Gordon Poorbear, about 40, and Cecilia Mathoin, 28. Rita Chaske, mother of the three dead youngsters, escaped unhurt with two other children and Mrs. Emma Poorbear.

Apple Harvest Underway, This Year's Crop Good One

It's apple picking time, for the Macintosh growers in Prince Edward County, and the crop this year is unusually good. Gordon Rollin, owner of one large orchard near Rednersville estimates he is getting 15 to 20 bushels each off his larger trees, and most of the apples are of excellent quality. In some parts of the orchard, though, there is an unusually high percentage of undersized apples, good only for juice.

Pickers in this area are being paid by the hour, rather than by the basket, for the protection of the fruit. According to Mr. Roblin, MacIntoshes bruise easily, and pickers paid by the hour can handle them, as they should be, "like eggs". Mr. Roblin's crop is going into the controlled atmosphere storage, as Harold Rohlers, and it is essential the apples be in perfect condition.

Most of the Roblin trees are about thirty years old, middle aged for an apple tree. MacIntoshes start paying their way when they are about ten years old, and produce for forty or fifty years, if they are well cared for. The care includes sprays, (Mr. Roblin has sprayed 11 times this year), pruning, and mulching layers about the base of the tree.

The season now under way will last about the next six weeks, as the different varieties of apples ripen in turn.

Mr. Coyne, who resigned as governor in a dispute last year with the then federal finance minister Donald Fleming, will continue to live in Toronto, where he makes his home.

He has joined the firm of Thompson, Dilts, Jones, Hall, Dewar and Ritchie.

C. Gordon Dilts, a senior partner in the firm, said Friday: "I will be associated with our firm in connection with the practice of law in Manitoba. He will continue to reside in Toronto but any work he does with the firm in connection with legal cases would be done here."

Mr. Dilts said Mr. Coyne already is a member of the Manitoba bar and is qualified to practice law in the province.

Decide Today On Use of Sabin Vaccine in U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A U.S. government advisory committee is expected to recommend today whether Sabin oral polio vaccine should still be used in mass immunization programs.

The advisory group was scheduled to meet here this morning. The public health service said Surgeon - General Luther L. Terry would issue a statement this afternoon, after the closed meeting.

The meeting, originally scheduled for Sept. 20, was moved up hurriedly after Canadian officials reported four cases of paralytic polio among the 4,000,000 persons who received the Sabin live virus vaccine. The Canadian federal health department recommended against further use of the vaccine pending a study.

Meanwhile some U.S. communities were going ahead with their immunization programs. Others were calling a temporary halt.

The discoverer of the vaccine, Dr. Albert B. Sabin, said the Canadian government was ill-advised to discontinue the vaccine, adding:

"What should be done is to intensify its use."

The Cincinnati University researcher made the comments aboard the liner Queen Mary in a radio telephone interview with The Associated Press.

"What may have happened in Canada is no different from what has happened in the United States and other countries . . . during the outbreaks of the disease," said Sabin. "What happens is that people already infected are given the vaccine and this then affords no protection."

"The oral polio vaccine has been given safely to over 200,000,000 people without a single case of polio being attributable to the vaccine," he said in another radio-telephone talk with the San Francisco polio program committee. "But no vaccine can prevent polio in those already infected with the disease." He added:

HAVE BEEN FALSE

"Such statements we are now hearing from Canada have previously checked out false."

He said oral immunization "leaves us wide open to outbreaks of polio which could reach epidemic proportions."

Man Arrested As Assassin Hangs Himself

PARIS (Reuters) — Police announced today the arrest of the month's assassination attempt against President de Gaulle. He hanged himself in his cell.

Police gave the name of the man as Henri Niaux, 46, of Bordeaux, and said he had resigned from the army 18 months ago.

He was arrested at Agen, in southwest France, Friday and transferred to Paris.

He was briefly interrogated at police headquarters and then taken to a cell where he hanged himself with a rope he had made from his shirt and fixed to a window bar, police said.

Niaux had been an army signals major and served in Indochina and Algeria. He resigned as director of the colonial signals school 18 months ago and became an insurance agent, police said.

Vankleek Hill Will Be Scene Of Car Rally

Possibly the last races to be held on the St. Eugene sports car racing circuit near Vankleek Hill, Ontario, are being held tomorrow. Top drivers from both Ontario and Quebec will be present with former Canadian champions Grant Clark and Ludwig Heimrath of Toronto making their ability and cars (Austin Healey 3000 and Porsche RS60) against the Montreal contingent led by Ross de St. Croix with his Lola and Gary Ross with his Porsche Carrera.

Several competitors from the St. Lawrence Automobile Club will be taking part in the day's racing. From Belleville will be Ray Rockall with his production class TR-3. From Kingston there will be Tony Polivka' with a highly non-production Volkswagen powered by a Buick engine and Vic Yachuk with his Lotus Super Seven.

Trenton's Porsche Carrera pusher Wayne Kelly is being forced to sit out this race due to the fact that a repaired head for his engine has not yet arrived from Germany.

Smart "Furriners"

Robert H. Van Schaick, a 31-year-old Chicago ex-florist, advertised recently in two Chicago newspapers for people to help him establish a small portion of Canada's Northwest Territories. He found more than 500 people willing to join a trek into the north, similar in prospect to the movement of the U.E.L.'s into Ontario, after the American Revolution.

The applicants, of whom Mr. Van Schaick plans to choose about 50, include single and married people of all ages, with backgrounds varying from farming to music. Many are highly educated, all appear to be interested in taming Canada's north.

The Canadian government has consented to the expedition, and has offered assistance in exploration and the founding of the settlement.

There is no need to wonder what the response would have been had the advertisement been run in Canada. The Canadian Government has been trying for years to get people interested in the north, and in the opportunities for wealth and freedom offered by free land and low taxes. Canadians have indicated their preference for crowded conditions, and, in some cases, living on relief, as close as possible to the American border.

If Mr. Van Schoick's expedition is composed of competent people, well led, they are almost certain to become the owners of valuable properties in Canada's north. And when all the free land has been taken up, and the country claimed, we may expect to see Canadians tentatively going up for a look-see. Some of these Canadians, almost certainly, will decide the settlement has possibilities, and will move into the area.

And from that moment on, we may expect to hear tales through that part of the country, of the smart "furriners" who are taking the land that rightfully belongs to Canadians.

Silencing a Nation

An Associated Press report says the South African government may use "house arrest" to silence critics of the government. Provisions of the government's new anti-sabotage law permit Justice Minister Balthazar Vorster to confine people to their homes for a specified number of hours and to say who can, and who cannot, visit them.

The laws are to combat "liberalism," which, according to the South African leaders, "is the small brother of communism." More than 102 people in South Africa, more than half of them white, have been ordered to make no public speeches. The London Manchester Daily Times suggested that, "in order to silence communists and agitators still more effectively, it may be necessary for Vorster to silence the entire nation." It is to be hoped, for the sake of the Johannesburg Sunday Times, that the minister is not susceptible to sarcasm.

South Africa is a problem in the world, because of its recent Commonwealth affiliation Dictatorial acts which would have been roundly condemned in any other country, have been soft-pedalled because of the Commonwealth. Now, with the Commonwealth connection severed, the country is still relatively unrifled, as it slips quickly into a vicious dictatorship. Perhaps the free world would do well to worry less about the lost nations, and spend some time worrying about the fate of those that still might be saved from their governments.

Not Good Enough

Sir Hudson Fysh, retiring president of the International Air Transport Association, has called on the world's commercial airlines to find ways to reduce crashes. Despite a number of accidents in which the toll of lives has been heavy, the safety factor per passenger carried is as good as ever. But Sir Hudson says this is not good enough.

Of course he is right. Unless the accident rate is reduced, more and more people will lose their lives in plane crashes every year, as the number of passengers carried, and the number of air miles travelled, increases all the time.

Something of the same situation exists with respect to the highway accident rates. In many instances, these rates have declined, in terms of the number of passenger miles. But with better roads facilitating travel, there is an increasing tendency for the average motorist to drive farther every year. Unless the accident rate in relation to passenger miles is reduced, this means that the average motorist faces an increased hazard.

Both the plane passenger and the motorist are interested primarily in one thing—their chances of being injured. And these chances go steadily up, with the increased usage of plans and car, unless the rates go down.

Cutting Government Spending Order of the Day

By RICHARD JACKSON

From The Ontario Intelligencer's Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — The past few years have seen a lot of talk about a balanced federal budget — 1923 is going to see one.

This probably is not the genuine choice of the government, but it should be a good thing for the whole country.

When money was borrowed earlier this year from the International Monetary Bureau and other sources, a promise was given that the budget would be balanced this year.

Since it has to be done, another "make" budget will undoubtedly appear soon after Parliament opens.

And, since the government has no method for new taxes, increases, might even be looking for tax cuts, it means a broadside slicing of government spending in all departments.

That is exactly what is going on.

When Prime Minister John Diefenbaker said earlier this year that he was cutting $200,000,000 from government spending up to last March 31, he was understating the case.

In actual fact, the figure will be way of saving $1,000,000,000 if he is to balance the budget without raising taxes.

TOP DOLLARS

This sounds like, and is, a lot of money. But it does not look so big when compared with total government spending.

And it begins to look even smaller when the rising index of the general economy is considered.

During the middle part of this year business has been improving, sales are up, employment is up, salaries and wages are up, exports are up, in other words, things are better all around — and when this happens, the government benefits in terms of dollars and cents.

Thus, what starts out as a slicing up $1,000,000,000 might well end up as a balance of something like $1,000,000,000 cut and a $300,000,000 increase in government revenue.

With a billion dollars cut already planned, this just leaves a half-billion dollars to be removed from government spending before the end of the fiscal year next March 31.

That looks a lot easier when compared with the estimated spending for 1923-24 of $6,776,-211,594.

There have been private assurances that taxes will not be raised and the word has gone out to the effect that government departments that they are the ones who will save the money.

SLICING AWAY

They do not like it, but they are doing it.

Cabinet ministers are meeting regularly these days with the top men in their respective departments, giving a fine-tooth-combing to all departmental spending, and are scrapping and gilding a red pencil across items after items.

That money is going to be saved.

Many of the recommendations of the Glassco Royal Commission are being carried out without hesitation to save money.

Paperwork is to be cut down, files sliced, red tape cut, staffs reduced, and economies effected.

This will not take care of all recommendations of the commission, but it is enough to show that the Conservative government is in earnest.

One minister avows that the government could go to the country on the basis of full implementation of the Glassco Report and come back to Ottawa with a majority.

Those who like to see cuts in government spending will agree with him.

An interesting sidelight to the prime minister's absence from Ottawa (he is in London for a conference to confer with prime ministers in trying to get a fair shake from British as the motor industry gets up with the European Common Market.)

Once Mr. Diefenbaker had made his departure, Cabinet meetings slowed down.

Four were held in the last week he was here, but those left behind (External Affairs Minister Howard Green went with him) waited five days before holding another.

They could hardly avoid the regular Wednesday meeting, so they held it. —

Parliamentary Press Gallery reporters covering the event discovered that the cabinet ministers were even more close-mouthed than usual and even more so than the prime minister.

Questions were hurled at seven of them and, one by one, they all said, "No comment."

Then one of them cracked. They said that the subjects they were talking about were the business of Mr. Diefenbaker and they did not feel they should say anything.

The same reason might well be given by the others.

At any rate, it seems clear that those who have said "Diefie the Chief" is losing his grip are a long way off.

When this one's away, the mice definitely are not playing.

Made Profit Out of Crime

Owen Sound Sun-Times

A Cleveland divorcee made a clear $60 profit by selling her baby girl to a Timmins couple despite the fact she had to pay a $300 fine imposed on her by a Canadian court.

Mrs. Rita Tuberon sold her daughter for $500 because she needed the money. Magistrate W. S. Gardner was told in Timmins.

There are many unusual circumstances surrounding this particular case, we realize, but we use it as a prime example of the inconsistencies that appear in our courts. Here we have a woman selling a baby for $500 and being fined only $300 or $200 less than she originally obtained illegally. We can remember not long ago reading of a bookie reportedly making $500 daily from his illegal operation and being fined only a mere halfday's pay of $250.

A fine is surely the alternative of a jail sentence and a jail sentence is considered by many as a deterrent from crime, but, if the fine is a nominal one it offers opportunity for only a licence fee for continued operation.

What is the fine is to continue as an alternative to jail, we feel it should be severe enough to act as a deterrent and not be absorbed by the convicted person as being an unfortunate business expense to be chalked up to profit and loss.

Despite the dire circumstances outlined by the divorcee in a Timmins court, we feel the magistrate should have imposed a fine at least equal to the profit made from the illegal gain. Moreover we would like to see magistrates raise the fines to convicted bookmakers and bootleggers based on an estimate of their profits over an entire month. This would, without a doubt, raise the cost of their operating licence to a point where they would find business not profitable.

Try to Save Arabian Oryx

Ottawa Journal

The Arabian oryx is said to be the animal that is the original of ancient legend misiook for the fabulous unicorn. It is a pale, almost white, antelope. It has two horns, straight sabre-like and set close together and forward on its head so that in profile the oryx could appear to have a single horn in the forehead.

The oryx is close to extinction. Its last stronghold, the Rub 'al Khali, or Empty Quarter, in the northeast corner of the Aden Protectorate, has been a happy hunting and "sporting" oilmen with fleets of cars and automatic rifles. But this year the last few oryx was stalked by a different exploration, members of the Peura Preservation Society. In a country where, as a member of the party reported to the Times, of London, "nothing but sand-dunes as far as the eye could see" and the nearest waterhole might be 85 miles away, they spent three weeks searching before they found the first oryx tracks.

There were many more days of searching before the guides found a flock of about 50 more. They could move only in the morning and evening and cruise in the heat of the day would have killed their quarry. Using a mono hold on a long pole by a passenger in a fast car, they caught two bulls and a cow. One of the two bulls died of an old bullet wound suffered at the hands of less benevolent hunters. But the cow and the surviving bull were flown to a game preserve in Kenya and were, at last report, doing well.

Said the Times, correspondent:

"We have done a little toward squaring the debt which can never be fully discharged mentioned by Cicelus in 400 B.C., and which, he seems to said to be the only animal which ventures to attack the elephant."

Belleville's figurative Mother Hubbard may go to the cupboard this evening and get herself a beef-bone, but at present all indications point to the family spread being bare of beef from the latter part of next week for an indefinite time. Butchers with privately-owned beef "on-the-hoof" will scarcely have a supply, but those dependent upon packers for their beef are purely and simply "out of luck." There is a plentitude of pork, lamb and chicken, but it is quite within reason to predict that within the next few days beef lovers will be forced to substitute for their favorite meat.

Not more than five birds per day or 25 in the season, will be the quota of Partridge for each sportsman, it will be announced by Game inspector, Herb MacCabe. The two periods for hunting partridge will be October 3rd to the 17th and from December 1st to 15th.

Twelve boys of the Belleville Wolf Cub brigade who since August 1st have been camping at Consecon Lake, Prince Edward County, are back in the city after the vacation. Apprentices Put On Farms

BBC London Letter

Old prejudices die hard, and the idea that there is a agricultural industry all over the world is one of them. The manual work is necessarily inferior, less "respectable", than the sort of office job. In a recent edition of "The Farming World" program broadcast from the British Council of Overseas Service, Eric Humphries discusses the danger, particularly for the developing countries of Asia and Africa, that they will lose the present standard of education brought with it unless the agricultural work might be called manual labour, and thus limited the kind of education available for intelligent workers in agriculture. He were needed, he said, not only to replace the experienced older generation, but who could take subsequently the new techniques and increasing degrees of mechanization demanded of modern farming.

It was to help meet this demand that Britain started a land and sea apprenticeship scheme in 1925, and Humphrey went on to outline it. The whole operation is run by the Agricultural Apprenticeship Council, on which representatives of both employers and workers sit. It works through district committees which pick suitable youngsters between ages of 16 and 18, and find for the right sort of farm to place them on. The farmer must be one who is approved by the district committee, he, his parent or guardian, and the boy must sign a deed or sign an apprenticeship agreement that is binding for three years. This provides for general training in farm work, but the apprentice is allowed absence from a wide list, the main category he wants to be trained in, as well as working on the farm, the apprentice has to attend at least sixty instructional classes during the three years, and while training he is paid at a rate which rises from 17s by the British Ministry of Agriculture, and a bonus of £5 is awarded if he takes a proficiency test, and if he passes it, he becomes entitled to a 10 per cent increase on the standard minimum wage rate for his age.

Build Giant Sun Furnace

Milwaukee Journal

Man has long dreamed of harnessing the tremendous energy of the sun. Solar energy offers great potential for supplying the world's increasing and growing demands for power. Already sunpower is being used to heat and cool homes and for radios, cookers and pumps.

One of the most dramatic developments in this fascinating solar technology is now taking shape high in the French Pyrenees. Here air is cleaned and thin and the sunshine pocketed. Workmen are completing the world's largest solar furnace, a project of the French government.

Anyone who has focused sunlight through a magnifying glass can grasp the principle of the solar furnace. The Christian Science Monitor says that in the French project, 63 parabolic mirrors, each about 20 feet long and 24 feet wide, are being arranged so that they face the rising centre of the sun whatever its daytime position. These mirrors trap and reflect them into a giant mirror about the height of a 10-story building. This mirror concentrates the heat, reflecting it to a furnace where the temperature reaches 6,332 degrees Fahrenheit.

Scientific heat is used to advance research and test materials for rocket, missile and high speed aircraft. It also can simulate the heat effects of nuclear weapons.

Major problems involved in using solar heat for power, aside from cost, are the oscillations between night and day, and the lack of suitable facilities for storing massive amounts of energy.

Many scientists believe that if these difficulties can be overcome, the development of solar energy will prove to be as significant as that of atomic energy.

Nasopharyngitis Means Inflammation of the Nose

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: In 1936 I developed a duodenal ulcer and my doctor put me on a diet to cure it. The treatment was successful, but I have gained about 40 pounds and a very fine I diet. the ulcer flares up. Is there any kind of diet I can follow without bothering the ulcer? — Mrs. P. G.

The typical ulcer diet is high in fats — milk, cream, cream soups.

However, the diet needn't be so rigid, nor so heavily laden with fat. Skimmed milk instead of whole milk or milk-and-cream can be used for interdigestive feedings. For desserts use gelatin, starches or ices instead of puddings.

And above all remember that diet isn't the whole story. Keep caffein drinks, smoking and alcohol at a minimum because they make ulcers flare up. Frequent small feedings are important. Avoid gastric irritants.

Judicious medication, emotional control, and avoiding tension and fatigue are other important aspects. Get all of these. I'm now working for you to keep the ulcer under control, and you can have moderate leeway to reduce the amount of fat in the diet.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

Goldenrod has been pretty well absolved of all guilt in relation to hay fever. Its pollen is heavy and sticky, and even in the dryest weather it is not given to flying in the breeze. Fewer and fewer allergies are said to be traceable to it. And for many years, goldenrod was generally accused of being the cause of nearly all hay fever; and despite the beauty of the plant, it was regarded with a hostile eye by practically everybody.

It is classed as a weed by the Canadian Department of Agriculture and is included in the book of weeds published by the Queen's Printer. Unlike almost all our other weeds in Canada, goldenrod is not an importation from the old plant, and there are 120 varieties of it in North and South America, as compared with only one hardly recognisable variety said to be traceable to Asia.

Yet you find our beautiful Canadian goldenrod in Europe now, especially in England, where it has been imported, and adopted as a favored perennial in the finest formal gardens, both public and private. As a background for other perennials of every hue, a golden mass of bloom of goldenrod makes a sensational impression.

Raising of Mallard Ducks By Fish and Game Club Proves Successful Project

By GEO. H. CARVER
Sports Editor

They swam lazily in the pond, their crops stuffed with feed, the fall plumage of brown body, white neck-rings and green heads beginning to show.

George Whitman and I stood on the shoreline of the well-protected water scarcely two miles from the city, take any direction you will.

The pond with its tall-rush and tree-bordered edges was a scant one hundred yards from a well-travelled road.

Yet on its placid shallow water wild waterfowl swam, rested, played and lived in a habitat as natural as those in the lands, well-known marshes and wetlands.

As we watched, fat mallard drakes, some of them nearly four pounds, and the less colorful hens, stretched their wings, quacked or tilted tail-upward in a neck-stretch for food.

The mallards were clannish. They floated near the shoreline feeding grounds in flocks of from ten to 25.

We stood in full view some 100 feet away. They did not seem to resent our presence. It did a small flock of blacks which took wing as we approached.

A half-dozen teal, hatched and raised in their own pond "apartment" a scant quarter-mile away, splash-landed for an afternoon call.

A few jack and wilson snipe picked their way along a stony reef that jutted out from the opposite shoreline. A lesser bittern from its quiet seclusion in a small shaded inlet moved closer inshore.

Overhead a cloud of some 500 angry blackbirds almost enveloped a big red-tailed marsh hawk enroute on annual migration.

Another large "mouse-hunting" hawk flew low over the pond. The mallards never stopped feeding. Two fine wood-ducks zoomed by overhead disappearing into the hazy distance.

A lone seagull floated lazily a scant fifty feet above the pond surface, arcing, drifting and turning slowly as if on a reconaissance flight.

This, to these layman ear-doorman eyes, was something a little short of incredible. It was one of those things one has to see to believe.

WILDLIFE IN ACTION

Here with the city's bustle, roar and activity a scant five minutes away was Nature's waterfall wildlife in action, "live" and not a motion picture film.

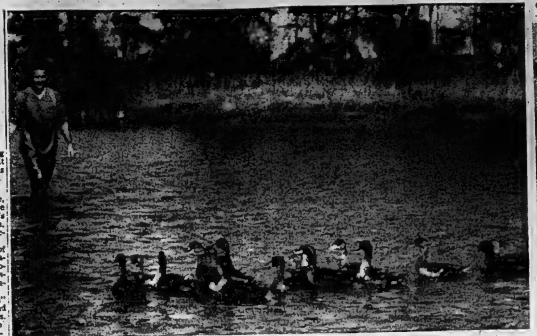
Actually the pond is one of five that constitute "Operation Greenhead," a new project of the Belleville and District Fish and Game Association.

And "Operation Greenhead" is the hatching, raising and nesting of wild mallard ducks.

With the almost complete success of the project's inaugural year, the Belleville Fish and Game Association becomes the first organization of its kind to raise mallards in Canada this side of Winnipeg.

A few days ago the Delta Waterfowl Research Station of Delta, Manitoba announced it had successfully raised mallards, the first attempt in Canada.

The success of Operation Greenhead's first year was little short of tremendous. Some 285 baby ducklings were secured and placed under the care of five "mother" mallards.



The mortality rate was astonishingly low, less than one per cent. Two of the youngsters were lost. One died of natural causes a marauding raccoon got the other, and paid for it with its life.

Next year the association hopes to raise 1,000 mallards on the large property it has leased for the purpose.

Also, stumps will be placed in the ponds deliberately so the ducks can nest with a minimum of danger from predators.

EASY TO RAISE

"Mallards, a duck by-and-large a prairie bird where blacks are unknown, are easy to raise," George Whitman said. "They easily adapt themselves to changes of environment. They like a change of diet which ours get from neighboring grainfields".

"COME AND GET IT"—Fish and Game Director George Woodhouse approaches a flock of fat mallards at "Operation Greenhead." The ducks appear to know George. They should. He's been feeding them since they were hatched.

"LOOKS O.K. TO ME"—Sports Editor George H. Carver examines the first mallard duck to be banded. The duck apparently had no objections. Its wings were tied. Al Walker of Peterborough, smiles approval.

FIRST DUCK BANDED—Wildlife Chief William Bittle of the Lands and Forests Department, bands the first duck of the 287 mallards raised by the Fish and Game Club during their new project "Operation Greenhead." Lee Grills, MP, is a willing assistant.

Game President Jack Layton, secretary Jack Clarke, director Bud Walters and Mr. Woodhouse.

The greater majority of the ducks will be banded later on. The bands call for the hunter to relay the band number to the Department of Wildlife, Washington, D.C. Lands and Forests at Tweed will be notified in due course.

Mr. Woodhouse, who has been in charge of the duck menu and supplying of feed all summer said that in the not too distant future, wild geese, pheasants, wild turkeys and doves may form part of the project. He paid fine tribute to Mike Follwell, a very capable assistant, who is the junior guardian of the big duck family.

"Operation Greenhead", he said, was started because of the rapidly increasing shortage of natural nesting places in this part of the country. They must have a place to survive and we cannot go on draining marshes and wetlands."

"Our primary aim is to get breeding stock back to the original nesting places. This is natural and we chose places where there were no ducks to start the operation. We have had complete co-operation from neighboring farmers who are interested in seeing more ducks in the country".

"Our ponds are baited under a federal government permit and operated under the close supervision of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police", Mr. Whitman said.

Three of the ponds will be closed and two thrown open to the hunting public. "We included open shooting in order to get a comparison of duck return to open and closed areas".

And in case potential poachers get ideas, the closed areas are posted and will be under constant supervision of the mounted police.

The ducklings were set out when they were puffs of fluff, no larger than a baseball. Well-fed in a near-perfect natural environment they have grown to a fat maturity.

By duck-hunting opening date they should be in the full bloom of their fall plumage with brown bodies, white-ringed necks and brilliant green heads.

Mr. Whitman, vice-president of the Fish and Game Association, has been one of the prime movers and workers in the operation of the project.

He studied wild waterfowl life with Mr. Al Hochbaum, of the Delta, Manitoba, Waterfowl Research Station. He is well equipped for "Operation Greenhead."

Director George Woodhouse has been an indefatigable assistant od worker. "Without him," said Whitman, "the operation would not have been the success it is."

"Nor would it have been so successful without the co-operation and generosity of Charlie Bishop and the boys. They have donated oats, buckwheat and small grains to maintain the feeding of the pond mallards all season."

Messrs. Whitman, Woodhouse et al are naturally proud of "Operation Greenhead." I would like every Fish and Game Club in Ontario to see what we have done and then go home and say "Let us do it," said Whitman.

FIRST BIRD BANDED

The first mallard was banded yesterday morning by Mr. W. Bittle, Chief of Wildlife, Tweed District Lands and Forests Department. The duck was then released by Mr. Whitman.

At the banding ceremony were Lee Grills, M.P., Fish and BACK TO NATURE—The first banded duck is freed by Fish and Game Club vice-president George Whitman. Raised by the club the mallards weighed up to four pounds.

LAKE SUPERIOR'S UPPER SHORE

"The total length of navigable waterway . . . from the Straits of Belle Isle to Fort William and Port Arthur, is 2,384 miles—almost as great a distance as rail from Halifax to Vancouver."—Ontario Public School Geography.

Immediately after our genial friday of Tuesday, we continue our journey on Route 17 which now leaves Lake Superior and pierces again the Canadian wilderness, a virgin terrain with numbers of lakes and rivers, numerous little lakes. "Never," we are told, "can be in sight of water." Well, we exclaim, what a thing perfume; all begin to look alike.

We pass White River and now begin through a vast of pines and cedar. Our reception into the Thunder Lake District is greeted by a sign, "Welcome to Thunder Lake," and by rumbling clops on the shoulder of the highway, means our wheelchair took the plastic dotted swiss. Proof that we are indeed far from civilization; no stations on the car radio!

At Marathon, population 2,200, we have our first fabulous glimpse again of Lake Superior. From here to Nipigon are magnificent views of the lake's upper shore. Now we are high, riding with the tree tops, like a sea of green. Now we speed past Cigar Lake (looks like one) and Big Pic River, Little Pic, Steele River, Prairie River, Dead Horse Creek, Rock Fox Lake, Sawmill Creek, Jackfish Lake, the Aguasabon River and find ourselves in Schreiber, cradled in a nest of mountains, and here we're awarded a shelter in a new motel with yellow bathroom fixtures, green walled bedroom with walls to wall brown rug carpeting, yellow curtains and white bak furniture. All for nine dollars.

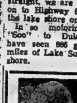
From our window we view homes that front the highway with mountains rising straight up from their backyards. Evening now at sundown small children run along the uppermost rim.

In the winter it is no uncommon sight to see bears on the main street, looking for food," the garageman tells us. But the air! This is the therapeutic air. No insomnia here.

Even so, we're up early, to find the mountains fog-draped. Once more we are driving on this new smooth ribbon-the color of gunmetal, bordered now with green, now rocky crowns that put up abruptly here and there. We note the wizardry of modern road engineering, with "fill" replacing of sub-planting bridges. The 100-mile Rogers Pass section in British Columbia is claimed an engineering feat "of the first magnitude" when the costs up to two million dollars a mile.

At Rossport, 45 miles east of Nipigon, with good trout fishing in its natural harbor, we pass a boat on its way to Vancouver. Here in Nipigon, we stop for breakfast, where a whole family is running the restaurant, from the youngest daughter who waits on tables along with her father and brother to the mother who effortlessly slips the most fluffy pancakes imaginable. We take time for another cup of fragrant coffee, aware that this is the northernmost point of the upper shore. To the north is Lake Nipigon, the largest lake in Ontario and actually the sixth Great Lake. Fishermen here catch black bass, specckled, brown and silver trout, yellow pickerel, sturgeon and pike. Some report that ten to twelve pound pickerel are common in Lake Nipigon. Lake Superior trout are giants too.

How failing to think these very waters of Lake Superior will pass the shores of Prince Edward county if not our own Quinte bay on its search by the sea. Somehow it is like seeing an old friend in a foreign place. What a storied past, this waterway has, followed by the early explorers and fur-traders, going into the heart of an unknown wild. It is now possible to take a bus trip that follows the very route of early fur traders and voyagers along Lake Superior, which leaves from Duluth, Minn.



Once more we take to the highway as Big Squaw Creek, Wolf River, Oukmeet Canyon, Perai Lake, Silver Lake whirl by. Because of a sign "Amethysts" we turn in at Amethyst Harbor. No amethysts. But displayed under cover, summer cottages that look delightful. Also delightful little harbor in the world full of boats. "Aren't you disappointed?" one man says as we had brought his boat all the way from Winnipeg. "They were going to have it sailing on."

Before we join Route 17, pass Heronbay beach where the Canadian Pacific ore so big-sided they look like ships that belong in the navy all. Small farms now appear, with rich looking large tracts of forests look domestic and helpless where woodcutters pitch their tents for the summer. Here is a sign "Welcome to Lake Helen" which reads: Indefinite. Hotel and accommodation here we are at Port Arthur and Port William with the long beard of grain elevators the largest in the world" rising before our sunsmoke-filled eyes.

We have reached our goal. But not our destination.

We say good-bye to Route 17 which runs on into Manitoba and becomes relatively straight, and are told that it is on to Highway 61 that follows the lake shore on to Duluth.

So on motoring from the "Soo" to Duluth, we will have seen a good glorious reach-miles of Lake Superior's upper shore.

QUESTION:

I am 14 years of age and I read your part in the paper quite often. I enjoy doing so and I think your recipes are very excellent. As I am a teenager, I have extra homework and I have been told that I am pretty blood, thus making the complexion better. I do not like raising that well and I was wondering if there were any simple way to make raisins in a mixture that would be quite tasty, easy to make and not very rich. Thus eating raisins this way would be much better for teens-agers than having a snack consisting of any fattening foods. As there may be do such recipe, please excuse my wondering and thanks anyway — A Reader.

ANSWER:

"I do not know about raisins "puntching" the blood. I do know they contain iron, calcium, phosphorus and Vitamins A and B. One-half cup contains 200 calories (approximately). Raisins are excellent food but I do not think they will clear up your blemishes. The cause of the blemishes should be removed. You did not send your name or a stamped self-addressed envelope. Will you please write to me again so I may be more helpful with your diet?

QUESTION:

Would you please have a recipe for a Suet Pie? I read your column all the time and have tried many of your recipes, but I have never come across one for Suet Pie — Mrs. J. J. C.

ANSWER:

I have an English recipe for Suet crust for Pie. If this is not what you are seeking I hope readers will know and send me the recipe for Suet Pie for you.

SUET CRUST:

½ lb. flour; 4 oz. beef suet, ½ teaspoons salt; 1 cup cold water.

Strip the skin from the suet, chop it as fine as possible, rub it well into the flour and salt, mix it with a knife, work it to a very smooth paste, with the water and roll it out for use.

Marvelous Mu Mu

By VERNA WINSTON

Here's a variation on the mu mu theme—a sleep coat that can be worn as a house smock, too.

The fabric is rayon challis with contrasting yoke and sleeves.

There are gathers from the yoke, which has two string bow ties. The front fastener is concealed.

The print is a brightly colored floral design on a white ground in such color combinations as turquoise, yellow, rose or lavender.

Just can't beat the mu mu for comfort around the house.

SPEAKING of MANNERS

PATRICIA LEWIS
SOCIAL LIFE OF THE SMALL FRY

Now that school has started, possibly your youngster's social life will become more active than it was during the summer.

Most likely, there will be invitations to visit at the homes of friends in the neighborhood. And school ties re-established, there probably will be more birthday parties for the youngsters to go to, and more invitations to go on excursions to museums, the zoo and other centers of interest with chums and their parents.

Older children, of course, can handle acceptances and refusals on their own, but when young fry still are in grade school, mother usually has to act as social secretary to keep things under control.

Naturally, invitations that come your child's way should be handled as graciously as you handle them. Your child will be sent it usually is holding his breath for a reply, but often a busy mother doesn't make time to answer until the last minute.

Like your own invitations, those from other children to "Soo" to Duluth, we will have seen a good glorious reach-miles of Lake Superior's upper shore.

Just can't beat the mu mu for comfort around the house.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

Fred P. — Bedtime stories for the kids are her job, mine is to listen.

Renee P. — He should force himself to tell them so the children can be with him a while.

Fred P. — My work involves irregular hours, but no matter what time I get home, our children are awake in their double-deckers waiting for me to tell them a story. Renee pretends I don't know it. I try to go through with it, but before long I get another and another and must stop reasonably. I'm not in the mood for entertaining at 8 and 9 P.M.

Besides, I'm no good at it. Our kids are only 3 years old and I've never been able to utter the barnyard sounds like the cow, woofer and tweeter accompany every story on their night. Renee is the expert at that. I tell them their story and put them to sleep for them as I always bring home their lollipops, and weekends, I'll push them on swings.

Renee P. — Just because he doesn't put a story across like Danny Kaye as Hans Christian Andersen, Fred chickens out of bedtime stories. I know he's tired and not in the mood for entertaining the children, but I'm tired, too, and they'd harm to joy an extra 15 minutes of me. But a session with their dad is the treat of their day and they should at least be willing to sit down and read to it.

Some men complain that their wives shut the children out of their lives. I'm trying my earnest to include our boys in Fred's day. It is much for his sake as theirs. I want them to explain to Fred every day of their lives, that they have a father as well as "F"mother. That Hans Christian Andersen is precious and he should stop trying to wriggle out of it. Instead, he should welcome it.

The Council: Wells Renee's motives are pure, there's a certain rigidity about her assignment" to Fred which undermandatorily gets his dander up, and consequently keeps the "kinder" up — long past their sleeping time. A P.M. story hour for a 6-year-old sounds more like an endurance test, a battle of the Sandmen. Quite a real treat. Our only amendment to our decree would involve the use of the clock. Wells regards home savvy (and we assume he does not), the child can get their nightcrap with Daddy.

On his late nights, Renee should put a cap on the day for the kids by some other act — via a music box, a favorite recording or a quiet radio broadcast. We surmise that Dad will "look in" on them silently, and wake for hay. ing missed them, with a few extra pushes on those swings next day.

And to make matters easy for Fred, may we tip him off to the fact that he can prove how he spends those snatches of time with big-times, as long as they're pleasant! He need not sweat over original concoctions, nor grunt through The Three Bears for the 'leventy Goldilocks yak till teeth on edge whenever he sees her. He can even recite the weekly havenots of the Federal Reserve Banks and the kids will love it. Why? Because he's with them. Perfect time to slip individual attention, bolstering up his ego and a vital two-way flow of affection.

Proof that the "words" don't matter comes from the fact that your children usually don't tire of hearing the same story over and over. What does matter to them is hearing that reassuring voice, feeling that unconscious presence. Five minutes with Fred, so long as he appears a pro rather than a martyred, are worth more than an extra hour with Renee whom they know from which interest to her various capacities of nurse, governess, playground supervisor, wardrobe mistress, in between she gets more housekeeping, cooking, too, and she's rightly concerned that Fred get in his licks at fatherly.

It needn't be a story, we repeat. "It" may be as brief as a handshake or a let's-make-funny-faces session. But it must add up to an interchange, a satisfying communication. Fred's time is valuable, we concede. It's worth money. But it's also worth exchanging for the love of one's children.

Third War Said Not Inevitable

MONTREAL (CP)—Mrs. Cyrus Eaton, wife of the Canadian born Cleveland industrialist, said Friday night the main duty of women in North America is "to clearly demonstrate our horror in the belief of the inevitability of Soviet aggression."

She spoke to the International Conference of Women for International Co-operation Year at the University of Montreal.

"What we want is such a demonstration," she said, "all the cultural exchanges, peace conferences, tourists, visits and diplomatic exchanges are feeble fingers in the dyke."

Mrs. Eaton said Soviet and Western efforts to spread their beliefs by means other than war will continue, "but World War Three is not inevitable."

"Western policies made to deal with a Soviet Union committed to war, are completely unsuitable to deal with reality."

Dr. Margaret. Mead, United States anthropologist and author, said that if women of the world wanted peace, it was their job to cultivate the "badly needed patience" in the world and be content with creating a climate in which peace could develop.

Women must work primarily as women, she said, and not like a group of professionals "who happened to be women."

The conference is sponsored by the Voice of Women of Canada and the U.S.

Mr. and Mrs. John William Lutes are shown cutting the wedding cake at the reception following their recent marriage in Eastminster United Church, Belleville. The bride is the former Teresita V. de la Cruz, daughter of Prof. and Mrs. Mariano G. de la Cruz, Quezon City, Philippines. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Earle Devaere, Moncton, New Brunswick and the late Mr. Gerald G. Lutes.—(Photo by Lumbers Studio, Belleville.)

LUTES — DE LA CRUZ

Baskets of pink and white gladioli mingled with baby's breath formed a lovely setting in Eastminster United Church, Belleville for the wedding on September 1, 1952, at 2 p.m. of Teresita V. de la Cruz, daughter of Prof. and Mrs. Mariano G. de la Cruz of Quezon City, Philippines, to John William Lutes, son of Mrs. Earle Devaere, Moncton, New Brunswick, and the late Mr. Gerald G. Lutes. The Rev. Alexander McDowell, minister of the church officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The church organist, Mrs. H. Remsie provided the traditional music at which time the Prelude "Joy of Man's Desiring" by Bach, "The Bridal Chorus" by Wagner, "Ave Maria" by Schubert, and the recessional "Wedding March" were rendered.

The bride, given in marriage by Mr. Walter Frechlich, of Buffalo, New York, was radiant in a traditional floor-length bridal gown of parchment organza over taffeta featuring a fitted bodice and long lily-point sleeves. Chantilly lace embroidery encrusted with seed pearls and crystals accented the portrait neckline of the bride effect of repeated appliques cascaded through the bouffant skirt into a flowing chapel train. A minute pillbox hat held her silver length veil of French tulle illusion. She carried a bouquet of pink sweetheart roses mingled with white carnations and trailing ivy.

Miss Glenna Sprague of Trenton was maid of honor and Miss Lynda Wardle, Belleville and Miss Judy Hazell, of Campbellford were bridesmaids. All were similarly gowned in aquamarine taffeta gowns, featuring fitted bodices with scoop necklines, tiny sleeves, and shirred, pouffed skirts. They wore matching veiled pillbox hats, satin shoes, white glaces and carried nosegays of pink and white Shastas.

The groomsmen was Mr. Kenneth Currie, of Trenton, while Mr. Robert Lutes, Moncton, New Brunswick, brother of the bridegroom, and Mr. Terrence Burke, Cornwall were ushers.

The wedding reception was held in Eastminster Church parlors where the bridal table was attractively appointed with white damask linen cloth, centred with a three-tier wedding cake topped with roses and misted about the base with white tulle. Solitaire pink candles set in candelabra and the bridal bouquets added to this lovely nuptial setting.

Mrs. Walter Frechlich, acting on behalf of the bride's mother, received the guests, wearing a pure silk dress with blue and white floral designs, white accessories and a corsage of white carnations. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother, who was attired in a beige suit with matching accessories.

For their wedding trip to Ottawa, the Thousand Islands and the Laurentians, the bride chose a poodle suit of fall gold hue, black accessories and a corsage of white carnations with gold-en ribbons.

Guests were present from Buffalo, New York, Moncton, New Brunswick, Montreal, Quebec, Oshawa, Trenton and Campbellford.

Previous to her marriage the bride was honored at a miscellaneous shower held at the home of Mrs. Reg Wardle with her daughter, Lynda Wardle, as hostess, and Glenna Sprague as co-hostess, and at a lingerie shower held at the El Rancho Steak House by her Philippine girl friends of the Belleville General Hospital.

The bride is an alumna of the Assumption College of Manila and has a Bachelor of Science degree from the University of the Philippines. She is a specialist in blood bank technology and a Registered Medical Technologist, American Society of Clinical Pathologists. She was the assistant chief-instructor of the 1951 class in the School of Laboratory Technology, Belleville General Hospital. The bridegroom is a graduate of Teachers' College, Fredericton, N.B., and former director of the Moncton Boys' Club and is now with Sir George Williams University of Montreal, Quebec.

Mr. and Mrs. Lutes will reside at 3338 Durocher, Apt. 10, Montreal, Quebec.

Going Places

Superb Tourist Attractions Available in U.S. and Canada

By SHIRLEY and BOB SLOANE

Q) "We are expecting overseas visitors who plan to do some sightseeing in the United States and Canada. What do you consider the ten most important places to visit?"—S.H., Columbus, O.

A) That's barking up into a corner. But if we had to choose the list would include (not necessarily in any order):

1) New York, the most cosmopolitan city in the world and the commercial and cultural fountainhead of the United States.

2) Washington. In few capitals do the government buildings so dominate the appearance and character of the city, and impart a sense of the majesty of the nation.

3) Florida, particularly the glittering eastern Gold Coast which so typifies a particular brand of American exploitation, and is so unlike any other resort in the world.

4) The majestic Pacific Northwest, a man's country of waterways, forests, rugged coast and splendid green valleys, where wildlife is still taken for granted.

5) The awesome Rockies in Colorado and Wyoming.

6) The unique, welcome and comparatively unappreciated deserts of Arizona, New Mexico, Nevada and Utah, which are fascinated by American Indians and their villages in some of these areas. This is an aspect of America's appeal scarcely even considered as an attraction by most natives.

7) Niagara Falls. There are bigger and larger waterfalls, but few to which you can get so close with ease, and in comfort and safety.

8) The Daniel Boone - Davy Crockett area of the Appalachians — the Cumberland, Great Smoky, the Blue Ridge Mountains. Here, unspoiled country, where you'll barely penetrated in spots. It is easy to see why.

9) The Alpine beauty of Alberta's Banff National Park, a refuge of grizzly, mountain grandeur and wildlife.

10) San Francisco, not only the most beautiful city of cities but in many ways the most typical of what is best in America. Its citizens seem to have discarded the tawdry and phony, and live by what is gratifying and real.

Q) "The brochure for our package trip says 'tips and gratuities' are not included. Can you tell me the difference between tips and gratuities? How much will we know how much to pay for service in the hotel dining rooms? How much to airport and airline porters? The tour guide? Is it true you don't get good service if you don't tip?"—Mrs. E.H., Hamilton, Ont.

A) Why brochures use the phrase "tips and gratuities" we don't know; they are one and the same. On a package tour, where meals have been prepaid, you'll have to tip for each meal you would if at a restaurant, 15 per cent of the estimated price of the meal. If it's an American plan hotel (with meals included in the over-all rate), and not at the same table with the same server for each meal, about $1.00 a day per person.

For station porters, a set charge — usually 25 cents a bag — is collected on trips of 5 or 10 cents a bag extra if you want. Airline porters are tipped only if they carry your bags to the taxi or limousine, 20 to 25 cents a bag.

The tour guide usually is tipped by mutual agreement of the tour members at the end of the trip. It will vary by how much and how satisfactory attention he gave you, but will likely average 50 cents a day per person.

Whether you can get good service without tipping depends on the circumstances. There's not much a waiter can do if you leave him nothing once the meal is over. Many wise travellers tip in advance at resorts, on ships or other places where they will be for a while. You may be able to get away without tipping sometimes, but we wouldn't want it on our conscience that we let someone work for us for nothing.

Q) "When room rates are quoted in a resort folder for double and singles, is the double rate quoted per person, or for both? Does this also apply where meals are included in the rate?"—Mrs. T. A. K., Ottawa, Ont.

A) The double rates are the total for both occupants of the room. Rates are listed as "per person." Ditto for American Plan rates. What confused this reader, according to the brochure she sent us, was the typical semi-tropical seasonal tariff of $50 double. But when you realize this breaks down to include two persons and all their meals, it is not out of line for a plush West Indies resort.

WAITE — IRELAND

Bridge Street United Church parsonage was the setting for a quiet wedding, on Saturday, August 25, at 7 o'clock by the Rev. Harry M. Davis, pastor of the church, when Patricia Gail Ireland of Belleville, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Ireland became the bride of Mr. Robert William Waite of Belleville, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Waite.

Baskets of pink and white gladioli, white Shasta daisies and baby's breath arrangements adorned the room for the occasion.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a white peau de soie satin gown with chantilly lace bodice and sleeves with a scalloped neckline. Her finger tip veil of French lace tulle was held by a tiara encrusted with seed pearls and sequins and seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of red sweetheart roses and stephanotis and white streamers. She also had French bridal set in her bouquet which was given to her by her great aunt, Mrs. J. Liddon, London.

Mrs. Wayne Munro attended her sister as matron of honor in blue French nylon over taffeta with matching bow headdress of white satin shoes and gloves and carried a bouquet of white and pink chrysanthemums and pink roses tied with white satin streamers. Mr. Wayne Munro of Exeter attended the bridegroom.

The reception was held at the Belleville Shrine Club, 51 Highland Avenue, where the tables were centred with blue asters, wearing pastel pink sheath gown with bracelet deeper pink flowers, a white ostrich feathered hat, white accessories and corsage of white baby mums. The bridegroom's mother assisted wearing chocolate brown crepe dress with double and sleeves of intricate bead-work design, beige accessories and a corsage of yellow baby mums.

The bride's table was appointed in the traditional manner with white damask linen and centred by a three-tier wedding cake topped with a bride and bridegroom and surrounded at the base by white tulle and pink ball candles in silver candelabra and the bridal bouquets. The individual tables were set with cut glass rose bowls with pink tinted mums in each and cut glass candlesticks with pink candles.

For the wedding trip around Lake Ontario, the bride chose a navy blue sheath with light blue flowered embroidery with matching short jacket, navy accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. On leaving the bride gave her bouquet to the bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. Thomas Waite of Ingersoll.

Guests were present from Verdun, Quebec; Yarker; Cobourg; Toronto; Woodstock; Ingersoll; London; Richmond Hill; Carrying Place; Downsview and North Bay.

Czech Govt. Stepping Up Pressure on the Farmers To Produce More Food

By DAVID OANCIA

BRNO, Czechoslovakia, (CP) —Trade experts have sharpened their pencils for the fine calculations needed to determine the impact of Canada's austerity program on Czechoslovakia's exports.

At first sight, they say, it appears more than 50 per cent of their sales to Canada will be hit.

If their exports to Canada actually drop seriously, they add, it may prove necessary to curtail imports.

"We're a poor country from the point of view of foreign currency reserves," said vice-president Oldrich Novy of the Czechoslovak Chamber of Commerce in an interview.

"We would like to be able to buy more from Canada but we must have the opportunity to sell more."

The trade is not a large proportion of either country's total imports and exports, but it has shown a tendency to rise in recent years.

BUYS ISOTOPES

The Czechs appear to have confined their purchases largely to food and raw materials. Their main imports from Canada in 1962 were wheat, aluminum, asbestos, nickel, synthetic rubber, hides, skins and radioactive isotopes.

Canada's imports from Czechoslovakia covered a broad range of consumer goods including cars, clothing, cars, Bohemian glass, shoes, domestic appliances, textiles, machine tools and office equipment.

Last year, for the first time since the Communists took power in 1948, the Czechs had a big unfavorable trade balance with the Canadians.

Czechoslovakia's sales to Canada in 1961 were valued at $30,000,000 — a 50 per cent rise over the previous year's total.

Imports, however, jumped to $20,000,000 from the 1960 figure, count for three - quarters of the 1961 purchases; wheat 9,986,000; aluminum 5,583,000, and synthetic rubber 2,136. During the first year also bought a big unfavorable trade balance with the Canadians.

Czechoslovakia's sales to Canada in 1961 were valued at $30,000,000 — a 50 per cent rise over the previous year's total.

Imports, however, jumped to $20,000,000 from the 1960 figure.

WORRIED BY IMBALANCE

Authorities in this Communist country view the current imbalance as a serious matter. The government does not, it is not all, of its foreign trade under bilateral agreements and it tries hard to maintain a balance between imports and exports with individual nations.

They made their concern known as Canadian authorities stepped up a campaign to sell more to this most highly industrialized of Communist countries.

This year 11 companies and crown corporations have joined forces with the federal trade department to show off Canadian goods at the fourth annual Brno International Trade Fair running Sept. 9-22.

Included are Atomic Energy of Canada Limited, the Ferry Corporation and companies turning out aluminum, chemicals, pharmaceuticals, electronic equipment and metals.

WARES DISPLAYED

The Czechoslovaks have been trying to push their exports by participating in a number of trade fairs staged at Montreal, Toronto and Vancouver.

Czechoslovak Foreign Trade, a weekly publication, says in its current issue that the country's exhibit at this year's Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto "expressed Czechoslovakia's good will and endeavored to find a mutual agreement ways for reducing the disproportion between imports and exports of the two countries."

The article adds a word of warning that efforts to boost trade cannot be a one-sided effort on the part of Czech firms alone.

"It is therefore desirable that Canadian trade organizations, chambers of commerce and authorities help to create even more favorable conditions for wider sales of Czechoslovak goods on the Canadian market."

A senior trade official I interviewed in Prague was even more outspoken.

"Although there are no legal barriers against trade between our countries, it does seem to us that there is no positive support from Canadian authorities to promote business," he said. He cited an example the fact that Canada maintains no permanent trade expert at its embassy in Prague. This area now is handled by a Canadian trade commissioner based in Vienna.

"Because of this, he and the Canadian authorities cannot be fluently informed on the situation in our market," the official said. "This is not the most important factor, but it is a handicap."

Czechoslovakia, he said, is in the market for raw materials. Canada has many of them that could be bought if only Czech sales could be increased.

"If we can find a common language, we can do much more than we have done in the past."

CZECH TRADE FAIR — Canadian business and crown corporations have taken up participation in the annual international trade fair at Brno, Czechoslovakia. Canada Day is set for Sept. 17 at this year's fair. Canadian exports to Czechoslovakia have increased from $1-million to $30-million to $800,000 in 1960, mainly wheat, aluminum and synthetic rubber. This is a view of the Brno fair. (CP Photo).

Garden Notes

Background Plants For Bulbs

By FLORA M. SAVILLE

There are several perennials that will bloom at the same time as your tulips, sellas, hyacinths and daffodils. They will add color and charm to your spring picture.

Iris reticulata is the earliest of the miniature iris'. Group them with crocus and add snapdrops for a trio of loveliness. Most of the reticulatas are blue or purple but R. Dasyfordiae is a bright yellow. P. Vartanii alba is a rare white form.

A mat of creeping thyme will make a good background plant for any of the taller bulbs. Use it with them around large stones, at a corner of a walk, in the rock garden or to border a driveway. Try it with Fosteriana Red Emperor tulips. These are twice as big as ordinary tulips and they have such a brilliant, almost metallic sheen. They bloom two weeks before most tulips. Other Fosteriana hybrids include Albas with white interior and pink exterior, Eximer Parade yellow and Feu Superbe vochineal red-. Passion cream with yellow base and deep red blush, interior is carmine streaked. All are extra large with long stems, very early and the long lasting.

BLOOMS EARLY

Creeping phlox comes in white, pale pink, lavender and deep carmine red. This bloom very early and makes a good edging for a bed of bulbs or can be used as a mat in front of and around clumps of bulbs. Deep pink phlox look well with white daffodils, such as Mount Hood, Beersheba, Plant white phlox with the deep gold daffodils such as King Alfred Magnificence, or that bold William The Silent.

Basket of Gold (Alyssum saxatile) is much like creeping phlox in its habit but its color is a sheet of pure golden yellow. It makes a good companion for blue and purple bulbs such as the scillas. There are many distinct types of scillas. Scilla Sibericii and similar varieties are the popular blue flowers of early spring. Scilla Campanula and S. Nutans are the wood hyacinths or English bluebells. These are like a fragile hyacinth and bloom in May.

Perennial candytuft has rounded heads of white blooms. Fallsown seed will need a little protection but will be ready to bloom in May and carry on into July. Treim it with blue Muscari Grape hyacinth. There are several varieties from deep purple to pale blue. The white or blue Muscari looks well with yellow daffodils and could use the two colors with any of the yellow daffodils.

GOOD MIXER

Corydalis densiflora is a bulb that gets well with other bulbs. It has lovely loose heads of bright pink blooms. It too would look well with white daffodils or narcissus.

PRIMULAS ARE MANY STRAINS.

The English primroses in buttercup yellow. Other forms may be delicate pink to deep rose red or lavender shades. Many are quite hardy and they bloom in May making good subjects for the bulb borders.

Pansies are early bloomers and make a good background plant or border for the tall bulb flowers. Mix and match their purples, yellows and whites with contrasting bulbs. Excellent for a planter.

Ask Henry

Henry welcomes letters from readers, and awards each week a best-selling book for the most interesting letter he receives.

Dear Henry—Because we have no children, we work. When we come home at night we have the chores around home to do. Our problem is that the children next door (the oldest 9) love to throw stones into our yard, garden and at our wndow.

We have complained to the parents as we feel it is up to them to look after their children during the day. Last night when I got home I picked up some stones and asked the children not to do it any more.

After supper when I went outside there I found a couple of dozen of flat-size stones thrown across our lawn again, quite deliberately.—PLAIN TIRED.

Dear Plain Tired—One night come home with a giant lollipop for each of the kids. When they see what lovely they are to throw stones on a lawn that belongs to a nice and generous neighbor like you, they will stop.—HENRY.

Dear Henry—I'm a girl of 13. When my brother, 8, swears or tears up things, my parents just yell at him. Once in a while they spank him. Then he cries so much (and loud) they let him back out again. Then he goes right back and swears again. Both my parents work days so I have to baby-sit and it's almost impossible to make him mind.—BABY-SITTING SISTER.

Dear Baby-Sitting Sister—Yelling will just lead to more swearing and tearing. Why don't you and your parents pay more attention to him before he starts swearing and tearing?

Get interested in him. Take him to a movie. Be the nice sister he doesn't think you are, and alert his parents—the ones he doesn't think he has.—HENRY.

Dear Henry—My problem is that every time someone says something cross to me, I start to cry. Even little unimportant things upset me and I start to cry hard. I can't stop the tears from coming. When my family and friends make fun of me I only cry harder. What can I do?—DISPERATE.

Dear Desperate—Whenever someone hurts your feelings and you feel like crying, clinch your fists and clinch your teeth and say to yourself:

Tears! don't roam
Tears! go home
They make me cross
But I am the boss.

and believe in three words!

National Jaycee Week Will Be Held in City

Beginning Sunday, September, 16, will be what is known as National Jaycee Week. This is a week set aside each year for citizen active recognition to the young men in their locality, who well undoubtedly be the leaders of tomorrow.

Jaycee week will be observed in this city.

The Belleville Junior Chamber of Commerce is a group of young men from different walks of life, who devote their time each week for club meetings and planning ideas in which they may contribute to the betterment of their community as well as to themselves.

During 1961, when the Chamber was organized under the direction of the Kingston Club, members devoted a great deal of their time to the necessary revitalization within the club itself. In April of 1961, the Belleville Junior Chamber of Commerce was finally presented with their charter by Ontario President, Art Marcott, after visiting the customary six months.

The first year for the Belleville Jaycees, at times looked grim, but then the situation began to look better. At first, the club was reluctant to start a project, afraid that it might be a "flop", but the club members gained confidence and launched a major bicycle safety project throughout the city at the public schools. This project was successfully completed under the guidance of Safety Officer Ralph Ashford, of the Belleville City Police department.

This seemed to increase confidence within the club's members and this year, many projects have been planned. In addition to celebrating National Jaycee Week, members of the Belleville Junior Chamber of Commerce will be assisting the Belleville United Appeal organization during their campaign, which is being held the week of September 16.

MANY PROJECTS PLANNED

To mention a few of the projects scheduled this year, a Civic Affairs Course is to be held and in the spring a Social Psychology Course and bicycle rodeo will be sponsored.

In addition to this, the club will be conducting a "safe driver of the month contest." Spotters will be located in various parts of the city, keeping a watchful eye on drivers. At the end of the month, a driver will be picked and he, or she, will be invited to the Jaycee's monthly dinner meeting where that individual will be presented with a safe driving award.

During 1961 an executive speaking course was held by the club and they played host at the district spring conference held here entertaining visiting clubs from Perth, Smiths Falls, Brockville and Kingston.

A business training clinic was held during the 1961 Year and was sponsored by business men from Toronto, Montreal, Ottawa, as well as locally.

Plans are presently underway for a trade fair to be held here late in the spring. The club is always open for new members and will be conducting a membership drive in the near future throughout the district.

A proclamation was signed by the Mayor of Belleville, A. McLean Haig, declaring National Jaycee Week in Belleville, September 16 to 22.

"Jest a Second"

"You do need a holiday, Albert. During the night you sold me four brushes and a broom."

A Lift for Living

To Be Prepared for Best Is Rather a Rare Grace

By DR. RALPH W. SOCKMAN

It is a common piece of proverbial wisdom that we should be prepared for the worst. But to be prepared for the best is rather a rare grace. We have a saying: "Expect the best, prepare for the worst and take what comes." But it is not true that, in actuality, the idea of preparedness connotes getting ready for the worst.

Take it in our national life. When we speak of preparedness, we think at once of missiles and bombs. We set ready for the worst in other people. We talk about the family of nations, but the irony is apparent when we think about the anthology of the family. Suppose we trained our children to live together in the family by showing baby how to use his fists if big brother comes near his bottle, or by giving Mary a package of pins to use if John picks on her. Yet those are the methods by which we prepare nations to live together in the family of nations.

After World War I, a European statesman confessed: "We were prepared for war, but we were not prepared for peace." How tragically true that was again after World War II. Mounting billions are being spent preparing against the expected worst in other nations.

And take a look at education. Our schools and colleges are now opening a new season. We educate our children in order to prepare them for the future. Yet many have the idea reflected in the remark of the mother: "We can't leave our children much money, but we shall give them a good education. That's something nobody can take away from them." Lurking behind such a remark is the concept of education as a preparation of defense against competitive society. To be sure I believe in free enterprise. Fair and open competition is the life of trade. But how intolerable life would be if there were no circles in which cooperation rather than competition prevailed. What if each of us went to the table trying to beat the other guests to the best piece of meat? We must prepare ourselves to bring out the best in others rather than merely to get the best of others.

We are hearing much about automation today. It is already disturbing society to the point of strikes. We cannot stop man's inventive genius. Nor dare we let improved machines increase unemployment.

Hence, we must educate our youth to master automation, by opening new channels of research and new forms of human service. We must prepare new opportunities in the fields of communication and beautification. Instead of merely competing with men for the making of things, we must fit ourselves to master things for the making of men.

Or consider the idea of preparedness in the realm of religion. Very well do I remember an evangelist of my boyhood days who had an arresting sermon on the theme, "Prepare to meet your God." It was taken from the text about the rich farmer who was planning larger barns when suddenly he was called by death to meet his God. Again and again the preacher rang the changes on the question, "Are you ready for the reckoning?"

DIVINE RECKONING

Well, far be it from me to gainsay the truth of divine judgment. But my reading as I read the gospels is that Jesus was trying to prepare us not so much for a divine reckoning as for a divine beckoning, a beckoning to something bigger and better.

Remember, Jesus told not only the parable of the foolish farmer who was not prepared for death, but also the parable of the foolish virgins who were not prepared for the wedding feast. "In my Father's house are many mansions," He said. "I go to prepare a place for you." The point for us is, will we be prepared to live in the kind of place Christ has prepared? If we have not learned to like the kind of things Jesus liked, if we cannot live without the earthly things we set our hearts on here, then we will not be ready for heaven.

Death is a door through which we go to the place for which we have prepared ourselves. If we have prepared for heaven, then we shall go and that will be hell. If we have prepared for hell, then we shall go to the place which Our Lord has prepared for us. And that will be heaven.

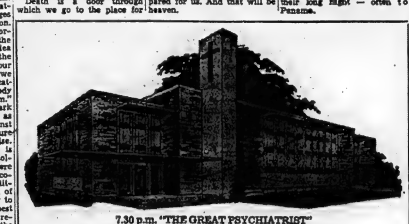
Hummingbird Family Life

By WINIFRED E. WILSON



Some kinds of birds, such as Canada Geese, lead wonderfully harmonious lives, while others are the very opposite. Hummingbirds, indigenous to the Americas, belong to this latter class. Of all the 319 species of ruby-throated is the only one that comes to eastern North America.

For a short time, perhaps May and June, Mr. and Mrs. Hummer may be seen together as they seem to dance in the air about the columbine or the Bee Balm, poking their long, slender bills into the blossoms to extract honey and diminutive insects. But, like male ducks, if there is any work to be done Mr. Hummer prefers to forget that he has a dear little wife, and spends his time at stag parties. Of course he must set, but he avoids Mrs. Hummer by going to different food stores. Consequently, for some weeks we see either the one or the other, but not both coming to our nasturtiums.

Hummingbirds remain in Canada until there are no more blossoms to supply nourishment. Sometimes it is the third week of October before they begin their long flight — often to Panama.

Tiny little Mrs. H builds the home all by herself. If you have ever found her nest you are either clever or fortunate, because being 2½ ins. inches in diameter, saddled on a small branch 10 or 20 feet high, it can easily be taken for a knot. It is made of plant down and fibres and covered on the outside with lichens. The sides roll inwards, so that the eggs will never fall out. First there are two pure white eggs, each about ½ inch long, looking like beans. Mother incubates for 14 days. The babies are the size of bees — but after all even peps is only 3½ inches long, including his bill. Mother is very, very busy, flitting from blossom to blossom. The tongue of a hummingbird is very long and the sides roll inward, forming a double tube. The tip is frayed making a kind of a brush. With this she sucks up nectar and insects found in the hearts of flowers as a vacuum cleaners suck up dust. These she brings home to squirt into the twins.

Once the children can be trusted to stay close to her, mother takes them shopping. She teaches them how to insect the bills in bergamot blossoms. By then perhaps around the end of July, the twins are small editions of mother — shining green with white throats. Papa's throat is ruby-red.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

The duck hunting season officially opens here on Saturday, September 22nd, through December 15th.

Hunters have been preparing for the "great day" for weeks and by September 21st they'll be ready for the big fall hunting adventure.

And by the same token so are the district members of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

Illegal baiting here has been the headache of good hunters, Lands and Forests officials, Fish and Game Associations and the mounties.

Last year, and in previous years, the RCMP in the course of duty "clamped down" on illegal baiting and closed certain hunting areas of the district.

New official regulations have been issued by the government. They have teeth in them and the Mounties will see to it that they "bite" if the necessity arises.

On Monday Royal Canadian Mounted Police officers begin a systematic close check on the hunting areas of the district.

Every known duck haunt and those which some people think are not known will come under the keen eyes of the officers.

And if illegal baiting is found contrary to regulations, the officers will clamp down but hard. They won't pull any official punches.

If they find illegal baiting within seven days of the official opening date, Sept. 22, the area will be closed.

And no shooting of ducks can take place within a quarter mile of the closed area. This ruling has been changed from the half-mile regulation of previous years.

After illegally baited areas have been closed, the RCMP will re-visit the spots after a period of time in which they think the baited food should have disappeared. If the areas are clean they will be re-opened.

If they discover that further illegal baiting has taken place the areas will be closed for the season.

Massassaga, the Bay of Quinte, Foxboro and other well known duck areas will be carefully checked by the Mounties.

It seems a shame, perhaps, that a large number of "good" hunters have to suffer from the sins of a few of the avaricious and commercially-minded type.

The rules and regulations of the laws are there. The Mounties have a job to do regardless of whom is "hurt." They are under orders to carry out the law to the limit and transgressors will feel the full weight.

As was noted before the Mounties start their check of the duck areas Monday morning. For the sake of the sport and good hunting let's hope they find clean haunts.

As well as ducks most upland game such as grouse, partridge and squirrel may be hunted on September 22 as well as migratory game birds as geese, woodcock and snipe. The pheasant season opens October 6 through October 27, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

But remember, complete protection has been given canvasback and redhead ducks. The species has become so depleted that authorities have placed them out of season. Good hunters won't shoot them. Others are requested not to.

On the other hand the wood duck is making a fine comeback and this year it is felt that their numbers have increased sufficiently to permit hunters to take two birds in their daily bag limit.

The above regulations are for the Tweed District of the Lands and Forests Department. This consists of the counties of Prince Edward, Hastings, Lennox and Addington, Frontenac, South Renfrew and the three most northern townships in Lanark County.

And in passing, the deer season opens November 5th to the 17th, north of Highway Number 7, and from November 5th to November 10th south of Number Seven and north of Number Two.

Lions, Argos Haggle

Schreider To Stay East

TORONTO (CP) — Fullback Gary Schreider reaffirmed his decision to stay in Eastern Canada to continue law studies Friday while British Columbia Lions and Toronto Argonauts haggled over terms involving the 28-year-old football star.

The Lions, in the Western Football Conference, turn a deaf down a Toronto offer to trade Schreider for import end Ron Stover and Canadian defensive halfback Brian Allen.

The Lions, in turn, offered to lend Schreider to Argonauts, in the Eastern Conference, for the remainder of the 1962 season in exchange for Argos' first choice in the next college draft.

"That's silly," said Toronto coach Nobby Wirkowski of the Vancouver offer.

Schreider, a defensive specialist, says his future is in law.

"If something can be worked out regarding football, that's fine with me."

Schreider was sold to the Lions earlier this year by Ottawa Rough Riders. He agreed to play seven games with the Lions before he has to report to Osgoode Hall to continue law studies. The seventh game came last Sunday when the Lions beat Argonauts 37-21 here.

TO HOLD FIGHT

GLACE BAY, N.S. (CP)—Promoter Ursula MacLellan announced Friday night that Canadian middleweight champion Willy Greaves of Edmonton and Detroit will defend his crown against Blair Richardson of nearby South Bar here September 20. Richardson holds the Eastern Canada middleweight title.

Story Of Thrilling Journey, Races

'Atalanta' Towed By Mules

"Gretel", Australia's 1962 America's Cup challenger rode to the United States aboard an ocean liner.

In 1881, "Atalanta", Canada's last big for the famous silver- was was towed through the Erie Canal by mules en route to New York.

"Gretel" has aluminum masts, mahogany, Canadian cedar and gleeful fascination. She is crewed by expert "down under" yachtsmen.

"Atalanta's" timbers were hewn from North Hastings logs, floated down the rapids of the Moira river to Belleville.

Her captain Alexander Cuthbert and crew of nine, were untried fresh water sailors; frank amateurs from the Bay of Quinte Yacht Club.

The 78-foot gaff-rigged Canadian sloop was still on the stocks here when Captain Cuthbert issued the challenge to the New York Yacht Club, in May, 1881.

The challenge was accepted for a series of three races to be held off New York in September of the same year.

But lack of funds delayed the completion of the Canadian sloop. There was no time for her to take the St. Lawrence and ocean route to New York.

Captain Cuthbert took her the "short way" and entered the Erie Canal at Oswego where her spars were unstepped. She carried heavy ballast of iron ore.

SHIFTED BALLAST

Her beam, 19 foot, six, was 16 inches wider than the canal. The crew shifted her ballast to one side to "heel" the boat enough to enable her to navigate the narrow locks.

Mules towed her through. At Albany she was put on an even keel and her mast re-stepped. She reached New York Harbour on October 30.

There was not enough time or money to finish the "Atalanta". She sailed in her rough state. Sails could not be recut nor spars improvements made.

"Atalanta" was built on a total outlay of $2,100. Had another $10,000 been spent on her she might have won the America Cup.

Her amateur crew was augmented by saltwater men at New York. But they were outclassed from the start by the American defender "Mischief" a 90-knob built of iron, gallant smooth with blackleaf and equipped with lead ballast.

She was of good design for her time but so poorly finished, clumsily rigged and badly handled she did not have a chance against the "Mischief".

Gusting squalls greeted the boats in the first race held on November 9th. "Atalanta" staggered under the windy assault. Forty minutes were lost in reefing and by frequent luffs Cuthbert brought his boat home 26 minutes behind "Mischief".

THIS WAS DIFFERENT

In the second race it was different. "Atalanta" rounded the first mark a half-minute behind "Mischief" despite the fact she lost her spinnaker boom a half-hour earlier.

The best back was in gale-like winds. Tousalis came down and mainsails reefed. Unfortunately Cuthbert mistook the position of one of the course buoys, and Canada's second attempt to win the America Cup was lost.

The first occurred in 1876 when the Toronto sloop "Countess of Dufferin" of the Royal Canadian Yacht Club was defeated.

"Atalanta" went on to win the International Fisher Cup Trophy symbolic of the North American fresh water championship from a field of 5 boats. The trophy remained in Belleville until 1932 when the Rochester yacht "Toward" won it for the Bay of Quinte.

Captain Cuthbert, the skipper of the "Atlanta," was one of the best-known sailors of this part of Ontario at the time.

Dodgers Up Margin

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Maury Wills was caught. But the same can't be said of Los Angeles Dodgers in the National League race.

Wills stole his 91st base of the season and was nabbed for his 92nd as the Dodgers beat Chicago Cubs 13-7 Friday. The win moved the league - leading Dodgers three games in front of San Francisco Giants, who lost 5-1 to Pittsburgh Pirates.

It was the 10th game in the last eight years that a Giant lineup did not include Willie Mays. The Giants lost all the games.

The flickering pennant hopes of the defending champion Cincinnati Reds all but died at the Polo Grounds in New York, as old a rhubarb over Choo Choo Coleman's home run over the right-field pole in the bottom of the ninth inning. New York Mets won 10-9 on Coleman's blast and the Reds' five-six games behind the Dodgers.

Milwaukee Braves defeated Houston Colts 3-1 and Philadelphia Phillies edged St. Louis Cardinals 2-1.

The Dodgers jumped off for seven runs in the first inning against the Reds. Wills walked and stole second base as he continued his assault on Ty Cobb's record of 96 set in 1915. Wills was caught in the eighth inning on a pitchout called by catcher Dick Bertell. It was the 11th time Wills has been the had been thrown out trying to steal.

Frank Howard led the 13-hit Los Angeles attack with three doubles and 28th home run. Duke Snider homered and Tommy Davis had three hits to boost his season total to 153.

Larry Sherry picked up his 13th victory in relief for Johnny Podres, bombed out by the Cubs in the fourth inning. The Chicago right-hander is his season, was a club record.

Righthander Bob Friend was slammed the door on the Giants with a four-hitter. It was the Pirates' first win over the San Francisco club. Francis put the game out of reach with a three-run homer in the eighth inning to cap the Pirate scoring.

Mays was in uniform but did not play. He is recovering from mysterious fatigue that caused him to faint on the bench in Cincinnati Wednesday night.

The Mets waved off, for at least one more day their clinching of the 1962 last place in their first year in the league.

The Mets jumped off to a 7-0 lead but the Reds stormed back on Vada Pinson's inside-the-park home run to take the lead. The Mets again went in front, 9-8, but Pinson tripled home the tying run in the top of the ninth. Then came Coleman's disputed blast, which landed on the grandstand roof.

Pinson's homer was the 186th of Met pitching this year, a National League record. The old mark of 185 was set by the 1955 Cardinals. The 1954 Kansas City Athletics set the major league mark of 187.

Johnny Callison slammed a ninth-inning home run to win the game for the Phils for the second night in a row. His game-winning blow last night came off relief pitcher Lindy McDaniel with two out in the ninth and was for Dennis Bennett (7-9). Red Schoendienst of the Cards collected his 2nd pinch hit of the year in the ninth inning, tying the league record.

Bob Hendley, 22-year-old Milwaukee righthander, gained his 11th victory as he held the Colts to five hits, one a solo homer by Carl Warwick.

The Braves scored two in the ninth inning, with Roy McMillan and Tommie Aaron driving across the runs, and one in the fifth as Aaron hit into a double play. The loss went to Dick Farrell (9-19).

Mahovlich Imlach Disagree

TORONTO (CP)—How much is Frank Mahovlich worth to the National Hockey League's Toronto Maple Leafs?

According to statistics, which often make or break a professional athlete, the big lefthinger should be one of the highest-paid players in the NHL. However, Punch Imlach, manager and coach of the Leafs, doesn't think Mahovlich is worth what the player is demanding.

The two men reached disagreement two days ago at Peterborough, Ont., where the Leafs are holding their pre-season training camp.

The Big M left the camp late at night and returned to his home here.

"I won't return to camp until they (Leafs) get in touch with me," said Mahovlich Friday.

Lead Eastern Conference

Tiger-Cats Shade Eskimos 16-15

By BOB TRIMBEE

EDMONTON (CP) — Coach Jim Trimble of Hamilton Tiger-Cats says he doesn't want to rush Canada's quarterback Frank Cosentino, because he might ruin his development as a professional.

But twice this season he has been forced by injuries to throw him under the wheels and Hamilton has come away a winner each time.

Cosentino, 24, a Western Ontario graduate, was called to action three Friday nights early in the first quarter and led the Tiger-Cats to a 16-15 victory over Edmonton Eskimos in Canadian Football League interlocking fixture before 15,867 fans.

Trimble started veteran import Bernie Faloney at quarter against the Eskimos. Less than seven minutes later Faloney was knocked flat on a vicious tackle and forced out when he reinjured a weak knee.

The veteran coach Hamilton into first place in the Eastern Conference while the Eskimos remained tied with the Lions in the Western Conference cellar. Tonight Montreal Alouettes meet Calgary Stampeders at Calgary.

SETS UP WINNER

Cosentino scored one of Hamilton's two touchdowns against Edmonton Friday and set up a game-winning field goal by Don Sutherin with three long runs in the final quarter.

The Hamilton quarter.

He finished the game with 87 yards on eight carries to pace the Tiger-Cats' ground attack. He clicked on 11 of 17 passes for 171 yards. Faloney missed on the only pass he threw.

Edmonton finished with 21 first downs to 17 for Hamilton. Veteran fullback Normie Kwong carried 19 times for 94 yards, while Jackie Parker gave Cosentino a Western Ontario alumnus, hit on 16 of 27 passes for 332 yards.

Defensive end Ted Collier, a second-year Canadian, scored other Hamilton touchdown on an 83-yard run after fullback Mike Lashuk of Edmonton fumbled. Sutherin added the point of two convert attempts.

Quarterback Jerry Keeling now leads the WFC scoring race with 77 points, scored a touchdown on a 47-yard pass-and-run play in the opening quarter and converted twice. The two scores to pace the Eskimos. Halfback Bill McKenny of Georgia took a 10-yard pass from Getty in the second quarter for the other Edmonton score. Vic Chapman kicked a single for the final Eskimo point.

Edmonton led 7-0 at the end of the first quarter, 14-7 at the half and was a 15-13 margin in the final 15 minutes.

Hurley Says Kitchener His Club

KITCHENER (CP) — Goalie Harold (Boat) Hurley Friday denied he has changed his mind and wants to play for Galt Terriers in the Ontario Hockey Association senior A league although he recently signed a contract with Kitchener-Waterloo Tigers.

Hurley said he wanted to play to Kitchener and not in Galt. "I never said I wanted to go back to Galt, I want to play here."

Leftwinger Bob McKnight, the second of two former Galt Canaries signed by the Tigers last week, also was reported to be anxious to play here, not Galt.

McKnight was non-committal when asked about this Friday. He will play where the OHA rules he should play, he said.

He said he had been asked Tuesday night by Terrier treasurer Horace Bardwell if he wanted to play for Galt again. McKnight said he only told him he would play in Galt. If the release given by the Galt club was not upheld.

West Wins Junior Lacrosse

VICTORIA (CP) — Shamrocks fired more than 3,100 fans to a festive evening Friday by trouncing Brampton Armstrong's 20-7 and winning the best-of-seven Canadian junior lacrosse championship 4-3.

Shamrocks rallied on two previous occasions, 1958 and 1959, to take the Minto Cup in a series played in Brampton. Shamrocks got good service from four players picked up from Vancouver for the series.

Weekend Softball, Baseball

What is expected to be the last heavy weekend of the summer, ballwise, has three championship games on the agenda tonight and tomorrow.

Softball has the spotlight this evening with baseball taking over on Sunday afternoon.

Joyce Real Estate and Trenton RCAF Flyers will provide the action at the Fairgrounds at eight o'clock tonight in the fifth game of their best-of-seven Belleville and District softball league finals.

The Flyers grabbed a thrilling 3-2 win in Trenton the other night to deadlock the set at two games apiece. The clubs played excellent ball the other evening and with ace pitchers Ed Blanscale and Mike Batashniuk scheduled to throw tonight, this game should be a dandy.

Both teams are back on the beam after a letdown and followers of the sport are advised not to miss this one. The sixth game will be back in Trenton on Tuesday night.

Trudeau Motors and Lightfoot Construction, all tied up at one and one in their provincial league finals, go at each other at 8 o'clock, game at the CNRA Park this evening.

The scores in the series to date have been 2-0 for Trudeau and 5-4 for Lightfoots and tonight's game will be a big one for the winner. The series is best-of-seven with the next game slated for Monday also at the CNRA.

Belleville Kenmores will attempt to wrap up their first Ontario Senior baseball championship at the Fairgrounds Sunday afternoon at three o'clock against the unpredictable Dundas Merchants.

Kenmores lead the series three games to one but must remember that the Merchants upset them in the last game here.

Coach Sid Forester has not named his starting pitcher for this game but with a week's layoff, he may come back with Ken Scobie in an attempt to end the series. Scobie has thrown a pair of four-hitters at Kenmores so far and the team has clubbed Dundas pitching for 74 hits in the four games.

This should be the final baseball game of the year here so the Kenmores are hoping for a good crowd.

Big Pre-Race Parties

Yachts Anchors Aweigh

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — This normally sleepy New England seaport became the yachting capital of the world today as thousands of amateurs poured into the town to witness the first race between the 12-metre Weatherly and Australia's Sceptre for the Cup, and her Australian challenger Gretel.

The town's narrow streets were crowded with spectators intent on getting the first glimpse of the yachts as they came within miles off the Rhode Island coast where the two boats were to begin their best-of-seven series at 1 p.m. EDT.

Newport has been a blaze of parties and dances in honor of the competing yachtsmen.

The New York Yacht Club, the host and defenders of the Cup, gave a massive cocktail party at The Elms, one of Newport's famous estates Friday. Prominent figures from the yachting world attended a dinner for the 12 Weatherly crew, each of which is the greatest relic of Newport's days of society.

KENNEDY ATTENDS

The reception and dinner party was given by Commodore Beale, Australian ambassador to the United States. President Kennedy and his wife were among those to pay state visits given to the two boats.

While the American team was relaxing and playing touch football on the lawn of the mansion here Friday, the Australians were still working on their boat.

Despite their problems, the Australians were optimistic in addition for their forthright approach. Still a press conference called Friday, they were put to question as to how he rated Weatherly's chances. Skipper Jock Sturrock replied:

"She is the best 12-metre boat in America and the best sailed."

Duck Migration Reported Good

WINNIPEG (CP)—The crop of wild ducks flying south this fall will be relatively good, Ducks Unlimited (Canada) said Friday.

The conservation organization said in its monthly report that a relatively cool August in the Prairie provinces with adequate widely - dispersed rains maintained water in Prairie pools.

As a result the late brood, which usually were more, reached the flight stage successfully, it said. Also, good lesser scaup and blue winged teal appear to have had a particularly good year."

Says Mr. Hayman

'Argos Will Beat Riders'

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Lou Hayman may be biased, but he's not often an optimistic man. So maybe Toronto Argonauts are no longer the patsies of the other Eastern Football Conference clubs have found them this season.

The Argonaut managing director says of his club's game Sunday against Ottawa Rough Riders at Toronto:

"This is the first time this year we've called our team to win, and I believe they will."

Brave words from the boss of a club—the only one—that has not yet won a game in Canadian Football League action this season.

Hayman Friday night cited reasons for his hopeful thinking: 1. Improvement in over-all talent; 2. A belief that Tobin Rote will be in fine passing form; 3. Improved attitude of the players.

Out of the talent bin, Hayman and coach Bobby Wirkowski have pulled five new imports from American professional league cast-offs. Defensive end Jerry Wilson is the only one of the newcomers rated as a certain starter.

TEAM ATTITUDE BETTER

Rote saw only partial action in Argos' 4-3 victory over Montreal Saturday because of a hairline fracture of his right index finger likely has improved.

The improved attitude of the result of Wirkowski's recent appointment as coach, replacing the fired Lou Agase.

Argos have lost five straight games, Ottawa has won four of its six games and is in second place, one point behind Hamilton Tiger-Cats.

Ottawa coach Frank Clair isn't bursting with confidence.

"This (beating Argos) can be tougher than a lot of people seem to think," he said.

"If we can get off to a fast start, they would probably fold. But the trouble is, we don't across Ontario.

Twins Trim Tribe, Angels Lose

Bosox Win Slows Yankee Flag Bid

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Righthander Dick Radatz, mowing his fireballs with overpowering speed, made another spectacular relief appearance Friday night as he shut out New York Yankees for 3 innings in a 4-1 Red Sox victory at Boston.

The triumph slowed the Yankees' drive for their 12th American League pennant in 14 years, cutting their edge over the second - place Minnesota Twins to four games. The Twins lead home runs by Vic Power and George Banks plus Dick Stigman's seven-hitter for an 11-1 triumph over Cleveland Indians.

The third-place Los Angeles Angels were unable to benefit by the Yankee defeat, losing 3-2 to Detroit Tigers in 10 innings. The Angels remained 6½ games behind with 12 games to play in the regular schedule. The Yankees and Twins have 13 apiece remaining.

Radatz, 24, a side-armer making a strong bid for honors as rookie of the year, came in relief of starter Bill Monbouquette in the fifth inning with two on and one out. He struck out Mickey Mantle, scattered a single and struck out Elston Howard.

MANE FILES OUT

In the ninth inning, Bobby Richardson's double and a walk again put two Yankees on again with out. Radatz again struck out Mantle before ending things by getting Tom Tresh on a soft fly for the final out.

It was the 36th appearance of the season for Radatz and the 90th game he finished. Radatz has now cut 140 batters in his 119 3-3 innings and compiled a 1.96 earned run average.

Ralph Terry (15-11) lost.

In the only other league game, Chicago's White Sox blanked Washington Senators 2-0 as Joel Horlen and Don Rudolph combined on a three-hitter. The Baltimore - Kansas City game was rained out.

Lu Clinton, Russ Nixon and Frank Malzone provided the Red Sox with the runs needed to beat the Yankees. Clinton had a double and two singles and scored the other three runs. Nixon drove in two runs with a pair of sacrifice flies and singled in a run.

The Yankees scored their lone run, off Monbouquette (13-13), in the first inning on a walk to Tom Tresh and a single by Mantle and Maris.

JUMP ON DONOVAN

The Yanks jumped on Cleveland starter Dick Donovan in the first inning, getting four runs on two-run homers by Power and Banks. That about wrapped things up for Donovan (10-5) was virtually untouchable after Chuck Essegian tagged him for a homer in the second frame. Power paced the Twins' 14-hit attack with six homes and three singles.

Jim Fregosi's two-run single in the fifth inning gave the Angels a 2-0 lead they held as Dean Chance allowed only one hit through six innings. The Tigers broke through and tied it in the seventh when, with the bases loaded, Vic Wertz was hit by a pitch and Larry Osborne walked.

In the 10th frame, errors enabled the first two Tigers to reach base, but Chance (13-9) got Al Kaline to hit into a double play. Rocky Colavito then came through with a run-producing single to win for Terry Fox (3-1).

Horlen limited the Senators to a pair of pinch-hit singles for eight innings before Zoilo Versalles pinched the shutout. The White Sox runs came on Floyd Robinson's two-run homer in the sixth inning off Dave Stenhouse (1-2).

NHL Training Camps

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Pre-season tangles between National Hockey League clubs and their farm teams frequently develop into grudge battles between those who've made the grade and those who thought they should have.

But this wasn't the case in Peterborough Friday night when Toronto Maple Leafs met Rochester Americans of the American League.

Leafs edged their AHL farmhands by a polite 3-2 margin in a game that was close and fast-moving but never rough. In fact, things were so peaceful that Leaf coach Punch Imlach's post-game comment was an audible "Ugh!"

The American came close to tying the game when coach Rudy Migay unleashed a power play in the dying moments after defenceman Kent Douglas had received a two-minute cut for high sticking.

Douglas, an all-star with Springfield Indians of the AHL last season, was drafted by the Leafs in the off-season in a five-player deal.

MAHOVLICH ABSENT

Conspicuously absent from the Leaf line-up was left-winger Frank Mahovlich, who left the team's Peterborough training camp earlier in the day to point up a breakdown in salary talks. He is reported to be seeking $30,000.

The Leaf goals were scored by Orest Romashyna, Bob Pulford and newcomer Jim Mikol, a leftwinger.

While most of the unsigned Leafs were standing pat in their salary talks pending a settlement of the Mahovlich dispute, several other NHL clubs in their camps were reporting a brisk pace of signings.

Three more Montreal Canadiens regulars, defenceman Jean-Guy Talbot and forwards Bobby Rousseau and Bill Hicke, signed Friday bringing the total number of signed Habs to 18.

At Detroit, Red Wings managing-coach Sid Abel topped off a busy day of workouts by signing four players and announcing the sale of defenceman Dan Cherry to Canadiens. Cherry, 24, played last season with Baltimore Wolves of the Eastern Professional League.

The four contracts, which brought the team's total to 14, were signed by Abel, Detroit general manager and newcomers Doug Barkley, John Mrzek and Keith Wahle.

PLAYERS HURT

Two other training camps reported their first casualties.

Forward Brosco Horvath injured his big toe during a morning scrimmage at New York Rangers' camp in Vancouver. He probably will be on status quo today.

And at St. Catharines, Eric Sutcliffe, a junior with Saskatoon in 1961-62, became the first casualty in the Canadian camp. Sutcliffe, 19, was caught with a hard bodycheck by Ed Meyer (Akron) which, Kenyo showed a slight shoulder separation.

Stanlees Well Beaten

Italianos Whip Blondes

"Riverdesi, Stanlees' wavbled Italian contingent at the wrestling embroglios here last night.

The rest of the pewsters were the dirty dito in Dutch, German, Zwick's Island and England.

It was a fitting processional dirge for the platinum blondes, Steve and Big Bob, who beat Hollywood tag.

For the young giant Bruno Sammartino and his agile but smaller buddy, Toni Marino, gave the movietown attractions the world-beating they have had in a Belleville ring.

At one time Senilin' Stan darted Bruno to but him out of the ring. He stood in centre, poised like a statue, either.

Bruno came charging off the ropes like a wounded buffalo. He was like a hurtled ton of brick and he not-only wiped off the Stanlee smile but drop-ed the owner over the ropes.

The ringside Italianos went into a frenzied. So did big brother Bob. But there wasn't much he could do about it.

He did climb into the ring to take up the cudgels. And as was to be expected Sammartino he hoisted by his own petard.

He flipped and flopped the stanlees like they were mat-level, too, and Awarded the fall to La Stanlee.

The blondes had their own moments and by various appeals and stroke of skullduggery methods gave the Italianos some punishing sessions.

Marino came back and on two occasions cleaned the ring of everything that even resembled a Stanlee.

Ernest Borgnine Again Back In Navy But in TV Series

By DORIS KLEIN

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—After 17 years, Ernest Borgnine is back in the navy.

"It's not exactly the navy I remember," Ernie said. "I don't think we could have won the war if we'd had one like this. But it's a lot more laughs."

Ernie wound up 10 years in the navy as a chief gunner's mate in 1945. He re-enlists as a lieutenant-commander in McHale's Navy, a new comedy television series which opens on ABC Oct. 11.

It's in the same zany style that made Phil Silvers' Sgt. Bilko series.

Ernie's new navy consists of three PT boats—one war surplus, tied up at nearby Balboa Bay, and two full-size mockups, moored in the "ocean" on the back lot of Revue Studios.

The backlot beach of Borgnine's tropical island has a native village of grass huts, peopled with islanders.

"The show's set in the South Pacific during the Second World War," Ernie explained. "I was in the Pacific, but before the war—I joined the navy in 1935. About as far out in the Pacific I went was Hawaii.

"In 1941, I quit the navy to go to work in a factory in New Haven, Conn. 1941, what a year to quit the navy! I was back in a few months.

"They never sent me to the Pacific during the war. In the beginning, we had only three boats in the entire Atlantic coast and I was on one of them.

"Then they sent me to Hollywood, Fla., I was assigned to a PT, patrol yacht. That was a great duty. We spent almost every night in Miami. It was about as wild sometimes as McHale's Navy.

"The PT was a converted yacht, the SS Intrepid. It used to be owned by the Murphy who invented murphy beds. He took it to Europe and all over before the war. You should have seen what the navy did to it!"

The navy made a lot of changes in Ernie, too. He went in at 17, weighing a modest 165 pounds. He came out 100 pounds heavier.

It also met his first wife, Rhoda, in Bowling Green, Va. She was a Wave. They had a daughter, Nancy, now 20. But the marriage broke up, after nine years, in 1958. A year later, Borgnine wed fiery Mexican actress Katy Jurado. That marriage, too, now is on stormy seas. The pair are separated and Borgnine sees little hope for reconciliation.

Singalong Jubilee Members Discuss Singing Folk Songs

By DAVE PIKE

HALIFAX (CP)—They were sitting in Fred McKenna's tiny hotel room late one night playing a few tape recordings and talking, mostly about folk songs and singers.

There was McKenna, his massive frame perched Buddha-like on the bed; Bud Spencer, lounging passively in a chair, and Bill Langstroth, his brow furrowing as he transformed a thought into words.

The three, principal performers on the CBC—TV national network Singalong Jubilee, had just finished a rehearsal.

Langstroth, 30, from Hampton, N.B., whose idea last year to bring in American folk singer Pete Seeger led to development of the program in a CBC producer who babbles with energy.

Spencer, 20-year-old former logger and railway worker from Chilliwack, B.C., lives in Vancouver where he is a popular performer.

McKenna, 26, is a talented fiddler and singer from Fredericton who was urged to give up music studies at one time because of blindness.

BROAD DEFINITION

The conversation went like this:

Spencer: What is a folk song? Everybody has his own opinion. I guess it depends on who you're talking to; if you're making a living at it.

McKenna: Folk music to me includes everything from bluegrass to Dixieland.

Langstroth: The real folk singers sing among themselves —fishermen, farmers out plowing a field recorded their personal feelings, emotions, experiences. . . . You might define us as minstrels as opposed to folk singers. We take the folk songs and adapt them to our own purposes.

McKenna: The trouble with the ethnic boys is that they seem to judge everything so cut and dried. They wind up as cliques—the purists who'll only listen to the songs as they are supposed to have come out of the mouths of lumberjacks, the fishermen, the farmers, who do they know the lumberjacks couldn't sing? What's the saying? If you can't sing anything else . . .

Spencer: . . . You can always sing folk songs. Well, look at it this way. They also say you need a helluva good voice to sing even a folk song well.

LITTLE IS ORIGINAL

McKenna: The ethnics tend to hold back the development of the folk song. You know, 90 per cent of our own Canadian stuff we can trace back overseas. It's the same with the U.S. Why, England can trace half its stuff back to Gaul. This stuff about Maritime folk songs — the damned stuff never originated here and yet when it's collected, it's called Maritime.

Langstroth: When people say the Atlantic provinces are rich in folk songs, it's only because we had the isolation. We have a sense of history here. This is something I didn't find in a place like Montreal.

Spencer: Anything that's not commercial the public never hears. But if folk songs have come back in the last three or four years it's mainly because it's commercial.

McKenna: Namely the Kingston Trio. Spencer, me bye. They did some kooky stuff but they brought it back.

Langstroth: Pete Seeger is the granddaddy of them all. He's been at it for years, with his music purpose being to get it going. He's the largest reason for making it commercial.

Spencer: And he's done it without being slick in the way the Kingston Trio is. The commercial boys polish the songs. Maybe they sometimes polish them too much but a lot of it can do with some work.

PROTEST SONGS

McKenna: . . . The songs that support a cause, the protest songs if you like—I pick these up for my own satisfaction, not because I want to use them to push the cause. I don't sing them as much as I might because they go over their heads today.

Spencer: Take the union songs, the songs of the Depression, etc. They just wouldn't sell today, not with the public. Today's causes, the bomb . . .

McKenna: I'll tell you why, it says this or that.

"THE NOTORIOUS LANDLADY"
A tremendous star trio — Kim Novak, Academy Award winner Jack Lemmon and Fred Astaire — are teamed in the Fred Kohlmar-Richard Quine production, "The Notorious Landlady," new Columbia comedy due at the air-conditioned Park Theatre for its first Eastern Ontario showing.
According to advance reports, "The Notorious Landlady" is a comedy about a young American career diplomat stationed in London, who rents an apartment in the fashionable private home owned by a beautiful young woman. He learns his lovely landlady is suspected by Scotland Yard of having murdered her husband, but he falls in love with her anyway in the complete dismay of the State Department.
Miss Novak, the sleek, sultry blonde who is one of the reigning Hollywood queens, has the plum title role, one of the best of her career to date. As the enigmatical beauty in "The Notorious Landlady," Miss Novak is said to record, for her, a series of screen firsts: her first screen bath and her first flight, with a lady female opponent. She also designed the succession of dazzling gowns she wears in "The Notorious Landlady."
Lemmon whose Hollywood reputation as a comedian has never been higher, is again playing the bright-young-man-in-a-fix, the sort of good-natured "schnook" role he brought to such films as "The Apartment," "Some Like It Hot" and "Mr. Roberts," where his performance won him an Academy Award. As the young diplomat in a dither, Lemmon threatens to upset Anglo-American relations no end.
Astaire, the third member of the stellar triumvirate, is said to continue his pursuit of straight comedy in "The Notorious Landlady." As Lemmon's superior in the London embassy, he has trouble explaining Lemmon's antics while Lemmon busily keeps trying to prove Miss Novak couldn't possibly have killed her husband . . . especially when the body ultimately is found in Kim's bedroom.
Lionel Jeffries as a Scotland Yard inspector and Estelle Winwood as a wealthy invalid are featured in support of the stars. Based on a story by Margery Sharp, "The Notorious Landlady" was directed by Richard Quine for Fred Kohlmar; Larry Gelbart and Blake Edwards penned the screenplay.
Two shows nightly 7.00 p.m. and 9.00 p.m.

It's either because they don't give a good roaring damn or they think it's going to happen anyway — the bomb dropping and so on. Well, it's . . . I'm starting to get tagged with these cause things. Not that I care.
Spencer: You sing a song because you like it, because you feel it, not necessarily because it says this or that.

Suns Grab Lead

Leafs Trail Crackers 3-2

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Some home town fans were unhappy today, for the first time in the International League pennant race.

Jacksonville Suns, regular season champion winners, finally crashed through on the road, as they whipped Rochester Red Wings 5-3 to take an 3-2 gain lead in their best-of-seven semi-final series.

It was the first time in 10 games of the two semi-final sets that the home team has lost. Atlanta Crackers followed the home winning pattern as they took Toronto Maple Leafs into camp, 5-1 in 11 innings, for a 2-1 margin in that series.

Action shifts to Jacksonville and Toronto tonight.

Rochester got off to a 3-0 lead against Jacksonville in the first inning, on Dan Krsnich' solo homer, followed by two singles and a sacrifice fly. But the Suns knocked Red Wing starter Herb Moford out in a four-run fourth, featuring Larry Brown's two-run homer.

Joe Schafferoth, the winningest pitcher in the league with 16 during the regular season, got the victory.

The Crackers got the winning run home in the 11th when John Ellis singled, moved to third on Joe Morgan's single and scored when Toronto second baseman Lee Tate muffed the throw from the outfield for an error.

In an earlier drove in the lone Toronto run with a single in the fifth. Glenn tied the game with a solo homer in the seventh.

The Tracks

TORONTO (CP)—The brown colt Indian Crossing won the featured Old Rosedale Purse before 6,132 spectators at Woodbine Friday.

Indian Crossing, racing in the green-and-orange colors of the Zeus Stable of Calgary, won his first race of the year in his fifth start, after three losing efforts at Edmonton and one here last Monday.

With Gordon Lansowy in the stirrups Indian Crossing bounded first from the starting gate and stayed that way through the 1 1-16-mile race on the dirt track. Indian Crossing negotiated the distance in 1:49 flat.

Raven Wing was some seven lengths back in second place in a tight fit with third-place Marcus Aeholius.

The quinella payoff on Indian Crossing and Raven Wing was $18, numbers 1 and 3.

The daily double return of $170.70 was engineered largely by $2-to-1 outsider Swing Gal in the first. Treacher's Pal was the second-race winner at 2-to-1 odds.

Days of Two-Bit Haircut Recalled by Old Pictures

Shave and a haircut, two fly to Rome in the year 303 bits.

That's a far cry from what it costs today to have the same job done. In fact today's tab would be $2.50 — exactly ten times the cost indicated by the above once popular ditty.

In most shops today a haircut costs $1.25 and shaves are the same price.

The amazing thing about it all is that the major portion of the 1,000 per cent increase in barbershop prices has all come about in less than 50 years.

In fact during World War II haircuts were still only 35 cents, although to be truthful wartime price regulations kept them pegged at that figure.

Hazen Stairs, proprietor of the New Central Barbershop on Front Street, is possibly the oldest still-active barber in the city. He says 35 cents is the least he ever received for a haircut, but he has a picture of a city barbershop taken about 45 years ago which shows that 25 cent price was then in effect.

'AUSTERITY' DAYS

Mr. Stairs has been in the business since 1918 and well remembers barbering under what today would be austerity conditions.

For instance, when he started barbering 45 years ago, the hydraulically operated barber chairs were unheard of and electric clippers were also just a figment of someone's imagination.

Wooden chairs were still being used when Mr. Stairs learned hair cutting.

"They could be set at a reclining position for shaving but they couldn't be raised or lowered," he recalls.

Also in vogue at that time were individual shaving mugs for all a barbershop's customers. The idea was that individual mugs and brushes were more sanitary.

They were possibly right at that.

Today the wooden barber chairs and individual shaving mugs have disappeared. In their place are streamlined hydraulically operated chairs and electrically heated lather services units which keep warm lather always at the barber's fingertips.

Mr. Stairs has a picture of an old time Belleville barbershop, (re-produced above) which shows the old fashioned wooden barber chairs and the individual shaving mugs. It is a picture of the Malyea shop taken at the turn of the century.

The shop has long since disappeared but old timers say it was located on the west side of Front Street about opposite the city hall.

Mr. Stairs came to Belleville from Fredericton, N.B., where he had worked in a hotel shop in that city. Here he started in the Ten Sullivan barbershop and about 30 years ago opened his own shop. For the past 12 years he has been barber examiner for the Department of Labor in the Belleville zone.

Getting a shave or a haircut seems to be a familiar thing to most of us.

KNOWN BEFORE CHRIST

And well it should be for barbers have been known since long before the birth of Christ.

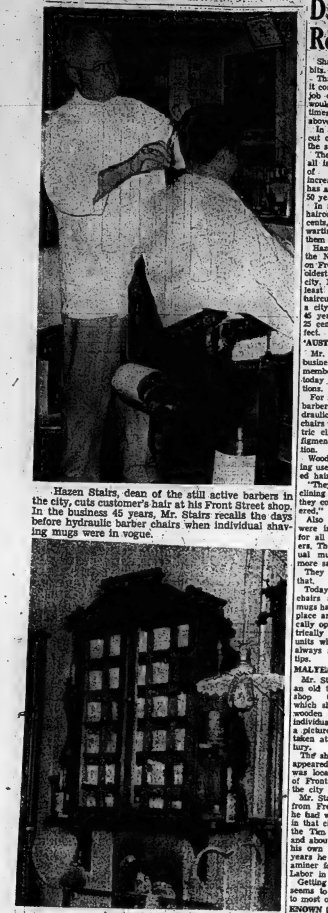
It is recorded that the first barbers were brought from Sicily to Rome in the year 303 B.C.

They, as now, the barbers were the men to look to for the news of the day and if it's even stated their shops became a resort for loungers of every type.

The first record of barbers in England dates back to the 13th century and even then they were starting to organize, with barbers being governed by groups and forced to pay certain annual subscriptions. Each group was ruled by a master barber.

In the early days the barbers were closely associated with the surgeons and in 1462 a charter was granted their union, later being called "The Company of Barbers and Surgeons."

In fact the barbers and the surgeons apparently worked together until about 1730 at which time the surgeons gained the upper hand and the union was dissolved.



But the term "barber" apparently comes to us honestly. It comes from the word barba, which is Latin for beard.

And all down through the years the profession has been recognized. In London there is the famous Barber-Surgeons Hall, while the first barber in Rome has a statue in his memory.

Even the familiar barber pole has a verse written about it.

But it was a poor trade until 1887 when the Journeyman Barbers International Union of America was formed and prices were standardized.

Times have changed!

Hazen Stairs, dean of the still active barbers in the city, cuts customer's hair at his Front Street shop. In the business 45 years, Mr. Stairs recalls the days before hydraulic barber chairs when individual shaving mugs were in vogue.

Half a century ago shaves cost 15 cents and every barbershop customer had his individual shaving mug. Picture shows mug case in Malyea shop over 50 years ago.

Wooden tilting chairs were the latest in barbershop conveniences when this picture of the Malyea shop on Front Street was taken just over 60 years ago. Electric lights were still in comparative infancy and Jersey Cream Yeastcakes were being advertised.

Oldest Girl Defies Her Mother

DEAR DORIS—My oldest girl, who is fifteen, has turned on me. She has always been her father's pet and years ago he told her she didn't have to help around the house or do anything I told her to, for that matter. Now he has left us all for another flame, but my daughter still idolizes him.

She wants to go and live with him, but I have the say. But he has told her and the others that he doesn't love Mummy any more. He doesn't need any responsibility for the children either.

Meanwhile my girl is getting worse. Whenever I try to make her do anything, we get into a fight — BROKEN HEARTED.

DORIS CLARK

DEAR BROKEN—It may take years and maturity for your daughter to see through her father's charm to his "feet of clay."

Talk with her like a pal and be sure she knows you love her. She cannot help but feel rejected by her father. Underneath she needs and craves some rules to go by.

Your firm discipline, given with kindness, can be her lifeline.

* * *

DEAR DORIS—I like this boy who is the same height as me, a grade lower than me in school, and six months younger. I am fifteen. Am I "robbing the cradle?"

I met him while vacationing in my home town. I was only there for a week, but developed quite a crush on each other. I won't see him until December, but we write once a week. Is it possible that the same feeling can exist between us four months from now, even without seeing each other?—CONFUSED.

* * *

DEAR CONFUSED—Possible but not probable. A six months' difference in age does not constitute robbing the cradle, but your ideas and his have many changes to come. I suspect you will be looking with loving eyes in another direction before Christmas.

* * *

DEAR DORIS— I'm fourteen and in grade nine. I am what you call ugly — freckle face or "sour face". I don't like these names but this is what all the guys (13-15 yrs.) call me. I'm interested in boys but they don't seem to be interested in me and sometimes I wish that I had never been born. Can you help me?

I get asked for dates by a lot of boys, but I can't accept these because they've all got a bad reputation. —DISCOURAGED.

* * *

DEAR DISCOURAGED— How rude can they get? They can't have heard of the ugly duckling who grew into a graceful lovely swan!

So can you. At 14 you are just beginning to grow up. You have great promise.

And you can help things along. Learn about manners, menus, skin care and exercise. Send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope and I will send you an article by an expert on growing up gracefully. Could be that before long these sad'e boys will be greeting you with a "Hi, Beautiful!"

* * *

TO MRS. R. F.—If you will send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope, I will send you my leaflet on learning practical nursing at home.

* * *

(There are reasons why folks act as they do. Doris can shed light on your special human problem. Write to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

The Golden Years

Contrasting Retirement Life Not Always What You Expected

By THOMAS COLLINS

What you think you want for retirement, if you are like most people, is contrast.

You have been an introverted auditor in a back office; you dream of treasure islands. You live on a farm and you long for big-city life, and vice versa. You live in the North and you yearn for the South.

There's nothing wrong with this. Not if you have the courage to see it through and satisfy yourself the contrast is, or is not, what you want. And not if you leave the door propped open so you can come back.

In general, contrast is not really what you want at 65.

"My wife", says an insurance man who retired last year, "must have visited somebody's country estate when she was a young girl. Always she wanted us to have a country place. And as my retirement came on she insisted we start planning it.

"We did.

"I bought 30 acres eight miles out of town . . . just about right for an artificial lake, some woods, a big patio with umbrella, a low-slung very modern ranch house . . . and maybe a couple of horses".

A CHIC IDEA

It was a far cry from apartment living in town. But it was a chic idea. The wife was socially bent, with friends all over and the country place was to be a sort of social temple where she would reign as high priestess under the umbrella.

"Before eight months were over we knew we were wrong" the husband says now. didn't care for, inconveniences we didn't anticipate, and nothing to do on the 30 acres . . ."

They moved to Arizona . . . to a subdivision where neighbors who like to play bridge and entertain are all about them.

Farmers retire and move into town, usually because their wives think city living has some special magic to it. Few ever admit to the change, though you'll seldom find one to admit it. Northerners retire to the South, and they fare better than most because there are scads of other Northerners around. Big-city couples go back to the small towns. The small-towners go long last, can move into the city.

In the main, these moves don't bring happiness. Outsiders don't know this because most people who make the move at 65 can't recoup. They're stuck with what they have chosen. And they have an uncanny talent for telling you everything is just wonderful.

So, if you are the introverted auditor who wants a treasure island, or if you are any of the people mentioned above who yearns for something different when the pension comes, then do these things —

1. Hold the housing you now have — rent it out, loan it out, close it up, do anything, but be sure you hold to it.

2. Go stick your toe in the water. Dip into savings, sell the car, cash in investments (it may be the wisest spending you ever did) and go test what you think you want. Rent a farm for a year, or become boarders in a farm home if your yen is to go rural and raise tomatoes. Go live in a motel in the Southland for three months. Take a cruise to the South Seas. Lease quarters in a small town for six weeks (that's usually long enough) or in a city for four weeks.

3. Ask yourself honestly if a different way of life is what you really want, or are you just bored? A 65-year-old mind and body are pretty set in their ways after 30 or 30 years of one kind of living.

4. Keep quiet. Retired people have a habit of talking too loud about where they're going and what they'll do, then find it too embarrassing to back out. There's always time enough to commit yourself to a rowboat trip down the Mississippi, if a rowboat trip is what you want after you try it.

WORLD-WIDE TRADE MEET PROPOSED

Monetary Fund Head Predicts Stable Period

Sees Pressure Easing On U.S., Canada Dollars

WASHINGTON (CP) — International pressures against North American currencies have eased, shifting to those of Europe, whert production costs are rising.

This was the prediction today of Per Jacobsson, managing director of the International Monetary Fund, to be kicked off a five-day annual conference with a suggestion there is no need to increase the present price of gold.

Out of post-war monetary tension, he told the gathering of finance ministers and central bankers from some 90 countries, may now be emerging a state of equilibrium, solid enough to withstand the impact of such pressures as will never be wholly ended.

In earlier months, world pressures had been on Canadian and U.S. dollars, now on those while Europe's money gained strength through high trade surpluses and fattened gold reserves.

Now, Jacobsson noted, production prices in the U.S. appear to be stabilized while wages in a variety of European countries are outpacing productivity "with a consequent pressure on costs."

KING MAKES VISIT

King Baudouin drove to the scene to watch steel-helmeted workers start carving in the wreckage. Thirty Belgian soldiers, two bulldozers, two excavators and five cranes were at work in the wreckage.

Employees in the building had been documenting the results of a recent census. An official said the work had been mostly destroyed and the census "will have to be organized all over again."

Officials working in the part of the building which remained intact said 'creaking sounds were heard just before the collapse.

Minutes after the collapse colleagues of the trapped victims were frantically trying to reach them through heaps of bricks and concrete mingled with piles of documents and files.

Fear 23 Dead As Brussels Building Falls

BRUSSELS (Reuters) — At least six persons were killed today and 17 others are missing and feared dead in the wreckage of a 5-storied four-storey building.

Rescue workers reported 20 dead.

Brussels officials said 13 persons were injured in the disaster.

About 50 persons were believed to have been in the building when it collapsed apparently because of a landslide touched off by nearby construction work on new buildings.

The building, housing offices of the Belgium economics ministry statistical department, was on the Rue de la Loi, Masses of concrete piled outward in a big excavation prepared for the building of a new house.

Fire department officials on the spot said there was "practically no hope of finding survivors."

Mother of Five Slain But No Arrests Made

EDMONTON (CP)—Police today continued investigation into the hammer-killing Saturday of a mother of five. City police said no arrest had been made.

A search was under way for Peter Presniak, 45, husband of Mrs. Gertrude Presniak, about whose body was discovered early morning by Vic Howlett found a note pinned to the door of a house in northeast Edmonton.

The note said: "Don't wake the children. Call police. Somebody is dead in the house."

Police and firemen dragged the North Saskatchewan River in the chance they might find Mr. Presniak's body. His car was found near the city's High Level Bridge.

Mrs. Presniak was a nurse's aide at a city hospital. Her husband is a mailman.

Country Gets Bad Press in London

LONDON (CP)—Old rancors between Canada and Britain over the Common Market were revived Sunday as the conference of Commonwealth prime ministers approached its climax.

In corridor discussions, in press briefings and above all in hostile newspaper comments, an impression built up on either by belated Canada as the only Commonwealth country ready to say it is opposed to United Kingdom membership in the European Economic Community.

United Church Approves Wider Grounds for Divorce

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — The United Church of Canada today for the first time approved divorce "in certain circumstances" and called for a federal royal commission to broaden the grounds for divorce in Canada.

Council earlier rejected a proposed resolution calling for a national censorship board in Canada. In other action, council supported measures to curb unemployment and assist city and rural dwellers to face problems resulting from swift changes in community life.

Alloted discussion time ran out before voting was held on all sections of the report of the board of evangelism and social service. A resolution urging the church to reverse its position to smoking was not reached.

But the key sections of recommendations on marriage and divorce were passed without dissent. The latter was a new record approving divorce in certain circumstances and called for a royal commission to examine suggestions to increase the grounds for divorce in Canada among grounds for divorce in the federal matrimonial law and to abolish parliamentary divorce.

A section calling for standard legal minimum ages for marriage across Canada was supported.

The main sections of the recommendations on marriage and divorce passed with only one amendment. Council recognized the justification of divorce "in certain circumstances" instead of "where, in fact, marriage has ceased to exist." The change was made on the ground that the first wording might be confused as meaning marriages were legally, rather than emotionally,

In turning down the censorship proposal, council voted to return it to a sessional committee to be examined out a more precise statement of United Church policy on the control of obscene literature.

Dr. Ernest M. Howse of Toronto's Bloor Street United Church led opposition against the proposal, drafted by the board of evangelism and social service under the new moderator, Dr. James R. Mutchmor.

Dr. Howse said the proposal was "a large, general, meaningless statement that really would involve us in particular and dangerous action."

The proposal suggested establishment of a federal censorship board to censor books and periodicals before their release to the public. The censors would include a literary committee, they considered "pornographic," a film committee and to control the distribution of questionable publications to keep them away from "those sexually immature."

DISARMAMENT PRIME CONCERN OF UN ASSEMBLY

General Council Meets Tuesday

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — Disarmament and the financial quandary of the United Nations are expected to be prime concerns of Canada at the 17th UN General Assembly which opens Tuesday.

The 104-member assembly meets once again in an atmosphere of tension, before a backdrop of hostilities from China to Cuba. Yet the situation was considerably worse when the 16th session adjourned in the day after Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold died in a plane crash while on a peace mission to The Congo.

Today representatives of commonwealth, the European Economic Community, the European free trade area, the United States, Japan, and three neutral nations that wished to participate.

The meeting would "give consideration to how to deal with the trading problems before us."

"This should prepare the way for the next ministerial discriminatory tariff negotiations on a most-favored nation basis.

The European Community is already a reality, and there has been no question here about the desirability of its consolidation as it now exists, carrying forward its objectives. However, it does seem that if we are to achieve still wider and more satisfactory trading arrangements the bold of leadership and direction of further world-wide trading arrangements now should be undertaken."

Diefenbaker outlined his globe-girdling plan in opening this morning's plenary session at Marlborough House. Prime Minister Macmillan and other delegates also spoke.

Diefenbaker prefaced his suggestion for world talks after referring to the plans of President Kennedy for expanding world trade.

The prime minister added:

"I believe, representing as we do members of the Commonwealth, and a large proportion of the world's population, we should support in a spirit of co operation, to give world leadership to a new effort to meet the difficult and diversified trade problems of the Commonwealth countries.

He said his proposed conference should consider ways of "for non - discriminatory tariff negotiations of on a most-favored nations basis, as the United States has suggested."

Also referring to the conference, Diefenbaker indicated the idea would be applicable whether or not Britain decided to join the EEC.

Alternative Plan Outlined By Diefenbaker

Canada to Be Host Country for Conference

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker today proposed a world - wide trading conference "at the earliest practicable date" with Canada as host country.

Unveiling what appeared to be his "alternative plan," Diefenbaker suggested the conference of Commonwealth prime ministers is that an invitation should be extended to all member nations of the Commonwealth, the European Economic Community, the European free trade area, the United States, Japan, and three neutral nations that wished to participate.

The meeting would "give consideration to how to deal with the trading problems before us."

Dean Advocates Secret Ballot In Strike Vote

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — The dean of the University of Western Ontario's law school Sunday night accused labor unions of undemocratic strike votes in an undemocratic manner.

Mr. Justice L. C. Rand told delegates to the first regional social life conference at Assumption University that strike votes should be conducted only by secret ballot.

"Nothing in this country can justify anything short of that," he said, "Any insistence to the contrary is the repudiation of a democratic principle . . . by men who will not tolerate dissent. It is an insult to the democratic order of things."

Dean Rand also criticized the steps taken to sabotage many strikes.

The lightness with which many of these steps are entered upon indicates an irresponsibility, both of leadership and workers; and even when approval is sought, the means taken are a travesty on the processes of democracy."

Dean Rand said the conflict between union and management pressure as old issue for solution. "There is none. The said the only answer must be reason "and if necessary, enforced by law."

MAY AID FARMERS

In Ottawa Sunday, Hon. William Stewart, Ontario minister of agriculture, said he believed the development of the European Common Market may eventually prove advantageous to the province's farmers.

"Every effort will be made to gain a strong foothold in those countries (countries belonging to the ECM) and, in doing so, we will be in a much better trading position no matter what develops."

Gerry Hartford, regional public relations director for the United Steelworkers, union, said in a speech Saturday that public opinion will be more, not less, of workers who go on strike "to obtain justice for themselves, their families and indirectly for the many unorganized workers who benefit from their activities."

The three-day conference, organized by the Roman Catholic Church, ended Sunday night. It was attended by more than 600 delegates from all parts of Ontario.

Barred From Deserted Farm 600 Douks Without Shelter

PRINCETON, B.C. (CP) — About 600 Sons of Freedom Doukhobors found themselves in a familiar position today—homeless and under fire for terrorist activities.

They thought their immediate troubles were over Saturday when caretaker Jimmy Dennis, 66, said they could stay at the deserted Cook Creek farm he was guarding near Hope, B.C.

But apparently the man who is purchasing the farm said no later the radical group was not welcome. Arrangements were made for civilian guards to watch the wood 'flooring, would be considered as industrial raw materials or as finished goods.

SUMS UP IMPACT

One headline in Sunday's papers summed up the impact on Macmillan of last Tuesday's and Common Market speeches, including the one delivered by Diefenbaker, says:

"Macmillan Leaves a Sour, bleaker night."

But generally the tenor of most articles is that Britain is over the hump, and that Macmillan will probably be installed by acquiescence from the Commonwealth family to press forward with the Brussels negotiations.

Dolphin Chosen for Research On How to Communicate With Mars

WASHINGTON (AP) — The dolphin, a toothy creature of the sea with a high - pitched, whistling voice, has been chosen by the U.S. space agency as a tool for research to learn how to communicate between man and other forms of life.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration awarded an 880,700, one - year contract to the world to the Communications Research Institute of Virgin Islands.

The assignment: "Basic scientific research in the feasibility and methodology for establishing communications between man and other species."

The study will be directed by Dr. John C. Lilly, who has written shortly on the dolphin, better known as the porpoise.

Dr. Dale Hattis, chief of NASA's environmental biology programs, said Lilly had determined that dolphins talk to each other, but at a rate eight times faster than that of human beings. Dolphins also have a remarkable gift of mimicry of the sounds they hear.

Hattis said that when a dolphin has been in contact with mankind, the animal apparently tries to repeat the human sounds it has heard. The dolphin will begin to come out as an unintelligible jumble of squeaks, squeals, quacks and blats.

However, Lilly has reported that a dolphin eventually said phrases as "three two three" and "National Geographic" even though it was in a high-pitched, quack-like form.

Hattis said that when the tapes were slowed down to half or quarter speech, however, Lilly found man interpreted better. The dolphin apparently had taken the human vocalization and compressed it as to time. By slowing the tape and lowering the pitch, the dolphin's voice came back in clear repetition of human speech.

Jenkins said the replies were so distinct that when one of Lilly's colleagues left a dolphin accent spoke to the dolphin, the animal repeated the sentence faithfully even to the southern drawl.

Hattis said: "We have not yet determined whether there are any communications reflected at earth from outer space. If we do make contact, we will learn not only our spoken, but also the animal apparently has of understanding.

Bigger Economic Education Program Planned by C of C

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Canadian Chamber of Commerce, split a year ago by issues over which blew up around Operation Freedom, today heard a forecast of increased economic education.

F. W. Bradshaw of Montreal, executive vice-president of Con. Celebrities Paper Corporation Limited and chairman of the chamber's executive committee, said the program would be:

"It is anticipated that a program of economic education will be carried out by chamber members at all levels in the chamber's structure, more intensified basis than during the last several years."

Mr. Bradshaw, reporting on his report for the chamber's 53rd annual convention, which opened today and continues through Wednesday. More than 1,000 delegates and their wives and husbands are attending.

Last fall, at the annual meeting in Halifax, the chamber expressed its usual emphasis support of the Canadian dollar's and proposed Operation Freedom as a special campaign to that end.

A pamphlet introducing the program said the objectives were:

"To rouse Canadians from apathy and indifference into action against the growing threats of socialism and communism and to inform Canadians of the freedoms enjoyed under the democratic form of government and under the economic system that private competitive enterprise."

Reaction to the linking of socialism and communism was vigorous. Jack Scott, president of Birchism" and "McCarthyism" were applied by those opposed to Operation Freedom. It resulted in much disagreement among the chapters and boards of trade which make up the Canadian chamber. Some criticized it, others accepted it and others said they would not interest it.

Mr. Bradshaw said today of Operation Freedom:

It should be emphasized that the program was not a new or radical departure from the program which had been in operation successfully for the last 18 years.

Jenkins, under the same Operation Freedom it was given much wider publicity than in the past and was more intensified than during the last several years.

The price of freedom is still eternal vigilance and the chamber's movement is dedicated to freedom."

Hard to Keep Secret for 3 Years Sighs Wife of FBI Counterspy

NEW YORK (AP) — "You don't know how hard it is for a woman to keep a secret for three years," says a young wife who knew her husband was feeding information to the Russians while working as an FBI counterspy.

"I'm proud of the job he did," Mrs. Lolis Fink told reporters Sunday night in a telephone brief, "and I'm very glad it's over."

Mrs. Fink, 24, recalled that when her husband-to-be, Richard Fink, 27, disclosed his undercover role shortly before their marriage in June, 1960, "I was shocked at first, at first."

Then, she said, "he explained the whole thing to me and I agreed to go along with it."

Fink, running for Republican candidate for New York State Assemblyman, said he was relieved that his undercover work by his hatred of Soviet Communism.

"I know there is a great deal of ill in the Soviet Union," said Fink in a radio talk. "I felt that this was one way of getting back at them."

The justice department disclosed Saturday Fink's undercover role.

Fink, a lawyer - politician, posed for the unusual pair for $2,000 payroll while keeping the FBI abreast of information he gave to two Russian employees of the United Nations, the department said.

Meanwhile, Fink's Democratic opponent in the Nov. 6 election said he was ready to communicate with Attorney Gen. Robert Kennedy if the justice department report "to see if there is any more to it."

Mrs. Fink, whose hard held elective office, is running against Mrs. Shirley J. Levitt for re-election to the State Assembly where he served 14 years, ago.

Fox, 52, said he was puzzled by some things in the department's report and was trying to figure out why Kennedy, a Democrat, would release it just at this time—two months before the election.

Fox told reporters he could not understand what type information Fink was under to cover work by his hatred of Soviet Communism.

Judge J.C. Anderson Fails In His Efforts to Arrange Tweed School Compromise

The fate of 36 East Hunt-ingdon students who have declined the Centre Hastings High School Board's order that they attend Madoc High School is still under consideration. Saturday, Judge J. C. Anderson reserved judgment on an application for mandamus, taken by Leonard Jones on behalf of Leroy Jones as a test case to force the school board to admit the students to Tweed High School. But the judge himself does not expect his decision to be handed down this week to end the case.

The judge himself pointed out that the decision could be appealed, and that the loser probably would appeal. He added that an appeal would probably take two or three months, and offered his services as a mediator, in hopes of an out-of-court-settlement, before considering the case.

CRITICIZES BOTH SIDES

The judge's statement, which included criticism of both parties for being concerned with the letter of the law and their rights under it, while the students in question were getting out of school, climaxed nearly three hours of legal argument over interpretations of the Secondary Schools Act.

Robert Temple, lawyer for Larry Jones, and Ben Hurley, lawyer for the Centre Hastings High School Board, conducted the argument between them.

Thomas Lally, lawyer for Wesley Hamilton, principal of Tweed High School, the original respondent, stated at the beginning that his client took no position in the case.

After the argument Judge Anderson commented that as long as the case had come to court, it might as well "have done without the paraphernalia of an interlocutory dispute."

"And if you can't agree on a matter like this," he added, "I don't see how you expect the United States and Russia to agree on anything."

He warned that his decision could be appealed, and that in the opinion of Mr. Justice Ferguson, he has performed his services as a mediator, in hopes of an out-of-court-settlement, before considering the case.

ALTERNATIVE

In Brussels for entry into be EEC, Diefenbaker said "substantial further improvement" will be needed in view "of unprecedented gives by Britain" safeguarding the Commonwealth interests.

STILL IS SCOPE

He said "little has yet been agreed with the six" regarding tariffs on new products and on processed foods. There seemed little hope, he said, of obtaining more favorable to Commonwealth interests. Improvements also were needed in relation to temperate agricultural products.

Canada also hoped and expected that some improvement in the quotas regarding manufactured products, on which Britain previously had agreed, already been reached in Brussels.

Diefenbaker said that if it was not possible to obtain these he would be prepared to permit Britain to withdraw from the Commonwealth preference minis-ters. It would also co-operate with other countries in waiting for the results of the Brussels negotiations.

He made it apparent that there is an almost unanimous desire in the Commonwealth countries for more preferential trade privileges which will give greater assurance of continuing trade than the result to date of negotiations at Brussels now provides."

He concluded by saying it is necessary for the Commonwealth to take a lead in achieving a solution to the international trade problems. Working together in a wider framework "should make it possible to find new focus for Commonwealth co-operation."

BRITISH FRIENDLY CLIMAX

Prime Minister Macmillan summed up for the defence, ending a two-hour and 20-minute meeting of the heads of Commonwealth leaders voiced their views. Macmillan earlier described the final Common Market debate as "friendly," in marked contrast to last week's tension and frayed nerves.

The sources said the Commonwealth premiers, who spoke included India's Jawaharlal Nehru, Australia's Robert Menzies and New Zealand's Keith Holyoake.

Others were Rashid Kawawa of Tanganyika, Pakistan's Mohammed Ayub Khan, Sir Abdullah's Senator Sam Fernando.

Macmillan spent most of Sunday writing the speech which conference sources said aimed at "persuading" Britain to accept devastating criticism of the entry negotiations which Britain spent nearly two years.

Today's "friendly" conclusion to the Commonwealth debate was in striking contrast to the short tempers and tension which marked the first session last week.

At that session one Commonwealth leader after another voiced strong—and often bitter (Ire) criticism of Britain's decision to ask admittance into the European Economic Community.

Macmillan, his political future possibly at stake, sought to allay Commonwealth anxieties and win general approval of the visiting premiers for a mid-October meeting of ministers to be issued when the talks end Wednesday.

British commentators said the choice lies between some (according to Toronto Daily Telegraph calls a "negative atmosphere of family bickering."

DETECT UNDERTONES

Observers who specialize in the "atmospherics" of international conferences said the undertones of bitterness and behind-the-scenes manoeuvring at this largest of Commonwealth meetings.

Special conference committees dealing with specific trade questions ended three days of detailed discussion late Saturday. A principal Canadian objective was to prevent heavy wrapping paper for cement bags, and chemicals and petro-chemicals, should be considered as industrial raw materials or manufactured goods.

If manufactured goods, they would eventually lose the right

Two Quebec residents are in Belleville General Hospital today as the result of a one-car accident on highway 502, early this morning.

Taken to the emergency ward of the hospital by ambulance was the driver of the car, Jean Paul Theriault, and Pierre Theriault, attended by Dr. D. McVicker.

Moira H.S. Students See Stratford Play

A bus load of students from Moira Secondary School were enroute to Stratford today to view the presentation of Macbeth currently being staged at the theatre. The group of students was scheduled to leave at 8:30-this morning motivating to Stratford in time to see the matinee performance, and return home this evening.

to free entry into Britain. The fate of industrial raw materials has not been settled.

Also very important for individual Canadian industries. A factory in Pembroke, Ont., sends its entire output of polysiluts to Britain; and the same applies to the lumber output of a Fredericton company.

Macmillan had circulated a draft declaration at the start he hoped would win general approval of the conference. But the communique, there was no mention of expressions of hostility toward the Common Market project voiced last week by most of the Commonwealth leaders.

The draft sought in general terms to permit Britain to go on with its negotiations in Brussels this month by the end of December, Common Market on the best possible terms.

BEGGINS EMERGE

Conference sources said this general picture had emerged during discussions so far:

1. Many of the visiting statesmen think the incompleta outline of the entry terms will prevents them from making a final assessment. They were therefore likely to adopt a "wait-and-see" attitude ending the next round of negotiations.

2. Britain now has a full grasp of the latest reactions of Commonwealth leaders. These extend right down to detailed criticism of the safeguards proposed for dealing with individual commodities.

3. Britain is against going back to Brussels to seek renegotiation of any of the provisional arrangements, but is willing to ask for improvements and clarification of some aspects of the existing terms.

4. The Commonwealth consensus favors the early conclusion of world commodity agreements as a means of solving complex international trade problems.

5. Conference leaders hope that following the next negotiating phase at Brussels, there will be further close Commonwealth consultations.

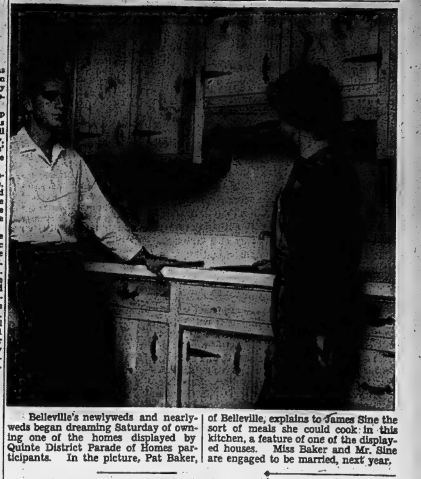
Veterans Hold Decoration Day At Cemetery



A good turnout of veterans was on hand Sunday afternoon for the annual Decoration Day Parade to the Belleville Cemetery.

The parade which formed up on the city market square was led by a color party from all veterans' groups and the Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans' Band. Arthur Hobbs was parade marshal.

The parade swung up Pinnacle Street to Victoria Avenue, then down Front to Bridge and along Bridge to Cedar where the marchers took buses for the remainder of the way to the cemetery.

The Decoration Day service was conducted at a symbolic cross set up in front of the mausoleum. Archdeacon J. R. Creegan gave the address. Also taking part in the service were Father Joseph Imhoff and Bram Humphreys. The Salvation Army Band played for the hymns sung during the service.

Wreaths were laid by Cecil Brown, president of United 201 of the Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans, assisted by Jack Lundberg, Dominion president, and Leslie Digby, representing the Canadian Legion.

Belleville's newlyweds and nearlyweds began dreaming Saturday of owning one of the homes displayed by Quinte District Parade of Homes participants. In the picture, Pat Baker, of Belleville, explains to James Sine the sort of meals she could cook in this kitchen, a feature of one of the displayed houses. Miss Baker and Mr. Sine are engaged to be married, next year.

60,000 Books Borrowed in 3-Month Period

The summer vacation period is far from being a holiday at the Corby Public Library where no less than 60,000 books were borrowed during the three-month period of June, July and August.

The 3-month summer period showed an increase of 9,538 in book borrowing over the same period last year. Close to one-half of the increased reading was in boys' and girls' books.

Six hundred and thirty-six new members were enrolled in the library during the three-month period. Of the new readers, 419 were adult and 217 were boys and girls.

A new approach for the transition of junior library members to the adult library was attempted this year with grade VIII students from Queen Alexandra, Queen Mary and King George Schools being invited to the library and introduced to the adult section.

Chief Librarian Miss Olive Delaney, said that in the past it was felt that boys and girls transferring to the adult department were discouraged from using the library because it seemed unfamiliar.

Also this year library workers have commenced stock-taking in the adult section when the library is open. This has worked out very well although there are still some finishing touches to do before an exact count of books is available.

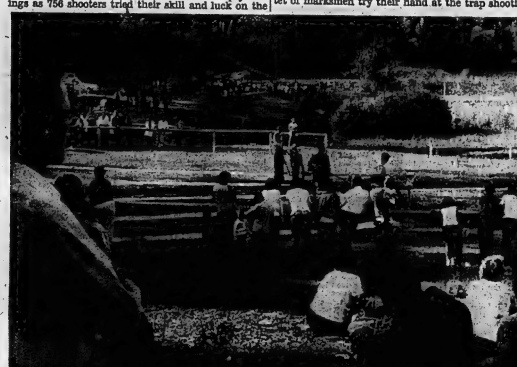
Parade and Inspection Open 'Parade of Homes' Week in City Saturday

Hundreds of local and rural home owners had the privilege this past Saturday and Sunday of having a birdseye view of the latest in modern living when the Quinte District Home Builders Association held their annual open house at eight different new homes to officially open the 1962 Parade of Homes.

Mayor A. McLean Haig officially opened the Parade of Homes at a brief ribbon cutting ceremony at the Shopping Plaza Saturday morning. Also on hand for the official opening was Lee Grills, M.P., Alderman W. H. Todd, representing Mayor J. MacDonald of Trenton, City Engineer, Wilbur C. Purcell, Deputy Mayor Ben Corke and Building Inspector, Grant Stinkle.

Following the ceremony, a motorcade of convertibles, carrying the above dignitaries, headed the colorful parade which proceeded from the shopping plaza down Bridge Street to Pinnacle, up Pinnacle Street, to Station Street. The parade then crossed to Front, proceeding down Front Street to Dundas, and then back to the shopping plaza. A motorcycle escort provided by the city's police department, preceded the open cars.

Spectators gathered on Bridge Street, Front Street and Dundas Street, to watch the parade as it passed.



The new homes, located on Bridge Street, Dundas Street, Victoria Avenue, Herchimer Avenue and Farley Avenue, were opened to the public at 2.00 p.m. Saturday afternoon.

The homes were jammed to the walls with people on Sunday, throughout the day. All reports indicated a tremendous crowd converged on the area over the weekend.

Leading the parade, behind the open cars, was the A.N. and A.F. kiltie band, riding atop a float, supplied by Wilson's Concrete Products of Belleville. Others taking part in the parade were: Belleville Lumber Supply, L. G. Byrd and Son, Painters; De Mille Construction Company Limited; Herlock Electric; Don Keeler Construction; Lakeland Natural Gas; Chas. Lambert Construction; Murray Equipment; Stanley Park; Revay Construction; Arthur A. Sills and Son; E. C. Woods; LaBelle Electric; R. W. Selmes Contractor; E. Brett, and Maurice Rollins Construction Ltd.

The Randy Loewen Heating Company Limited of Belleville, won $25 for the most original float in the parade. Theme of the float was "Progress of Heating" From 1902 to 1962."

District Hunters', Anglers' Club Opened With a Bang

The opening of the Madoc District Hunters and Anglers Club yesterday was quite literally a real earth-shaking event. When Senator George D. White cut the ribbon to open the new grounds, a mighty explosion rent the air and flags flew up as though he had hit the jackpot on a pinball machine. The Senator received no free game, however.

Close to 800 sportsmen from the Eastern Central Association of Sportsmen's Club plus innumerable spectators thoroughly enjoyed themselves and the club's new facilities. Trap and stationary target shotgun shoots and high powered rifle shoots were held and there were numerous trophies and prizes for the top shots.

The new ranges were built by the club members on a 15-acre piece of property acquired 2 months ago. Through the dint of much hard work and long hours (many a night saw members and friends working until midnight under the light provided by car headlamps), visitors saw an archery range, a 25 and 50-yard pistol range, a 50 and 100-yard rifle range complete with army-style butts and a moving deer target range, a stationary shotgun range and a trap range.

These ranges were enhanced by a skilful job of landscaping which blended them into their surroundings, and were complemented by picnic facilities. The next project of this wide-awake outfit is to construct a clubhouse on the grounds.

Another feature of the Madoc club's facilities is a 15-acre beaver pond on which may be found five varieties of wild ducks. There might be some debate as to how wild they actually are for the firing on the ranges does not appear to disturb even when the pellets from the trap range activities gently rain down upon the water about them. It was certainly an unusual sight to behold five earnest shotgunners firing away on the trap range and seeing flight of ducks circling lazily just a few feet out of range above the activities.

The afternoon's activities also featured several demonstrations as well as much shooting. A display of retrieving put on by Bob Blythe of Colborne and Ted Miller of Toronto proved to be very well accepted and very excellently run.

ARCHERY SHOWN

There was also an archery demonstration put on by Warren Fleet of Belleville which attracted the attention of many present.

The popularity of the event astounded the local club members and president Lloyd Blue intimated that it might very well become an annual affair. Besides many members of the local fish and game clubs in the district (Belleville, Trenton, Picton, Napanee, Campbellford, Frankford, Bancroft and Stirling) there were also a large representation of people from outside the area. Some present were from as far as Pembroke and Simcoe.

The new club facilities are expected to produce a good many top marksmen. Already the local simrods have worn out one trap mechanism just firing off a few rounds in their spare time between moves of the bulldozer, so to speak. The club membership base also jumped from about 74 a couple of months ago to over 200 as of yesterday.

With their tentative plans for a cow clubhouse it would appear that the Madoc club is slated to become the top-notch sportsmen's club in the district in the very near future and credit for such an accomplishment must undoubtedly lie in the fact that the members are a very hard-working group for they have achieved this status in two short years.

The Voice of Sanity

In the midst of the current epidemic of inflammatory statements, with accompanying scare headlines, concerning Cuba, it is heartening to hear the voice of sanity raised in the land. It would, indeed, be more comforting if it were raised in the U.S., rather than in Canada, and by a statesman vested with authority, rather than by a newspaper armed only with influence. Still, we think the Toronto Globe and Mail, in its leading editorial Wednesday, discharged its responsibilities well. Whether many were well served will depend on their willingness to listen.

Briefly, the Toronto paper's argument is that Cuba is a foreign state, that it is entitled to conduct its internal affairs as it sees fit, that this right includes the acceptance of assistance from any foreign states that offer it, and nothing that is happening in Cuba with Russian aid has not been duplicated by the U.S. in other countries. "What prevents some U.S. citizens from recognizing the parallel which theu (U.S.) bases (in foreign states) offer with Cuba is that Cuba is off the U.S. coast," says the Globe and Mail. "They want to change the rules of the game when it is played in their own backyard."

All this is logical, but it would only make the Cuban situation more alarming were it not that, in the opinion of the Globe and Mail, "President Kennedy and members of his administration, have recognized the parallel."

The Toronto paper goes on to express the hope, which must be echoed by all sane persons, that the U.S. administration "will not permit political pressure to intimidate it into going further" than its already announced, and legitimate, intention of frustrating, by force if necessary, any attempted Cuban offensive against other Latin American countries.

It strikes us, though, that there would be more reason for confidence in the Kennedy administration, and in its ability to resist political pressure from extremists, if there were any assurance its present attitude toward the Cuban situation was firmly based on principle. It is rather difficult to see how this can be so, when we recall the Kennedy administration permitted the 1961 abortive attack by Cuban exiles, operating from U.S. soil. Its present attitude seems to have been the product of sober second thought, generated by that disaster. Perhaps it is all the more firmly based for that reason, but any conviction this is so must rest more on conjecture than on corroborated evidence.

Incidentally, the newspaper's assessment of the situation results in it arriving at a conclusion regarding Russia's recent warning to the U.S. which may be at variance with initial reactions to it. It is also similar views to those of the Toronto paper, but which nevertheless, upon close examination, appears to be valid. This is the contention that Russia's warning may well have been primarily designed to win a propaganda victory, though the Globe and Mail admits that could be serious enough. "Many words have sounded to the Cubans and their Russian allies like genuine threats." If, however, President Kennedy adheres to his announced intention of refraining from any attack on Cuba, the Russians "will claim that it was their threat which frightened off U.S. invasion," "says the Toronto paper.

One could wish every U.S. citizen, or at least every U.S. Congressman and newspaper editor, might peruse and digest the Globe and Mail's assessment of the situation and bring their words into conformity with its logic.

Meanwhile if some of the statements by members of the administration sound a little pugnacious—as with Foreign Secretary Rusk's declaration the U.S. will not be "intimidated" by, Russia's warning against an attack on Cuba but will "proceed as we find it necessary." - - - we must realize Congress elections are in the offing and the Democrats cannot afford to permit the Republicans to paint Kennedy and his team as "appeasers."

"Shaw's chief occupation was to stimulate thought, and he set you thinking even when he was wrong, as he frequently was, but he was always wrong in a great and magnificent manner. - Your mind when you came into his company couldn't lie down and quietly rust; he compelled you to turn over your beliefs and furnish them afresh; you couldn't in his presence take yourself or your faith for granted; you had to know not only what you believed but why you believed it."—St. John Ervine speaking in a BBC program about George Bernard Shaw.

Investment Clubs Multiply

By Amy Booth in the Financial Post

Only a little more than 10 years ago, the stock market was considered almost the exclusive preserve of the "First 400." Today, everybody is getting into the act, many through the medium of investment clubs.

Consider this: Since 1956 a group of 30 Dutch-born Torontonians have built up assets of $93,000 in the Golden Age Investment Club.

Or, at the other end of the scale, this comment from members of a university students' investment club: "We make one $50 payment after each summer as that is the only time we seem to have any money."

These 19 business and economic students—due to graduate next year—last year had only $900 invested in Canadian stocks. For the rest of the year a weekly quiz was held based on items from the business sections of the newspapers. But when their earning careers begin these students should have the jump in the market on many of their contemporaries.

• • •

These are just two examples of the new breed of Canadian who is springing up all over the country. Until recently only in groups of five or 50, more and more Canadians from all walks of life are being introduced to the stock and bond market through the medium of investment clubs.

The Montreal Stock Exchange, which helped the Canadian Association of Investment Clubs under its wing about one year ago, recently completed the first major survey of investment clubs in Canada.

The survey didn't turn up any candidates for Bakers, but it did cover the butcher, baker, nuclear physicist, car dealer, hair dresser, shipbuilder, Big Four football player, plumber, veterinarian, policeman, fireman, orthopaedic mechanic (makes artificial legs and arms) and ship-rigger. Almost literally thousands of other investors. . . .

• • •

Many, like the members of the Ferret Club, "barely knew the difference between a stock and a bond" when the club was formed only a year ago.

While acknowledging the hard work, this writer cannot help the fact that they still have "one heck of a long way to go," the club's first annual report also noted all members now have a rough working knowledge of stock analysis and market operations."

The diversity of backgrounds of investment clubbers generally, and particularly within each club, is probably one of the most significant factors brought out by the 100 replies received from the 270-member association, comprising some 40 individuals.

The Bromont Investment Club, for instance, includes a lawyer, chartered accountant, executives in steel, aluminum, paper, drugs fine paper, furniture, mining, textiles, printing, machinery, sales advertising and food processing. The average age is 43. Most members live in Montreal and summer in Bromont, the club's name.

Since 1956 the club has built up more than $10,000 in 13 stocks and one bond. In addition, five new investments, next to a slush fund from which "an occasional stock will be swept," the stocks tickets for the members' ship" are purchased.

• • •

An equally diversified club is Hearth Holdings, started in January, 1961, with 15 members, whose average age is 40, includes a doctor, a lawyer, a retired bush pilot, poultry farmer, trucking contractor, widow, logger and it is noted, "respective" wives.

The all four of this club's 24 holdings are in the mining, oil and gas and forest product industries.

The 10-member Mountwest Investment Club has met monthly for the past two years in members' homes.

While members were chosen on the grounds that they knew "absolutely nothing about investment", a representative stock charts and company annuals presenting at each meeting aided in their comprehension now.

Club president H. F. Houston says, "We feel we now have built up a fairly well diversified portfolio. The next step will be to enlarge holdings of various issues".

• • •

Did the recent market drop panic many of these investors? "We discussed the situation thoroughly," Houston says, "and decided that holdings were solid—enough to come back on the turn, so we are just sitting it out".

Still some clubs appear to work equally well on a narrow membership base.

Twenty members of the Canadian National Railways forming the Maplelaut Investment Club in Edmonton built total contributions of $6,300 since May, 1956, into $12,861 to April, 1962.

Then there is the Dixie Club whose ten members all work for the financial division of the late J. Heinz Co. of Canada, These investments began by purchasing speculative issues but likewise now lis "strictly in the growth field." Largest holding is John Labatt Ltd., followed by Lobaw Cor. "B", then Toronto-Dominion Bank and Canadian Oil.

Not quite all is work for the Dixies. The August meeting takes the form of a steak barbecue, "to satisfy our wives," the president says, and adds that little business is conducted then.

• • •

This survey is by no means all inclusive. The Globe talking part may not represent even five per cent of all the investment clubs in Canada.

Here is what the survey showed:

The clubs are scattered across the country. Included is a French - speaking club in Edmonton, a club of Canadians in Venezuela, a group of army personnel stationed in Germany the world as well as a group of conservers in the Bay of Mount Royal and a club which considers itself "just a cross section of a country club."

Earliest (of the 100) started in 1951. Another came along in 1955. Then 23 got their start in 1958. One year later there were 13 more. There started in 1958, 15 in 1959, 11 in 1960, 17 in 1961 and 11 in 1962. The remaining did not disclose the date of their organization.

Ages range from 20-70 although as the 14-member Spark Investment Club pointed out, their 13 female members were reluctant to record age.

Rumble Seat Beats Bucket

Hamilton Spectator

The recent questionnaire conducted by a Detroit bucket maker on college students' opinions about "bucket seats," must have struck a happy note with old-timers who had never heard of a bucket seat, but to whom a cozy rumble seat was a double ticket to togetherness. The difference also highlighted the extent to which automobile jargon has changed in the past thirty years.

Now the modern bucket seat (you old fuds are listening?) is a snt built to fit, approximately, the single anatomy. It offers scant comfort except to car riders to draw closer together. Although a majority of college students preferred bucket seats as "sporty," there was a mixed reaction to their value as social occasions. Even so the automobile company is making them optional at extra rather than standard equipment.

Considered over the span of years, the world bucket seat rumble offer an interesting study in terminology. Three decades ago, the boy who wooed and sung about at college were of the "old college try" type, while a rumble seat then was a highly desirable isolated feature at the back end of the car. automotive models which were "stylish" were called "classics". Many lasting friendships were begun in them — whether they started out that way or not. There was an American colloquialism, or "dickey seats" which was English. On the Canadian packets in the London of Sherlock Holmes' genius there was a tiny side driver's perch was called a "dickey box." The dickey seats of the 1930 roadsters were just as exposed to rain and storm; there was no top to put up.

All that is history. When the rumble or dickey seat was in its heyday, there were quaint models called touring cars and sedans for family use. If anyone had mentioned station wagon, it probably would have been interpreted as a horse-drawn wagon for lugging freight to the railway station. Even then there were "mudguards" over the wheels of automobiles.

In these days of automobile sounds more like a new position on a football team, unless a chap is young enough to own a bicycle.

Nuclear War Cheap Way To Kill Folk

By SYDNEY HARRIS

Those citizens who are distributed and alarmed about the high cost of the civil defense program have not really studied the economics of modern warfare. The real picture is bright indeed.

The billions we are spending for an armament race are high, but in reality the cost of killing most (after the survivors men and children) has become cheaper than ever before. It is almost, one might say, a bargain.

It has been estimated that in the American Revolution, Americans could shoot $300 to kill a single man. During the Civil War, the cost rose to about $6,000. In World War I, it was $25,000; in World War II, it was $50,000.

Thanks to the brilliant technological innovations of the last dozen years, in a nuclear war we will be able to kill a man for only $60. The American genius has pointed out, "a hydrogen bomb for the power of 20 million tons of TNT costs no more than $250,000. If TNT had been used, it would have cost $60 million."

Nuclear bombs have extremely high explosive power per dollars of investment. When galaxy, the destructive power, you don't add much to the cost even when you increase the power a thousandfold, the cost is low.

Attractive? Let us up, from a sound bookkeeping point of view, it is also democratic — the nuclear bomb is a boon to the smaller, poorer, more backward nations. After the initial investment, the smaller countries can afford to stockpile enough bombs to blow up half the world. This gives them a perfect right to be free nations and allows the less privileged peoples of the world to share the benefits of the more advanced nations.

At least, war is becoming thoroughly democratic. In the newer ages behind us, only large countries were able to wage effective war — usually against small ones or their fellow neighbors. In the atomic age, however, even a thimble-full of nations can afford to blow up the world.

Modern efficiency, however, has finally caught up with the facts of civilization. The cost of living may be rising steadily, but the cost of dying has become a source of fiscal gratification. When you can kill tens of millions for $60 a head, you are pretty near the breakeven point.

I hope that these warm and encouraging words give heart to the disbanded among us. No dollar the government is spending brings such a high return on investment as the nuclear bomb program. You can be dead certain of that.

Can Locate Brain Tumors By Electro-Encephalograph

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: What purpose does an electro-encephalograph serve? May abnormal conditions exist after a so-called normal or negative reading? J. B."

Tiny electrical impulses rise and fall in various lobes of the brain, and the electro-encephalograph (or EEG) detects these by means of wires attached to various strategic points on the scalp. The patient feels nothing, but the rise and fall of the electrical impulses are recorded on a strip of paper, and fall into patterns which can be interpreted.

Certain abnormal patterns are found with epileptics of various types; in some instances special patterns may appear in people subject to certain types of severe headaches.

Tumors, if they exist in the brain, can be located accurately with the EEG. Certain hemorrhage and other conditions also will affect the pattern.

The EEG, therefore, is an extremely useful device. No doubt whether you have yet come close to discovering all of its possible uses.

Nevertheless, it can't reveal everything we may need to know. Some abnormal conditions can exist very deep in the brain, or in the cerebellum or rearward part, and not manifest themselves in the EEG rhythms.

After all, having a normal temperature, or normal blood pressure, doesn't mean that a person may not have some ailment which doesn't affect these elements.

No, a "negative" EEG isn't proof that a brain tumor or condition exists, but it is mighty reliable in detecting — or disproving — certain conditions.

Many small faults become big ones if the same characteristic exist in both parents. And that is why some states forbid marriage of first cousins. There

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

At the back of the crowded bus, on the seat facing me, was a young business girl of smart appearance who was reading a paperback. Oblivious of the crowd, the noise, the motion, she sat absorbed in her book which, by the cover of it, was a thriller. I was much impressed with the powers of concentration the young lady must have to be able to lose herself in a book during a mere twenty minute bus ride downtown.

The elderly man next to me must have detected my interest in the matter. He nudged me.

"Imagine," he said in a low voice, "being so uninterested in the world around you as to be able to read on a bus!"

"Reading is revitalized," maketh the full man."

"She could be looking out the window," he said, "at all the fascinating scenes, the shops, the crowds, here are a hundred scenes to be seen in twenty blocks. She could be looking at her fellow passengers, wondering who they are, every one of them more of a mystery than all the paperback books in the drug stores. But no, she is immersed in some thirty-nine cent pot-boiler."

The young lady closed the book, got up with a vacant expression, left the bus and went to some job I am sure she is not the least bit interested in.

'IT IS AN ERROR'

The board of evangelism and social action headed by Dr. Mutchmor since 1936, declares: "It is an error to assume that because enough people ask indecent books, a widening of gambling and liquor laws, the government must necessarily accede to these requests.

"The basic function of the church is to discover leadership." An elected representative of the people "must be free to impose limitations on them through the proper exercise of conscience."

"With a true democracy we could operate, for example, a wise and much-needed system of censorship . . . thus youth might be protected and our newsstands kept clean of the filth and trash that now adorn them."

The resolution on censorship calls on the federal government to set up "a competent board of control" that would rule on published material referred to it by customs officials, law officers or members of the public.

In addition to banning outright any works judged pornographic, the board would be able to license books "referring to technical matters regarding sexual relationships" for use by professional people.

CONTROL PUBLICATIONS

The board would be empowered also "to license other publications only for definitive editions, and not by publication, as cheap pocket books, so that they do not become easily available to the unworthy immature."

Resolutions brought to general council by regional conferences of the church call for a general of the United Church Hand that smoking is not a moral issue and urge the church to go on record against the habit.

The recodlmendations on marriage and divorce are based on a six-year study by a special commission of ministers, lawyers, doctors and social workers.

The 60,000 - word study lays down the premise that the family unit is the cornerstone of society "and on its strength rests the stability of our national life."

Acceptance of the report and the commission's 18 recommendations by general council would mean that the United Church has broken from its traditlon—held also by other Canadian churches—that adultery is the only ground for divorce.

(General council makes policy pronouncements on behalf of United Church members across Canada. 1,000,000 Canadians according to the 1961 census, or more than 20 per cent of the population.

DORIS CLARK

Doris Clark's Advice Column Lauded by Readers, Experts

(Editor's note:—Kae McColl, a well known Canadian feature writer, gives her impressions of Doris Clark's "Successful Living" column which appears daily in The Ontario Intelligencer. Eifteen Canadian daily newspapers, including several in metropolitan centres, are subscribers to Miss Clark's column.)

By KAE McCOLL

There are two ways to look at lovelorn columns. Some people find the letters from and answers to "Heartsick," "Distressed," or "Wit's End" just fun for readers. Others feel these pleas for help should receive more than a flippant quip and that they should have the analytical advice based on sound knowledge of human behavior and social conditions in the area where the writer lives.

In March 1961 a new advice column called "Successful Living" appeared in The Ontario Intelligencer, Belleville, Immediately, D. G. Gardner of the Ontario Department of Public Welfare wrote the editor —

"What a pleasure to see a feature written especially for Canadian readers by a professional person who knows our own scene and who is obviously experienced and well qualified!"

By the middle of 1962 fourteen newspapers in large metropolitan centres across Canada (and one in Bermuda) had picked up the feature.

The writer, who has a lively writing knack gained in public relations work, is Doris Clark of Hamilton. Doris' garduation in Arts at McGill was followed by two years' post-graduate study in social work. Later she qualified for a Vocational Guidance Diploma from McMaster and more recently, after still further studies, was awarded a master's degree from the University of Toronto.

WIDE EXPERIENCE

Her follow-up included thorough engagement in many areas of social work in Montreal, Toronto and Hamilton; as a vocational counsellor and case worker, as a medical social worker and as a community organization worker.

It was out of her daily rounds that Doris got the conviction she should write an advice column. She realized that editors value the human interest factor in such features and was confident she could keep her copy bright.

Basically, she was distressed for the many people she came across every day who didn't have the know-how or the courage to seek professional advice from agencies in their own communities. Help columns written outside Canada at best, offer general, not specific. She decided:

"Within such a medium, I could reach out to a wide audience of readers and present human problems in a way that makes for good reading — yes!

"But at the same time I would try to interest more Canadians in the way we are really bringing about changes for the better in troubled peoples' lives.

"Those who needed it could be guided to an appropriate organization in their own community".

The hundreds of letters now pouring in testify to how right Doris was. Culled from her mail are such comments as:

"I notice that you are a social worker. Please give me some information about application regualtions in Canada."

"I am writing to you in the hope you can help me save my marriage."

"Thank you for your guidance and encouragement. Your letter will be brought out frequently to fit my every ills and keep me on the right course of action."

"... the results have been unbelievable."

COLUMN FILLS NEED

Leaders in the field of social science approving a new voice to speak for them. Dr. J. D. Griffin, general director of the Canadian Mental Health Association, writes:

"Two or three times we have wondered whether we should start a column like this . . . We've been frightened off by our own feeling of incompetence when it comes to the long haul of writing . . ."

Editors carrying the feature are enthusiastic. A. E. Boothe, managing editor of the Winnipeg Free Press, says:

"I am pleased to hear of the increasing number of papers that have been signing up . . . I think this is inevitable as more of them realize the advantages to newspaper and reader of a Canadian-produced column of this type . . . The response from our readers has been excellent."

This social worker - columnist keeps in touch with local welfare agencies, provincial and federal departments of welfare, the Canadian Welfare Council. They, in turn, keep her informed.

A service that doesn't show in Doris Clark's bright daily feature is the "long haul" of answering every one of the hundreds of letters she receives.

Miss Clark will be interviewed by Tom Hookings on CJSQ on Tuesday morning at 10.30 a.m.

ST. ANDREW'S W.M.S.

A warm welcome to the 33 members of the Women's Missionary Society of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church who were on hand for the opening meeting of the fall season on September 10th was extended by the president, Mrs. W. M. Barrie.

Following the reading of the minutes of the June meeting by Mrs. E. Siker, secretary, Mrs. H. Yorke for the Welcome and Welfare committee reported 31 hospital calls and seven house calls on shut-ins, members of the church during the summer. Other members reported an additional nine calls having been made.

Dr. E. Williamson, supply secretary reminded members that the dead-line for the packing of the bale for shipment to the Indian Mission at Kenora, Ontario, is drawing near and urged those who have donations to see that they are made available at once. All kinds of new or good, clean, used, clothing is required; also suitable Christmas gifts (unwrapped) for teenagers are especially needed. Dr. Williamson offered to pick up any donations if the donor would kindly call the office at WO 8-5316 and leave the address.

"The Glad Tidings" secretary, Mrs. C. E. Jones, reminded members that subscriptions to the magazine are due and emphasized the importance of the circulation number of the W.M.S. receiving the "Glad Tidings" but also the value of the interesting and useful source of information to all women concerned with the work of the church.

Mrs. F. Bandy also gave a report and also requested some additional funds to carry on for the remainder of the year.

Mrs. W. M. Barlow, as delegate to the W.M.S. training school at Albert College in July reported a highly concentrated, informative and inspirational course. Although it had been most tiring, she had found it to be a wonderful week which she had enjoyed to the full and wished to pass along in the months to come as much as possible of the information she had gained. Mrs. Barlow expressed her appreciation to the group for having given her the privilege of attending such an excellent training course.

The next portion of the meeting was conducted by Mrs. E. Siker, with Mrs. M. Barlow and Mrs. R. A. White The theme of the study this year 1962-63 is "The Christian Mission on the Rim of East Asia" and the resource book being used is "Orient Halt" by Dr. Andrew T. Roy.

The four territories in particular with which the study is concerned are Korea, Okinawa, Formosa (Taiwan) and Hong Kong. These countries while separated by salt water isolated from each other and having diverse histories, actually have many interests, and due to their geographic location as well as to the extreme pressures of two opposing ideologies from the West and the South Chinese, are of crucial importance in world affairs. They have many common complex problems, the consequences of which present a tremendous challenge to the church at this time in modern history.

McCOY — MATTHEWS

Standards of pink and white gladioli and a beautiful fern graced the altar of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Burnbrae and white satin bows with sprays of fern designated the guest pews for a pretty summertime wedding on Saturday, August 18th, at 3 p.m. when Lulubelle Matthews of Toronto, formerly of Harold, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Matthews, became the bride of Garland Ralph McCoy of Toronto, formerly of Bonarlaw, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert McCoy. Mrs. Tucker said the group had continued to protest consistently and loudly all nuclear weapons tests and the acquisition of nuclear weapons by any country not already in possession of them.

In a statement, the delegates said: "We speak as women who would wish to accept some risks on the road to peace, rather than insist on the absolute concept of national security to push us down the slope to universal destruction."

Among those attending the conference were Mrs. J. B. Priestly and Mrs. Diana Collins, wife of the dean of St. Paul's Cathedral, both of England and Mrs. Linus Pauling, wife of the Nobel Prize-winning biochemist.

Telegrams of good wishes came from around the world and from Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Mme. Sun Yat Sen, United Nations Secretary-General U Thant and Canada's External Affairs Minister Howard Green.

Aged Woman Will Not Break Vow

CURVE LAKE, Ont. (CP) — Before his death 30 years ago, George Johnson made his wife promise never to leave their home or become dependent on any of their eight children.

And 80-year-old Mrs. Mary Johnson still has no intention of breaking her vow to her husband.

Living alone in the Johnsons' frame house on the Curve Lake Indian Reservation 10 miles north of Peterborough, she does all her own housework, walks a mile to church every Sunday and even wields an axe to chop her firewood.

She also makes and markets wood boxes, model canoes and other souvenirs of birch bark, sweet grass and porcupine quills to supplement her $85-a-month widow's pension.

"Without the extra money, I'd find it quite hard to live," she said, noting that a load of firewood recently cost her $75.

Life has never been easy for Mrs. Johnson. In her youth, she and her four sisters collected rush from the swamp and split it for basket-making three days a week.

On other days, they went off to peddle the baskets to farmers in the area in exchange for pork, vegetables and other foodstuffs.

"The boys never worked, just the girls," she said, referring to her four brothers.

The "Grannie of Curve Lake", as she calls herself, is the oldest woman on the reservation. She believes the Indian people should oppose integration with the whites and should continue to live on reservations.

Mrs. Johnson's only trip outside the Peterborough district was to Toronto 14 years ago.

"Quite a city, but I didn't like it," she said.

Corn Roast Held by C.A. Groups

FRANKFORD — Following choir practice on Friday evening, the C.A.'s of Frankford Full Gospel Tabernacle journeyed to Ken Faul's gravel pit to hold a fireside service and corn roast.

President Keith Helm welcomed everyone and a time of chorus singing was enjoyed with Miss Beverley Wannamaker rendering music on her accordion.

Announcements were made and Mr. David Stroome, second year student of Eastern Pentecostal Bible College, Peterborough, brought the evening message, speaking on "The Fire of God" and the working of fire in a Christian's life.

Mr. Alex Nyrppanen, a third year student from the EPBC, Peterborough, led in prayer and grace and everyone enjoyed a corn roast, topped off with hot chocolate.

All enjoyed a time of fellowship.

SPEAKING of MANNERS

PATRICIA LEWIS

MAIL CALL

Question: I have been invited with my family to an engagement party for a young relative. I am undecided about what type of gift would be proper. Should we bring a personal gift for her, a gift for each of them, something for the household, or perhaps a household item? The party is being held in a restaurant. — Mrs. J.F., Wallingford, Conn.

Answer: Engagement gifts are not customary. Close relatives sometimes give the bride something for her future home, but these are presented only at a small family gathering at home. Guests at a larger, more general, engagement party may, of course, bring a gift if they desire, but it's not necessary, especially if a wedding present is to be given later.

Question: Would you kindly advise me how to word the invitations for my daughter's wedding? I am divorced and my former husband and his wife will not be present at the wedding and will not help with expenses.—Mrs. A.M., Edmonton, Alberta, Canada.

Answer: The invitation would stem from you alone. Your former husband's name would not be included. Properly, a divorced mother couples her maiden name with that of her former husband. If the maiden name, for instance, were Stanton and the married name were Brown, the mother then would use the name Mrs. Stanton Brown on the invitation. The correct wording then would be: Mrs. Stanton Brown requests the honour of your presence at the marriage of her daughter Mary, etc.

Modern Shoes Criticized by Physician

TORONTO (CP) — Style-conscious girls and young women of Canada are courting disaster with their modern shoes, a Victoria doctor says.

Dr. Gordon H. Grant, a fellow of the Royal College of Surgeons (Canada), writing in the Sept. 15 edition of the Canadian Medical Association Journal, says in the conclusion of his article regarding common deformities of the foot:

"Literally, it is true that poliomyelitis in its worst epidemic period produced only a minute fraction of the disability likely to be evoked among Canadian women of the future by the too-narrow shoes being worn today by adolescent girls and young women."

The doctor says that the damage caused by the too-narrow shoes "is compounded by the too-high spike heel."

Dr. Grant suggests that "a very great deal of chronic foot disability might be averted by an educational program "aimed especially at girls of high school age and vigorously pressed through all available media."

Dr. Grant, born in Owen Sound, has practised as a general surgeon in Victoria since his discharge from the Royal Canadian Navy in 1946.

Cream 'n Sugar Twists

One week last month when we had only one member of the middle generation left with us, Brian, I did some family baking. Usually one of our most dependable eaters, he is on an athlete's routine right now. He ran a mile up hill and down dale on one side of Lake Muskoka, then came in puffing. You would think he would have loaded in such sugary morsels as Cream 'n Sugar Twists — but no. After he had had his outsize plate of bacon and eggs he only ate two. But he kindly explained to his Aunt Mary that B.R. (before reducing) he would have done away with a dozen.

These are wonderful — a sort of pastry-like sugary twist that virtually melts in your mouth. They should — they call for 1 cup margarine and 1 cup of sour cream.

Go ahead — try them. They will be another starred recipe in your yearly file.

They are easy. You make the dough up in a big bowl and keep it refrigerated overnight. In the morning you roll out and bake them without further rising (from bed?).

I made them Saturday night and baked them Sunday morning and the raves were heartwarming.

CREAM 'N SUGAR TWISTS:

4 cups flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 cup margarine, 1 package granular yeast, ¼ cup lukewarm water, 1 egg, 2 egg yolks, 1 cup sour cream, 1 teaspoon rum flavoring (or vanilla), 2 teaspoons lemon juice, ½ teaspoon grated lemon rind, 1 cup seedless raisins, ½ cup sugar (no more).

Sift the flour and salt into a large bowl. Cut in the margarine with a pastry blender or 2 knives. Soak the yeast in the lukewarm water. Beat the egg and yolk together until light. Combine with sour cream, yeast liquid, rum flavoring, lemon juice and rind and raisins. Stir into the pastry base and mix thoroughly. Let rise in refrigerator 4 hours or covered overnight. This dough has more the quality of pastry but it does rise in the refrigerator. Measure oil but be sugar. You may use it all, but should not use more. Sprinkle some sugar lightly over flour on breadboard; place dough on board and sprinkle sugar very lightly over the dough. Roll out into a 12" square. Fold the dough from each side to make 3 layers. Roll out again and repeat the folding, using a little more of the sugar on the floured board and on the dough to prevent sticking. Cut into strips 1" wide and 4" long. Twist each 3 or 4 times. Lay them on ungreased baking sheets a couple of inches apart. No additional rising is needed. Bake at 375 deg. Fahr. about 15 minutes, until light brown. Makes 3 dozen twists.

Indian Mother Resents Slur

DORIS CLARK

DEAR DORIS—I read your column about the distressed mother-in-law with the two good-for-nothing daughters-in-law. Just where did they get all their knowledge about Indians?

I am an Indian and I was disgusted. Anyone who is blessed with children and doesn't know enough to care for them, shouldn't be able to keep them. I raised a child and I knew enough to bathe her and care for her properly, and now that she's a young lady, she keeps herself immaculate.

I freely admit there are dirty Indians, but for every dirty Indian, I could show you 500 dirty white men and women and I could start on these two daughters-in-law.

P.S.—Please print this letter so they may read it. If they can take time off from their card playing long enough.—MRS. H. M.

* * *

DEAR MRS. H. M.—Good for you. The Indians are a fine upstanding race and we can learn a great deal from them.

* * *

DEAR DORIS—I'm sixteen years old and going steady with a nineteen-year-old boy. I like him very much but every time he gets drunk he wants to fight me.

Should I leave him or not?—BROKEN HEARTED A.

BEAR BROKEN HEARTED—Leave him. It sounds more like war than romance.

* * *

DEAR DORIS—A man keeps me guessing as to how he feels toward me. He encourages me on the one hand and discourages me on the other. So I asked him how he felt toward me, and he told me he was sorry for me because of several misfortunes I have suffered recently.

I still do not know if he has any regard for me. What would you think he means by answering me in this manner?—ELM.

* * *

DEAR ELM—You asked for it. He won't confess love just because you pull for a confession. He won't say he doesn't like you. Until he has made up his mind about you, it's safe to give you sympathy.

If you want him to like you, stop worrying and show him friendly interest. Do something for him and forget about yourself.

* * *

CONFIDENTIAL TO FATHER OF SIX—Your wife was spoiled from the start; never learned how to handle money or to consider others. Being of a different faith doesn't help any, either.

The one ray of hope is that she suggests seeing a counsellor. Try it. Such a person may put the finger on what is really wrong.

* * *

DEAR DORIS—I am fourteen. I smoke and am trying to quit but can't. What should I do?—DONNA.

DEAR DONNA—What started you? Curiosity? Or wanting to seem grown up? Sometimes a gal gets going just so she won't feel like a prude.

Once it's a habit, it's hard to quit. The secret is to want to stop more than you want to keep on. Then you tackle it a day at a time.

Substitute something for the coffin nail—an apple, a drink of water, gum. Fool yourself by taking out a fag, then putting it back. Break the routine.

At fourteen, smoking may seem to give you poise. Don't believe it! There are better ways to self-confidence. Write again, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope, for my leaflet on How to Stop Smoking.

* * *

DEAR DORIS—I am sixteen years old. Soon my birthday is coming up. A male I know has asked me to go out with him as a birthday gift. He is 23.

My parents object as they say he is too old. They forget that there is ten years difference in their ages. The male and I like each other very much and enjoy each other's company. What should I do?—STILL IN SCHOOL.

DEAR STILL—Your "male" is far too old for you. Probably your parents met each other a little later in life when ten years didn't make quite so much difference.

Find somebody your own age to go out with and don't refer to him as a "male." This may be correct, but it is biological rather than social. Would you like to be called a "female?"

* * *

TO A READER—I would suggest that you write your enquiry to the Health Department, Belleville, giving your name and address.

* * *

(If your problem stumps you, write to Doris about it. She has helped thousands of others.)

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, three editors and a women's editor. Each article is a summary of a family disagreement presented to the Council. The Council deals with problems, major and minor, encountered by guidance counsellors and social workers

Mrs. L. M. — Our son is inventive and creative. He belongs in a private school.

Mr. L. M. — Why coddle Him? Let him learn to take things in his stride.

* * *

Mrs. L. M. — Neal is 9 years old. He's in the fourth grade in the local school, and bored stiff. The teacher admits he could do fifth and even sixth grade work, but no skipping is permitted. So she keeps Neal occupied by letting him wash the blackboards.

He reads advanced books about dinosaurs, a subject that fascinates him. He also has a toy planetarium and is trying to make himself a telescope from a few old magnifying glasses he rounded up.

He hates school, but grins and bears it. That's no way to feel about school. There's an excellent private academy in the next town. Classes are small and many more subjects are taught. With a slight strain on our budget, we could swing it for Neal. But my husband thinks it would make him a nanny-pamby.

* * *

Mr. L. M. — In real life, Neal won't be able to duck out of situations that bother him. He must learn to adjust.

My wife and I went to public schools and we were bored, too. But we stuck it out, and maybe we learned lessons in getting along with all kinds of people that you don't learn in those exclusive private schools. It didn't hurt us.

Maybe washing the teacher's blackboard and doing errands for her is good for Neal. With his brains, he can invent an easier way to cover the ground. Over at Harris Hall he'll get ballroom dancing and horseback, but not much ammunition for life's struggles.

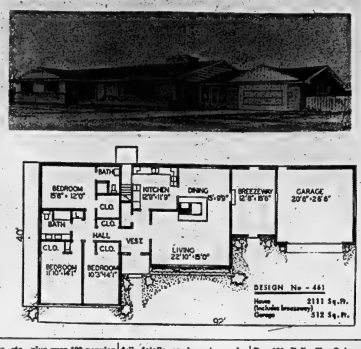
I say let him fi; himself to the school, not vice versa. He'll learn to stand on his own feet and solve his own problems.

* * *

The Council— The issue here isn't public versus private schools. Eminent and productive citizens have come out of both. Gifted people, with a strong innate drive to succeed, sometimes come through with no school! The question for the M.'s is— WHAT's best for Neal?

We advise trying the private school. The present school is doing two negative things to Neal, first, it's wasting him. Even though he's taking up the slack by self-teaching, he's not getting the challenge and stimulation school should provide. And second, it's blurring his definition of "school" for all time. He'll associate the word with loafing, doodling, and waiting for the bell to ring so that real learning, on one's own, can commence.

If the private school will offer a genuine improvement, i.e. special attention and encouragement for an imaginative boy, if it is for more than just status, Neal should transfer. In addition to a broad curriculum and enriched facilities, he may enjoy the co-h'your toes atmosphere engendered by equally talented classmates.



This isn't pampering. It's a legitimate way of filling a vital gap. Mr. M. clings to a false picture, a stereotype of private schools. The good ones are alert to the demands of "real life". Pats on the back aren't won easily. Also, the extremes of wealth, brains and talent can be played down, rendered less conspicious than in the public schools. Achievement is the badge, not the accidents of fate which distinguish one child from another.

To sum up, Neal should attend the school that best fills his special needs. If he were retarded or physically handicapped, Mr. M. would have no hesitation in sending him to the school that would promote his fullest development. Just because he's gifted is no reason for holding him back!

He'll learn to adjust to setbacks. And in him with happy schooldays. When the Spartan tests come, he'll have the strength to meet them.

Stirling Fair Is Favored By Fine Weather, Exhibits

STIRLING — Ideal weather prevailed at Stirling Saturday and many turned out to witness what was probably one of the finest fall fairs so far this season. A very full program of entertainment and racing was featured during the afternoon and there were some evry fine exhibits of everything from cattle to 4-H Club displays to be seen.

According to fair officials, exhibits were up and the very fine level of these exhibits was certainly evident to the interested observer. In the various domestic and home science exhibits there were some excellent examples of various skills and careful preparation.

The junior sections exhibited some very interesting displays which were indicative of a high level of talent amongst the younger people in the area, in everything from forestry to hoi roda.

Amongst those displaying in the junior class were Judy Patterson, Jane Bush, Sue Ann Basteda, Johnson Svoboda Jr., Peter Utman, Betty McAdam, Carol Merrick, Lois Forsyth, Bill Bell, David Harry and Lorraine Short.

An excellent display of cheese was on hand with cheeses submitted by Don Pollack, Tom Searles, Harold Elliott, Ross Lane, Ivan Sine, Glenn Anderson, Roy Huffman, Delbert Roe, Delbert Carman and Harold Scarr.

There was a good entry in the various cattle classes. The exhibitors included Elmhurst Farms, W. A. Danford and Son, Lorne Hagerman, Calvin Sharp, Dave Murray, A. Franks and Sons, A. McComb and Son, Ronnie Conway, Delior, Ed Reavie, Merlview Farms and Wallace and David Merrill.

FINE JUNIOR SHOW

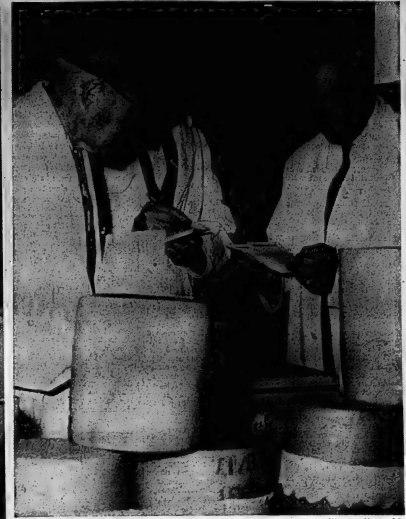
As has come to be expected, Stirling Fair had a first class 4-H Club and Junior Farmer show. The Stirling Calf Club had close to 40 entries and attracted a large crowd of spectators as the judging took place.

In the Holstein class the junior yearling award was taken by Ted Reid followed by Kalvin Sharp, Barbara Chambers and Ken McConnell. Glen Hagerman won the senior award with Grant Reid, Grant Hagerman and Joe Hagerman close behind.

The Ayrshire class was dominated by David and Donald Murray.

Champion showman of the show was Glen Hagerman with Kalvin Sharp named as reserve showman. The 4-H Club show was judged by Lindsay Anderson.

A fine afternoon of racing was held with Atomic Sulks, owned and driven by Don Heath of Campbellford, taking the first set of races with a time of 2.20 in the first heat and 2.19 in the second.



Also competing in this class were Polly C., owned and driven by Bernard Hunt of Tweed (3-3); Lucky Glee, owned and driven by Carl Heath of Marmora (5-6); April H., owned and driven by Rita Herrington of Brighton (3-2); Billy Sunday H., owned by Rita Herrington and driven by Albert Defosse, Trenton (4-4) and Sundown Direct, owned and driven by Morley Prest of Madoc (6-5).

The second set of races saw Comet Direct, owned by Morley Prest and driven by Don Heath, take both heats in the class with times of 2:17 and 2:13.

Others in this class were Kerry Bellinda, owned and driven by Bernard Hunt (3-4); Lu Attorney, owned and driven by Rita Herrington (2-2) and Garner Hanover, owned and driven by Albert Defosse (4-3).

AWARD WINNER — Judge Edward Edson of Napanee places the first place award ribbon on the forestry display of Kalvin Sharpe, which was exhibited in the junior section of the Stirling Fair last Saturday. The entry was the best of a class which saw a number of very well prepared exhibits.

PULLING HIS WEIGHT—One of the behind-the-stage scenes which takes place at a county fair is the making of taffy on the spot by the purveyors of this delicious style of candy. Above is a taffy maker at the Stirling Fair as he performs the important task of pulling the taffy.

"INSIDE LIFE INSURANCE" will be the subject of a talk given by Mr. J. J. D. Brunke, C.L.U., Branch Manager of the Mutual Life of Canada, Richmond St., Toronto for the opening fall meeting of the Sales and Ad Club on Tuesday evening.

Mr. Brunke joined the Mutual Life of Canada in 1937, on graduation from the University of Toronto having specialized in Political Science and Economics. Thus, he has just completed 25 years of service with this Company, which is the only organization for which he has worked with the exception of a leave of absence for World War II and the Korean War to undertake special assignments for the Canadian Government in Washington and Ottawa.

Mr. Brunke obtained his Chartered Life Underwriter degree in 1940 and his service with the Company has included almost 6 years at their Head Office in Waterloo in charge of sales education, field training and public relations.

It is evident that he is well qualified to give an entertaining and interesting talk about market procedures and problems of the life insurance business to members of the Sales and Ad Club.

may be isolated if it stands out against United Kingdom membership.

Peregrine Worsthorne, in a special article in The Sunday Telegraph, warns "white" Commonwealth leaders against pushing their opposition to extremes, The Commonwealth, he argues, could not long survive if Britain remained aloof from Europe in deference to Commonwealth pressure, only to regret the decision later as the missed opportunity became clearer.

"Mr. Diefenbaker may be shortsighted and unimaginative enough to ignore this danger," says Worsthorne. "But he speaks with very little authority, either at home or abroad."

Canada has rarely had a more unfavorable press in Britain. The Common Market issue has long been a source of conflict between the two countries, but critical comment has not often gone to such lengths.

Presbyterian Synod Will Meet in City

PICTON — The Presbytery of Kingston of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, at its regular meeting held in St. Andrew's Church, Picton, on Tuesday, placed itself on record as being opposed to increased outlets for sale of alcoholic beverages, and expressed concern at the increasing power and influence of liquor interests in the country. Members of the Presbytery felt that since plebiscites had been, were being and undoubtedly would in future be held in numerous communities in the area, a definite stateement by the Presbytery would strengthen and support the personal stand taken individually by ministers and members of the church.

It was reported to the Presbytery that plans are well in hand for the annual meeting of the Synod of Toronto and Kingston which will be held in St. Andrew's Church, Belleville, October 16 to 18. The Presbytery nominated the Rev. Malcolm C. Young of Gananoque, who is Moderator of the Presbytery for the position of Moderator of the Synod.

The Rev. M. V. Putnam of St. Andrew's Church, Kingston, was named interim-Moderator of the Kirk Session of St. Andrew's Church, Belleville, the Rev. R. D. MacLean having resigned from the charge in order to undertake further studies in Glasgow, Scotland. The Rev. Douglas Wilson of Trenton was named Convener of the Presbytery's Committee on Evangelism and Social Action in Mr. MacLean's place.

Order Inquest In Death of Bicycle Rider

PICTON — An inquest will be held into the death of Robert Clarence Zachariah, 56, who was instantly killed when struck by a car just after midnight Friday. One of two bicycle riders, Mr. Zachariah was struck by a car driven by Robert Hutton of Picton. Scene of the fatality was on Highway 14, on the western outskirts of the town, opposite the rural Hydro office.

Zachariah was accompanied by Gerald Hawley, also a resident of R.R. 2 Bloomfield, who told Provincial Police that he was riding the bicycle he had purchased that night, and was some distance ahead of the other rider. He stated the car sideswiped his bicycle after hitting the Zachariah bike, which was completely wrecked. It with Mr. Zachariah's body, was dragged beneath the car. The rear wheel of the Hawley bike was smashed. The hood of the car was dented and the front wheel smashed through the centre. Hawley was not injured.

Mr. Zachariah was unmarried. He was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Isaiah Zachariah and spent most of is life in Hallowell township. He cared for lawns at several Picton homes and was a familiar figure on his bicycle.

A service at the G. M. Hicks and Son Funeral Home Monday afternoon was conducted by Rev. R. B. Wright. Interment was in Staven's Cemetery.

BIG CROWD — Close to a thousand people showed up at the Lands and Forests Chief Ranger's location in Tweed last Saturday afternoon to take part in the bidding for seized guns and equipment which were on the auction block. There was strictly standing room only as can be seen.

BIG BIDS—Bids were high as the crowd kept the auctioneer busy as close to 200 pieces of equipment were auctioned of to some highly competitive bidders. Lands and Forests officials declared the auction to be highly successful, much beyond their expectations.

Auction of Seized Guns Traps, Motors at Tweed

If there were a few people who went home from the auction of seized guns, motors and traps held by the Lands and Forests Department at Tweed on Saturday, it was inevitable. Close to 100 rifles, varying from single shot .22's to expensive lever action, high-powered rifles, seven outboard motors and about 200 traps of various types and sizes were up for the bids of close to 1,000 people.

The crowds leading to the Chief Ranger's station were so clogged and choked with parked cars and traffic that many had to walk a half-mile or so in order to arrive on time. The crowd was way and beyond the expectations of the local Lands and Forests people.

Needless to say the large crowd ensured a high-level of bidding and very few bargains were available with the exception of one or two of the high-powered, large calibre rifles.

Not everyone present was there to bid. Some, such as one woman from Kingston, had just come to see what it was all about rather than to head home and surprise the husband with a "new" shotgun. Those present represented towns from all over Eastern Ontario.

The auction was one of five held throughout the province each year to dispose of weapons and equipment seized from citizens who were caught hunting illegally. The sites of these auctions vary each year and this was the first time it had been held in Tweed for a number of years.

Canadian Held For Stabbing Man to Death

BUFFALO (AP)—An 18-year-old Canadian has been accused of stabbing one man to death and wounding another during an argument outside a tavern in Buffalo early Sunday.

Police said Brian Key of Crystal Beach, Ont., stabbed 27-year-old Joseph Palermo of Buffalo through the heart with a hunting knife.

The other victim, Joseph Tabooni, 28, of Buffalo, was reported in poor condition in hospital.

Key was arrested near his home by Canadian police. He waived extradition and was returned to Buffalo Friday to face a first degree manslaughter charge.

Key was committed to jail, pending arraignment.

Health Minister Faces Queries On Three Issues

OTTAWA (CP) — Health Minister Monteith is a sure target for opposition questioning at the new parliamentary session on three clearly-defined issues.

The first is his department's handling of the drug thalidomide, blamed for malformations in about 60 births since it first appeared on the Canadian market in April, 1961.*

Although the federal health department made public a considerable amount of information on the handling of thalidomide, opposition MPs can be expected to demand that the picture also be placed on record in Parliament through a Commons committee investigation or in regular debate.

Similar demands are expected in connection with the department's part in the Salk polio vaccine program and what, in effect, was a federal request last week to the provinces to suspend general use of the vaccine because four, and possibly more, persons had suffered paralysis as a result of taking Sabin.

Although the incidence of paralysis was low—four in 4,000,000—the Salk suspension coming close on the heels of the thalidomide story is bound to cause MPs and the public to worry about the whole question of drug and vaccine safeguards.

QUESTION REGULATIONS?

The third issue may also involve Immigration Minister Bell and External Affairs Minister Green with Mr. Monteith.

It arises from the arrival in Canada from Brazil of 14-year-old Jimmy Orr, son of a Three Hills, Alta., missionary, Jimmy, who carried a smallpox vaccination certificate, was placed in isolation shortly after his arrival because he had contracted smallpox.

Immigration regulations in Canada, as in many other countries, require vaccination or revaccination not more than three years before entering the country.

The Orr case has raised the question of whether present regulations and inspections are sufficient safeguards against transmission of infectious diseases from country to country, particularly in these days of rapid air travel.

A person may be exposed to an infectious disease in one country and pass through several other countries before finally becoming aware he is ill. In the meantime, the traveler may have infected many others.

PARADE BEFORE EMBASSY

OTTAWA (CP) — More than 200 placard-carrying demonstrators paced quietly in front of the Russian Embassy here for three hours Sunday in what their leaders called "a condemnation of international communism." The march was organized by the Mutual Co-operation League of Canada, composed of 30 organizations of Canadian [illegible] from Central European countries. There were about 100 marchers from Montreal, Toronto and Ottawa.

Mohawk Fair Races Formful And Exciting

The racing at Mohawk Fair held at the Council House on the Tyendinaga Reserve on Saturday was formful and exciting. Lorne Urch conducted the meet for the Agricultural Society and this official reported a good card.

Both races were won in straight heats but each winner was forced to show its best performance to head the opposition. The results were:

Castro Deploys 6,000 Troops Near Naval Base

GUANTANAMO NAVAL BASE, Cuba (AP)—Fidel Castro has deployed about 5,000 to 6,000 troops near this U.S. base on the southeast coast, according to intelligence reaching American navy and marine commanders.

But U.S. military authorities believe these regulars, bolstered by thousands of militiamen, are there to keep the Cuban people in check rather than to mount an attack on this U.S. fleet base.

Guantanamo's command would be the likelihood of any serious threat to the 45-square-mile base, but the entire military force of about 3,000 men has been trained to fight if trouble starts.

So far little of the new military gear the Russians have supplied to Castro's regime has showed up near this U.S. enclave. Rear-Admiral Edward J. O'Donnell, base commander, said his patrols have not sighted any missile-armed torpedo boats which President Kennedy said have been sent to Cuba.

O'Donnell reported Soviet-made trucks are operating outside Guantanamo's fence, but they have been in the area for some time.

Persons suspected of being Communist-line nationals, including some Asians, have been spotted near the base.

Castro has perhaps 100 Soviet - made MiG fighters, but there have been no intrusions of Guantanamo's air space since the spring of 1961.

Toronto Exchange Seeks Law Requiring Disclosure of Public Companies' Accounts

OTTAWA (CP)—The Toronto Stock exchange today sought both federal and provincial laws requiring full disclosure of public companies' accounts. Shareholders have a right to them, it said.

In its brief to the Royal Commission on Banking and Finance, the Toronto exchange also recommended simultaneous federal and provincial changes in the various companies acts to set down a code of procedure for so-called "take-over bids."

And it asked the justice department to study the question of market manipulation to see whether changes in the Criminal Code are needed. No specific change was recommended, though the exchange hinted it liked the American law.

Three other points were made in the Toronto exchange's brief:

A downward revision of the present tax structure is necessary to strengthen the economy and encourage new investment in Canada.

Foreign capital, still would be needed. To ensure it is available, "confidence in the future of Canada and its monetary and fiscal policies must be restored and maintained."

An increased supply of equities of Canadian subsidiaries of foreign - owned corporations should be encouraged—but care must be taken so that any legislative steps are not interpreted as being punitive, thus impeding capital inflows.

WANTS UNIFORM LAWS

A federal securities act as a replacement for provincial laws is neither needed nor justified. But Ottawa should stress to the provinces the need for uniform securities laws and substantive regulations.

There is no need for a separation of the underwriting and brokerage functions of exchange member firms. There may be some conflict in those roles but it was more than offset by an integrated firm's market knowledge and experience.

Canadian stock exchanges should be "as competitive as possible." (The commission has sought comment from many sources on the idea of a national exchange, with perhaps several trading floors.)

There is nothing to indicate that regulations on margin buying of stocks are necessary beyond those imposed and rigidly policed by the exchange itself. (The Toronto exchange permits the purchase of a stock on a margin of 50 per cent of the purchase price if it is over $1 a share.)

The "potentially dangerous" to encourage investors, and parbrokers' new and small investors, to buy stock on a time-payment plan.

URGES MORE REPORTING

The brief was signed by the Toronto exchange's president, Gen. Howard D. Graham, former army chief of staff.

In referring to disclosure by Canadian public companies, the exchange said it was backing the recommendations first made by the Toronto Security Analysts' Association in 1956 to the Royal Commission on Canada's Economic Prospects.

"With some notable exceptions, Canadian public companies generally seem to fail to recognize their responsibility to shareholders and to see the immeasurable value to them of a well-informed analyst plays in fostering new investor confidence in

"It is the stock exchange's view that it is inconsistent to encourage wider ownership of Canadian securities without encouraging more informative company reporting.

"Shareholders have a right to know about events and trends affecting their company when they are happening, and not a year later when the stock market has already discounted the news long in advance."

The exchange favored the present system of "primary distribution."

This term includes the sale of treasury shares of listed mining and oil companies to the public through the facilities of the stock exchange, without the need to file a prospectus with the Ontario Securities Commission.

Any other system, the exchange said, would result in greater expense to the companies, less discretion and flexibility in processing, and longer delays.

New Moderator Says Charges Becoming Slack

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — The newly elected head of the United Church of Canada expressed concern Sunday that too many of his 3,064,000 charges are becoming slack, complacent Christians.

Dr. James R. Mutchmor said the church must guard itself against ritualism and status seekers, "predatory capitalism" and the organization man.

The "first and top priority" call on Christians is to "meet the needs of man and society outside the structure of the church," he said.

Dr. Mutchmor, elected moderator by the church's general council here last Wednesday, made it clear that he plans to concentrate spending the church and society while holding the church's highest office.

As secretary of the United Church board of evangelism and social service for the past five years, Dr. Mutchmor made strictures on shoddy living.

MUST SPEAK OUT

He touched on his views about controversy Sunday, maintaining that the church must speak out on contentious issues even though the tone is unpopular.

The church must not be mischievous nor trouble - making," he said. "At the same time we must have freedom of prophecy."

Society cannot expect guidance on major social issues from the press, the politicians nor the universities, he said.

The press is too conscious of circulation, politicians are swayed by majority opinion and universities are "too heavily subsidized now" to be completely impartial, he suggested.

Dr. Mutchmor referred to the decline of the Temple in Jerusalem under the influence of money changers and said: "We may use a longer term—predatory capitalism."

"The point is that we are all in danger of the dollar . . . let us beware of becoming status seekers. Let us recognize that business has its place, but prevent it from getting out of bounds. . . ."

Two British Newsmen Safe, Get Out of Cuba

KINGSTON, Jamaica (Reuters) — Two British reporters were safe here today after being deported from Cuba where they were held incommunicado in jail for six days.

John Bland, 31, Reuters correspondent in Cuba for two years, and John Barnes, 27, associate editor of Newsweek magazine, were flown here Saturday after the release was negotiated by the British consul in Havana.

They were accompanied by an 18-year-old London student, Nicholas Lacey, who was arrested Sept. 5 when he "popped over" to Cuba after hitch-hiking through the United States and Mexico.

Bland said he was arrested on a public beach near Havana on an outing with Raul Casanas and his wife, Sarita, Cuban representatives of the New York Times and the National Broadcasting Corporation, who were still in prison Saturday morning.

The Cuban foreign ministry announced after Bland and Barnes were released that in future all foreign journalists would have to obtain visas before visiting Cuba.

ARE FOLLOWED

On Sept. 8, the day before he vanished, Bland filed a story saying he and another correspondent, John Hlavacek of NBC, had driven past an encampment where Soviet technicians were in evidence and the two thought they were being followed.

Bland said no reason for his arrest or deportation was given.

He was picked up by Premier Fidel Castro's secret police a week ago Sunday with Raul and Sarita Casanas shortly after lunch at a beach 11 miles from Havana.

They were held for seven hours in a chilly, windowless room at G-2 headquarters, then spent two days in the guards' television room, sleeping on sofas, he said.

"On Tuesday evening, after being fingerprinted and photographed—which I protested—I was obliged to take off my vest and wear the blue shirt of a prisoner.

SLEEP ON FLOOR

"Raul Casanas and I spent the next three days in a small cell, sleeping on the floor and a dirt-blackened mattress.

"There was a bunk-bed same on small compartments in a tin army, consisting mostly of rice, beans and bonbids (inferior potatoes).

"Every hour of the day and night a guard with Soviet-style helmet and burp (sub-machine) gun unlocked the door, peered in, clashed it shut again.

"At an interrogation on Monday by one of the G-2 officers I was questioned about a camera carried in the car during the excursion."

Charge Man With Murder In Stabbing

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — Police have charged Gordon Lett, 40, of St. Catharines with capital murder in the slaying of Jack Cordick, 50 - year - old transient, who was fatally stabbed in the neck.

Cordick's body was found Saturday night by police who had received a report that a man was asleep in the area of the Garden City Arena. A 12-inch kitchen knife was found nearby.

Lett, also a transient, arrived from Vancouver about a week ago.

Sports Snapshots

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Sports Editor

Jack Davies is accustomed to people making all kinds of charges about the British Empire Games Association of Canada playing politics, favoring one sport over another and so on. It isn't so, says the Montreal sportsman.

Some disgruntled fuiks started throwing stones at the BEG this summer when make-up of Canada's team to the Games in Perth next November was announced after trials. Davies, president of the BEG association, can't do anything about it.

So, has a pat answer for these people: Talk to the sports-governing bodies concerned. It is their business.

Davies explained the situation in a telephone interview.

Before the 1960 Olympics were held in Rome, he said, officials of the sports-governing bodies who would send teams to Australia got together with BEG officials. The idea was to set tentative numerical strength of each sport.

After the Olympics "we got together again and made only one alteration and that was to increase the number of canmen going to Perth to 12 from 11." This eventually increased to 15.

One of the most outspoken was Jack Russell, president of the Toronto Argonaut Rowing Club. He wanted the Argonaut pairs team of Leif Gottfredson and Bart Hildebrand added to the rowing team. He said Argonauts would finance the cost of sending the pair to Perth.

To this, Davies comes up with an emphatic "no."

"If we allowed this, we'd most likely bomb into all sorts of trouble," Davies said. "If any athletes, whether they are canmen, swimmers or from any sport, aren't put on the team by their selection committees, they should not be able to buy their way on to the team.

"If we allowed the Argo pair to go with their club paying the shot, we'd probably get similar requests from other clubs across the country. It could reach the point where we wouldn't know exactly how many Canadian athletes would be going to Perth and the whole thing would get out of hand."

Davies said the practice of allowing individual clubs or citizens to pay the shot for athletes not picked on Canadian international teams was stopped years ago.

"In August of this year I had the organizing committee of the Perth games the number of Canadians who would go to Australia," Davies said. "If we kept adding to our team, and Canadians did the same thing, the organizing committee in Perth wouldn't know where it stood insofar as accommodation for the athletes and officials is concerned.

"So, the answer to these requests has to be 'no.'"

NHL Training Camps

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Chicago Black Hawks and Toronto Maple Leafs demonstrated during the weekend that there's still a wide margin between the National League and hockey's better minor circuits.

The Hawks defeated the Leafs, Stanley Cup champions 3-2 in St. Catharines Saturday night before a sellout crowd of 4,173.

In Kitchener Sunday the same Leafs walloped Springfield Indians, American League champs, 9-1.

The Leafs played both games minus the services of Frank Mahovlich, who left the team's Peterborough training camp last week after an impasse in contract negotiations.

LATE GOAL WINS

Both games were sedate by NHL standards, although referee Frank Udvari called major penalties following a brief high-sticking duel between Chicago's Pierre Pilote and Leafs' Kent Douglas.

The only other exhibition involving an NHL club was played Sunday at Detroit where the Red Wings tied 0-0 with a combined team from their top two farm clubs. On the same ice Saturday, the two farm clubs, met, Edmonton Flyers of the Western League edging Pittsburgh Hornets of the AHL 4-2.

Meanwhile, in the Montreal suburb of Verdun, Montreal Canadiens coach Toe Blake is faced with the prospect of possibly having to cut one of the brightest lights in the training camp from the lineup.

Gary Peters, a centre from Regina Pats juniors, scored two goals and assisted on a third scoring play in an intra-squad game won 4-3 Saturday by his team. But the Canadiens already are strong through the centre with Jean Beliveau, Henri Richard and Phil Goyette.

THINGS YOU SHOULD KNOW

SOME POINTS TO CONSIDER REGARDING BELLEVILLE'S SEPT. 26th VOTE

ON

DINING & COCKTAIL LOUNGES

- If a city decides to adopt more pleasant drinking facilities that isn't to say that dining and cocktail lounges will immediately open for business. The Liquor Control Board of Ontario alone determines whether licences will be granted. The Board also decides the number and type of establishments to be permitted.
- When an establishment applies for a licence, a notice of application must be published in the local paper and any resident of Belleville has the right to file notice of objection.
- Before an application is heard, the applicant for a licence is required by law to file the specification and plans of the establishment he proposes. The establishment itself must be thoroughly inspected.
- If (and there's nothing automatic about it) the Board decides to consider the application, a public hearing must be held at which any citizen can oppose the granting of a licence.
- It is a legal and well known fact that the Board limits the number of licences granted in any city. It is also a well known fact that the Liquor Control Board of Ontario has the strictest regulations in the world.
- There's nothing automatic about it. The policy of the Board has been one of not granting licences to restaurants in local option areas. There is little chance of liquor finding its way into restaurants or soda shops.

It is therefore not a question of more outlets in Belleville, but rather a question of improving the facilities we already have.

There is no concerted effort to foist scores of drinking establishments upon the people of Belleville. If the people of Belleville VOTE YES ON BOTH it does not mean wide open drinking facilities.

These facts are presented for your information. They are presented so as to allow you to make a sensible intelligent decision on the issues.

We, the VOTE YES COMMITTEE ask you as responsible citizens to consider these facts.

Nicklaus Takes Loot At Seattle

SEATTLE (AP)—Jack Nicklaus stood off the closing charge of Tony Lema to win the $30,000 Seattle open golf tournament Sunday with a 15-under-par 265 for the 72 holes.

Nicklaus, who earned $4,300, had a 68 in the final round. Lema, who started the day seven strokes behind him, wound up second at 267. Art Wall Jr. was third at 268, Bob Harrison fourth at 269 and Gary Player fifth at 270.

Arnold Palmer finished with a 271.

Lema finished with a 63, which would have snatched the course record had not Tommy Jacobs come in a short time earlier with a 62. Billy Casper set the record three days ago at 63.

Al Johnson of Montreal had a 69 Sunday for a 271 total. Johnston, Palmer, Don Januzzo and Julius Boros each won $1,250.

Russians Win Track Field Title

BELGRADE (AP) — Valery Brumel, the world's top high jumper, capped Russia's championship performance in the European track and field championships Sunday with a jump o' seven feet, three inches. Brumel's gold medal was the fifth won by the Russians in the meet.

Brumel later asked that the bar be raised to 7-4, but when above the 7-4 3-16 that he has as the listed world record and more than 7-4 he achieved last July in a meet against the United States in Palo Alto, Calif., which also is up for recognition. But he missed on three tries.

Britain was second in got medals with five while the combined team from East and West Germany finished with four, Poland was third with three.

Gerarda Kraan of Holland broke the women's world record at 200 metres in both time of two minutes, 2.8 seconds, breaking the mark of 2:04.3 set by Russia's L. Sevcova two years ago.

The Tracks

NEW YORK (AP) — Never Bend, Bill Hartack's mount, the 4-year-old championship picture horse, was the top money-from-behind victory in the $152,150 Futurity at Aqueduct.

Never Bend, ridden by Willie Shoemaker, finished the 6½ furlongs 1¾ lengths ahead Outing Class, who was third in the field of 13.

Never Bend, chalking up his first stakes triumph and his fourth victory in six starts, stepped the distance in 1:17 1-5 seconds. He earned $94,347.50 to run his total earnings to $193,-497.50.

As the favorite of the crowd of 49,161, Never Bend paid $4.20, $2.80 and $2.40. Outing, coupled with Catullus, returned $3.40 and $2.80. Puck Trip was $4.60 to show.

Mongo returned $19.40, $11.40 and $8, running the distance in 1:56 3-5. T.V. Lark, earning $20,000 second money, returned $10 and $6. Wise Ship paid $4.

The win, lifting Amber Morn's 1962 income to slightly less than $16,000, was worth $14.30 to $2 supporters.

The daily double returned $206.30, largely because 25-to-1 outsider Illume, owned by E. Farara took the first race for a straight price of $58.30. J. C. Taylor's Yola 2nd won the second.

Hornung Whips Vikings

Browns Defeat Giants

NEW YORK (AP) — Paul Hornung is as ready as he'll ever be to help Green Bay Packers defend their National Football League title this year, and, that's murder for six other Western Conference hopefuls.

Hornung, the NFL's Most Valuable Player and scoring king in 1961 as the Packers won their second straight Western Conference championship, was almost painstakingly slow rounding into form this year after being discharged from the army in late July.

But he was in mid-season form Sunday as the Packers opened the season with a 34-7 victory over Minnesota Vikings. Hornung scored three touchdowns, kicked two field goals and added four converts for 28 points.

A sellout crowd of 36,669 watched Hornung's one - man show, part of a record 341,918 that turned out for the seven opening-day games.

The biggest crowd was at Cleveland where 81,215 saw the rejuvenated Browns defeat the Eastern Conference champion New York Giants 17-7.

CARDS UPSET EAGLES

In another game, St. Louis Cardinals had ballhawk John David Crow leading the way as they upset Philadelphia Eagles 27 - 21; Detroit Lions overwhelmed Pittsburgh Steelers 45-7; Baltimore Colts came from behind on quarterback Johnny Unitas's passing to spoil Los Angeles Rams 30-27; Chicago Bears upset San Francisco 49ers 30-14, and Washington Redskins and Dallas Cowboys played a 17-17 tie.

In the American Football League, Boston Patriots upset Houston Oilers 24-21 and San Diego Chargers rolled over New York Titans 49-14 Sunday and Denver Broncos defeated Buffalo Bills 23-20 Saturday.

Denver Broncos defeated Buffalo Bills 23-20 in an AFL outing Saturday.

Fran Tarkenton, manhandled all afternoon by the Packers' tough defense, tossed a 17-yard pass to Jerry Reichow in the closing seconds for the Vikings' score.

At Cleveland, quarterback Jim Shofield, returned the Browns from Detroit for quarterback Milt Plum, hit Rich Kreitling with a 19-yard touchdown pass in the third quarter to break a 7-7 tie and Lou Groza's 29-yard field goal added the insurance.

DEFENCE IS ALERT

Tom Wilson, one of 15 new faces on the Browns, combined with last year's rushing leader Jimmy Brown for 216 yards, and the alert Brown defence turned three interceptions into scoring strikes and recovered a Giant fumble in their own end zone to avert another score. Alex Webster's one-foot plunge got New York's touchdown.

Crow scored three touchdowns for the Cardinals, on runs, two-yard pass from former Montreal quarterback Sam Etcheverry, who also hit Sonny Randle on a 69-yard scoring aerial. Crow's 25-yard touchdown run in the third period put the Cardinals ahead to stay.

Stamps Defeat Alouettes

CALGARY (CP) — Defensive halfback Harvey Wylie paced a stiff defensive effort by Calgary Saturday that helped the Stampeders to a 17-7 Canadian Football League win over Montreal Alouettes.

Wylie, playing the safety position, grabbed two of four Calgary interceptions, both in the second half, and turned in a sparkling runback on the second-half kickoff before 12,000 fans.

The victory, the third straight for Calgary, moved them into second place in the Western Football Conference standings, two points ahead of Saskatchewan Roughriders. Calgary is three points behind Winnipeg Blue Bombers, who host Regina tonight. Hamilton is at Vancouver in the other game in the West tonight.

Alouettes remained in third place in the Eastern Conference standings with five points. They lost 36-13 to Regina Wednesday.

ALTERNATES QUARTERS

Halfback Lovell Coleman, substituting for Earl Lunsford who is out with a bad ankle, scored a touchdown for Calgary in the fourth quarter. Halfback Ed Buchanan got one in the first.

Larry Robinson converted both touchdowns and kicked a 26-yard field goal to win it in the minutes of the first half.

Coach George Dunn of the University of Bridgeport scored Montreal's touchdown in the first quarter, but Bobby Jack Oliver converted.

The third quarter was scoreless.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

Sentiment, rumor and opinions of reliable hockey men, officials and buffs indicate that the suggestion of an organized pro hockey league here this winter has met with more than a modicum of approval.

As should be pretty well known by this time Commercial Hockey League Commissioner Russ Soules has called a meeting of all concerned tonight at Recreation Centre starting eight o'clock.

I have it on good authority that last season's commercial loop teams are interested. It has been reported that one or more industrial firms of the city have had strong talks with the promoters.

Situations developing both inside and outside the city give rise to the possibility that the proposed city league could be the only outlet for players and fans this winter.

While it has been otherwise reported that a junior "B" club will operate in the coming season, the McFarland manager, Keith MacDonald, asked for a ten-day extension to apply for entry at the junior circuit meeting the other night.

Later MacDonald asked the question as to how many imports a junior club can utilize. It is a well-known fact last year's fine finish "B" club has lost practically all its key players plus a few more due to age limits.

However, that does not mean there will not be a junior club. I have reason to believe there will be. But it won't or should not interfere with the commercial operation of a city league patterned after those of the good old days when the Northern Electric, CNE Diesels and Trenton Flyers were at one another's hockey throats.

As for intermediate hockey here, I think it has had a short, unsuccessful and not so merry life. Last season's Pepsi, it appears, dug their own grave as far as outside interests are concerned.

For instance, a Wallaby columnist in the Oshawa Times, wrote the other day: "The first Lakeshore Intermediate Hockey League meeting will be held September 24th in Fort Hope. The major item on the agenda is the attempt to exclude Belleville and Napanee from this year's circuit. Travelling and unbalanced competition are the strong points against them."

Napanee's intermediate "A" team folded last year due to lack of support. A Napanee sports writer's indiction it won't be back but he writes: "A junior club? Not a chance and an hop, skip and a jump intermediate "B" grouping may possibly be formed with Picton, an army club from Kingston, Trenton and a club from Napanee, the Ironmen."

I doubt very much that a Belleville team will be invited to play in that group.

The new Western Ontario OHA senior "A" grouping for Quinte and district will enlist only by a certain date and "would consider a Belleville entry." Later it ruled that Belleville and Toronto entries would not be included in the grouping.

So it looks like the city has had a three-way "no-show" and that leaves, outside of junior "B" activities, if any, a big hockey blank as far as local players and fans are concerned.

That is where the proposed city league comes in. As mentioned before there are a lot of senior, ex-junior and other good players in the city "on the loose" and who, no doubt, would welcome the opportunity to play.

Tonight's meeting should give a fair indication of what is in the player-fans' minds. I believe the league would go well providing it is headed by a strong executive, a fiery, aggressive president and co-operative club officials.

Tonight at the Recreation Centre, eight o'clock.

A Connecticut Yankee is the man chiefly responsible for muting an all-southern affair of the International League's final round playoff.

The best-of-seven final series opens tonight with Atlanta at Jacksonville for the first of two games in Florida. The series then shifts to Atlanta for two, or three if necessary, then back to Jacksonville for the windup.

Jacksonville, the regular season champions, gained the final round with a victory over Columbus Rochester Sunday night in the seventh game of a semi-final round. Atlanta had beaten Toronto previously.

Lefty Art Ceccarelli, a high school history teacher from New Haven, Conn., tossed a sparkling three-hitter for Jacksonville, and had a no-hitter going through the first five innings.

The only Rochester batters were doubles by Ron Hebbert in the sixth and by pinch-hitter Bob Reynolds in the ninth.

Ceccarelli, who had a 15-13 record during the regular season, struck out nine in one of his best performances of the year.

Buster Narum, who had been Jacksonville four times during the regular season, went the distance in taking the loss. He gave up only seven hits, but was jarred for three runs in the fifth inning.

Trail Four 12 To Play

BY JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Willie Mays did his best and Chicago Cubs slowed down Los Angeles Dodgers' pennant express, but San Francisco Giants still couldn't win.

There are two weeks to go in the National League race and the Giants' situation is desperate. They trail the Dodgers by four games with only 12 to play after losing their fifth straight Sunday, 5-4 to Pittsburgh Pirates in 10 innings.

Smoky Burgess' two - run homer in the 10th, being did the Giants in after Mays, returning to the lineup for the first time since he collapsed on the bench Wednesday, tied the score 4-4 with a three-run homer in the eighth. It was Wilkie's 44th round-tripper of the year.

The Dodgers' seven - game winning streak was broken by the Cubs as Bob Buhl allowed only four hits in a 5-0 victory. It was the first time Buhl had finished a game against the Dodgers in his 11 years, although he has a career record of 15-5 against them.

Nelson Mathews, 21, a rookie who moved up from the minors last week, hit his second-inning homer, his first major league home run, off Stan Williams in the first inning.

METS BEAT REDS

New York Mets knocked out Joey Jay, Cincinnati's 21-game winner, and beat the Reds 8-3 with Mary Throneberry showing the way. The Reds remained six games behind the Dodgers with just 13 to go.

Art Mahaffey won his 19th game of the season as the Phillies continued to plague St. Louis Cardinals, beating Bob Gibson 3-1. Pitcher Gibson combined with Milwaukee Braves' 5-4 victory over Houston Colts, left the two clubs tied for fifth place.

In Saturday's games, Los Angeles, with Maury Wills stealing his 93rd base of the season, beat Chicago 5-0, Pittsburgh belted San Francisco 5-1, Milwaukee defeated Houston 7-3, Philadelphia defeated St. Louis 5-4 and Cincinnati downed New York 9-6.

The Giants' collapse in Pittsburgh left them hanging on the ropes with time running out. Only a complete form reversal by the Dodgers in their 18 remaining games can revive San Francisco's pennant hopes.

The Dodgers and Giants each have six games at home and six away. St. Louis could be the key, if any is needed at this stage. The Dodgers play the Cardinals six times and the Giants play them five times. Los Angeles also has three each with Houston and Milwaukee, while the Giants have five with Houston and Monday night's finale at Pittsburgh.

HOMER FOLLOWS SINGLES

Mays' homer Sunday followed singles by Matty Alou and Harvey Kuenn. Al McBean had a 4-2 lead going into the eighth but gave way for Diomedes Olivo when he faltered.

After Orlando Cepeda popped up, manager Danny Murtaugh sent Jerry Lynch to bat for Olivo and Lynch responded with a wild pitch by loser Stu Miller preceded Burgess' homer into the right-field stands.

The Cubs broke out of a 10-game losing streak by beating the Dodgers. They also stopped Wills, who didn't steal a base and was thrown out for the 12th time in 104 attempts.

NEARS CORE RECORD

Wills is now 7 thefts short of Ty Cobb's record of 96 in 1915.

Throneberry drove in three runs and hit his first homer for the Mets as Roger Craig, a 13-game loser, won his ninth, and Jay, a 21-game winner, lost his 10th.

Johnny Callison's 22nd home run with a man on in the eighth inning was the difference as Mahaffey's victory over the Cards' Bob Gibson. It was the Phils' fifth win in their last 16 games in a drive on fifth place.

Gus Bell's home run on Jim McMahon's first pitch in the ninth inning gave Milwaukee its victory over Houston for a three-game sweep. Del Crandell also homered for the Braves and Bob Lillis for the Colts as Lew Burdette won in relief over McMahon.

Australian Three Minutes Behind

Yankee Yacht Wins Opening Race

NEWPORT, R.I. (CP)—The Australians are saying that "it's not over yet."

They're anything but downhearted, even though their white-hulled Gretel took almost a four-minute beating from Weatherly Saturday in the first of the best-of-seven racing series for the America's Cup.

Gretel demonstrated a little superiority over Weatherly in running before the wind, although it was Weatherly in the windward legs — sailing as nearly as possible into the wind — during the 24-mile race.

The second race Tuesday is over a 24-mile course with three eight-mile legs, unlike Saturday's windward - leeward course. It will are the two boats racing for the first time on a reach—the wind hitting the sloops from the side.

Should Gretel prove better then Weatherly is reaching, like — combined with possible superiority downwind — conceivably may be enough to overcome her disadvantage to windward.

SHOULD WIN ONE

While many observers were talking of a "foregone conclusion" for the American defenders, Philip Rhodes of New York, Weatherly's designer, said:

"Gretel proved she's a much better boat than Sceptre. I think she is capable of winning a race."

Britain's Sceptre was beaten four in a row by Columbia in 1958. That was the renewal of 12-metre racing for the America's Cup, held by the United States for its 11-year history.

David Boyd, Scottish designer of Sceptre who now is building a possible British challenger for 1963, said American skipper Bus Mosbacher handled Weatherly "a damn sight better" Saturday.

Mosbacher called Gretel a "hot boat," saying "we still have a scrap on our hands."

DOWNRIGHTED

To the yachting fans gathered here for the initial series of yacht racing, the Australian crew members of Gretel didn't look like the sailor's dream during the weekend.

Taking a break from their monastic life, they made a tour of the pubs of this colorful old resort Saturday night and evidently didn't worry about what time they got to bed.

A spokesman said: "They're just determined more than ever to do something that hasn't been achieved in almost 30 years—that is, win an America's Cup race against the United States."

Weatherly's triumph belies President Kennedy and a floating gallery of some 20,000 was on the 12th straight race won by the Americans, who have lost only five while winning 51 in 111 years of big boat competition.

The sailing crew of Gretel took a holiday Sunday while their ace sailing colleagues worked to repair minor damage, including back stays broke in moderate to good breezes during the driving race.

Gretel is expected to "lay day" for today to make sure her sounds are healed before going to Tuesday's second race. The two craft go at it in the second race Tuesday starting at 11:10 a.m.

Twins Shade Indians

Bosox Cut Yankee Lead

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Gene Conley is a big, baby-faced fellow who is the only major two - sport professional now performing.

He is the property of New York Knickerbockers of the National Basketball Association. This is a recent change. And he no longer is "owned" by New York Yankees of the American League—also a recent change.

The Yanks had beaten the rinded-eight right-hander seven times in as many tries over the last two seasons when they took the field against Boston Red Sox Sunday.

Conley pitched and batted the Red Sox to a 5-4 triumph over the Yankees, lopping a full game off the Yanks' comfortable league lead.

The second-place Minnesota Twins closed to within three games on the strength of a 4-3 win over Cleveland Indians, with ace righthander Camilo Pascual the key figure. Pascual hurled a 1-0, 10-inning victory the season and drove in the winning run with his third hit of the game. Leaders and Twins each have 10 games left to play.

KNOCKS ANGEL HOPES

The third-place Los Angeles Angels were all but eliminated from the race by Detroit Tigers. The Tigers came up with a 4-3 triumph, dropping the Angels 3½ games back of Minnesota and 6½ behind the Yankees.

Kansas City Athletics bombed Baltimore Orioles, 12-5 and Chicago White Sox beat Washington Senators 4-1 in other games.

In Saturday games, New York beat Boston 3-2 as Jim Bouton belled Cleveland 12-2, Washington defeated Chicago 3-1 and Detroit picked up a 5-4 win over Los Angeles.

Kansas City swept a doubleheader against Baltimore, 4-3 in 10 innings and 5-4 in 11 innings. Bill Fischer of the Athletics broke the 40-year record of Christy Mathewson of 68 consecutive innings without a walk when he completed 80 1-3 innings before yielding a single in the eighth inning of the second game. Fischer's streak is still alive.

Conley, who combines his baseball career with a winter job in professional basketball, was acquired by the New York NBA team in a trade last June.

He declared his independence from the Yanks in inimitable fashion Sunday. New York ousted four decisions over Conley, including three by one-run margins going into the game.

CONLEY STOPS YANKS

Conley opened up with every indication of making it five in a row. Bobby Richardson, Tom Tresh, Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris ripped successive singles, producing two runs, a bunt single and a double.

Conley (14-13) then settled down and held them to a single hit until the ninth.

A Conley single, leading off the eighth, led to the decisive run. He moved up on a sacrifice and scored on Lu Clinton's single. That gave Boston a 4-2 lead but the Yanks got one back in the ninth when Mantle doubled and the tiring Conley gave way to Dick Radatz.

Radatz gave up a single to Maris, then retired the next three men, Mantle scoring on a sacrifice fly.

Whitey Ford (16-8) tired in the middle innings and was charged with the loss.

Pascual struck out 12 men, increasing his league - leading total to 181, while keeping the Twins in the race with their fourth straight victory.

Pascual drove in the run that broke a 3-3 tie with a single in the eighth frame. He also had the game's only double.

Kenny Lane Wins Over Matthews

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Kenny Lane, throwing a consistent series of punches with both hands and occasionally switching from a southpaw to a right - hand style, stopped Philadelphia's Lee Matthews in the ninth round of a televised 10-round fight Saturday night.

Referee Joe Sweeney halted the fight at two minutes, 54 seconds when he decided Matthews could no longer defend himself. There were no knockdowns and no blood was drawn.

For Lane, the second-ranked lightweight contender, it was a measure of sweet revenge. For Matthews it was the end of a comeback attempt. He was ranked No. 1 when he defeated Lane in 1960, but has since dropped from rankings.

Lane, of Muskegon, Mich., weighed 136½, Matthews 135.

Lane has a 69-11-3 record, Matthews 36-9-3.

Briton Wins Race Car World Title

The British ace shot his B.R.M. in front at the start and led the 307.27-mile event all the way. He covered the 80 laps at an average of 133.5 miles an hour.

Richie Ginther of Los Angeles, also in a B.R.M., was 30 seconds behind in second place.

The race was the fastest and longest, of the nine races counting toward the world driving title. The victory meant nine points for Hill and gave him an unchallengeable total of 37.

Kenmors Are OBA Senior Champions

Nip Dundas In Overtime

By GARRY ALEXANDER
Staff Sportswriter

Jackie Elliott's clutch eleventh-inning single added another star to the Kenmore baseball crown yesterday afternoon, that of O.B.A. senior champions of 1962.

Elliott's single drove in Duffy Follwell with the winning run in a 4-4 thriller, giving the Kenmore the titular series over Dundas Merchants, the 1961 champions, four games to one.

Yesterday's game, played before a fair crowd, was a see-saw battle from start to finish and was by far the best ball game of the series.

TYE GAME IN NINTH

Dundas tied the game 3-3 in the top of the ninth inning on Jack Lee's two-out romer over the right-centre field fence.

The Merchants forged ahead 4-3 in the top of the tenth on a walk, Litzen's single, Russel's sacrifice, an intentional walk to fill the bases and a fly ball by Ken Pipe.

Belleville knotted the count 4-4 in the bottom of the tenth when Larry Mavety bounced a ground-rule double over the fence and scored on Bill Moxon's line-shot double to the outfield barrier.

Follwell drew a walk to lead off the eleventh and Carr's sacrifice bunt moved him to second, bringing Gary Goyer to the plate. Goyer had given the Kenmors a 1-0 lead in the first with a home-run over the left-centre field fence and had driven in another run with a hard-hit double in the seventh.

Goyer was walked and the intentional pass brought Elliott, hitless for the day, to the plate with one out. He lined a solid base knock to left field, scoring Follwell, to end the game and the series.

Dundas first tied the score 1-1 back in the third on an error, Chayka's bunt single and Russel's base hit to left-centre. The Merchants pulled in front 2-1 on Knox's single, Pipe's sacrifice and Lee's home-run after a dropped third strike in the ninth.

Belleville tied it 2-2 on Elliott's walk and a two-base throwing error on Golder's bunt single in the bottom of the frame. Follwell walked, Carr was safe on an error and Goyer delivered his double to give the winners a 3-2 lead in the seventh.

Then came Lee's clutch homer in the ninth to set the stage for the extra-inning heroics by Elliott and company.

Larry Soden hurled seven-hit ball over the distance to earn his third victory of the series. He threw third strikes past 13 batters and walked but two, one intentionally.

Larry Wilson, who took over from Terry Litzen with one base-loaded and one out in the eighth, was the losing pitcher. He gave up three of the Kenmors' seven hits while whiffing four and walking two, one intentionally. Litzen fanned one and walked eight, allowing just four hits, in the first 7 1-3 innings.

The Kenmors played yesterday's game without Moe Hunter and Pat Asselstine, two of the regular infielders, but got strong performances from Jack Elliott and Claude Carr who moved in from the outfield for the game.

Gary Goyer, with his homer and double, and Larry Mavety, with a double and single apiece, led the Belleville batters. Bill Moxon's double, Elliott's key single and one of the same by Larry Soden rounded out the attack.

No Dundas player had more than one hit Besides Jack Lee's homer, the Merchants got singles from Larry Russel, Bowie Knox, Ken Watson, Larry Wilson and Chayka and Terry Litzen.

Lightfoots Shade Trudeaus

Lightfoot Construction scored a pair of runs on a bases-loaded, two-out error in the sixth inning to shade Trudeau Motors 4-3 in the third game of their Commercial softball league finals Saturday night.

Lightfoots had lost the best-of-seven series two games to one. The fourth game was scheduled for tonight but if it is rained-out it will be played Wednesday with the fifth game on Saturday. All games are at the CNRA Park at six o'clock.

The winners scored single markers in the fourth and fifth frames while Trudeaus got one in the third and two in the fifth for a 3-3 lead going into the sixth. Three walks loaded the bases and an infield error on R. Garvin's ground ball chased two runs home for the final 4-3 count.

Hits by McKenna, Rowbotham and Smith got one for Lightfoots in the third. Singles by Lynch's sacrifice and Long's hit plated their first run.

A walk and an infield error gave Trudeaus a 1-0 lead in the third. Mercer's single, a walk and B. Wennamaker's three-run single made it 3-2 in the fifth.

Percy Long hurled the victory, giving up just three hits, striking out eight and walking one.

Harry Powers allowed only five hits in a losing cause. He struck out two and issued seven free passes.

Percy Long was the only player with two hits, both singles, while Chuck Rowbotham, Dan Smith and Cam McKenna also had Lightfoot safeties.

Bob Wammamaker, Eddie Plata and Paul Merow collected the Trudeau trio of singles.

Win 16-10 Over Ottawa

Argos Break Defeat Egg

By PAUL RIMSTEAD

TORONTO (CP) — Long-suffering Bobby Wirkowski broke into a smile Sunday. It seemed as big as a football field.

Wirkowski finally coached Toronto Argonauts to victory in the Eastern football Conference — a 16-10 win over Ottawa Rough Riders before 24,721 fans.

Nobby had reason to smile. He had watched Argonauts drop three straight games as assistant coach, then two more when he took over as head coach with the firing of Lou Agoa.

Three hungry newcomers and three bullseye short passes out of quarterback Tobin Rote gave Argos the spirit they had lacked all season. Rote, although still hampered by a swollen finger on his throwing hand, completed 20 of 29 passes for 277 yards and two touchdowns.

Gerry Wilson, Zeke Smith and Vernon Shields, all late cuts from National and American football League camps who joined the Argonauts last week, were standouts.

HOPE FOR PLAYOFF

The Argonauts' revival gave them hopes of making a playoff berth in the East. They have eight games left in the regular schedule, one more than the third-place Montreal Alouettes, and are three points behind the Als. The Alouettes returned home during the weekend after dropping two battles on a Western Canada tour.

The new-look Argo defence was such that quarterbacks Ron Lancaster and Russ Jackson of Ottawa completed only four of 15 passes for 54 yards.

The Argonaut defensive team helped cover up for gambles which went awry for the offensive team. Argos gambled four times on fourth-down situations and three times they lost. Twice they gave away the ball on lateral to the wrong team and Rote had a pass intercepted.

Ottawa capitalized on one error when Ron Stewart scored a touchdown after the Riders intercepted a Joe Hernandez lateral on the Argonaut three-yard line.

First - half touchdowns by Meean Schriewer and Dick Shatto and a last-quarter safety touch pulled out the win for Argos. Bill Mitchell converted both touchdowns.

Stewart's touchdown and a 36-yard field goal by Moe Racine were the only Ottawa scoring plays.

COUNTS ON PASS PLAY

Schriewer scored on a nine-yard pass play and Shatto took a lateral from halfback Dave Mann to romp 16 yards for a touchdown.

The safety touch came when Shields pinned Jackson in the Ottawa end zone after Argos failed to score on three plays from the three-yard line.

Stewart scored by scampering between the goalposts and ramming his head into Jon Reichert's mid-section as he hit the line.

Belleville's Tom Woodcock took top honors with his pigeons coming in first, second and seventh. His winning bird was clocked at 1415.82 yards per minute.

A. Berry of Trenton won third place; Ivan Stewart, also of Trenton, placed fourth and fifth. Jack Salmon of Plainfield, sixth and tenth, and Walt Wardaugh and son of Belleville, eighth and ninth.

Western Junior B Organized

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Officials of the Ontario Hockey Association Western Junior B League met here Saturday and arranged a 48-game schedule between Oct. 26 and Feb. 15.

Representatives from Sarnia, Tillsonburg, St. Thomas, St. Marys, London and Ingersoll, a new entry, heard OHA secretive Jack Oakes of Strathroy explain the OHA's regrouping of teams and trimming of the western division to six teams.

The western group lost Goderich Siftco to the central division in the shuffle and Stratford's new-forming Junior B team will also go into the central league, together with Owen Sound, Kitchener and Waterloo.

Oakes said the OHA made the moves to provide better balance among its leagues.

The meeting decided to ask the OHA to give the teams concerned a hearing before any future shifting is done.

Shade Flyers 4-3

Joyces One Up

By GARRY ALEXANDER
Staff Sportswriter

Bert Faulkner's fourth hit in the tenth inning, provided Joyce Real Estate with a 4-3 victory over the RCAF Flyers before a small crowd at the Fairgrounds Saturday night.

The win gave Joyces a 3-2 lead in the best-of-seven B and D softball league finals for the Bill Ott Trophy. The sixth game will be played in Trenton Tuesday night with a seventh back here Thursday, if necessary.

Joyces' winning run in the tenth came after the Flyers tied the score 3-3 with a pair of runs in the seventh and 3-3 with one in the top of the ninth.

Kingston lined a single to centre with one out in the tenth. Carr tapped a ball down the third base line that fooled Blanchard for another single, moving Kingston to second. Faulkner chopped his single back through the centre to plate the deciding marker.

The winners took a 2-0 lead back in the fourth when the same trio that won the game got consecutive hits. Kingston doubled, Carr singled and Faulkner doubled to drive in a run. Batchelor's ground out plated the second.

Pat Marcelo held RCAF at bay, reliving 13 in a row at one point, until the seventh when Alexander and Mitts led off with back to back doubles and Jo Cole singled. A passed ball let in the tying marker.

Marcelo's infield single and a throwing error by Blanchard that put him on second helped snap that tie for Joyces in the eighth. Kingston walked and Carr sacrificed Marcelo to third before Faulkner's single shot to shortstop, too hot to handle, drove him in.

The Flyers' Billy Mitts lost no time in tying it again in the ninth. He led off the inning with a solid home run over the right fielder's head, setting the stage for the extra inning.

Maracle gave up half a dozen hits and received little support. He struck out nine and did not walk a batter.

Mike Ratushniak was the loser while hurling only the tenth inning. Jack McGaherty worked the first nine frames, allowing eight of the 11 Joyce hits. He got four strikeouts and walked three.

Bert Faulkner, with his three singles and a double, sparked the Real Estaters while Chuck Kingston had a double and single, Claude Carr and Pat Marcelo two singles apiece, Ralph Paine added the other base hit.

Billy Mitts topped the Flyers with his homer and double and two RBI. Doug Alexander had a double and single, Don Cole and Corky Corscadden a single each.

Sam Benedict Will Have To Be Fattened, Report

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—Sam Benedict will have to be fattened up considerably if NBC's new lawyer - series is to replace Perry Mason in the eyes and hearts of the Saturday night television audience.

Unhappily, Sam's rather pathetic skeleton was all too apparent on first sight this past weekend.

Edmond O'Brien plays the San Francisco barrister breathlessly and turbulently, rushing around to handle crisis after crisis — getting a client acquitted of murder, collecting overdue rent and, in the main thread of plot, forestalling a blackmailing lawsuit.

It was to the principal story that the toothpick-like plot was glaringly visible. Sam's good friend Mike died suddenly, and Mike's evil brother threatened to try to break the will in an attempt to get a bigger share.

NOT STRONG ENOUGH

It seems the dead man and his wife hadn't told their little daughter she was adopted, and the fearful widow still was against letting her know. In one stroke, Sam wiped out the lawsuit and the bad brother's plan simply by telling the child she was adopted. Somehow, with all the information the public has had about adoption, this hardly seemed strong enough to carry an hour-long show.

Meanwhile, Sam kept up a mad pace, popping in and out of a courtroom to see how the murder jury was doing. On several occasions I found myself wishing the writers had made that part the main subject.

Brake Fluid Also Needs Attention

By Eugene B. Milmoe

The average driver doesn't wait for something to go wrong before checking oil, radiator, and battery levels — but the same can't be said for brake fluid, despite its far greater importance. Usually, a noticeable braking fault exists before the possibility of low or below-par fluid is given a second thought.

Fluid level in the brake master cylinder should be checked three or four times yearly. And, since brake fluid can deteriorate or become contaminated, it certainly is wise to have the system flushed and refilled once a year or at 10,000 mile intervals.

Occasionally check the tires — especially the inner sides — for signs of possible fluid leakage from wheel cylinders. Not only will leakage lose affect braking response, but fluid spilled on linings can cause dangerous braking irregularities, or grabbing or pull to one side.

T.G. asks: "Where can I get something to keep my convertible rear window (the plastic type) clear?

(A) Service stations and auto supply outlets carry a special cleanser to stop yellowing and clouding of such windows.

• • •

From W.P.: "My carburetor air cleaner is filled with a paper mesh cartridge. Is this a "throwaway" unit which must be replaced when dirty?

(A) No — it can be cleaned and re-used. Just tap it lightly to dislodge the dirt.

• • •

K. R. writes: "I asked a garageman what lubricant is needed for the piston rods which actuate the power-lift for my convertible top. He said brake fluid would do the job, but didn't seem too sure about it.

(A) Brake fluid is correct. Twice yearly application should keep the rods well lubricated.

• • •

D.L. asks: "My 1952 sedan tends to sputter, and then die out suddenly, when I try to drive over 50 m.p.h. Yet, it will always start right up again on the first try.

(A) This could be due to a failing fuel pump. You can have it checked to find out if the pressure is sufficient to supply the gas needed at higher speeds.

• • •

P.W. asks: "I've got power operated windows which recently stopped working. Is it possible that this is due to the battery? I think my battery is on its last legs.

(A) A failing battery will affect power window operation and yours must be pretty far gone.

Crown Charges Crooked Dice Used in Game

VANCOUVER (CP)—A total of 1,030 dice, 931 of them shaved, loaded-spotted, manufactured or altered in some other way to take the gamble out of gambling, have been introduced as evidence in county court.

They are exhibits in the trial of Sam Kilee, 39, of Calgary, George Keller, 45, Edmonton and Donald Harris, 26, of Winnipeg, who are charged with fraud and conspiracy to defraud.

The crown charges that they fleeced Albert McEwan, Calgary plastering contractor, of almost $17,000 Nov. 30 in a four-hour crooked crap game in a hotel here.

Income Tax Explained

Written and designed for the taxpayer who is not in a position to employ the services of a professional accountant or visit an Income Tax Office.

By C. A. MILLER
Former Supervising Assessor
Income Tax Dept.

There are times when a couple are divorced during the course of a year. Each award custody of the children to one of the persons who did not provide the home. This to the taxpayers concerned appears to be a simple problem. In this article we will endeavour to clarify this type of situation.

If the wife had the children with her prior to the divorce and there existed a written separation agreement or court order covering same, the husband to contribute to their support, the wife would be allowed the equivalent to married status on one child and the ordinary deduction for children. Should the divorce court reverse this standard allowance on any one and award custody of the children to the husband, the wife would retain the same exemption as in prior years, in this the year of change.

The husband who would have the full custody and control of the children after the divorce could also claim the equivalent to married status ($1,000) on one child and the others for the applicable deduction allowance, as he supported them for the balance of the year.

Should the parents each be awarded custody of a child, the same procedure as outlined above will apply to each parent. It should be remembered that in the case of a parent supporting a child, the parent does not have to maintain the child in his dwelling to be allowed the equivalent to married status ($1000.) The child may be boarded in a home, either in or out of the country. The only requirement is that he prove to the income tax department that he actually supports such a child.

Question 1 — We were legally separated prior to our divorce this year. The court gave me custody of my 16-year-old son in October of this year. What exemption do I get for him?

Answer — You may claim the equivalent to married status for him ($1,000).

• • •

Question 2 — We were divorced this year. We had one child. My wife's mother asked for and was granted custody of the child. I do not contribute to the child's support as my ex-in-laws will not accept anything from me. Do I have any claim on my tax return for the child, as I am it's father.

Answer — No. You are taxable as a single man.

• • •

Question 3 - My wife is employed and supports her mother who lives with us. Is she compelled to claim her or can I, as it would be more to my advantage than to my wife?

Answer - Either one of you may claim this dependent, but not both of you.

STRAIGHT ROLES

Comedian Bob Newhart will divide his television appearances in the 1962-63 season between variety-show spots and serious dramatic starring roles.

School Gives No Awards, Certificates on Graduation

STRATFORD, Ont. (CP)—It's vacation time now for students at a school that dispenses no awards or certificates on graduation and, after three years of rigorous study, offers no guarantee of success.

The National Theatre School of Canada, based in Montreal but which moves to this Shakespearean Festival centre for two months each summer, has no trouble getting enough students despite its penchant for little more than hard work.

The school offers only a "period of development," says Powys Thomas, artistic director of the English-speaking section.

The hours are long, the standards are high, that a student not benefiting from the lessons may be released at any time, part-time work during the school term is discouraged and, for the most part, the young men and women are prohibited from accepting theatrical employment before completing the course.

In addition, vacation time is in September and October when summer employment opportunities have dried up, making it difficult to earn money to pay for the next term's tuition.

TWO YEARS OLD

Twenty-two French- and English-speaking students from across the country have completed the second of their three years. Another 29 have finished the first year and 33 have been accepted for the new term.

The school moves from Montreal to Stratford for two months each year because of the festival's location here and because co-operation between the two organizations is close.

Members of the school's graduating technical class came here in May to gain some practical experience by making props and doing other work backstage at the theatre, while studying to be directors helped with this year's production.

The work day here began at 9 a.m. and ended at 6 p.m. five days a week, with lengthy evening classes twice a week. In addition, there was plenty of homework.

Officials of the school cross Canada annually audition applicants. Usually, 35 of about 250 applicants are chosen for both the acting and technical training courses. Those enrolled are then in the technical course, which includes design, directing, stage managing, lighting and costume designing, face only two years of study.

TALENT IS TEST

Mr. Thomas explained that students are chosen on the strength of their talent, not their ability to pay the annual fee of $700. In the case of actors, they needed to have the "raw material" of theatrical talent. But those chosen for the technical course were required to have already shown ability. The costume designer, for example, must already know how to sew.

While the school regularly needs some done who are not developing, it also recognizes that some students may develop more slowly than others. These need not necessarily finish the full course.

An example is Martha Henry, formerly of Detroit, who, the school's directing assistant earlier this year, had got all she could from the course. She became the first graduate and now and her talent was obvious to Michael Langham, the festival's artistic director.

In January this year Miss Henry received a telephone call from Stratford offering her the two roles. The school agreed to release her.

She was also permitted to play the lead in a production of The Lady is Not For Burning at the Manitoba Theatre Centre in Winnipeg last fall.

During August the students here presented five plays, two in French and three in English. One was at the festival theatre and the others were at the Stratford Collegiate Institute, summer headquarters. Tentative plans for next summer call for 12 productions, six in each language, with one of each to be presented at the festival theatre before the public.

Inco Donates $2,500,000 To University

SUDBURY (CP) — A $2,500,000 grant, believed the largest corporate donation ever made to a Canadian university, has been given to Laurentian University of Sudbury by International Nickel Company of Canada.

The grant was announced Friday night at a dinner launching the first financial campaign of the fledgling university. It brings total gifts to the Laurentian to within $1,000,000,000 of the $7,500,000 estimated cost of the first stage of the university's master plan.

The provincial government earlier pledged $3,500,000 to Laurentian and grants of $500,000 and $100,000 have been announced by Falconbridge Nickel Mines and KVP Paper Company, respectively.

Construction of a new campus on the city's outskirts, to replace temporary quarters in downtown Sudbury, is scheduled to start next spring.

A letter from Inco chairman Henry S. Wingate and president J. Roy Gordon, in which the $2,500,000 award was announced said the gift "signifies in particular the (Inco) board's confidence in the quality and quantity of higher education which this new pioneering university will provide. . . ."

HAS AFFILIATIONS

Laurentian, a non-denominational, bilingual institution founded in 1960, includes affiliated partners the Roman Catholic University of Sudbury, the Anglican Thorneloe University and Huntington University of the United Church of Canada.

The new campus will be built on undeveloped land donated by the city at an estimated cost of about $500,000. Included on the site is an undulating wooded area bordered by three lakes and yet only 10 minutes' drive from downtown.

Unfrocked R.C. Priest Must Pay for Support

MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP) — A blonde mother of four won a legal separation and $100 a month child support Friday from an unfrocked Roman Catholic priest.

Nassau County Justice Edward Rohrbach, 41, ruled in favor of Mrs. Alice Ryan, 41, on her contention that she had been abandoned by her husband, Walker A. Ryan, 42, who married her in 1959 when he was a parish priest in New York.

Still pending before the court is Mrs. Ryan's $2,300,000 damage suit against the Roman Catholic Church, in which she charged Ryan was abducted and kept from her against his will. Both Ryan and church officials have denied this claim.

Ryan, now living in San Francisco, acknowledged the marriage and his fatherhood of the eldest three of Mrs. Ryan's four children. But he maintained the fourth child, now six, was born after he left his wife and went to the west coast.

A former army chaplain, Ryan receives a $201 month disability pension. He testified in a San Francisco hearing that he sent the full amount to his wife after he left her, until he learned of the birth of the fourth child. Then, he said, he reduced the payments and eventually cut them off.

Last June, a San Francisco Superior Court Judge upheld Ryan's contention that he could not have fathered Mrs. Ryan's youngest child. However, a decision on actual paternity was left to the New York courts.

Robinson, in awarding Mrs. Ryan a separation, did not specify whether the dependent child support covered the disputed fourth child.

AT THE BELLE — Paul Newman in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Sweet Bird of Youth", with the distinguished stage and screen star, Geraldine Page, as the actress on the skids, in the powerful film version of Tennessee Williams greatest hit, co-starring Shirley Knight and Rip Torn. The new film in Color and CinemaScope, is playing tonight and Tuesday, at the Belle Theatre, Belleville.

AT THE PARK — Kim Novak and Fred Astaire star with Jack Lemmon in the new Fred Kohlmar-Richard Quine production, "The Notorious Landlady", new Columbia release, opening tonight at the air conditioned Park Theatre. Two shows nightly 7.00 and 9.15.

Ont. NDP Leader Accuses Govt. of Reopening Gas Probe on Old Evidence

TORONTO (CP)—Donald C. MacDonald, Ontario New Democratic Party leader, Sunday accused the provincial government of reopening investigations into the Northern Ontario Natural Gas Company on the basis of evidence it could have obtained four years ago.

Attorney-General Kelso Roberts announced Saturday that investigations into the company's operations have been reopened as a result of new information from British Columbia.

"As a result of detective work in another context altogether by western authorities, information differing substantially from that appearing in sworn testimony in the earlier investigation here has resulted in the present investigation," he said.

During the previous investigation four years ago, three Ontario cabinet ministers testified. A special committee set up at the time reported there was no evidence of corruption or bribery.

Mr. MacDonald said in a statement Sunday night that the only reason the "new" information was not available previously was because the attorney-general had declined to ask for it.

"... If the evidence wasn't revealed to earlier investigators because their terms of reference precluded it, then nothing after it," the NDP leader said, "becomes valid if the evidence available because Mr. Roberts ... made it very clear that he had neither the desire nor the intention of seeking it."

FIGHT IS BITTER

The legislature debate at the time of the original investigation was a bitter fight and included allegations of bribery of government of then premier Leslie Frost.

During the debate Mr. Frost —in a rare show of temper— told Mr. MacDonald to "get out" following in the sewer.

"Room in public life means nothing to you," Mr. Frost said then. "I wish you would shut your mouth and get out of it while."

NONG stock became valuable after the pipeline debate at Ottawa in 1956, when the federal government agreed to lend $80,000,000 to a United States group of motors to finance the difficult Northern Ontario section of the cross-Canada natural gas pipeline.

In 1957, former mines minister Phillip T. Kelly resigned, followed later that year by Lands and Forests Minister Clare Mapledoram and Public Works Minister William Griesinger. Both became known that Mr. Kelly and his nephew, Gordon McK. Lean, president and general manager respectively of Kelman Oils Limited, owned NONG shares.

BUYS SHARES

Shares had also been purchased by the late A. D. McKenzie, then president of the Ontario Conservation Commission; John Wintermeyer, now provincial Liberal leader; and Beverly Matthews, a key fundraiser for the Conservative party.

Mr. Wintermeyer divested himself of all his NONG stock, a company after he was made provincial Liberal leader.

All those involved said they had bought the stock at bargain rates, or that they had made a killing.

The inquiry—by the Ontario Securities Commission—and the three-man provincial committee —was unable to find that any stock to the ultimate owners.

Mr. Roberts said Saturday there will be further investigation of transactions relating to NONG in a new inquiry ordered prior to its first public offering, and to the facts surrounding those transactions by or through Continental Investments Limited, a B.C. company, and its nominee, Convesto.

Mr. MacDonald said Sunday night the previous inquiry was limited at just the point that it should have become more extensive investigating the stock distribution from Convesto.

SAYS MORE AVAILABLE

"In January, 1957," he said, "some 14,000 unclaimed promotional shares were made available by direct sale to Convesto for $2.50 a share at a time when the market value was $10.50 to $14."

During the previous inquiry, Mr. MacDonald said in the statement:

"It seems remarkable that a company, which was to be the most part owned merely by the buying and selling of shares, should have been given this block of 14,000 shares at a price which would have netted it an immediate profit of well over $100,000."
